It may be said that a government should not raise more money by taxation than is needed for the ordinary public services of the year, but those who argue in this way must not forget that it is not practicable to change the tariff whenever it is found that it is producing too much revenue. As a large part of the revenue is from customs duties the manufacturers and importers in a few years adjust their business to the rate of customs taxation and they would be forever in confusion if there was any attempt to cut down revenue by continually changing duties. It is much better to have a fixed tariff; take the revenue as it comes; devote it to good uses, and spend the surplus by cutting down or putting down the public debt.

For the next few years there will be a large increase in the debt of the Dominion due to the expenditure on capital account on the eastern division of the National Transcontinental Railway. If the new Welland Canal is to be taken up, and as well the railway to Hudson's Bay, as public opinion seems to demand, these will also add to the debt, because most of the money will have to be borrowed abroad for the purpose. It is a saying in France that you cannot make omelets without breaking eggs, and if we would have ample transportation facilities along our St. Lawrence route by water, or across the country by land then we must be prepared to spend on these great works whatever may be necessary for their construction. This is a view of Dominion finances which should commend itself to every reasonable citizen.

No other power than Britain could have accomplished the crushing of the Boer outbreak in South Africa in the same time and under similar conditions, and no other power than Britain could have afforded to grant the boon of self-government to the conquered Boers, only a year or two after they had been brave opponents on the field of war. Principle is always a solid foundation to build upon. Britain has found that doing right breeds contentment, peace and progress. Respect for the law of God and the rights of man, is the secret of Britain's unequalled success as a civilizer and colonizer.

POLICEMEN AND PISTOLS.

The action of a police constable of Leamington, in fatally shooting a prisoner who was attempting to escape, brings up in some minds the question of the propriety of arming policemen with pistols. It seems self-evidently proper that men engaged in the performance of a duty which frequently brings their life in peril, should have the protection afforded by being adequately armed. It is equally self evident that police constables should possess enough of the divine gift of common sense to use these arms with discretion—that is only use them when self-defence makes their use a necessity. The taking of a human life, even under circumstances that seem to be imperatively necessary, is a terrible thing to a man of feeling and conscience. The engineer of a locomotive which runs down and kills even the most worthless tramp, though he be entirely free from blame, is said not to recover from his experience for weeks. What, then, must be the feeling of a man who in a moment of recklessness or folly, takes the life of a man as did the Leamington policeman. He makes the plea in justification of his action that he only fired to frighten the escaping prisoner, but he must have possessed little of the quality of coolness and judgment which a policeman should possess, if he fired so recklessly as to kill his man. Firing a shot into the ground at his feet would have answered his purpose, if he intended only to frighten. His surrender to the authorities counts in his favour, as far as his intention to kill is concerned; but he still has to meet the responsibility of taking a human life, through recklessness or inadvertence—loss of "nerve," or lack of sense and judgment. The incident brings up the necessity of considering the whole question of the relations of policemen to the classes with whom they have to deal. British justice holds an accused person innocent till he is proven guilty, but there is a tendency on the part of many policemen to reverse the motto, and treat prisoners with the harshness which could only be excused if the supposed culprit were known to be guilty. Some sort of general rule might be laid down in regard to the stage at which a policeman is justified in clubbing a prisoner or a person hinder attempt of capture, and policemen should be specially instructed as to the use of weapons that kill. If they are lacking in the qualities of coolness, self-restraint and judgment which make their possession of firearms an unwarranted danger to human life, their usefulness should be considered at an end.

WHAT WILL SATISFY?

The Toronto Star considers the demand for more protection for the Canadian woollen industry. It points out that the Conservative journals speak in a wailing way of the British preference, and the lack of protection "killing the woollen industry." What shall we do? Consider the consumer or the producer? As matters at present stand, consumers are compelled to pay a very much larger sum in duties on imported woollens than the Canadian manufacturers are paying in wages for the manufacture of similar goods. In the short fiscal year of 1907 the duties collected on "fabrics, composed wholly of in part of wool," amounted to $1,485,000, an average of nearly 32 per cent. The duties paid on similar goods imported from Germany amounted to 47 per cent., a fairly stiff tariff rate. In the year 1908 the woollen mills paid out in wages less than a million and a quarter. Nearly a quarter of a million more than this sum was paid in duties on goods imported in the short fiscal year of 1907, under the general heading of "fabrics not elsewhere specified," and wholly excluding the duties paid under such specific headings as "tweeds," "blankets," "coatings," and "overcoatings." The claim is made that imported shoddy goods and cotton mixtures are displacing the high grade all-wool products of Canadian factories. How, then, is explained the fact that the trade and navigation returns show that in the short fiscal year ending March 31, 1907, Canadian manufacturers of woollens imported 9 million pounds of raw shoddy? Now, the duty on shoddy imported from great Britain is only 7 per cent., while "shoddy goods" imported from Great Britain bear 30 per cent. The Canadian manufacturer has the advantage of a low tariff in his raw material, and a very respectable protection on imported woollen goods alleged to be largely shoddy in material. The Canadian woollen manufacturer can import this part of his raw material under 7 per cent., and it is protected against British and German competition by duties of 30 per cent. as against Great Britain, and nearly 50 per cent. as against Germany. What would suit the woollen manufacturers? Would it be satisfactory to remove the duty on shoddy and add the amount to the duty on imported fabrics, making it 37 per cent. against British goods and 54 per cent. against German goods? The people who buy woollen goods can reasonably consider how much more protection the woollen industry can reasonably demand.

DISHONESTY IN DISCUSSION.

This from the Review:

The river is supposedly under the supervision of the superintendent of the T.V.C. Why does he allow young men in nature's garb to amuse themselves at the expense of public decency on such a busy thoroughfare?

This is an example of the unfair treatment of political questions by our contemporary. Without the slightest justification, either in fact or inference it seeks, in order to make a political point and to injure an official of the Liberal Government of the Dominion, to convey the impression that the latter is neglecting his duty towards the public. The superintendent of the Trent Waters has no more to do in his official capacity, with preventing nude bathing than he has to do with application of the Fishery laws or the enforcement of the License act. The enforcement of the law is in the province of the Department of the Attorney-General of the Conservative Government of Ontario, and its officers; and if they neglect their duty in this or in other matters, as is recently only too evident, theirs is the blame. It is cowardly and unfair to seek to create the impression that the Dominion Government or its official is responsible in the question referred to. A small matter like this would hardly justify so much comment were it not a type of the policy of slander pursued by the Review and other less reputable Conservative journals. The public are deceived. In the paragraph above quoted, if the reader is as ignorant as the Review is unscrupulous, the false impression is created that the Liberal Government is to blame for a reprehensible practice the responsibility for whose correction rests in the hands of a Conservative Government.

Mrs. John Scott, 489 Grand Trunk St., Montreal, writes Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was very much run down in health from a female trouble, was thin, nervous, and very weak, and suffered from bearing down pains. Indeed I did not care whether I lived or died, I felt so badly sometimes.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me of all my troubles. I gained in flesh, and am free from backache, female trouble, sick headaches, and nervousness.

"I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all women's ailments, knowing what it has done for me."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Doctor Would Not Take Dying Man to Hospital.

COULD HAVE SAVED LIFE

Declaring Patient Was Drunk Montreal Pysician Obstinately Refused to Take Victor Grey, a Stockbroker Who Had Taken Poison, to Hospital—Victim's Doctor Takes Him In a Carriage.

Montreal, July 30.—It has developed that Victor Grey, who died Tuesday night, committed suicide. He rang up a friend and said good-bye and then took a dose of chloral.

Grey was a prominent stockbroker and the occurrence has created somewhat of a sensation, apart from the manner of his death.

Grey, who had resided at the Corona Hotel, called one of the attendants and asked him to bring a doctor, saying he was very ill. Dr. Alexander Munro was immediately called, and he stated that Grey was suffering from narcotic poisoning, and telephoned for the Royal Victoria ambulance.

When the ambulance arrived the doctor in charge examined Mr. Grey and said that he was drunk, refusing to take him to the hospital. Dr. Munro argued and said that it was a matter of life and death, but the ambulance doctor was obdurate and refused to take the man. Finally Dr. Munro had him driven to the hospital in a cab, and he was admitted to the ward. In spite of all the doctors could do, he died an hour later.

Dr. Munro said yesterday that Mr. Grey's life could probably have been saved if he had been taken to the hospital when he first called the ambulance.

Mr. Grey was married only a few months ago to Miss Honor Clayton of Ottawa.

LESLIE REPLACED.

Toronto Exhibition Treasurership Goes to Frank Brentnall.

Toronto, July 30.—The appointment of Frank F. Brentnall, cashier in the Inland Revenue Department, to the treasurership of the Industrial Exhibition Board, succeeding Col. J. K. Leslie, resigned, will probably be made at a special meeting of the directors to be held in the exhibition board room at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Col. Leslie's letter of resignation was, it is learned, received at a private meeting of the executive committee yesterday afternoon. Under the circumstances the committee considered that only one course was open to them, and it was agreed that the resignation should be accepted. The shortage is now shown to be $8,000.

Syndicate After Newspapers.

Montreal, July 30.—It is said a syndicate of interests are about to take up The St. John Telegraph and Times, with a view to enlarge and improve them. The close proximity of the general elections and reports that Liberals were trying to secure the papers, have, it is said, induced certain people to step in with the view to securing journalistic influence in New Brunswick. John McCane is at present in Montreal. While he admits that negotiations are going on, he is reluctant to reveal any knowledge.

Desertion May Be Charged.

Belleville, July 30.—Two members of the 16th Regiment of Prince Edward, who went to Quebec with their regiments, then left for home because conditions did not suit them, may be tried for desertion. They are Privates Fralick and Reeves. Col. Young of Kingston is said to be moving in the matter. The men, if found guilty, are liable to three months' imprisonment.

They say they did not know they were doing wrong, as they had not signed the service roll.

CABINET WILL BE BUSY.

Lots of Work Awaits Premier and His Colleagues.

Ottawa, July 30.—At a series of Cabinet meetings, which will commence on Friday, a number of important matters will have to be disposed of and several appointments which cannot be long delayed will probably be made.

These will include two civil service commissioners, who will be responsible for carrying out of a new act which comes into force on Sept. 1.

Then there are three new posts on the Railway Commission to be filled, in connection with which the names of W. Galligher, M.P., Hon. H. R. Emmerson, William Whyte of the C. P. R., and Mayor Darcy Scott of Ottawa and several others have been mentioned.

Other appointments which must be made soon include a King's printer to succeed Dr. Dawson, a law clerk of the House of Commons to succeed the late A. McCord, and two purchasing agents for the Department.

Less urgent appointments include new Lieutenant-Governor for Quebec and Ontario and a Senator for Nova Scotia.

The commission to rebuild the Quebec bridge has also to be named and a staff of officials appointed to put the bridge into working order.

HISGEN NOMINATED.

He Will Run For Presidency on an Independent Ticket.

Chicago, July 30.—The first national congress of the Independence party finished its labors early yesterday, after nominating Thomas L. Hisgen of Massachusetts for President of the United States, and John Temple Graves of Georgia for vice-president, and adopted a platform of principles. The nomination of Hisgen was reached on the third ballot, with a vote of 831 out of 948 ballots cast. Graves was named for second place on the ticket by acclamation.

John I. Shepard of Kansas, who attempted to put W. J. Bryan's name in nomination, had to be given the protection of the entire force of Independence party officials to save him from the infuriated delegates. Shepard was escorted from the hall by a detail of sergeants-at-arms, while the crowds of delegates surged around and denounced him as a traitor.

The national committee was expected to meet yesterday, having been authorized by the committee to fill any and all vacancies.

Stupendous Waste.

London, July 30.—Addressing a meeting at Queen's Hall, in connection with the International Peace Conference, David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, dealt at considerable length upon the scare rumors concerning the relations between Great Britain and Germany.

"It is deplorable," said the Chancellor, "that two great and progressive communities like Germany and Great Britain should not be able to establish a good understanding such as we have concluded with France, Russia and the United States. We are spending each year 60 million pounds sterling for war, which is a stupendous waste."

Three Hundred Are Pledged.

London, July 30.—(C. A. P.)—Three hundred members of Parliament and several Ministers all pledged to the removal of the Canadian cattle embargo. It is pointed out that 2,000,000 Canadian cattle have been imported in twelve years, and no cases of disease have been reported. The Canadian Cattle Association was determined to make another appeal to the Government.

Fighting In Mexico.

El Paso, Texas, July 30.—A special to The New York Herald from Del Rio says it is reported there that the Mexican troops and revolutionists had an engagement in Mexico opposite Comstock, Texas, and that two American residents of Mexico were killed. American troops, it is said, have been despatched from Del Rio to the scene of the fight.

Unwelcome Pastor Goes.

Amherstburg, July 30.—Peace has settled upon the Methodist Church, which was in open rebellion because the stationing committee of the London conference removed Rev. William Godwin, pastor for the last two years, and sent Rev. Richard Redmond in his place. Rev. Mr. Redmond will be removed.

Body Found In Canal Locks.

Montreal, July 30.—The body of August Lacoste of St. Henri was found in Cote St. Paul locks early yesterday. His bank book, watch and all his trinkets were found in his pocket. No marks of violence were found on the body, and just how the man met death is a mystery. An inquest will be held.

Socialist Gets Off.

St. Catharines, July 30.—Magistrate Campbell yesterday dismissed the case against Ernest Drury, the Toronto Socialist, charged with blocking the street by addressing a crowd on a street corner. The magistrate decided that the crowd had not blocked the street.

Chamberlain's Return.

London, July 30.—Joseph Chamberlain, who returned from the Continent on Tuesday and is remaining in London for a few days on his way to Birmingham, is reported as being in a very grave condition.

Asphalt Plant Burned.

Ottawa, July 30.—The municipal asphalt plant was put out of business by fire early yesterday morning. The building and machinery were practically destroyed, entailing a loss of several thousand dollars.

Going to Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 30.—There is no doubt that Rev. W. J. Hunter of Toronto will succeed Rev. P. L. Richardson in the pastorate of McLeod Street Church as soon as the necessary formalities are through.

Fallieres Leaves Baltic.

Reval, July 30.—The visit of M. Fallieres terminated Tuesday night with a state banquet on the French battleship Verite, after which the French squadron departed for Christiania.

Goes to Lindsay Collegiate.

Lindsay, July 30.—H. A. Robertson of the Stratford high school has been appointed to the position of commercial master at a salary of $1,200 a year in the local Collegiate Institute.

Thousands Are Drowned.

Hong Kong, July 30.—Reports from Canton say that the scenes following the typhoon of Monday night last are heartrending.

Thousands of Chinese were drowned. Over a hundred native vessels were wrecked.

The British river gunboat Robin and the French river gunboats Argus and Vigilante went adrift and were considerably damaged.

Labor Won't Welcome "Bobs."

Ottawa, July 30.—There was an attempt to get labor men to assist in welcoming Lord Roberts to Ottawa, but it has fallen through.

The international organizer here said labor unionism was entirely foreign to war and aimed at universal brotherhood. Therefore could not acclaim the British general.

Jail-Breaker Caught.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 30.—Jos. Trumbley, who broke jail on Monday, was arrested yesterday morning at Tagono, brought before a magistrate and given two years in Kingston. When he broke jail he was serving an eight-months' sentence for burglary at Blind River.

Hurt by Reaper.

London, July 30.—Charles Jones, a Westminster farm hand, was perhaps fatally injured in the harvest field Tuesday morning. While fixing the reaper the horses became frightened at a passing automobile and suddenly started. Jones was thrown on the knives and badly cut about the feet and hands. His skull was also injured.

Jailbirds For Harvest.

Winnipeg, July 30.—A proposal has been made by Provincial Immigration Agent Burke to release the jailbirds with good conduct records to work in the fields of the Northwest this fall. This, he says, will help to solve the labor problem. It has been successfully tried in the United States.

C. P. R. Will Accept.

Ottawa, July 30.—William Whyte, general superintendent of the C. P. R. western division, writes to the Labor Department that they will accept the findings of the conciliation board at Winnipeg, though all are not satisfactory to them, to assist the spirit of the Lemieux Act.

Premier Going to England.

Toronto, July 30.—Sir James P. Whitney, Prime Minister of Ontario, will sail for England on provincial business about Aug. 12, and will probably be gone about six weeks.

Throws Man Overboard.

Kenora, July 30.—During an altercation on Monday afternoon on board the steamer Standard, a work boat of Sutton & McArthur, a Swedish foreman in their employ, threw overboard a young Scotchman named Robert McKay. All means were taken to rescue him, but without avail, and during the excitement that followed the Swede disappeared. A search for the murderer has been instituted.

Another Northern Eldorado.

Port Arthur, July 30.—Stories of great mineral wealth in the Sturgeon Lake country are brought in by T. S. Crowley of Peterboro, who brings rich samples of gold, silver and nickel. Mr. Crowley also claims to have uncovered a vein thirty feet wide of nickel in almost its pure state at a point north of the Transcontinental and about one hundred miles west of here.

Prince Rupert Lots Held.

Vancouver, July 30.—By mutual arrangements between the G. T. P. and the Provincial Government, it has been agreed not to put on sale Prince Rupert lots until the spring of next year, probably May.

Dead In a Hovel.

Ottawa, July 30.—Mrs. Thomas Berrigan was found dead lying beside her bed in a hovel on Ellen street yesterday morning. Her husband was lying insensibly drunk in the adjoining room.

Three Years For Theft.

Winnipeg, July 30.—Arthur E. Priddy, a young postoffice clerk here, was sentenced to three years in penitentiary yesterday for stealing registered letters valued at $200.

Supposed Incendiary Fire.

St. Catharines, July 30.—Fire supposed to be of incendiary origin destroyed the barns of Robert McLaren, Yate street, yesterday morning.

DRAIN NOT LIKELY TO BE BUILT

Was Proposed to Lay it on Simcoe Street to Relieve the Charlotte Street Drain to the Creek.

THEY NEED THE MONEY

The question of a drain on Simcoe street to relieve that on Charlotte street which overflows every spring thereby causing trouble to the residents in that section was brought up at the meeting of the Board of Works last night but no action was taken, It is likely that the matter will be left over until next year as it was said that the city's funds are low and all the necessary improvements can scarcely be provided for. Engineer Hay presented a report showing that a drain on the north side of Simcoe street from Rubidge street to the creek would cost $1,049.00. If it were laid from a point a little east of Bethune street, the cost would be $63.00. This provided catch basins. While the members of the Board acknowledged the necessity of this drain, they were unwilling to deal with it now as it was said that the appropriation for improvements was nearly all drawn.

NEAT HANDBOOK ISSUED ABOUT FREEMASONRY

A neat little volume of great interest to all who desire to know what is meant by Freemasonry has reached the Examiner office. The members of the craft will be specially interested in the volume, for the author stands high in the order, and therefore they may rest assured there are no state secrets given away. In addition to the many important subjects dealt with in the handbook, there is a deeply interesting sketch of the order which renders it doubly valuable.

CONSPICUOUS IN A BALL-ROOM

It must be annoying to the wearer, and certainly not a pleasant thing to observe. But dandruff can be eradicated. It is a germ disease that will some day cause baldness.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the hair destroying germs and stimulates the hair to a rich, abundant growth; it does more—keeps the hair soft and pliant.

Furthermore, Herpicide is a most pleasant toilet accessory; of pleasing odour, and cooling to the scalp.

Labour Conditions In June As Told In Labour Gazette

SOME DISTRICT NOTES

Ald. W. J. Johnston, local labour correspondent of the Dominion Government, has the following in the Labour Gazette on Peterborough labour conditions in June.

During June, industrial operations were more active than in the preceding month except in a few establishments. Conditions in the building trades and among outside employees were very uncertain. Some of the building contractors were active, but the majority of them had little to do, though the hope is general that with a bountiful harvest conditions will materially improve. Construction work at various points on the Trent Canal is progressing favourably, providing employment to large numbers of workmen. Rapid progress is being made on the erection of the new school, the Roman Catholic Church and the Drill Hall. Tourist traffic is increasing daily. Wholesale and retail trade was fairly active. Piecework prices in several instances were being reduced, and in some departments men were being laid off for two and three weeks. There was no unrest in the labour market reported.

The Machine Telephone Company is actively engaged installing its system in outside places.

The Postoffice Department has distributed 44 additional letter and parcel boxes throughout the city, and in several suburban stores.

Local Industries

Agriculture—Farmers were busy preparing for the harvest. Crops were very promising. Prices of produce have been much reduced, and were as follows: Butter, 22 to 25 cents per lb.; eggs, 19 cents per dozen; potatoes, 75 cents per bag; fowl, 80 cents to $1.50 per pair; hay, $15 to $17 per ton.

In the lumber industry, a great deal of the cut in several mills was being exported, while local trade was only fairly active.

Manufacturing was active in some lines.

The mining industry was somewhat dull.

Particular Trades

With the exception of lathers and plasterers, those engaged in the building trade were fairly active. Activity prevailed in the metal and engineering trade, except among moulders, iron workers and helpers, brass workers, and boilermakers who found employment somewhat dull. Woodworkers were active, also varnishers, polishers and carriage workers. With others of the woodworking trades, dullness was the rule. Printers were fairly active. The clothing trades were active, and the same condition prevailed in the food and tobacco preparation, leather and miscellaneous trades, with the exception of bakers, confectioners, ice cutters and drivers who were busy, and furriers and theatre employees whose trade was more or less dull. Railway workers were active, especially on passenger traffic, but freight traffic was not brisk, although much more active than during the preceding month. Unskilled labour was much better employed than in the month previous, but there were some unemployed.

District Notes

Farming prospects through the district never looked better, but farm help is very scarce and it is difficult to obtain experienced men. The Peterborough Cheese Board recently sold 4,561 boxes of cheese at 11 15-16 per lb., an increase of 3-8 cents. The Lindsay Cheese Board sold 1,154 boxes at 11 3-8 per lb.

Port Perry—A by-law is about to be submitted to the ratepayers for the purpose of guaranteeing the bonds for the Webber Gas Engine Company, of Kansas City, U. S., to the extent of $40,000. The company asks the following consideration: The guaranteeing of $40,000 bonds for 20 years; the providing of a free site of six acres, and total exemption (except school) from taxes. The company agrees to give first mortgage on the property and employ at least forty hands.

HAIR-RAISING HATCHET STORY TURNS OUT TO BE ONLY A MYTH

The weird story published by a local paper to-day telling of a sensational assault made upon a young girl in Otonabee is without foundation. Had it been true the incident would certainly have aroused the feelings of the citizens of Peterborough, as it told of one of the most atrocious crimes a man could imagine happening in these modern times.

However, the Examiner is glad to be able to announce that no crime was committed. No farmer by the name of Ballsall lives in Otonabee, no girl by the name of Shafly is known, no indecent assault occurred, no little hatchet was used, no policeman went to Otonabee, and no arrest was made in Otonabee by them.

The facts of the case are that three policemen went down on wheels to hunt for tramps in empty cars on the carpet factory siding. They returned on their bicycles, but brought back no prisoners. A man named Bruce Kennedy was arrested some time last night, accused of being drunk and disorderly, but otherwise the story is a myth. Kennedy pleaded not guilty in the police court this morning and was remanded until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Wanted Simcoe Street Store For Roller Rink Purposes

Peterborough will likely have a roller rink this season, and a gentleman is in the city looking after a suitable location. Yesterday he approached one of the aldermen and asked him if it were possible to secure the building on Simcoe street which is proposed for a new public library. He considered this would be suitable for rink purposes, but the alderman could not see it in the same light. He refused to bring the matter before the council, stating that he was confident that the request would be refused.

HAVE STUDIED IN VIENNA

Return of Mrs. Thos. Brooks and Daughters From Three-Year European Tour—Visited Many of The Prominent Cities.

FORMERLY OF PETERBORO

The many friends in Peterborough of Mrs. Thomas Brooks and her daughters, Misses Florence and Grace, will be interested in reading the following from the Meriden (Conn.) Record, telling of their return from abroad, where the Misses Brooks have been studying in the city of Vienna. Mrs Brooks resided for a long time in Peterborough and is well known here:

This noon, Mrs. Thomas Brooks and her daughters, Misses Florence and Grace Brooks, will leave for White Plains, N. Y. Since July 8 they have been the guests of their relatives in this city, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Brooks.

Mrs. Thos. Brooks is very well known here, as Mr. Brooks spent many years of his life in Meriden. Since leaving Meriden, she has, with her daughters, made her home in Cleveland, O., and for the past three years has lived abroad, spending most of her time in Vienna, Austria, and also in travel during the vacation and summer seasons.

Miss Grace Brooks has been a private pupil of Professor Iffert, at the Royal Conservatory in Vienna, for the past three years. She possesses a most charming contralto voice, which has been much commended for its sympathy and sweetness of tone. During her studies, Miss Brooks paid especial attention to the method of Prof. Iffert, with a view to later teaching. As a result she has acquired a finish which is really superior to that of the average vocal student, either here or abroad.

Vienna is known the world over as a leading musical centre, and an artist winning recognition in the Austrian capital is sure of success elsewhere. Shortly before her recent departure for America, Miss Brooks sang in private audience before United States Ambassador Hon David R. Francis, and a gathering of nobility. Her appearance was most successful and she was warmly congratulated by the ambassador in a letter of thanks and appreciation.

Miss Florence Brooks has also been engaged in study abroad during the past two years in Vienna. She graduated from Western Reserve in Ohio, with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. While in Vienna she studied at the Royal University, located in that city, where she specialized in mathematics. She also spent a great deal of time in the study of the German language, and thoroughly mastered its literature and intricacies of speech.

During the summer and vacation seasons, both the young ladies, with Mrs Brooks, travelled very extensively in Europe. They visited nearly all the countries of Europe and became familiar with most of the great cities of the continent.

The party arrived in New York on July 8 on the Hamburg-American steamer "Lincoln." They came direct to Meriden, where they have since been renewing acquaintances and visiting their relatives. They will leave at noon to-day for New York, going from thence to White Plains, where they will make their home hereafter.

DOES THE CITY OWN LEWIS STREET?

City Solicitor Makes Investigation Regarding This Street.

Mr. E H D Hall presented a report at the meeting of the Board of Works last night in reference to Lewis street. From his investigations, the question might be asked, does the city own Lewis street? The report follows:

As instructed, I have endeavoured to find out from the Registry Office how this street came to be used. It was not laid out in the original plan of the town, but apparently twenty feet of the east side of lot 6 south of Charlotte street and of lot 6 north of King street was reserved in the various conveyances of parts of those lots, and has been used as a street. Lot 5 south of Charlotte street is owned by the Bradburn estate and lot 5 north of King street by the Chamberlen estate, and no part of either of these lots appears to have been dedicated as a street.

Yours truly,
E. H. D. HALL.

A LOCAL PROSPECTOR FINDS NICKEL

Declares There is a New Land of Mineral Wealth Near Port Arthur.

Port Arthur, July 29.—The existence of large and valuable deposits of nickel north of the Transcontinental Railway and a hundred miles west of there is reported by T. H. Crowley, of Peterborough, a prospector who has has long experience in all parts of Ontario.

Crowley arrived in the city to-day en route home, after spending several weeks in that country, and showed a number of excellent samples. One contained both silver and free gold, and he said lots of it was to be found north of Wabigoon and Sturgeon Lakes. He also claimed to have uncovered at a point some distance further east a vein of almost pure nickel, and expressed the opinion that a larger range of it would be found to exist there. "If the richness that is apparent in this country was apparent in the Larder Lake country, people would be going wild over it,' said Crowley.

POLES DISAPPEAR ON HUNTER STREET

Bell Telephone Employees Taking Them Down To-day.

The street staff of the Bell Telephone Company this morning removed the poles from the south side of Hunter street, from Aylmer street to George street, and the poles on the same side from George to Water and dismantled in readiness for removal. It is understood to be the intention of the company to continue the removal of all poles abutting their lines of underground conduits. The improvement effected in the appearance of the streets, or side of streets freed from pole lines, will be a good ground for a continuance of the good work.

CITIZENS COMPLAIN OF DISAGREEABLE SMELL

Complaints are being made to the Examiner of a disagreeable odour existing at times in the Patterson Creek, at the bridge on Hunter street. If this is the case, and there seems to be no reason to doubt it, something should be done to alleviate existing conditions as soon as possible.

LANG & MAHER'S ADS. CRITICISED

Bouquets for the Ad. Writer and the Ad. Setter.

The July number of the Clothier and Haberdasher shows a pagefull of reproduced clothing advertisements in miniature. These are from the best displayed advertisements of different clothing firms throughout Canada. Among those shown is one from the enterprising firm of "Daylight Clothiers," of this city. Messrs. Lang & Maher, George street. The ad. critic has this to say about it: "Prices Talk." That's a good heading, and when it is followed up by good forceful matter it makes an ad. that talks, and talks loudly, too. Of course they might have said more about their suits, vests and trousers, also about the other things. But it's pretty good, and the cut is right-up-to-date. The signature stands out well."

WELLAND PADDLERS ON LONG CRUISE

From Kirkfield to Lake Ontario—Through the City Yesterday.

Yesterday a half-dozen young men whose homes are in Welland, passed through Peterborough on a long cruise. They started their journey at Kirkfield in three canoes and paddled down to Chemong. As their crafts were heavily loaded they did not wish to make so many portages as there are locks between Young's Point and Peterborough, they had their boats transferred from Chemong here. They went down the Otonabee and expect to paddle to Lake Ontario.

Comfort For The Fat In Hot Weather.

Don't simply shed all your clothing. That is not the secret. It isn't your textile coverings that make life so wretched for you, my stout friends, but the fleshy covering—the fat.

You can be comfortable, though fat, in the hot weather, by reducing the fat with a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime of the following: 1-2 ounce of Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 4 3-4 ounces Sirup Simplex. This is a harmless home mixture that any druggist will put up for a small sum, but it succeeds marvellously. Try it and in a little while you should be losing a half to a pound of fat a day. You will soon catch up with comfort at that rate no matter how hot it gets. Alluring, isn't it? And when you realize that this inexpensive sane method takes the fat off and gives you a trim, slim figure without causing wrinkles or interfering with one's diet—it becomes more than alluring—it's fascinating. Fat folks say so.

Mr. J. C. Shook Suggests Septic Tank---Mr. G. Walter Green's Request Granted---No Sewer For Harvey Street---Connection With Normal School ---Other Sections.

A coatless meeting of the Board of Works was held last night, nearly all the members being in their shirt sleeves, owing to the warm weather. Chairman Phelan presided, with the following members present, Ald. Buller, Elliott, McIntyre, Morgan, Turner, Bradburn and Mayor Rush.

Mr. J. C. Shook was present to ask for sewer provision for that part of the city east of Harvey street and north of London street. He stated that it was a necessity if the property in that locality was to reach its full value. It is understood that a sewer along London street is out of the question, and Mr. Shook suggested a septic tank. Engineer Hay stated that to make this provision the local and Provincial Boards of Health should be consulted. On motion of Ald. Morgan and Elliott, the City Engineer was instructed to go into the matter and report to the Board.

Ald. Johnston, representing residents on Aylmer and Edinburgh streets, asked for a granolithic walk. On motion of Ald. Elliott and McIntyre, the petition was granted.

Object to Sewer

A petition was presented from residents on Harvey street, between Smith and Antrim streets, objecting to a sewer being laid on that part of the street as it was not practical, not being able to have the proper depth. It was largely signed and only two persons favoured the laying of this sewer. Mr. J. H. Yelland spoke on behalf of the petition. The Board of Health had recommended the sewer, but it was stated that the members were not aware of its impracticability. On motion of Ald. Morgan and Elliott, it was decided to take no action for the present, and also to notify the Board of Health that the building of the sewer is impracticable.

Another Sewer

Mr. G. Walter Green and several property owners from the north-west end of the city were present and asked for a sewer on London street, between Park and Downie streets. The water mains are laid as far as Gilchrist street, but is promised as far as Downie street, probably this year. Mr. Green and others had built new houses with the expectation that a new sewer service would be obtainable. The Board had made a rule that no sewer should be constructed unless the water mains are already down. As there is a strong probability that this will be carried out before long the Board felt that the sewer should be laid. It was, therefore, moved by Ald. Elliott and McIntyre that the sewer be built from Park street to Downie street, and that no houses be connected unless they have the water service. Ald. Buller and Morgan moved that the Board impress upon the Water Commissioners the desirability of extending the mains on London street, from Gilchrist street, following the new sewer.

Six Dollars Refund

On May 22nd, Mr. John Bell deposited $42 for sewer connections for two houses on Park street. On examination it was found they had been laid, but had not been recorded. It was moved by Ald. Morgan and Elliott that he receive a refund of $6.00, the balance after the original contract price had been paid the city.

For Normal School

Sewer connection with the Normal School was next considered. On motion of Ald. Elliott and Bradburn, a sewer was ordered to be built at once, from Benson street to Barnardo avenue, and the proper permission be obtained from Mr. Ed. Finnie, whose property it will cross, and that the work be begun as soon as possible. Arrangements have been made with Mr. Finnie by which the sewer is laid to his house for the right to go through his property. The same motion embodied instructions to Engineer Hay to prepare plans for the construction of a trestle foot bridge across the G. T. R. right of way on Congress street. This is for the benefit of the Normal School students.

General Work

Moved by Ald. Buller and McIntyre that the drain at the corner of Rogers and Hunter streets, receive attention.—Carried.

At present it is filled with sediment and is not doing the work intended.

Ald. Buller introduced the question of a cement walk in front of Mr. T. Moore's residence on St. Joseph street. After considerable discussion it was decided to grant Mr. Moore's request.

Next came the street fountain in East City. Ald. Morgan explained that it was overflowing the basin and was a disagreeable nuisance. On his motion, seconded by Ald. Elliott, it was decided to connect the fountain with the sewer.

Ald. Morgan and Buller recalled several improvements which were to be made in the south end, particularly the Park street drain, which was promised attention, together with the grading of Jackson avenue. Ald. Morgan then referred to G. T. R. cars, which are left on the siding along Driscoll Terrace. Many of them are cattle cars and are offensive to the residents on that street. It was decided that Ald. Morgan and Ald. Phelan wait on Mr. Sandy to try and have any offending cars moved elsewhere.

Engineer Hay reported that he had examined into the request of the Quaker Oats Company to exchange part of the north side of Hunter street at the bridge for an equal sized piece of land on the south side. A complete survey was made to ascertain the effect of this exchange and to find the most favourable line for a high level bridge. Engineer Hay reported that it was his opinion that it would not be advisable to sell the land.

It was decided that, owing to the effect this exchange would have on a high level bridge, which is proposed, it was inadvisable to carry out the proposal.

The company's intention was to parallel their street line with the building for yard purposes.

Parisian Sage is a discovery of a celebrated scientist, who spent the best years of his life in perfecting this great hair tonic.

In giving his receipt to the American people he said, "Parisian Sage is the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but it is more than a fair dressing. It cures dandruff by killing the germs that infest the roots of the hair; it stops falling hair; it gives vigour and strength to the hair roots." Wm. Madill sells Parisian Sage at 50 cents a large bottle and guarantees it to do all that is claimed for it, or your money is refunded. If you do not reside near a druggist who sells Parisian Sage, send 50 cents to Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont., and a bottle will be sent you all charges prepaid.

PLEASANT DANCE AT THE VICTORIA HOUSE

Summer Visitors at McCracken's Landing Indulge in Gaiety.

The Victoria House, McCracken's landing, was the scene of an enjoyable dance last night when a few hours were pleasantly passed in dancing. About forty were in attendance, including the guests at the Victoria House and their friends. Piano, violin, and graphaphone music was supplied and it is the intention of the young folk to make these social events periodical.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THAT?

—The bargains that the Peterborough shops put up in muslins just now are hard to beat, but we want to go one better, and offer to make, for one week, any muslin suit, no matter what style, for the sum of $3.00. PRINCE SLIPS AWAY IN THE NIGHT

GARNEAU AGAIN HONORED

Mayor of Quebec Gets Knighthood In French Legion of Honor From Fallieres — Children's Fete Repeated—Only Handful Watch the Departure of Warships—Earl Crewe Sends Message.

Quebec, July 30.—Quebec had resolved on a splendid reception to the British fleet on its arrival, ten days ago. Then Quebec rose to breakfast one morning and found the vessels quietly anchored in the harbor as though they had dropped, seabird like, from the skies.

People heard that the fleet was to sail yesterday morning and they expected a sensational departure with a great banging of farewell salutes. The evening papers took pains to put plenty of gunpowder into their anticipatory descriptions, and these prophetic reverberations are still echoing.

The facts are different and far more impressive and seamanlike. In the early hours of morning scarcely a soul was to be found on Dufferin terrace. Round and round the deep sea cradle of Sailor Prince, a little launch, showing the red eye as she turned down the river, circled with ceaseless vigilance at 1 o'clock in the morning.

SIR GEORGE GARNEAU,

Two reporters sat on the terrace pavilion. A family, father and mother and two daughters, from the historic hall, came along to see the last of a relative of the Duncan. Two old ladies followed to swell the group, while a casual night hawk completed. In the far eastern corner a little knot of men also watched and waited. Perhaps there were a dozen all told.

This was Quebec's farewell to the Prince of Wales. "At 2.20 a rocket from the Exmouth rose quietly and fell in silvery light. It was answered from the Albemarle shortly. Then five bells were tapped and answered from ship to ship, the Yankee and the Frenchman also counting the hours.

At six bells, another rocket from the Exmouth announced that sundry heavings and creakings had been successful and the anchor was apeak. Dawn was slowly lighting in the east and the morning star glowed with pale fire above the Isle of Orleans. Rockets rose at intervals from the Exmouth, and finally one sprang from the Indomitable. A boat flitted past at 3.15, and the watchers cried out, "There she goes." The Exmouth was free of her moorings and moving with stately leisure down the broad flood.

Two or three ship's lengths behind the Exmouth followed the Duncan and at a similar distance the Venus. Not one of them had made as much noise as the little ferry boat, yet their great anchors had been shipped, the pinnacles and launches made snug, and, with lights still shining, they were putting out for sea.

At 3.45 the Albemarle followed with the Ru ll and Arrogant in order similar to the first three, which by this time were lost in the haze round Indian Cove.

The French ships leave this morning and Quebec begins to assume its natural air of stern solitude.

A compliment from the French Government to Quebec was announced yesterday by Admiral Jaureguiberry, President Fallieres having conferred on Sir George Garneau, the mayor, the knighthood of the Legion of Honor.

Yesterday's program was quite as varied as during the last few days, but there were only Canadians present to participate. The children's fete and fireworks of Tuesday were repeated at 4 o'clock in Victoria Park and drew immense and appreciative crowds from the lower town districts.

The Indians in the spectacle have not received full justice in the notices given of Mr. Lascelles' great spectacle. All but one of those who take part are of native blood, the principal being Chiefs American Horse, Deep Sky, Scarface, Sozay and Big Thunder. Mr. Lascelles and Mr. Blaney are to be initiated to-night into this tribe of Iroquois, although Mr. Blaney is already one of another nation.

Extra performances of the pageants are to be given on Friday and Saturday.

"London, July 29.—Now that the Quebec celebrations are at an end, I wish to congratulate Canada and the Governor-General upon the singular success which has attended them. The British Empire as a whole is much to be congratulated upon evidence which has been given of the loyalty and hearty co-operation within borders and of kindly feeling without.

"The enthusiastic welcome given to H. R. H. the Prince of Wales is of happiest omen for the future."

A reception was held by His Honor Sir Geo. Garneau in the City Hall last night, for such of the citizens and others as were able to appear in evening dress. Supper was laid in five different rooms and the council chamber was converted into a reception salon.

BOARDER GOES CRAZY.

Expelled From House He Returns and Attacks Women.

Kenora, July 30.—Driven insane over an unpaid board bill, a murderous attempt was made early Tuesday evening upon Mrs. A. Humphries and her sister, who resides with her, by a young Englishman named Johnston, who has resided with them for several months.

Unable to pay his board, he was notified to leave, and after remaining away for some days returned on Tuesday evening, and entering the house attacked Mrs. Humphries and her sister with a hammer, fracturing the skull of the former and injuring the latter, probably fatally.

Mr. Humphries entered while the assault was being made, and forced Johnston to desist, after severely injuring his hand in the struggle. Both ladies are in the hospital here, and Johnston has been placed under arrest.

CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH.

Smith's Falls, July 30.—Robert Howard, a C. P. R. conductor, lost his home and two little children, aged five and three years, yesterday morning, by fire caused by the explosion of a coal oil stove.

The mother went to a neighbor's taking a young baby with her, leaving the two other children in their beds above the kitchen. She had only been away a few minutes when an explosion occurred. The mother rushed frantically to the door of her home, but was driven back badly burned by the flames, and carried away insensible. The children by this time were aroused and crying piteously, but the flames had gained such headway that their lives could not be saved.

Niagara Peninsula Line.

Welland, July 30.—There is a revival of the project for the construction of an electric railway from Dunnville across the Niagara Peninsula.

James A. Ross, M.P.P., of Wellandport, president of the company which holds the franchise, got into communication with George Dunstan of Toronto and P. T. McGrath of Worcester, Mass., and they have expressed themselves as willing to finance the road if their terms are met.

The line they propose to build would run from Dunnville by way of Wellandport and St. Ann's to Beamsville and connect there with the Hamilton, Grimsby & Beamsville Electric Railway.

To Discipline Navy.

London, July 30.—To preserve the discipline of the navy, Sir Percy Scott, whose command of the cruiser squadron has still a year to run, has been appointed to the command of a special small squadron which will visit South Africa in the autumn, during the sitting of the convention for the federation of the South African colonies.

The appointment is evidently made to remove the possibility of further friction between Sir Percy Scott and Lord Charles Beresford.

Painter Falls to His Death.

Hamilton, July 30.—Norman Stuart Easter, 281 West Main street, fell 100 feet at the steel plant yesterday afternoon and was almost instantly killed. He was only twenty years of age. He was engaged in painting a funnel when a rope slipped, allowing him to fall.

ARGONAUTS EIGHT WIN IN EIGHTS

Canadians Capture First Heat From Norwegians.

GERMAN DEFEATS SCHOLES

Diamond Sculls Winner Goes Down Before Von Gaza—Walter Bowler Loses to Blackstaffe — Balfour's Nose Bleed Cost Argos Four Oar Event — The Canadians Meet Leander To-day.

Henley-on-the-Thames, July 30.—In their heat with the Norwegians yesterday in the eights Argos led from the start, never being pushed. They won easily. Time for half, 3.55; full course, 8.06.

The Magdalen College four that beat the Argonauts Tuesday are the fastest four ever seen here, and the time—8.34—is not likely to be beaten during the regatta.

In the fours the bow, Balfour, suffered from bleeding at the nose, and they were unable to overcome the loss at the start, due to poor steering.

Lou Scholes of Toronto, a former winner of the Diamond Sculls, made his first appearance in the Olympic regatta here yesterday in the first event of the day, and was defeated by Von Gaza of the Viking Club, Berlin, by a length in 9.47 for the mile and half. This is Von Gaza's second victory, he having beaten Killer, the Hungarian sculler, Tuesday in the first heat.

Scholes got the water first and led for the first quarter, steering a fine course; but passing the island he steered somewhat wild.

Von Gaza was holding Scholes well at half the distance, with the German slightly in the lead. The time at the half was 4.38. From this out it was a magnificent race. Although Scholes was beaten, he spurted splendidly, but could not reduce Von Gaza's lead, and the German won the race by a length.

Bowler and Blackstaffe were equal at the end of the island, but the latter gradually got away a length or more. When 750 yards from the start Bowler ran into a pile, and, after extricating himself, he had another mishap a few yards further on, running again into a pile and falling out of his boat. Blackstaffe waited for him on the first mishap, taking opportunity to blow his nose, but seeing Bowler fall from his boat, pulled away leisurely. Bowler was rescued by a punt. Time 10.03.

In the first heat of the sculling on Tuesday Von Gaza of the Viking Club, Berlin, beat Killer, the Hungarian oarsman. His performance and time, 9 minutes 35 seconds, promises victory in the sculling.

In the singles, Hungary beat Italy. Time 10.06.

In the eight-oared race yesterday Leander beat Hungary 21-2 lengths in 8.10.

Taft's Boat Fired On.

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 30.—The steamer Island Queen was fired on during the trip up the Ohio river on Tuesday night with Judge William H. Taft and the notification committee and guests aboard.

Mrs. C. B. Russell of this city, standing on the hurricane deck, directly under the seat occupied by the Presidential candidate, was struck in the face and breast by a number of shot. She was not seriously injured.

Murderer Is Caught.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 30.—Ike Scigliano, the Italian who figured in the fight in little Italy Sunday night, and later escaped, has been arrested at Brimley, Mich., and brought to the Soo.

Scigliano is the man who, it is alleged, beat Beagn Paeiclos brains out with a club. When arrested he broke down and cried like a child

Looseness of The Bowels.

It is very seldom during the summer months that most people are not troubled with "looseness of the bowels."

Sometimes it only goes that far, but generally it develops into Diarrhoea, Dysentery or Summer Complaint and has a tendency to weaken the whole system.

When the bowels get loosened up in this way and you wish to check the unnatural discharge without bringing on constipation, there is only one remedy to use, and that one is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This remedy is not an experiment as it has been used in thousands of families during the past sixty-three years.

When you ask for Dr. Fowler's be sure you get it, as many unprincipalled druggists will try to palm off a cheap substitute on you.

Miss M. Hopkins, Roseview, Sask., writes: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and found it is all it is recommended to be for Diarrhoea and Summer Complaint. We would not be without a bottle of it in the house."

Undigested Food

When any portion of food remains in the stomach and refuses to digest, it causes the torments of indigestion. This undigested food rapidly ferments, irritating the sensitive coating of the stomach, while other parts of the body, particularly the head, suffer in consequence.

So long as this undigested food remains in the stomach, the discomfort continues. A few doses of stop all fermentation, sweeten the contents of the stomach and give natural assistance that relieves the stomach of its burden. The use of Beecham's Pills gradually strengthens the stomach nerves and soon restores them to a normal, healthy condition.

Beecham's Pills positively cure all stomach troubles, while their beneficial effects on the liver and kidneys greatly improve the general health.

Beecham's Pills have been used and recommended by the general public for over fifty years.

Lacrosse Men Known In Local Circles In Chicago Game

Bill Cavanah Plays for I. A. C. and Patsie McDonough for Opposing Team—Chicago Tribune on the Game.

BILLY TAYLOR, THERE ALSO

The Shamrock lacrosse team of Chicago defeated the Illinois A. C. twelve last Saturday by the score of 8 to 5 and it was an interesting game to Peterborough in view of the fact that Patsie McDonough and Billy Taylor figured on the line up of the winners. Bill Cavanah, formerly of Peterbroough, played on the I.A.C. team. The Chicago Daily Tribune says of the game:—

Billy Taylor and Pat McDonough, two importations from Toronto, fitted well enough into the Shamrock lacrosse machine to enable it to outspeed the Illinois A. C. team at the west side ball park yesterday and win the second match in the Comiskey cup series, eight goals to five.

It was a reversal of the form of July 4, when the club men downed the wearers of the three leaf emblem, nine to two. The score, however, represented the play, the Shamrocks displaying greater vim in their attack, and had it not been for the nervy work of Barrett in goal the count might have been larger.

The Shamrocks crowded the I.A.C. net a number of times, while the I. A.C. men found it hard to get close to the Shamrock goal, thanks to the good work of Kelly, Grogan, and their aids. The long range shooting of the losers was not particularly accurate, and Byrne did not make many mistakes.

With the mercury on the climb it was a great deal more comfortable looking on than galloping after the ball, but the teams stood the strain well, and although there was a let-up after the first quarter the pace was fairly fast all the way through.

Roughness Marks Game

It was not a gentle exhibition, and and there was a lot of heavy charging and at times some unnecessary swinging of sticks, but the officials chased a number of the offenders to the side lines and there were no violent outbreaks.

Milne scored the opening goal, his long range shot just hitting the top of Grogan's stick and finding the net. Byrne could have handled the shot easily but for the deflection. For some time after this the Shamrock attack worried the I.C.A. defence, and there were some hot scrimmages in Barrett's territory. Knapp shot the ball through and tied the score and three minutes later passed to O'Malley, who scored from short range.

Culbertson and Cavanah both had chances at the other end and shot wide. Mulligan ran in forty yards and beat Byrne with a fast shot, getting a cut head from an opposing stick which put him out of the game for several minutes. Only one goal was scored in the second period. Cavanah putting the I.A.C. in the lead after eight minutes of play. Score: I.A.C., 3; Shamrocks, 2.

O'Malley evened up the score after four minutes' play in the third half. Barrett being hurt in the mixup and taking four minutes to recover. A quick incursion by the Shamrocks ended in Shaver counting, and one minute later Knapp counted after Barrett had stopped O'Malley's shot. Seven minutes later McDonough counted another, putting the Shamrocks on easy street, 6 goal sto 3. West got a fast pass from Roberts and counted, but the Shamrocks at once returned the compliment, Knapp making a good run and scoring.

O'Malley put his knee out early in the last period and had to retire, and two minutes later Taylor was put out for three minutes by a hard charge. West, who did the best work for his side, counted on a pretty bit of combination, passing to Milne, who sent the ball back to the little fellow, and he pasted it into the net. Sauder shot wild at the other end, and Barrett, in running from behind, dropped the ball. Shaver scooped it up and tipped it into the unguarded net for the eighth and last goal.

The Brookside Bowling Green is the most popular athletic grounds in the city these afternoons and evenings. Last night about thirty enthusiasts were out and enjoyed a few hours of pleasantry with the bowls. The Brookside Green is the spot to drive away the cares and troubles of the toilers of the day, and that such a large number participate in the exciting game is very gratifying to the lovers of amateur sport.

Bowling is an attractive game to watch, as is evidenced by the large number who follow the progress of the play. Their admiration lies not so much in the skilful shots as in the skip's vocabulary. There is a splendid opportunity for originality, and fresh phrases which later become colloquial are continually being ventilated.

"A little more penny-pound cake, there, doctor," "Play the port with a running shot," and "Ough, you're gallopin', you're gallopin'," are among the breezy orders and assertions, that to the person unacquainted with the game and not on the spot might seem meaningless. But to the bowler they reach home just as if the plainest of orders had been given.

Beginning with last Monday scheduled games for the Frost Trophy have been in progress, and before they conclude there promises to be some record bowling on the Brookside Green. On Monday night J McIntyre's rink were 7 up on Dr. Greer's in a good game, and last night the scheduled game between Skip Ed. Reynolds and R. Cotterell was in doubt until the last end. The scores were:

Monday Night

Dr. Walmsley 0	R. J. Soden
R. Kerr	D. H. Moore
Dr. Caldwell	Dr. Eastwood
J. McIntyre, sk..15	Dr. Greer, sk..8

Wednesday Night

B. T. Huston	J. McKenzie
Dr. Walmsley	H. Campbell
Dr. Caldwell	D. Kerneghen
E. Reynolds, sk.11	R. Cotterell, sk.13

The following scratch game was also played last night:

D. Belleghem	L. Bowes
W. Isaac	S. Sharp
T. Pratt	W. J. O'Brien
W. Laing, sk...22	Robt. Kerr, sk..14

WHO WILL WIN—PETES OR ATHLETICS?

Saturday's Game Should be a Grand Struggle.

Both the local Midland League teams are in good shape for Saturday's game. The Petes had a fast and warm workout this morning, and have never been going stronger this season. No one should miss this game, as the interest is keener than that of any of the other three games they have played. Quinlan will be in the box for the Athletics and will endeavour to do his share of trimming the Petes. The beauty of the game is that the result is doubtful and only when the last man is put out will the supporters of either side feel secure. The Petes are not worrying much about a loss, in fact, are rather confident of putting it over Dubby Shea and the rest.

LONDON WEATHER TOO SULTRY FOR THE RACE

Canadian Marathon Men Didn't Attempt It Yesterday.

The attempt of the Canadians on Dorando's Marathon record, which was to have been made yesterday in London, was abandoned on account of the sultry weather.

All the Canadians are well except Lister, who sprained his ankle in the Marathon, and Bobby Kerr, who left in a race in Birmingham, and who will be unable to run again in England.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

Fred Hickey pitched for the Toronto Eastern League team yesterday, and although he did some fine twirling, the game went to Providence.

The dates for the interprovincial cricket match have been set. The game will be played August 14 and 15 at Ottawa. The team to represent Ontario will be selected next Tuesday.

The Canadian team to meet the Americans in the International match at Philadelphia will be chosen in Ottawa after the inter-provincial game. The date of the International has not yet been decided upon, but it will likely take place in the early part of September.

Probably the greatest of all athletic grinds is the Marathon run—25 miles of road racing. This is an event which eats the hearts out of the men who enter it. It has been said by one great distance runner that "after the tenth mile a man runs on his nerve alone. He loses consciousness of the race and runs mechanically. During the last five miles he is a madman, obsessed with the idea that to be overtaken means annihilation."

• • • •

The current edition of Collier's Weekly contains a picture of the Canadian athletes in the Stadium, marching around the ring behind the British flag. Fred Simpson is third man in the ranks.

• • • •

At the bowling green to-day the locals have five rinks playing against Oshawa.

• • • •

• • • •

Teh friends of John J. Hayes in this city were delighted with the showing made by the New York boy in England. He has been running well over here in Marathon and other distance races for several years, and his performance was looked upon as a well-earned triumph, and the natural result of hard, consistent work.

Hayes is 32 years old, and like most of our distance men, of small build. His weight is about 120 pounds and he is five feet four inches in height. Two years ago he finished third in the Marathon race at the Boston Athletic Association meet, and last year won the Marathon race held over the Yonkers course by the Mercury Athletic Club of Yonkers, defeating Morrissey, among other star competitors.

This year Hayes made a splendid showing at the B. A. A. Marathon. Three and a half miles from the finish he was five minutes behind the leader. At this point he cut loose and pulled up on the leaders so rapidly that he finished second to Morrissey by the narrow margin of 70 seconds. This extraordinary gain of four minutes and forty seconds in three and a half miles was the feature of the race and was good proof of Hayes' class.

Hayes has been a member of the Irish-American A. C. for about six months. He was born in this country of Irish parentage. His father has been dead for several years, and he has been supporting his mother and two young sisters as a baker in the confectionery branch of a department store.

• • • •

And here is an unpublished incident of the great Marathon. Like Dorando, Hayes staggered into the Stadium and would have fallen in his tracks had not a Cockney wag in the two shilling seats yelled "Cash!" thus bringing the half-dazed man back to the hours he hustled a wicker basket for the blonde at the corset counter.

IT DOES NOT EXPRESS SYMPATHY

Buffalo News Apparently Agrees With English Judges Re Carpenter Affair

Seriously, now. It takes all kinds of people to make up a world, including the redfaced tout with a Panama hat who puts one foot on the bar rail and opines that "the Englishman is a heuvasport." If the Englishman had elbowed the American runner at the Olympiad we can hear what that same R. F. T. would have to say! If Mr. Carpenter elbowed his English opponent—and he probably did, for English eyes are just as good as ours—he ought to get just what he would get here at home in any sport loving crowd, hissed off the field. He has, of his own volition, climbed over into the Pinhead Column along with other people we have mentioned from time to time.

SAYS STONE IS BEST HITTER IN LEAGUE

"You can talk of Cobb, Lajoie and all the other great hitters, but to my mind George Stone, of the St. Louis Browns, is the best hitter in the American League. He may not always have the highest percentage, but you never see him hit at a ball over his head or one on the ground and he is one of the few left-handers who is not disturbed by a left-handed pitcher," remarked Clark Griffith.

CAMP AT BOSCHINK WAS BROKEN UP YESTERDAY

The drowning of Howard Mallory has cast a deep gloom over the cottagers at Stony Lake, and particularly those in the neighbourhood of Boschink, where the young man lost his life. Pleasure has been quieted and a feeling of profound regret exists not only among those who knew the deceased, but also among all who have heard the sad details of the affair.

Yesterday Messrs. H. Wood, Harry Miles and Clarence Hicks went up to the camp to bring home the effects Mr. B. Shortly had straightened up the things and closed the tent. The three young men returned this morning bringing most of the articles, and the rest will follow on a later boat The boys who had formed the camp had an orchestra among themselves Fred Miles plays a mandolin, Carl Pickard a guitar, and young Mallory played a violin. All the instruments were brought down this morning

Fred Miles, who made an heroic attempt to save his companion, is still confined to his bed as the result of his experience. It is believed that only for the other boys, the drowning would have been a double fatality.

The funeral was held this afternoon to the Little Lake Cemetery, and the respect in which the deceased young man was held by the Georgina street Methodist church as well as by numerous other friends, was evidenced by the beautiful array of floral wreaths

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. N. Barber.)

New York, July 30.—The market was not particularly active this morning nor were the price changes important, but the sentiment was rather bullish throughout, especially in the copper and smelting stocks. The Gould issues were strong on the expected favourable termination of the Wheeling difficulties.

The floor element took the long side of C.P.R. on the excellent crop prospects in the Canadian Northwest. This also caused considerable buying from abroad. The London copper market was stronger and the copper situation in general shows considerable improvement, and there was a good demand for copper stocks at higher prices throughout.

The further advance in copper metal prices on the local exchange makes it evident that the principal producing interests have this market well in hand, and as we have frequently stated, there is no advancing tendency which, in our opinion, will run somewhat further before the actual weight of copper stocks here and abroad cause the market to halt.

There is a little buying by the principal consuming interests on this side of the water, but as yet this cannot be said to be in great volume. As a matter of fact, some of the more important interests that consume copper are holding off from filling their future requirements in the belief that increased production toward the end of the year will cause a reaction in the metal market to lower prices than have been witnessed since the big drop a year ago.

The closing was quiet but firm.

WEDDING BELLS.

HAMBLIN—ANDREWS

Norwood, July 30.—Special. — Last evening at 6.30 o'clock the home of Mrs. John Andrews, Asphodel, was the scene of a pretty wedding, when her daughter, Miss Ella, was united in marriage to Mr. George Hamblin, school teacher at Wildman's school, Asphodel. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W H Adams, pastor of the Norwood Methodist church. The bride was attired in a beautiful costume of white silk and was attended by Miss Curry Payne. The groomsman was Mr. Richard Andrews, brother of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Hamblin will reside in Norwood.

THE RELIGION OF SENSIBLE AMERICANS

The kind of religion professed by "sensible Americans" partakes of the practical. As set forth by Dr. David Starr Jordan, it is a "religious philosophy" that has "long tended in the direction ticketed by philosophers as Pragmatism." "Whatever will work in the conduct of life strengthening it, enriching it, giving it a higher trend, must, so far as it goes, have elements of truth." In such a scheme it will be seen that creeds must play a subordinate part. "To the average [American," observes the writer, "the creeds are mostly harmless. They will not harm us if we do not read them," and "without their historic background we can hardly understand them." Mr. Dunne is quoted to the effect that "Since I read the Apostles' Creed it seems less convincing than when I heard it and did not understand it." In the July number of The Hibbert Journal, Boston, appear these words in one of the series of articles on religion as it appeals to "sensible" members of different nations. We quote further concerning the religion of the "sensible American":

"As his religion is not regulated by intellectual assent to any proposition in metaphysics, spiritual or biographical, the average sensible American is not alarmed over the results of the Higher Criticism. Enough that is genuine and beyond question goes back to the teachings of Jesus. That devout enthusiasts have interpolated here and there an illustration, a bit of philosophy, or a bit of imagination, or that chapter or epistle may have been attributed to the wrong man does not disturb his spiritual consciousness. These matters are interesting from the scientific side, but they do not touch bottom in their relation to religion. Neither is he concerned because wine is not turned into water in our day, not even by the faith that moves mountains. The old story of Cana may not be true. It may be poetry, or parable, or error of record, or even pure falsehood. It is no aid to his faith, but it does not disturb it. In the face of the greatest marvel in human history, the influence of him who spoke as never man spoke and who will draw all men unto him, he will leave to each expert in Oriental imagery such theory of physical miracle as may seem to him best. He can understand that the parables and fancies of Hebrew poets, like those of English poets, interpret spiritual rather than literal or historical fact. Therefore, he is not distressed over the narrowness of the whale's gullet, or the adjustment of the days of creation, nor of the fact that the prayers of the good men will not bring rain from a steel-blue Australian sky. Neither is his faith impaired by the certainty that the ancestry of man runs close to that of the animals which are likest him, and in whose image, anatomically, he is made. He rejoices that the world is far older and the universe far broader than his fathers had thought, that 'Time is as long as space is wide,' for infinite detail of preparation, even in the processes of creation, is the best guarantee of ineffable achievement."

Emotionalism, it is said, is not found by the sensible American to be a "necessary attribute of religion." Further:

"Love is not love unless it continues the impulse of renewed life. It must purify itself by action. 'If thou lovest me, feed my lambs.' There is no other evidence. There is no other way in which emotion can impinge on religion. 'Sensations,' says my friend, 'are within the reach of all.' Preachers deal with them sometimes. Our rituals and our choirs give them. There are books that pile up great waves of emotion in us almost as real as if we had earned them. I have read of battles so vividly portrayed that my cold blood grew hot, and I felt like a hero. I cooled down, a little more weary than before: that was all. I have listened to great preachers who talked so familiarly of holy things and made them so real that earth has seemed worry when I touched it again. Emotions are dangerous things unless they find an outlet in action. We can so narcotize ourselves with holy things that our senses will lie to us. We can meditate on holy things until we feel that we are holy too. But periods of rude awakening come. We find we have been hearing, and not doing; saying 'Lord! Lord!' and not doing God's will."

THE MORE DAYLIGHT SCHEME

One of the most revolutionary ideas that for many years has been mooted in the British House of Parliament has just been discussed under the name of the "Daylight Saving Bill." This bill proposes to do nothing less than to alter the clock so that during spring and summer the working day shall begin and end an hour and twenty minutes earlier than it does now. This idea is the invention of Mr. William Willett, a fellow of the Royal Astrological Society, who first made his startling proposal many months ago. The suggestion has been considered by a special committee of the British Parliament, and its advantages have been very generally admitted upon all sides.

The Advantages

These advantages, to a certain extent, appear at first sight. Supposing on the first day of April next we arise at what we suppose is seven o'clock, when, in reality, during the night our clocks have been put forward an hour and twenty minutes, and by our old standard it is but forty minutes past five. We get up as usual and find all clocks agree with ours. To all practical purposes, therefore, it is seven o'clock. We go to work, as usual, at eight, and at the end of the day we leave all six. We notice absolutely no change in our routine of daily life, until towards evening. We then discover the daylight lasts longer than it ever did before; that night was later in arriving than it was last week. If it was dark at exactly 7.30 last week, it is now 8.50 and some odd seconds allowed for the regular lengthening of the day in springtime, before darkness sets in. If it is usual for us to go to bed at ten truly we do so, although we retire an hour and twenty minutes earlier than we formerly did. That night we shall sleep just as long as ever and shall on the morrow save another hour and twenty minutes of daylight.

But to revert to Mr. Willett. He says the change in the clock time should be made on the Sundays in April, and by the simple acceptance of four days each 23 hours and 40 minutes long, instead of 24 hours, a great many drawbacks would be dispelled, more gladness infused into life, and millions of pounds put into the pockets of the community. Is it not indisputable that the man who sees but little of the sun, and neglects to take daily outdoor exercise cannot hope to discharge his duties with the full efficiency of which he is capable? Should not every employer, therefore, desire for his assistants more time for outdoor recreation, and would not the additional opportunities which would follow the passing of this bill be afforded without cost? If those questions are answered in the affirmative—and Mr. Willett contends that they must be—then he calls upon every lover of his country to ask for an Act of Parliament which shall decree that in the early morning of each of the first four Sundays in April all clocks shall advance twenty minutes. Twenty minutes of sunlight after working hours would thus be gained every day during the first week in April, 40 minutes the second week, 60 minutes the third week, and 80 minutes the fourth and each succeeding week until the end of August. In September a reverse operation on four Sundays would bring us back by the end of the month to the original time as we now have it.

Money Saved

It is true that the result at which he aims might be secured by earlier rising and earlier business hours, but he submits the latter are quite unattainable in our great cities. He believes that his proposal provides the most simple and practical solution of the difficulty, and he predicts that if it is adopted in its entirety we would glide into the new arrangement so gently and imperceptibly that the affairs of life would proceed as naturally and easily as before. Then those who regain their freedom at five or six o'clock would walk out into the light which we now have at 8.40 and 4.40 respectively, with the result that everyone would become physically, mentally and morally stronger and better men and women. A gain which no one can despise or dispute must necessarily result from the reduced consumption of artificial light. Mr. Willett claims the system will mean the yearly saving of $10,000,000 to the people of the British Isles.

TIMELY TIPS.

By Suburban Reporter

Last Sunday evening on George street, a strong, hardy-looking man was seen wearing gloves. Well, isn't that the limit! Perhaps his hands had previously been cold or perhaps he was afraid of coming in contact with poison ivy. Anyway the gloves distinguished him as the correct gentleman to inaugurate the use of the fan by men in church.

The berry-picking season is now in full swing and many people are endeavouring to get a supply for next winter's use. The red raspberries of the wild variety are to be had in abundance in many parts of the country districts, but the owners of the property on which they are found get only the "leavings." How's that? The explanation is that gangs of city folks make an invasion of the country at this season and go straight to their objective point no matter what intervenes. When a mob of 20 or 30 pass through a field of grain they leave a decided impression both on the grain and on the mind of the owner. It is also their usual custom to leave gates open and to let down fences, as a result of which the farmer's cattle wander from the pasture lot and much time is lost hunting them up, as well as damage done to the crops. A field of green peas seems to be a special if the owner requests them to leave delight to these bold marauders and the premises, he receives a volley of "sass" with all modern fixtures. This is genuine trespassing with insults added, but what is the farmer to do? He cannot easily secure their names and he cannot drive them away by force as the enemy is too numerous. There is a strong temptation to use a gun loaded with buckshot, ripe pears (not green ones) or to keep a good savage dog that has a particular relish for fresh meat. There is a law, however, and it must be observed, so no such severe measures are permissible. But then, what's the use talking about it anyway, for it is predestined that country people shall always be in subjection to their superior city neighbours.

FORSHAW TELLS HOW HE PASSED SIMPSON

His Business Was to Keep American Indian Well Up to the Front.

Forshaw, the second American to finish in the Marathon race, and who was but four seconds and a fraction behind Hefferon, was quite fresh after the run and suffered no ill-effects from the race. He, of all the men who finished, probably had a clearer idea of what happened than any one else. He said to the Associated Press: "I was next to the last man to leave Windsor. My instructions were to keep Tewanima with me, and if I weakened to send Tewanima along to win the race if he could do so. I held back until about eleven miles from the finish, nursing Tewanima along, who was suffering from bad knees. We passed men time after time, Duncan, the Englishman, who was expected to win the race, being left behind at Uxbridge. Tewanima, when he saw Duncan ahead, went up to tire him out, which, from what I have heard since, he succeeded in doing. Hatch passed me once, but I overtook him again. Hayes all the time was well to the front, hanging to the heels of Dorando. I never caught up with either him or Hefferon. After we had run 21 miles Tewanima showed signs of weakening; then I pulled out and passed Simpson, the Canadian Indian, Tewanima doing likewise. We ran fast, too fast in fact, with a view to taking the heart out of the Canadian, and if it had not been for this spurt I believe I could have overtaken Hefferon and won second place.

"The Italian Dorando should have been out of the race three miles from home. He ran well for 20 miles, but had come too fast and had to be assisted even before he reached the Stadium, but not to the same extent."

ORIGINAL OLYMPIC GAMES

From the National Review.

Every few years, accordingly as the moon which marked the Greek midsummer drew to its full, a pilgrimage of all that was best and most vigorous in Hellas ended at the little plain of Olympia in Elis, the small state on the western coast of the Peloponnesus, a flat space, with its natural barriers of mountain and river, some fifteen miles from the sea. Long before the beginning of the festival, heralds went forth, first through Elis, thence throughout Greece, to proclaim a truce, during which all fighting between city and city, state and state, would cease, so as to allow a whole month of peace, during which the Hellenic youth should be able to travel unmolested and unhindered from the furthest settlements of the race—it might be from Marseilles to the Crimea — in order to make the offering of its vigour and its piety to the Olympian Zeus in Elis.

The plain at Olympia was hallowed ground, dedicated to Zeus, and contained on its northern side the Altis, or sanctum. In this sanctum were the temple of that god, that of Hera, and altars to Demeter and Aphrodite, and it was adorned, as time went on, with the most exquisite productions of Hellenic art, including the statue of Zeus, by Phidias, that same statue from which he removed and weighed the gold in order to disprove the accusation that he had been guilty of peculation in his use of precious metal. For the rest, as a place protected by its special sanctity, the Altis contained the treasure-houses of many of the Hellenic states.

No pains were spared to prevent the entrance of any competitors in the games who should, by lack of character or piety, profane the religious nature of the festival or of the hallowed ground upon which it was celebrated. The first qualification was that of pure Hellenic blood, but no youth who had been branded by his own state for any disgraceful offence, or was known to have sinned against the divine laws, was allowed to compete. Lack of patriotism was sufficient to exclude a competitor. Thus, the horses of Hiero of Syracuse were excluded, at the instance of Themistocles, because he had failed to take part with his countrymen in resisting the Persian danger.

MOUNT PLEASANT HAS FINE CROPS

Many of the Villagers Enjoyed Recent Excursion.

Mount Pleasant, July 29. — The crops in this section are reported good with the exception of winter apples which is a short crop.

The annual excursion of the Durham Old Boys and Girls to Niagara Falls by the Gorge Route was a great success. The weather was the very best and the music was first class. We hope the annual excursion for 1909 will be over the same route.

The village has not enough left in case of an invasion, to defend the town from the enemy, the old home guards are nearly all absent.

The public school teacher, T W McLean and wife and son were visiting at Toronto and Richmond Hill.

Report says that C F Shield and his wife are spending their holidays in the Northwest.

We regret to hear of the death at Peterborough of a former resident of this village, the wife of Mr. J W Stacey. We extend our sympathies to the bereaved husband in this his time of sorrow.

Mr. A P McLean, wife and son, of Peterborough, spent one day visiting at the parental home after their excursion to the Pacific Coast, where they enjoyed the grand scenery of the Rockies and the mild breeze from the Pacific Ocean.

Johnny Helps Cupid.

By Abraham R. Groh.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

This is the simple narrative of the great services rendered by Johnny Gaylord to Dan Cupid. Who was Johnny Gaylord? Why, Johnny Gaylord, captain of the Little Giants baseball team, of course.

Furthermore, Johnny was the son of John Gaylord, president of the big Gaylord-Lorraine Iron company. Also, and this is more germane to the present narrative, Johnny was the small brother of Georgette Gaylord.

Georgette Gaylord had no rival as the social queen of Reading. Personal beauty and tact seemed to have united with the wealth and social position of her family to place her on a pedestal.

Marshall N. Joslin was the junior member of the firm of Shackleton, Smith & Joslin, attorneys for the Gaylord-Lorraine company. He was also the accepted suitor for the fair hand of Georgette.

Never was fate kinder to two young people. The sky of their future glowed.

This tale opens with the gathering of thick clouds. Marshall Joslin, scion of a wealthy house, graduate of a great university, brilliant member of a famous law firm, remarked that evening to Georgette Gaylord, social queen and lovely woman:

"If that is the way you feel about it, there is nothing for me to do but go."

To which Georgette Gaylord nodded her head slowly, but with dignity.

Then the young man moved to the hall, calmly put on his coat, took his hat, his stick and his gloves and only broke the intense silence to say in a distant, odd sounding voice:

"Good evening, Miss Gaylord."

"Goodby."

Then he went out and shut the door behind him. Miss Gaylord did not move until his steps had died away down the stone walk that led through the big yard to the street. Then she dropped her lovely head on her arms and sobbed, for Georgette Gaylord had behind a thickly curtained corner in the depths of her woman's heart a very, very warm feeling for Marshall Joslin.

Marshall Joslin made his way home in a sort of dazed condition. It is true he shed no tears, but neither did he sleep a wink that night nor eat a bite of breakfast the next morning nor smoke his usual matutinal cigar in the office. These things were mere outward signs which he succeeded fairly well in concealing.

But there was an effect upon his brain which he was powerless to conceal. He and Shackleton, the senior partner, were working on a suit which involved thousands of dollars for their client, the big iron company. This morning Shackleton quickly noted the brain fag of the junior partner.

"What on earth is the matter with you, boy?" he demanded in his quick way. "Where are your wits this morning?"

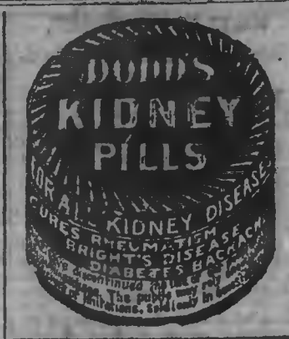
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.
Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.



The junior partner smiled a sickly smile, and out of his dry throat came some words about not having slept very well. In his heart he didn't care what came of the lawsuit.

He suddenly wanted to get away somewhere and be alone with this the greatest trouble that had ever come upon him. Life without Georgette Gaylord meant life insipid, useless, objectless.

The air of the office seemed to stifle him, and the questioning gaze of the senior member of the firm, looking so fit and strong on the other side of the polished table, tormented him.

"I believe I will take a walk in the fresh air, if you don't mind," he said finally. "It will clear my brain, perhaps, and I will come back better able to do something."

He left the office abjectly miserable, but relieved to find himself alone with his wretchedness. He remembered now that Georgette had spent considerable time recently in the company of a certain dashing Captain Mostyn, who was visiting in Reading. Yes, there must have been something serious behind that affair in spite of her assurances to the contrary. She no longer loved him. He laughed in bitter contempt of himself.

"Hello, Mr. Joslin!"

"Why, good morning, Johnny. How are you?" said Joslin.

The question was merely formal, but it started Johnny's willing tongue.

"Oh, I'm all right," he chattered. "I never had anything the matter with me in my whole life except the mumps and the measles and the whooping cough. But I think sister's sick today."

"What!" cried the young man, hitherto so phlegmatic. "Sick, did you say?"

"Oh, I don't think she's very sick," said Johnny. "I guess she isn't very sick. Say, are you coming out to see us play the Little Sluggers? We've got a game with them Saturday. Say, you don't want to miss it. We're going to put it all over them."

Marshall Joslin's excited gesticulations could not stop Johnny when he was talking baseball until Johnny had finished.

"But your sister, Johnny—your sister! You said she was sick!" he cried when at last he had an opportunity to speak.

"Oh, I don't think she's very sick," said Johnny. "Only she wasn't down to breakfast this morning, and she generally gets up before I do. And last night I heard her in her room, and it sounded as if she was crying. I was awfully sorry, because she's about the best sister a feller ever had. She gave me the money out of her own pocket to organize the Little Giants. I gave her an annual pass."

The captain of the Little Giants grinned as he raised his eyes to those of Mr. Joslin. The face of that young man had also undergone a remarkable change. It fairly beamed with joy.

"Is there anything else you need for your club?" he demanded suddenly.

"Well, I want to get uniforms for all the regular men," Johnny said seriously, "as soon as we get the money."

"How much will that take?" demanded Mr. Marshall Joslin.

"We can get some bully ones for $12 a dozen, but"—

The next moment Johnny Gaylord felt something thrust into his hand and saw Marshall Joslin striding down the street with rapidity. Johnny looked at what was in his hand. It was a greenback for more than enough to buy the uniforms.

"Well, I wonder what I said to earn that?" he mused as he carefully stowed it in a place of safety.

When Johnny came home at noon a voice called him from the big, half darkened drawing room. It was the voice of Miss Georgette, and he hurried to her.

"Look what Mr. Joslin gimme, sis," he cried as he came toward her. He displayed the greenback.

"Johnny Gaylord, what have you been telling Mr. Joslin?" demanded Georgette, serious eyes fixed upon him.

"I didn't tell him anything," averred the captain of the Little Giants. "We were just standing on the street talking, and I happened to mention that I was going to get uniforms for the Little Giants as soon as I got the money. And then he just stuck this in my hands and rushed off before I could even get a chance to thank him. Oh, say, sis, but won't the team look fine in those blue uniforms with white stripes?"

"Johnny Gaylord," she said solemnly, "you told Mr. Joslin something else. Now, tell me what it was you said."

"Why, that's all we talked about, honest," protested Johnny, "except that I told him I was well and that you weren't well because you didn't come down to breakfast and I heard you crying last night and"—

"Johnny!"

"You that is why he came," murmured Georgette, biting her lip.

Johnny was beginning to feel very uncomfortable when suddenly he was swept into the warm embrace of two strong arms, and Georgette placed a kiss right on his pouting lips.

"Oh, you're a dear little brother," she declared, hugging him.

Johnny went away mystified over the two strange events of the day, but happy in the possession of means to uniform the Little Giants.

When Marshall Joslin arrived again at the office he was so cheerful of spirit and vigorous of mind that Shackleton remarked upon it.

"Your walk seems to have done you good, my boy," he said.

"Made a new man of me, sir," declared Joslin warmly.

A Spanish Ghost Story.

The atmosphere of Spain agrees most perfectly with all sorts of spirits, and a delightfully ghoulish story is told of the punishment of a bold, bad man who killed a friar. At the time of the crime the murderer escaped to Portugal, where he remained so long that on his return nobody recognized him. One morning, when he was walking along the street, he saw a fine sheep's head in the market place and, fearing it might be purchased while he went home for a servant, he secured it, but, ashamed to be seen carrying a package, he concealed it under his cloak. Unfortunately, blood trickled from the head, and a member of the holy brotherhood, perceiving it, stopped him and asked, "What bearest thou, cavalier?" "Nothing," was the mendacious reply, which naturally excited suspicion, and the monk cried, "My brother, thou hast somewhat unlawful beneath thy cape." And behold, when the cloak was torn aside there was—the head of the murdered friar!—Los Angeles Times.

Practical Scaling.

"Look here, Lucy," exclaimed Mr. Hardapple; "this is no time to be practicing on the piano. It's time to prepare dinner."

"But, pa, I am interested in scales," pouted Lucy as she pounded the keys.

"Interested in scales, eh? Well, I've a task for you. Go down in the kitchen and help your ma scale fish."—Detroit Tribune.

Their Achievements.

"He had three daughters. One married a French chauffeur"—

"I see! Quite romantic."

"The second married an Indian, a descendant of a chieftain"—

"I see! Quite aboriginal."

"But the third married a plain American business man."

"H'm! Merely eccentric, I should say."—Puck.

Accounted For.

Mrs. J.'s patience was much tried by a servant who had the habit of standing around with her mouth open. One day as the maid waited upon the table her mouth was open, as usual, and her mistress said:

"Mary, your mouth is open."

"Yassum," replied Mary; "I opened it."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Long Story.

Ascum—Say, old man, what did your wife say to you when you got in last night?

Wrounds—Oh, are you just starting on your two weeks' vacation?

Ascum—No. Why?

Wrounds—Then you won't have time to listen. I can't talk as fast as she did.—Houston Post.

Notices Which Make You Smile.

There is quite a rich crop of humor, usually unconscious, to be reaped by the observant in the notices displayed in shop windows, of which the following announcement by a south end bird fancier is not at all a bad example: "Doves for sale, cheap. Eat nearly anything. Fond of children." Not long ago a Farrington road butcher had in his window this notice: "Wanted, a respectable boy for beef sausages." An east end publican announced, "Billiard tables upstairs, 1 shilling per 100." A well known High Wycombe tobacconist proclaims from his shop window, "This shop is open on Sundays from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., in spite of Charles II." "Wanted, a warehouseman," ran another similar notice. "Applicants must be accustomed to rigorous discipline. Only the offers of such candidates will be entertained who have served in the army or been married for a considerable length of time."—Westminster Gazette.

'Twould Be Easy Then.

McJigger—It's all well enough to tell us to forgive our enemies, but I tell you it's a hard thing to do.

Thingumbob—That's what it is. We shouldn't be expected to forgive our enemies except when they freely admit that they don't deserve our forgiveness.—Philadelphia Press.

Insect Hypnotism.

"Did you ever know," said the hypnotist, as he played with a curious, glittering hypnotizing machine of crystal and silver—"did you ever know that hypnotism is practiced among insects?"

"No."

Well, it is a fact. A queen bee can hypnotize her whole hive whenever she wants to. She makes a curious humming sound, and within a moment or two every bee in the colony falls into a hypnotic trance.

"The death's-head hawk-moth is also a hypnotist of great power. This creature, indeed, makes its living out of hypnotism. Entering a hive, it makes a sound not unlike the queen bee's note, and the bees immediately sinking into slumber, the moth proceeds to plunder at its leisure."

How to Relieve a Sick Headache.

To cure a sick headache drink quickly a cup of strong catnip tea. It probably will induce vomiting. After the stomach is well cleared out drink another cupful of the tea to quiet and soothe the stomach.

A Cure For Despondency.

A large, fleshy man with whiskers told me of a sovereign cure for despondency the other day. He had a number of girls in his employ, among them one that he knew was in struggling circumstances and supporting a sick mother on a none too healthy salary. She had come into the store and laid her purse and somber widow hat on the counter while she did something about the place. The large fleshy man got between her and the purse, and when she was not looking he slipped a five dollar bill into it and moved unconsciously about his business. In the afternoon he noticed that she had a red spot in each cheek, and she was heard asking other girls if they believed in fairies. She never solved the mystery—it was two years ago—and never will unless she reads this. But the five dollar bill was very useful in its little way, and the large despondent man felt so good for two whole days that he hip-hopped on the sidewalk on his way home.—Minneapolis Journal.

Most people do not need the evidence of recently published statistics to prove to them that it costs more to live in London than it once did. But it is doubtful if any Londoner now living was ever able to do it on £30 a year, as Boswell's poor Irish painter did. "He allowed £10 for clothes and linen. He said a man might live in a garret at 18 pence a week. Few people would inquire where he lived, and if they did it was easy to say, 'Sir, I am to be found at such a place.' By spending threepence at a coffee house he might be for some hours a day in very good company. He might dine for sixpence, breakfast on bread and milk for a penny and do without supper." Of course expenses can always be reduced to a minimum by doing without things. The question is, Which of our various expenses is unessential? Boswell's Irishman hinted at one. "On clean shirt days he went abroad and paid visits," says his ingenious chronicler.—London Chronicle.

A Simple Salad.

Cabbage scorned as plebeian takes on an air as a salad—not cold slaw or hot slaw, but a crisp, easily mixed salad with French dressing.

Cut the cabbage with fine grater and put it in ice water for an hour before serving. Dry on a clean napkin and cover with a highly seasoned French dressing about ten minutes before serving.

If a clove of garlic is rubbed over the bowl in which the dressing is made, the flavor is much improved for many persons.

While one would not serve this salad at a formal meal, it makes an appetizing lunch dish.

A Pan Broil.

When it is not convenient to open the lid of a stove, as on ironing day, a beefsteak or chop can be given a pan broil.

Have the pan very hot. Put the meat in it and turn almost immediately to the other side until seared. Keep turning the meat occasionally till it is done, though this need not be quite so often as when the steak is over live coals.

A LIFE ANNUITY TO THE WINNER

ORANGE MEAT is made from the whole wheat. This King of Cereals is used in the manufacture of ORANGE MEAT, instead of Corn, Rice, Barley, Oats, etc., because wheat contains properties that satisfy the needs of the human system that are not found in other cereals.

ORANGE MEAT has been determined by analysis to be FIFTY per cent. more valuable as a food than bread. Milk is a complete food. It is a flesh-former and heat-maker. ORANGE MEAT taken with milk every morning and evening forms a perfect and evenly-balanced food. Taken together they are easily digested and assimilated.

In the past considerable money has been spent in introducing and advertising ORANGE MEAT. Travellers have covered the whole of Canada from Halifax to Vancouver, at enormous outlay for salaries, travelling and other expenses.

The management have decided to introduce a new system. They are offering a series of CASH PRIZES to consumers.

All persons using ORANGE MEAT will enjoy a wholesome and perfect food, and, in addition, participate in a contest for a CASH PRIZE.

TO THE WINNER OF THE FIRST PRIZE, THE SUM OF FIFTY-TWO DOLLARS WILL BE PAID EVERY YEAR DURING HIS OR HER LIFE TIME. The manufacturers of ORANGE MEAT will purchase an annuity policy from one of the largest Life Insurance Companies in Canada, by which the Insurance Company will contract to pay (to the winner of this prize) the sum of FIFTY-TWO DOLLARS during each and every year of his or her life-time.

A SECOND PRIZE OF ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS CASH WILL BE PAID, AND IN ADDITION:

TEN CASH PRIZES OF TWENTY DOLLARS EACH.
TEN CASH PRIZES OF TEN DOLLARS EACH.
TWENTY CASH PRIZES OF FIVE DOLLARS EACH.
ONE HUNDRED CASH PRIZES OF ONE DOLLAR EACH.

THE PARTY SENDING IN THE LARGEST NUMBER OF CARTON BOTTOMS ON OR BEFORE MAY 1st, 1909, WILL RECEIVE THE FIRST, OR GRAND PRIZE. THE SECOND IN ORDER WILL RECEIVE THE SECOND PRIZE, etc. Before above Prizes are distributed ten days will be allowed for parcels to reach ORANGE MEAT, Kingston, that are mailed on or before above date.

CONDITIONS

READ CAREFULLY

Save the Carton Bottoms of every package of ORANGE MEAT you buy. Collect every Carton Bottom you can get from your neighbors or friends. Send them in as often as you please by mail to ORANGE MEAT, Kingston. BE SURE AND PREPAY POSTAGE. Send a post card to ORANGE MEAT, Kingston, stating that you are entering the contest. Write your full name and address plainly. Keep accurate count of the number of Carton Bottoms you send in. THE ORANGE MEAT COMPANY will acknowledge receipt of any Carton Bottoms sent in if Postage is prepaid.

Every Carton containing ORANGE MEAT has the private mark of the manufacturers on the bottom of the package. This serves to identify them.

THE JUMBO PACKAGE OF ORANGE MEAT WILL COUNT EQUAL TO THREE OF THE ORDINARY SIZE.

BEGIN NOW TO COLLECT.

GET YOUR FRIENDS TO HELP YOU.

IF THE WINNER OF THE GRAND PRIZE SO ELECTS, THE MANUFCTURERS OF ORANGE MEAT WILL PAY THE SUM OF SEVEN HUNDRED DOLLARS IN CASH, INSTEAD OF THE POLICY CALLING FOR FIFTY-TWO DOLLARS PER ANNUM DURING LIFE-TIME.

Woman's World

"A STRICT BOSS."

Miss Fay Kellogg and Her Striking Success as an Architect.

Miss Fay Kellogg, who is one of the most prominent women architects in the United States, is a Brooklyn girl, and she began her architectural career under a German tutor who taught her drawing and mathematics. She afterward went to Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, for a year, and she then entered the employ of an architect in order to get a practical idea of the business.

MISS FAY KELLOGG.

Later she was employed by a prominent New York firm of architects, after which she went to Paris. Upon her return she worked with Mr. John R. Thomas until his death. Since then she has been in business for herself.

To the question of "What do you consider the biggest piece of work you have ever done?" Miss Kellogg replied: "The opening of the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris to women architects. When I went to Paris there was just one atelier where women were received. Today conditions are entirely different.

"I don't care so much for small pieces of architectural work," continued Miss Kellogg. "I only do big things—as, for instance, the American News company's new sixteen story building in San Francisco, which I successfully built at long distance.

"There is no reason why a woman should not do as well in architecture as a man if she is not afraid of rebuffs. Not but what men have been nice to me, for I meet them on equal lines, but it takes a little time to gain their confidence."

To see Miss Kellogg on "her job" is a unique experience, even to the layman. For instance, she has done all the architectural work for the American News company throughout the United States for the past ten years, which means that she has 150 buildings under her charge. At present she is renovating six old buildings for this company in New York and also erecting a new one. Every morning at 9 o'clock Miss Kellogg appears on the scene and trips lightly up six or seven flights of stairs to superintend her workingmen. She runs up and down unfinished stairs, scales ladders to see how new roofs are coming on and trips lightly across yawning beams that are open to the first floor. A short skirt, stout high boots and well poised nerves are her equipment, and when she is around everything moves.

She knows every detail of her profession, construction, the theory and practical knowledge of plumbing, heating, electricity and ventilation. Then, too, she is acquainted with all her contractors, foremen and plumbers, and as Pete, her superintendent of construction, says, "She isn't afraid of anything," and he added, "She is the most thorough man I ever met in architectural work."

Mr. Louis Hernsheim, the structural iron contractor, who has been accustomed to working with women architects in Europe, says that Miss Kellogg is "more attentive to business than any man I know."

"It's my first job with her," he continued, "but I hope it won't be my last."

"Oh, yes, all the workmen like her. She is so considerate, but she can be, well—emphatic."

Jerry, one of her workmen, when approached said: "Like her? Well, I guess so! She is immense! But she is a strict boss."

Children's Play Clothes.

If mothers did but realize that children spend much more of their little lives in their play clothes than in their Sunday best they would give more thought to the careful making of these little garments than to the more dress up affairs which serve only upon occasion.

Play clothes must be made of material durable in weave and color, for they have hard usage. They should be pretty, but the trimming should be of a nature that will not hamper the child in active, wholesome play. They should be easy to launder, for a child's clothes spend almost if not quite as much time in the hands of the laundress as upon the child.

Linen in natural color and shades of blue is substantial material. So is gingham in plaids or checks or solid color. Percales are good, and galatea, which comes in such pretty striped effects—blue and white, red and white, brown and white—is admirable.

For trimming use bands of plaid or stripe or polka dot upon solid colors, or vice versa. Braid (be careful that you shrink it first) is easily applied.

White linen or pique in bands, collars or cuffs adds style to colored clothes.

One mother with forethought sends to the laundry with the little dress the pieces left when making. In this way all is faded alike, so that when new sleeves are in order or a rent must be patched noticeable contrast between new and old is avoided.

It is a good plan to run a tuck by hand or by a chain stitch machine in the bottom of the skirt before hemming. When the little dress becomes short through shrinkage of cloth or growth of child the tuck may be ripped, thereby lengthening the dress and incidentally widening the hem.

A Rich Woman's Closet.

"The nearest approach to a Bluebeard's closet that I ever saw," said a woman the other day, "was in the country house of one of New York's most fashionable women.

"I didn't know her, but in a queer roundabout way I was once shown over the house and saw Mrs. V.'s private apartments. I pretty nearly fainted when I walked into a room where a dozen or more women were apparently hanging from the ceiling.

"When I came to I found that what I had taken to be a choice collection of female corpses was really a lot of manikins. Mrs. V. had them made after her own measurements, and her choicest costumes were kept on them when not in use.

"Her maid would fasten a gown on a manikin, put something over it to keep the dust off and then by means of a rope and pulley draw the whole thing up to the ceiling. It was a fine arrangement, but looked as if Bluebeard had been around."

Clever Mrs. Asquith.

It is many years since so young a woman as Mrs. Asquith has occupied the important position of a prime minister's wife, and it has been remarked that none of her immediate predecessors was so perfectly equipped for the position. The wife of the new premier was described by Mr. Gladstone as "the cleverest woman he had ever met," and he gave her free access to his library at Hawarden. A London paper says that among Mrs. Asquith's treasured correspondence, kept in a book brightly bound in emerald calf, is a letter from King Edward thanking her for a "soulful" novel she lent him. The letter was written on the monarch's return from the first jubilee procession in his honor and was dated "this never to be forgotten day."

To Prevent Tale Telling.

Some time ago, writes a reader of Home Chat, I found that my children were getting into a habit of constantly coming to me to complain of one another. At last I told them that in future I could listen to no verbal complaints. Any one who had a grievance against another must write it out carefully, bring it to me, and I would then go into the matter.

Since then it is marvelous how few complaints I have received. The children quickly settle grievances among themselves, and there is far less quarreling than there used to be.

The Outline Stitch.

Many of the imported lingerie blouses this season have part of the embroidery done in outline stitch. For instance, a running vine will be worked in outline stitch, while a bit of solid embroidery, eyelet work or soutache braiding is introduced to give a pleasing combination.

The present fashion for outlining and braiding is a boon to the woman whose eyes will not permit the execution of the closer and finer needlework.

Shoes in Housework.

If you must do your own housework, see that your shoes are loose and absolutely comfortable. Change them, moreover, in the afternoon, as nothing rests the feet more. If your feet get so tired that you feel you cannot stand up another moment and your feet are swollen, take time to dip them in cold water and give them a vigorous rub.

Spots of cream always spoil the appearance of an afternoon teacloth without actually warranting its dispatch to the laundry. If the spots are lightly touched with household ammonia and the stained portion of the cloth ironed over a piece of clean white blotting paper, all traces of the grease should vanish.

Miss Fanny Crosby, the blind hymn writer, was eighty-eight the other day. Though sightless from her birth, there is probably not a happier woman in the country, due in no small part to what she has done to give happiness to others.

Don't be too depressed even if you have done a foolish thing. We all have our foolish moments and hours of repentance—even the wisest of us.

The railway authorities in Norway have decreed that when husband and wife are traveling together the latter need pay only half price.

It is easy to find fault; therefore many try their hand at it. But it is difficult to praise intelligently; therefore few try to do it.

The Unhappy Milkmaid.

New York's state board of health has directed that all persons who milk cows must wear white overalls and white jackets.

"Where are you going, my pretty maid?"
"Look at my uniform, dunce," she said.
"Can I go with you, my pretty maid?"
"Not till you're sanitized, chump," she said.

A GENTLE COLT.

And What Happened to the Man Who Bought It.

"Whoa!" was the simultaneous exclamation of the two old Brownstown farmers as they met on the road and pulled up for a little chat.

"Goin' on past Sim Jones' place?" asked one of them after they had disposed of the weather and their families.

"Yep; I'm goin' a couple o' miles beyont him. Why?"

"Say," after a prolonged chuckle, "when you git front o' his place walk the hosses. If Sim don't show up, jest let on suthin has gone wrong with the wagon and go in and borry a wrench or a hammer. It's worth walkin' half a day to see Sim. Jemimy, but he's a sight!"

"Bee stings or what?"

"I hain't sayin' a word, only see him. That's all. Mornin'.. Git ep!"

As good luck would have it, Sim was limping up and down in front of his place, and no strategy had to be used in getting sight of him. There was a towel about his head, he had but one eye in commission, and it was two-thirds closed, his hair was cut out in blotches to accommodate an adhesive plaster, and he could just manage to locomote with a crutch and a cane.

"Hello, Sim!" shouted the man from the wagon. "Keers run over you?"

"No; the keers didn't run over me. Durned cur'us how much people wanter find out when they come 'long here. But I hain't makin' no grumble 'bout you, Abe, 'cause you and me allus been friends. I know I look jest 's though I'd been sawed and split and piled up. Did you see that feller round here las' week peddlin' a pop eyed black colt 'thout a white hair on 'im?"

"Yaas; stopped at my place and stumped me fur a dicker."

"Well, you'll never see him ag'in, Abe, ef I see him first. He tole me positive that colt was gentle as a kitten, and I bought him. That night I rode him inter the woods to look fur the cows, and when they found me 'bout midnight I was a blamed sight worse'n I am now. WALTZ OF THE OSTRICH.

Fascinating Sight When Indulged In by a Large Flock.

The so-called waltzing performance of the ostrich is familiar to all in South Africa, but few outsiders have ever heard of it. It consists of a rapid whirling movement, sometimes one way, sometimes another, the wings spread out and alternately elevated and depressed. It is a fascinating sight when indulged in by a large flock.

First one bird will dart forward and begin the circular movement; another will follow and then others, until the entire flock is careening around in the mad whirl. Some will continue until they drop exhausted or, apparently becoming giddy, stumble and fall.

The dance is seen in all its glory only when a considerable number of birds are together. It often takes place among only a few, but is never so intense or prolonged as when the flock is large.

Chicks only a month or two old engage in the amusement, though they are rather clumsy and sometimes stumble, particularly when they are reversing. As they grow older they perform several complete turns with great facility, though even adult birds sometimes stumble and break their legs.

This gay behavior is no doubt instinctive, and as with other instincts, it is perfected by experience. Ostrich chicks begin the whirl even when reared away from other ostriches and without having seen the performance. The South Africans have the following theory of the significance of this playful activity:

"The wild ostrich can protect himself against lions and leopards in no other way than by flight. When chased by a beast of prey the ostrich, starting on a run, twists and turns in curious fashion, and jerks so quickly from side to side that no beast would be likely to have time to set himself for a spring in one direction before the bird had changed his course.

"Ostriches thus pursued have been seen to stop at full speed, turn round as if pivoted and flee again in almost the opposite direction. Probably no other animal can do this.

"The South Africans believe that the instinctive waltzing movement of the ostrich is useful in perfecting the bird in the art of suddenly twisting and turning, which is most likely to assist it to elude its natural enemies, the larger carnivora."

GIRL STEEPLEJACK.

Dowlais Barmaid's Perilous Climb of 160 Feet.

Sarah Ann Evans, who has been for the last nine months engaged as barmaid at the Prince Albert Inn, Dowlais, has performed the unusual feats for a woman of descending a coal mine and of climbing a chimney stack 160 feet high.

Some of the men erecting one of the new chimneys at the Dowlais works were in the habit of calling at the Prince Albert, and, hearing that the girl had been down a mine, suggested that she was not brave enough to climb a chimney stack.

The rest may be told in the girl's own words: "A belt was tied round my waist, and attached to this was a hook with which I could make myself secure to any part of the ladder, should I feel giddy. Also passed round my waist was a rope which was passed over a pulley on the top of the stack, and worked by one of the steeplejacks who came up behind me. I started the climb at three o'clock, and when I saw what excitement the adventure was causing I felt somewhat sorry that I had undertaken the job.

"Nevertheless I climbed up without any difficulty, although the stack was swaying about in the wind, and I reached the top in safety and remained there ten or fifteen minutes. I stood upon some planks on the top, unsupported by anything, and I did not feel nervous.

"I descended again over the ladder on the outside of the stack, in the same way as I had gone up, and reached the ground none the worse for my experience."

Treed by Three Lions.

The advent of the dry season in Rhodesia has made the lions very daring, and during the past few days they have come closer to the towns than ever.

One resident at Livingstone, Mr. G. Thomasine, a boat builder, has had a remarkable adventure. He was out after wild duck on the Zambesi, within a mile of the Victoria Falls, when three lions espied him and gave chase.

He took refuge in a tree, and was compelled to remain there all night, the lions remaining on the watch. It was not till well into the next day that he was discovered by a search party, which quickly routed the lions and released the prisoner.

About midnight a troop of eight lions attacked the camp, and, after killing two oxen and a horse, besides wounding five other oxen, stampeded the remainder.

Story of Kitchener.

Some grim stories are told of Lord Kitchener, says The United Service Gazette, and we have just read one which, although we cannot vouch for the truth of it, has a decided Kitchener flavor. A young subaltern who was in charge of some works that were in course of construction in the Punjab, had the misfortune to lose some native workmen through an accident with dynamite. Fearful of a reprimand from headquarters, he telegraphed to the commander-in-chief: "Regret to report killing of twelve laborers by dynamite accident." Back is said to have come the laconic message: "Do you want any more dynamite?"

The Lucky Man.

"She seems like a very reserved girl."

"Yes. I wonder whom for?"—Stray Stories.

Bounced Through.

Sergeant Wilkins once defended a breach of promise case for a singularly ugly little man, which case he told the defendant, after reading his brief, must be "bounced" through. And the sergeant did bounce it through.

"Gentlemen of the jury," he said at the close of a most eloquent speech, "you've heard the evidence for the plaintiff, and, gentlemen of the jury, you have admired that most bewitching lady, the plaintiff herself. Gentlemen, do you believe that this enchanting, this fascinating, this captivating, this accomplished lady would for one moment favor the advances or listen with anything save scorn and indignation to the amorous protestations of the wretched and repulsive homunculus, the deformed and degraded defendant?"

"Mr. Sergeant Wilkins! Oh, Mr. Sergeant Wilkins!"

"Silence, sir!" replied the sergeant in a wrathful undertone. "Gentlemen," he continued, bringing his fist heavily down on the desk before him, "do you think that this lovely lady, this fair and smiling creature, would ever have permitted an offer of marriage to be made to her by this miserable atom of humanity, this stunted creature, who would have to stand on a sheet of note paper to look over twopence?"

Instant verdict for defendant.—London Globe.

A Proxy Father-in-law

By C. B. LEWIS.

Copyright, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

It was reported of the Hon. John Sharpe that he had but two fads where other schemers and speculators and owners of railroad lines had a dozen. One of his fads was the P. and G. railroad, in which he owned a controlling interest. He knew every foot of its roadbed and kept himself posted on all details.

His other fad was that his daughter Edith, having finished her school days, should interest herself in the P. and G. even as he had. If she had been cut out for an old maid or a business woman she might have obeyed orders literally, but as it was she had to assume an interest she did not feel.

The Hon. John lived in Chicago, and his pet line was farther west. When tired of making money and fighting other lines on the Stock Exchange or by some sly coup, he would order the general superintendent or other official into Chicago to report details and plan improvements.

If it wasn't the general superintendent, then it was one off a division or a civil engineer and bridge builder. He had them at his house that his daughter might hear and secure experience, and when they had departed he would go over the matter again with her to make sure that she understood.

When the civil engineer engaged in building the bridge over Centiped creek was called in he and Miss Edith met. The Hon. John was in high feather that day. He had secured a mail contract over a rival line and had been told that the bridge could be built for $25,000 less than the estimated expense. He stretched his courtesy to invite the engineer to dinner and to ask Miss Edith to play the piano afterward.

Then two or three things happened that he didn't take cognizance of, although he was rated a keen and observant man.

From that night Miss Edith began to take more interest in railroad matters, especially in the department of bridge building, and Mr. Havens, the engineer, sent in reports that seemed to necessitate his visiting Chicago much oftener than before.

As punctually as the clock the Hon. John Sharpe took a trip over his line in his own private car every three months. Miss Edith had accompanied him twice before her sudden great interest had come to the surface, and her enthusiasm over the third approaching trip so pleased him that he patted her golden hair and feelingly observed:

"You are your own father's daughter, after all. You will come back better posted on the railroad business than any other girl in America."

"It must take a very brainy man to construct such a bridge as I have heard you and Mr. Havens talking about," she demurely suggested.

"It does, my dear—a very brainy man."

"Um—y-e-s."

The Hon. John had risen in the world, and he took care to let the world know it. But he was rather opposed to any one else rising, especially anybody employed on the P. and G. road.

"Yes, Mr. Havens may rise in his profession," he reluctantly admitted, "but you must remember the social gulf now existing between us. I or you and I are the owners of the P. and G. road. Mr. Havens is an employee."

Ten days previous to the start on the third trip the Hon. John discovered something that threw him into a fervid flutter. It was not that his daughter in her enthusiasm to learn more about railroad bridge building was writing to the engineer for further information about the cantalever principle or that he in reply was telling about the tensile strength of steel and the strain put upon it under conditions.

It was that a feeder to his line was about to pass into other hands unless he could secure enough proxies to prevent this at the election to be held in Denver. He took off his coat and started in, and he came home one night with beaming face to say to the daughter:

"My dear girl, always remember that the first principle of railroading is to get possession of the road."

"But if you can't get enough of the stock?" she asked.

"Then get the proxies. Buy, borrow or beg, but get them. It is with proxies that I shall get control of the M. and W. I need only a thousand more votes, and they are in Denver waiting for me."

The Hon. John was rubbing his hands when his car left Chicago. He enjoyed coups, and he was on his way to make one. He felt just a little sympathy for the already routed enemy. Defeat would come with a dull thud, whereas he rather preferred something of a battle first.

"Proxies, my dear," he said to his daughter as he took a bundle of them from his pocket and thumbed them over—"proxies are the powder and ball to desolate the ranks of the enemy. Blessed be proxies!"

At Santa Fe business detained him half a day. He had scarcely left the car when Mr. Havens made his appearance and was received with a smile and a blush.

The talk between him and Miss Edith began about the bridge over the Centiped, but gradually came down to less scientific and more interesting things.

He referred to a hint she had given him in her last letter and assured her that he had acted on it, and he solicited her permission to ask her father a certain momentous question before the day had expired. That afternoon when the train had pulled out Miss Edith loitered around for a bit and then timidly asked:

"Father, what will happen if you fail to get that thousand proxies you are counting on?"

"Why—why, I'd be knocked into a cocked hat, daughter. But I can't fail. I know just where they are. I shall receive a wire at the next stop. I am glad to see you so interested in the matter. Proxies are the powder and ball, and I'm sure of the proxies."

Half an hour later the Hon. John was stamping up and down the car and roaring at the top of his voice. He had received the expected wire and had been informed that the party on whom he depended had sold the stock at a sharp advance. This was the biggest setback he had received in five years. It meant a staggering blow to the P. and G. While he stamped and roared his daughter kept very quiet.

When he had got through smashing the English language he sat down hard and wiped his forehead and looked at the young lady with despairing eyes.

"Father, I don't think we are beaten yet," she said in reply.

"But we are, daughter. Those proxies are certainly in the hands of that infernal M. and W. gang, and they have got me tight. To think that I left it in the hands of Chilvers to betray me! Why, I deserve to be sent to an idiot asylum!"

"But the game may not be lost after all. You know you have been trying to make a railroad woman of me for a year past."

"But that miserable Chilvers sold out his stock on me!" shouted the father as he brought his fist down with a great bang.

"Yes, dear, but that's a part of the railroad business. If Chilvers sold his stock some one bought it, and some one has the right to vote it in the meeting tomorrow."

"But the M. and W. gang have got it, of course!"

"Perhaps. It's a part of the railroad business to find out. You didn't want me to stop at grades, sidetracks, switchbacks and bridge building, did you? My dear father, remember that the first principle of railroading is to get possession of the road, the next to keep track of stock and proxies."

"Girl, you know something," he said after a long look into her face.

"Well, suppose the M. and W. gang didn't get that stock?"

He gasped for breath and turned pale.

"Suppose that a gentleman interested in our road got it?"

"Suppose that a gentleman, a real nice gentleman, a gentleman interested in—in—you, got the stock with the idea of helping us out?"

"By thunder, but I'd break his ribs hugging him! Out with it, girl! Don't keep your old dad on the hooks this way."

"Well, then, Mr. Havens is in the Pullman ahead. He had to come up to Santa Fe to hurry the last of the bridge stuff down. As he knew how much you wanted control of that feeder and as he knew how interested I was in the railroad business he—he"—

But the Hon. John had sent the porter for Mr. Havens, and Edith skipped away to her stateroom. An hour later there was a knock on her door.

"Say, young lady, you think you're smart, don't you?" said the father as she appeared.

"I'm your daughter, you know."

"Um—y-e-s! Well, I've told Havens that that bridge over the Centiped has got to be finished before there is any further nonsense. After that he will be superintendent of the P. and G., and if you learn any more about the railroad business it will be from him. You are a little too apt for me."

A Persian Romance.

A Persian plaque in the South Kensington museum, London, bears by means of clever relief and brilliant color a romantic tale, part legend and part history. Nobody knows the proportion of each.

At all events it is declared to be an incident in the life of Baharam V. of the Sassanian dynasty. Baharam, according to legend and plaque, was a wonderful archer. During one of his hunting expeditions, on which his favorite wife had accompanied him, he shot a sleeping antelope with such precision as to graze the animal's ear. The antelope awoke and, believing himself annoyed by a fly, put his hind hoof to his ear to strike off the fly. A second arrow sent by the royal hand fixed the antelope's hoof to his horn.

Indeed, as the penalty for her plain speaking she was sent out into the mountains to perish, but instead found shelter in a village. Here she lodged in an upper room ascended by twenty steps and, having bought a calf, carried it up and down every day. The king, passing by four years later, was amazed at seeing a young woman carrying a cow up a flight of twenty steps. The lady again took occasion to remark, "Practice makes perfect," whereupon she unveiled, was recognised and restored to favor.

Enough to Keep Him Waiting.

"I hate to have my husband find a horseshoe."

"Why?"

"He always brings it home, nails it up and then waits around for luck to strike him."

"Well?"

Yellow Drawing Rooms.

Yellow drawing rooms are in fashion again. It is about fourteen or fifteen years since they were so prevalent that people got tired of them and they were quite abolished. A wall paper that resembles cloth of gold is the latest contribution to beauty the paperers have made, and this hanging, with white or delicate buff paint, is the most effective of all the wall color schemes of the present season.

A MOTHER'S HELPER.

Girls Who Assist in the Small Household Duties.

Most of the little things that a girl can attend to are the tasks which her mother has in mind, but is too busy to carry out. She can see that the house plants are watered every day, and she can cut a blossom now and then for the table. She can plant a few pansy roots in one of her candy boxes, lined with oil paper, and set it on a small platter in the middle of the dining table for a centerpiece.

She can remove the spots that her mother is too busy to take out of the tablecloth between launderings by putting a few drops of hot or cold water, as the case may require, on them. She can keep a little parsley bed of her own, so that meats and vegetables can come to the table with a fresh garnish.

Keeping the rugs in the living room straight can be one of her tasks; also seeing that the window shades are all raised to the same height. When the furniture gets a slight scar she can rub it off with beeswax, a trick which keeps furniture fresh, but which her mother may not have time for.

She can see that the front door plate, the electric light switches and the doorknobs all over the house are kept polished. The smooches on mirrors can be rubbed off with a piece of crumpled tissue paper.

She can make a pretty wastebasket for the living room or any room that needs one out of strong cardboard covered with wall paper or chints, and she can see that the younger children use it. Pieces of her cotton dresses she can make into covers for the sofa pillows which will be tossed about in the hammock and on the porch this summer.

Mothers and fathers like to see their daughters appear domestic in these days, when girls have so many outside interests, and any girl can charm her father by wearing a tiny white apron around the house. It needs be only a man's handkerchief with ribbon strings, but it will please her father and protect her dress. Wearing an apron is only one way of appearing freshly laundered and bright, which is the biggest part of being a real ornament to one's home.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Warm salad oil will relieve earache.

Always try to pass at least one hour a day in the open air.

Never let a child or infant sleep in the room with a sick person.

Do not think that scrubbing will injure your complexion, for it will not.

Cocoa butter will smooth the rough elbows, but it must be persistently used.

Quickly apply raw egg to a cut. It will allay the pain and quickly heal the wound.

If possible have children sleep in darkened rooms, as a light is bad both for eyes and nerves.

The Example of Birds.

Some birds are typical examples of human attributes. The dove symbolises innocence, and the eagle represents majesty, but the robin redbreast teaches the best lesson of all, for he sings as joyously in the dark, dreary winter days, when the earth is frost bound and snow covered, as in pleasant summer days, when food is plentiful and life is merry. Thus in his humble way he teaches the lesson of patience and gratitude.—Home Notes.

Put Through His Paces.

The wealthy Briton is confessedly the most fastidious man living as to the quality of his personal domestic service. The concentrated energy with which an Englishman will rebuke his servant for an offense so slight that the average American fails to observe it bears out the above statement. Those who propose changing servants are not content with references and a perfunctory interview with the man or maid under consideration, but insist upon a full dress rehearsal of both manners and appearance. The servant in livery is put through all his paces, must display the size of his calves, the haughtiness of his pose as well as breeding in handling a card, announcing a guest or serving at the table. Nothing is taken for granted. The master and the mistress sit by and discuss the points of groom or butler as they would those of a high priced horse or valuable dog. Domestics are taken with great seriousness by the upper class Englishmen, and for that reason nothing is left to luck in peopling the servants' hall.

Wink at Some Things.

"When you have mastered the gentle art of winking," said Lord Beaconsfield, "you hold the key to success in your hands."

Every one's personality is made up of trivial failings and trivial talents. Foster the good qualities in your friends and subordinates and wink at those failings so dear to their possessors. Not to see everything is a rule which will strengthen friendships and help you to get the best results from your fellow workers.

"He is no good," said the great Napoleon of one of his officers. "He is continually looking into the privates' stew pot!"

"I want a man who can keep his eye on the ultimate result and ignore little failings, never mind how aggravating," said Nelson. And General Gordon once remarked that the man who lost his temper because a private's boot lace was tied loosely on the day of a battle did more to lose the day than all the enemy's guns.

Cause of the Row.

Mrs. Popley — For goodness sake! What's the matter with Tommy?

Mr. Popley (from the bathroom)—Oh, he wants the earth!

Mrs. Popley—Wants the earth?

Mr. Popley—Yes. At least that portion of it that I'm trying to wash off his hands and face.

WIN THEIR OWN DOWERS.

There is romantic and picturesque intent at least in the plan of three pretty young women in organizing the Dot society, the same meaning that every member will work hard and diligently to accumulate a "dot" against the expensive days immediately following marriage. This society is not a press agent invention, and the young women are not fictitious. They are Albia Nowlin Brown of 144 West Eighty-third street, New York, and Charlotte M. Robeson and Louise Gardner Phillips of Boston. They will inherit comfortable fortunes and already are possessed of enough to provide liberal marriage portions; but, being idealistic, they seek a "dot" dignified by honest labor. Of course there may be an incentive to their scheme in the fact that their families spend the summer in Northport, N. Y., and that the "dot" is to be earned there by scientific gardening. Still, the organizers of the Dot society are convinced that they are moved by the present struggle of woman to assert herself and to gain an equal position with men. To the cynical judge their undertaking smacks of the suffragette, but they protest to the contrary.

The details of the Dot society provide for twenty members. Articles of incorporation have been drawn. If twenty engaged girls can be recruited, so much the better. A plot of land has been rented in Newport, and there it is intended all twenty shall engage in the growing of garden produce, the cultivation of flowers and mushrooms, bee culture and the raising of chickens. Instead of swinging in hammocks or skimming the roads in automobiles this employment will mean the summer's pastime, and all profits will be deposited in a Northport bank and divided share and share alike when the summer wanes and the autumn chills drive the young women back to steam heat in the city.

Miss Brown is enthusiastic about the plan. "We want to have 'dots' that are really our own," she said. "It is delightful, of course, to receive fat checks as wedding gifts, but the satisfaction must be multiplied a hundredfold to the bride who writes the check herself and hands it to her husband as her own exclusive 'dot.' That is the spirit behind our Dot society, which has not been promoted simply because we need the money, but because money you earn is so much nicer than money you receive as a gift. Many of our friends have smiled at us in a superior way, but that has only acted as an encouragement. We are not dismayed."

THE "MERRY WIDOW" HAT.

Still Another Grievance of a Cynical Subway Strap Hanger.

The "Merry Widow" hat has been unmercifully treated by all the professional and amateur humorists. We have heard of a sparrow nesting in the foliage of one of these hats, of an indignant citizen in Connecticut making a "Merry Widow" a target for his shotgun, and likewise we have been moved to merriment by the tale from staid old Philadelphia that an express train was delayed by a "Merry Widow" jamming in a Pullman door and holding the fair owner a prisoner for five minutes. Other extravagant stories have been told, but none of them possessed of the fine zest of the man in a New York subway train who discovered that the "Merry Widow" hat belongs not to the wearer, but the wearer to the hat. Of course the politeness of this carping mortal is not to be commended, but to condone his offense in this respect it is only necessary to think of the exasperation. The sharp straw rim of an excessively overgrown "Merry Widow" scraped the back of the neck of this particular strap hanger, and he turned in some indignation to see not the head or the shoulders of the owner of the thing, but a wonderful expanse of straw and scarlet wings threatened with destruction in a crush in the door. "Let the hat out!" commanded the sour individual, and in view of all the pathetic facts it seems that is the last word in the indictment of a hat that is a criminal by instinct and training.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

Boil six peach kernels in a quart of milk to be used for custard. It will improve the flavor.

In washing ecru or Arabian curtains rinse them in water which has been colored with coffee and add a little coffee to the starch.

Candles will burn slowly and steadily through the evening if they are kept on the ice all day. Save the candle ends, melt, add an equal quantity of turpentine, and you will have a good polish for floors and oilcloth.

Peanut butter is made by macerating fresh browned peanuts to a fine pulp. They must be run through a chopping machine, or if finely crushed can be run through a coffee mill. The nuts are then mixed with enough butter so that the mixture can be spread on bread.

Practical Laundry Bags.

Attractive and practical laundry bags are made up from the common brown crash combined with cretonne, the latter preferably in tapestry designs. The upper parts, two-thirds, will be of the crash and the bottom of cretonne.

The tops have the hoop finish, and the soiled articles can be released from the bottom, so that such a bag is extremely handy.

Waste paper baskets to match may be bought which are made to fold. For vacation use these accessories would prove very useful.

BODY OF YOUNG C. P. R. BRAKEMAN MARRIED BUT TWO WEEKS AGO LAY BESIDE THE TRACKS NEAR CAVANVILLE WHILE THE TRAINS PASSED HOURLY

Was Sent Out On Wednesday Night to Flag the Midnight But Did Not Rejoin His Companions on the Freight Train---Did Not Appear at Havelock and Search Was Instituted---Body Found Yesterday Afternoon in the Ditch----Death Unexplained

HOME WAS IN NORTH TORONTO BUT HE WAS WELL KNOWN IN THIS CITY

The body of a young C. P. R. brakeman, named Prince, of North Toronto, was found yesterday afternoon in the ditch beside the tracks at a point about a mile west of Cavanville station. A gentleman, who arrived in the city last night on the local, stated to an Examiner reporter, that when passing this point he saw a group of men standing around, and while he could not see the body, he believes that it had been found shortly before.

From what could be learned last night, it was not known exactly how young Prince met his death. He was engaged as brakeman on a freight train which was running east ahead of the midnight on Wednesday night. When his train reached Cavanville Prince was sent back to flag the midnight.

Did not Return

He did not return to his train, but it was believed by the conductor that he had waited for another and would rejoin his own crew at Havelock. This practice, it is understood, is sometimes done. The morning trains, however, did not bring him east, and, in fact, nothing could be learned of his whereabouts. The conductor became uneasy and a search was instituted, with the result that his lifeless body was found at a point where it is expected he went to flag the midnight.

All Day There

It was reported that the finding was made about four o'clock yesterday afternoon, but this is not official. This is, however, probably correct. The body had lain beside the tracks in the ditch all day. Freight and express trains had passed in both directions during the morning and afternoon, but the unfortunate young man's remains were unnoticed in its rather obscure position on the side of the roadbed.

How was he Killed

The cause of his death could not be learned in the city this morning. It is not likely that he was struck by the midnight, but another train may have done it. It is scarcely probable that the men in the engine would not have noticed him, especially as he was carrying a lantern. A more detailed report may furnish such facts as are yet unknown here.

Married Two Weeks

Brakeman Prince was about 25 years of age. His home is in North Toronto, and it is learned that he was married but two weeks ago. He was well known around the local yards, and was apparently a general favourite.

Later.—The unfortunate young man's name has been learned to be William Prince. The body was taken home this morning for burial. Coroner Montgomery opened an inquest last night. The cause of Prince's death is still unknown.

Mercury Up To 93° Yesterday

The height to which the thermometer rose yesterday afternoon in Peterborough was 93° in the shade. That was the loftiest point the mercury touched so far this season, as every person in the city—with the probable exception of the iceman—could instinctively tell. It is not likely to be any hotter. It does not often occur that the mercury extends any farther, although some five or six years ago it went to 95° in the shade. As stated above, yesterday was the hottest day of the year, with Wednesday at 92° a close second. Previous to that time 91° was the highest. The change to cooler weather to-day is a welcome one.

LEANDERS WIN THE EIGHT OARED RACE AT HENLEY

Examiner Special.

London July 31.—At Henley to-day the Leanders won the final of the eight-oared race, defeating the Belgian crew easily. In the championship singles H. T. Blackstaff won the final, defeating McCulloch by over a length in 9 minutes, 26 seconds. McCullough was this year's winner of the diamond sculls, and his defeat by Blackstaffe was unexpected.

WESTERN REAL ESTATE AGENTS HAVE BOOMED CITY LAND TO FROM $500 TO $1000 A FOOT AND THE BUSINESS MEN HAVE TIED UP THEIR MONEY

Mr. Wm. Aitcheson Says Real Estate Men And Banks Are Exceedingly Numerous In The West---Was Looking After Interests of the Diamond Calk Horseshoe in Western Cities---Successful Business Trip---Fred Whitcroft and W. Crowley Have Good "Sign"

BUILDING OPERATIONS ARE VERY ACTIVE AT PRESENT IN EDMONTON

Mr. Wm. Aitcheson, treasurer of the Diamond Calk Horseshoe Company, of which Mr. H. P. Kennedy is the president and managing director, returned recently from a trip to the Northwest, where he was looking after the interests of the company. He visited many of the towns and cities along the main line of the C. P. R. and went as far west as Edmonton.

Condition of Real Estate

A condition of affairs which Mr. Aitcheson noticed is that of the real estate business. In Edmonton, and particularly in Calgary, the merchants and business men are tied up to a great extent in the real estate which they purchased while the boom was on. They are all holding on and hoping for the return of good times. Real estate offices are found about every three stores, and it is said that their number has been decreased fully fifty per cent. since money has begun to be tied up. They have boomed city property until it was quoted at from $500 to $1,000 per foot. The purchasers who thus tied up their money are looking for another early boom.

Banks Are Numerous

Another feature of the West is the large number of banks which have been opened. Practically all the eastern banks have branches throughout the country and the opposition is very keen.

At present the harvest is a month ahead of last year, Mr. Aitcheson says, and the feeling is now practically secure that a bumper yield will be garnered. In Edmonton the building operations this year are quite active and many fine buildings are under way.

Mr. Aitcheson met many Peterborough boys, and almost without exception they are in business for themselves or are holding fine positions. Messrs. Crowley and Whitcroft are doing well in the lands and titles department.

Indian Parade

While in Calgary Mr. Aitcheson witnessed a parade of Indians in connection with the exhibition in that city. They appeared in their original feathers and war paint and were as deathly attired as in their golden era when they were lords of this vast continent. It was a sight worth going far to see.

Mr. Aitcheson says that he believes Edmonton and Strathcona, which are separated by the Saskatchewan river, will likely amalgamate before very long.

The New Horseshoe

Referring to the Diamond Calk Horseshoe which has recently been improved, Mr. Aitcheson met with splendid results. The T. Eaton Co., Winnipeg, is placing it in their catalogue, and a large order was received from the western branch of the big firm. The Robinson Co. is ordering and several large cartage companies have adopted the shoe. Also the chief of the fire brigade of Winnipeg has recommended its adoption. Of the Eaton Co.'s horses in Toronto which were shod last winter, none of the shoes were worn out, simply being taken off and put away for next season.

Mr. Aitcheson secured orders enough to keep the company busy for some time in filling, and the practicability of the shoe has been proven by actual experience.

Body Of Harry Whibbs, Douro, Is Found And Buried Before The Arrival Of His Brothers

Conveyed In a Vehicle More Than 100 Miles to the Burial Grounds—Weather Too Warm To Bring It Home.

BROTHERS EXPECTED SOON

Friends in Douro have heard from Mr. Austin Whibbs who left last week for Mellougall's Chute in New Ontario, to locate the body of his drowned brother. Before Mr. Whibbs arrived there, the body had been recovered from the Abitibi and buried. It had to be conveyed more than 100 miles by vehicle before it was laid in its last resting place. Mr. Whibbs arrived too late for the funeral.

In his letter he stated that the body was not located until July 21th, after having in the water eight days. The Messrs. Whibbs are on their way home and are expected here in a day or two. The body will not be brought here until the autumn at any rate.

ELECTROCUTED WHILE HANGING OUT THE CLOTHES

Scranton, Pa., July 31.—Mrs. Henry Everitt of Stroudsburg, was electrocuted by a clothes line yesterday. After washing clothes she went to hang them on a rope line. As she did both hands on the line she was shocked to death. She was found dead with the clothes line in the grip of her hands. An investigation showed that a feed wire was allowed to rest on a guy wire that runs into the Everitt yard. The guy wire was attached to the clothes line pole and furnished the electric current that killed the woman.

HIBERNIANS TO ERECT MONUMENT TO FAMINE VICTIMS

Indianapolis, Ind., July 31. — The Board of Directors of the Ancient Order of Hibernians to-day began work to carry into effect the order of the convention for a monument to the memory of the twelve thousand Irish emigrants who perished in the famine of 1841 at Grosse Isle, Canada. President Cummings said the monument would be erected before 1910.

THE CANADIAN GENERAL STOCK IN A RAPID RISE

The Canadian General stock on the Toronto Stock Market is in a very healthy condition. Within a little more than two days it rose from 82 to 100, at which it now stands. Evidently some very favourable information has reached the buyers.

GRIPMAN CREATES HAVOC IN HOSPITAL

Seattle, July 31. — Special. — Jesse Filer, a gripman, killed his 8-year-old daughter, Hazel and Mrs. Dennis Nihant, a patient, fatally wounded his wife and seriously wounded Mrs. Ethel Warren, his sister-in-law, in a private hospital here last night. He then committed suicide. Filer and his wife had separated and the women lived at the hospital.

OVERHANGING LIMB PULLS FARMER OFF HIS LOAD OF HAY

A few days ago a very serious accident happened in the neighbourhood of Mount Horeb, near Lindsay. Mr. Jos. Reynolds, one of our oldest and most respected farmers, was driving up his lane with a load of hay, when a branch of a tree caught him and brushed him off the load.

Mr. Reynolds would probably have escaped had he fallen on the ground, but instead he fell heavily on a post, injuring his ribs seriously and breaking his shoulder blade.

Dr. Clarke, Lindsay, dressed Mr. Reynolds' wounds, and his many friends will be pleased to know he is recovering rapidly.

CONTRACT IS LET

Mr. Bert McMillen To Look After Eecavation Work And Foundation Erection of New Furniture Factory, East City.

BASEMENT UNDER BUILDING

The contract for the excavation work of the new furniture factory being erected by Mr. Thos. W Oke, Hunter street, East City, has been awarded to Mr. Bert McMillen. The work has already begun and is being pushed forward rapidly. Mr. McMillen has also the contract for the foundation which in dimensions will be 60x30 feet. The building will have a basement beneath. The new factory will be erected on the lot west of the present building used by Mr. Oke.

THE TOMATOES ROASTED ON THE HOT WINDOW SILL

That yesterday was one of the hottest days that Peterborough has experienced is proven, if proof be necessary, by the story of an East City man. In the morning his mother placed a number of partly ripened tomatoes on the window sill on the south side of the house expecting them to be ready for dinner. When the time for the mid-day meat came 'round not only were the tomatoes ripened but they were also cooked. As it was not the intention to have cooked tomatoes for dinner, the family had to forego the pleasure of eating the palatable vegetables.

THIRTEEN YEAR OLD YOUTH FALLS AMONG RAKE TEETH

Tweed, July 31.—Special. — While Grant Coulter, the thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Coulter, of Thomasburg, was raking hay on Thursday, the horse became frightened and ran away, dragging the boy in the rake. After running for some distance the rake struck the fence, thus freeing the horse and saving the little fellow's life as he was quite unconscious when picked up. Dr. Hill of Roslin was called and found the boy was badly injured about the body and left arm. He is gaining rapidly.

THE CHEMONG REGATTA DATE NOW ARRANGED

The Chemong Yacht Club held a meeting Tuesday night and decided to hold their annual regatta this year on August 13. Final arrangements will be made to-morrow night. They decided to run excursions to Sturgeon Point regatta on the 6th and to the Stony Lake regatta on the 10th.—Peterborough's civic holiday. Excursions from these points will also go to Chemong.

THE CONTRACT WENT OUT OF THE TOWN

The contract for the wire fencing of the Hilliard farm was let to Mr. Archer of Smith. Several Peterborough men tendered for the work, and were rather surprised that the Trust Commissioners should go outside the city, inasmuch as the property is owned by the city.

FOUR WRECKS PASSED

Mr. Alex. Morrison of Bridgenorth Returns From Fernie, B. C., After An Absence Of Four Months.

BUSINESS IS QUIET THERE

Mr. Alex Morrison of Bridgenorth has returned from Fernie, B.C., and is visiting his son, Mr. Alex Morrison, Perry street. He left for the Pacific coast on March 7 and has been away over four months. One of the features of his homeward trip is the fact that he passed the scene of four wrecks. One was of minor seriousness, and all Mr. Morrison saw of it was a burning car of cattle. Another was quite a long row of cars containing horses, which had been derailed. In the third wreck ten men had been killed, and of the fourth Mr. Morrison was unable to learn the circumstances.

The town of Fernie is famous for its coal mines and extensive iron works. Lumbering is also carried on to a large extent. Despite the fact, however, that it is a manufacturing town, Mr. Morrison states that the number of unemployed is as large as in Peterborough.

He intends to return to Winnipeg in a short time and will remain there during the autumn.

There are two scheduled games in the City League to-morrow. The Lakeviews meet the Wellingtons, following which the T. A. S. and West Ends meet.

James Armstrong, A Prisoner In Children's Shelter, Toronto, On The Charge Of Money Theft

WILL BE BROUGHT BACK

Young Armstrong, who so cunningly left the city the other day with $92.50 of Mr. H. T. Elliott's money is now in custody in Toronto. Chief Hessel had sent postal cards to Toronto with the young fellow's description and they were successful in landing him. He will most probably be brought back here in a short time to stand trial for the theft.

A Toronto despatch, referring to his capture, says:

"James Armstrong, a fourteen-year-old lad, who hails from Peterborough, is in the Children's Shelter, under arrest on a warrant from the Chief of Police, Peterborough, charging the lad with the theft of $100. It is alleged that young Armstrong was given $100 by his employers and instructed to take it to the bank. Instead of doing so he left town. A warrant was therefore sworn out for his arrest. The lad was caught by P.C. Sockett, while enjoying the delights of the amusements at the Island."

Another despatch says:

James Armstrong, 14 years old, wanted in Peterborough for theft of $100, was arrested at the Island yesterday by P. C. Sockett. He is said to have skipped out with a bank deposit. He is confined at the shelter.

INSTANTLY KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT TO-DAY

Philadelphia, July 31.—Special.—Charles Humphreys, chief clerk in the bureau of police in this city, and Harry B. Bromley of a well-known family of manufacturers, while in an automobile crossing the tracks of the Reading Railway at Nicetown station this morning, were run down by a train and instantly killed.

DINNER COST EXCURSIONIST SEVEN DOLLARS

Several from Peterborough attended the excursion under the auspices of the Grafton Anglican Church to Rochester on the Ontario No. 1 ferry. They arrived home last night and while they are loud in their praise of the affair so far as the church is concerned and the selection of the trip, they offer some very scathing criticism on the manner in which the company treated them.

One of the gentlemen who was there informs the Examiner that the prices on board the ferry were very unreasonable. In fact he accused the waiters of presenting one bill of fare with prices out of the ordinary and collecting with another with even higher prices if objections were raised. A Peterborough man took a few friends into supper and on settling up it just cost him $7.00.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS HOME FROM CAMP AT SANDY POINT

The junior Y.M.C.A. boys who have spent the past two weeks in camp at Sandy Point, Clear Lake, arrived back last evening on the Water Lily. They express themselves as having had a splendid time and were very sorry that the celebration was reached so early.

Mr. Archie Frewde, who was with the boys, leaves to-morrow morning for Coushishing camp, Orillia, to attend the annual outing of the Provincial Y.M.C.A. summer school in session for two weeks.

PURSE OF $30,000 FOR JOHNSON-JOHNSON

"Tex" Richard May Succeed in Arranging This Long Talked Of Bout

Ely, Nev., July 31. — It was announced yesterday that $30,000 was pledged at a meeting held here Tuesday night between "Tex" Rickard and a number of prominent men who have interested themselves in seeing that Rickard has all the backing necessary to secure a fight between Jack Johnson and Tommy Burns, heavyweight pugilists, in Ely on Thanksgiving Day.

The Gans-Nelson fight was given up as it was thought a meeting between the two heavyweights will draw a larger crowd.

A SUGGESTIVE IMPROVEMENT.

Any citizen, absent from the city for a day or two, who returned at noon yesterday would hardly recognise Hunter street, between Aylmer and George streets, so great are the transformation and improvement, resulting from the removal of the telephone poles on the south side of this thoroughfare. Only a view of the street under the modified conditions of appearance will give one any idea of the immense improvement in appearance, not to speak of the obstruction the poles represented. The removal of the remainder of the Bell Telephone Company poles adjoining the line of their underground conduits, will afford an opportunity of appreciating what an immense boon the removal of the poles from the streets would be. A prominent citizen, speaking to the Examiner on the subject, said he would be in favour of the city constructing a system of underground conduits, in which it would be compulsory to place all wires conveying electricity, the city to charge a reasonable rental; and if the charge did not fully cover the cost he said he would willingly pay his share of the taxation required. It is probable that the majority of the citizens would feel similarly. On George street especially, and on other streets in the business section of the city the removal of the poles would effect a most desirable transformation. Not only is the forest of poles, straight, crooked and otherwise, an obtrusive combination of ugliness and disfigurement, but the lines of wires the poles sustain, are a menace to property in case of fire. Firemen, in case of a conflagration, which would make the employment of ladders necessary, would find themselves severely obstructed and handicapped by the wires, and this obstruction might easily represent a loss of time that would lead to extensive destruction of property by fire. It would seem that, not only for utilitarian reasons, but from considerations of appearance and general convenience, the city authorities might reasonably consider the question of devising means to practically clear our streets of disfiguring and obstructing pole lines. The matter of burying electric wires, one would think, if dealt with in a diplomatic way, might be so managed as to enlist the amicable co-operation of all concerned, the companies and the city authorities.

While considering the subject of poles as it stands, attention might proabbly be called to the action or inaction of the city authorities in making pavements. At nearly every pole—some of them two feet in diameter—on Hunter street, between George and Aylmer, the pavement had been built around the pole, and its removal leaves a gaping hole in the pavement, which will have to be repaired by the city at a cost of probably two or three dollars for each opening, a cost which might have been avoided by requiring the company concerned to set their poles outside the pavement line, when the pavement was built. Companies use the streets for poles as a privilege more than a right, and there is such a thing as the city being too complaisant in this matter. On a street in the western part of the city recently, "improved," according to the lexicon of the Board of Works, a large guy pole, belonging to some company, was left standing in the street, three and a half feet, by actual measurement, from the outer edge of the pavement. Why? Echo is the only answer.

The problem of proper street construction and maintenance is sufficiently complicated without being intensified by the pole nuisance, which presents not only the disadvantages mentioned in the business section, but is a menace to the street trees which constitute the chief beauty and comfort of the residential section. No matter how cherished or stately a street tree the employees of wire-owning companies, without compunction, mutilate the tree tops, which have the assurance to interfere with the wires.

All the complications suggested and others unmentioned could be avoided by sub-earthing the wires. The matter seems worth civic consideration.

The hostility of the French Government to religion shown at the beginning of both the nineteenth and twentieth centuries has made it manifest, says the Catholic Register, that the British occupation of Canada was a merciful dispensation of divine Providence preserving the faith of the French people here, while in France the Catholic Church was, and is, undergoing a relentless persecution.

THE PRICE OF LUMBER.

Dr. Fernow remarks that for twenty-six years Canadians have talked of a timber famine, and adds that lately he was asked why the famine had not yet appeared. His reply was that it is already upon us. Famine, he explained, does not necessarily mean an entire absence of material. Its presence to-day is indicated by the continuous rise that has occurred in prices.

Over a long term of years prior to 1899 quotations on Canadian timber remained fairly uniform. The price line steadily maintained a generally horizontal position. The rapidly ascending curve on the quotation diagram since that year represents the upward trend of prices from the beginning of this century onwards. Every year the consumer pays eight per cent. more for his wood. This renders the forestry problem of this country of practical importance to every citizen.

The explanation of the rising scale of values is declared by Dr. Fernow to be the disclosure in 1899 of the fact that the timber resources of the United States were nearing exhaustion. The enlightening information was contained in the Washington census statistics of that year. During the last seven or eight years the increasing knowledge of Canada's timber areas has brought home to all concerned the limited extent of the existing sources of supply and the need of their conservation.

Hence largely the ascending price list. This year's depression in trade may temporarily reduce quotations. But the law of supply and demand may be expected in the long run to fully sustain values.—Toronto News.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Four election protests have been filed as the aftermath of the Quebec general elections; one against the return of a Liberal and three against Conservatives.

The Toronto Star makes a nice point when it remarks that "Bobs," after his visit to the Northwest, will be convinced of the superiority of standing wheat over standing armies.

When Kentucky of traditional thirst, sidetracks Bourbon whisky and goes in for local option, the water waggon should feel competent to travel on the hardest road in this country.

The Toronto World affirms that the conferring of knighthood upon Mr. Whitney is a recognition of what that gentleman has done for public ownership. Nonsense! says the Brantford Expositor, were the Premier of Quebec Province and the Mayor of Quebec City similarly decorated for a similar reason? Hardly. If any man in Ontario deserves to be specially knighted for services to public ownership, Hon. G. W. Ross is the man, because he gave to the province its first state-owned railway.

The Toronto News has worked itself into such a passion over the "shameful abuse of the constitution" involved in the Liberal Government of Saskatchewan having called a general election twenty days after dissolution that we fear, says the Ottawa Free Press, something approaching a journalistic apoplectic fit when it learns that in April, 1902, its idol, F. W. G. Haultain, sprang an election, allowing only ten days between dissolution and nominations.

It seems to be a serious thing to neglect to pay a board bill. At Kenora a day or two ago a man went insane over a board bill and murderously assaulted his boarding mistress and her mother. A day or two ago a Leamington policeman shot and killed a man who was trying to escape arrest on a warrant issued for neglect to pay a board bill of two dollars. Moral to boarders: pay as you go, or, better, pay as you stay — regularly and promptly.

"We revere the memories of the great men of Quebec; of Taché and Lafontaine, of Morin and Cartier, Chapleau and Dorion, among the dead, and offer our tribute of respect and honour to Laurier among the living."—Sir James Whitney at Quebec, July 25, 1908.

"Could Canada or the Empire," asks the Ottawa Free Press, "be offered a better proof of the unifying effect of the Quebec celebration than this one passage from the Ontario Premier's notable speech?" Such an amenity of relation between political leaders as expressed by the above speech, is unfortunately a rare exception. It is an oasis in a desert of slang-whanging, which deals with political opponents as if they were a cross between a clothes-line thief and an assassin.

According to the statement issued by the tramways committee of Glasgow, the result of the operation fo the municipal street railways for the year to May 31, 1908, showed a gross revenue of $4,532,830. The expenses of working interest charges, sinking fund contribution in reduction of debt, and an allowance of $175,000 to the "common good" totalled $3,445,665—the balance of absolutely free profits thus reaching the huge sum of $1,137,165. As Glasgow uses none of the profits for rate reduction there was set aside as a provision for depreciation and reserve no less than $943,015, nearly one-fifth of the gross receipts, and the balance of $194,150 carried forward at credit of the enterprise. It is noteworthy that the average fare paid by the users of the Glasgow street railways is a fraction under two cents, and over 230,000,000 passengers were carried during the year. The capital account now stands at $15,000,000, and the system extends far beyond the city limits. Glasgow is a standing proof of the success attending municipal ownership and operation of public services when established and conducted on a strictly business basis.

STORY OF HORATIO NELSON'S LOVE STORY IN OLD QUEBEC

Hero of Trafalgar Had a Canadian Charmer—Tore Himself Away From Her.

DAUGHTER OF A SCOTCHMAN

Among the many romantic pictures of Canadian history there is none more full of human interest than that which tells the story of Horatio Nelson's love affair at Quebec with Mary Simpson.

He was barely 24 years old when ordered with his ship, the Albemarle, on convoy duty to Quebec. He reached St. John's, Newfoundland, on the 27th of May, 1782, and Quebec on the 1st of July. Three days later he sailed on a cruise that lasted over two months, spent chiefly at Boston Bay and Cape Cod. On the 14th of August the sudden lifting of a fog showed the Albemarle within gunshot of a French squadron of four ships of the line and a frigate that had just come out of Boston. A close chase followed, lasting nine or ten hours; but Nelson threw off the heavy ships by running among the shoals of George's Banks, which he ventured to do, trusting to the cool head and aptitude for pilotage acquired in earlier life. The frigate followed warily, watching for a chance to strike at advantage; but when the ships of the line had been dropped far enough to be unable to help their consort, the British vessel hove-to in defiance, and the enemy fell back upon his supports.

A Fair Canadian

Shortly after this escape so many of the ship's company fell ill with scurvy that Nelson decided to go back to Quebec, where he arrived on the 17th of September. Fears regarding his health, which he had expressed before sailing from England, had happily proved groundless, and a month's stay in port, which now followed, at the most delightful and invigorating of the Canadian seasons, wrought wonders for him. His letters to Locker state that the voyage agreed with him better than he had expected; while from the St. Lawrence he wrote to his father: "Health, that greatest of all blessings, is what I never truly enjoyed until I saw fair Canada. The change it has wrought, I am convinced, is truly wonderful."

Captain Mahan claims that this happy result has been due, in part at least, to surroundings that told favourably upon his sensitive nervous system, and not to the bracing climate alone. He had been actively occupied afloat, and had fallen desperately in love with a fair Canadian, around whom his ardent imagination threw that glamour of exaggerated charm in which he saw all who were dear to him, except his wife.

Took a Violent Effort

Mahan tells the following story of his Quebec infatuation: "The Canadian affair came near ending in an imprudent offer, from which he was with difficulty deterred by a cool-headed friend. The story runs that, the ship being ordered to New York, and ready for sea, he had bidden her (his lady love) good-bye and gone on board, expecting to sail next day; but that, unable to bear the approaching separation, he returned to the city, and was on the way to the lady's home when his friend met him. Tearing himself away from his mistress by a violent effort, Nelson, on the 20th of October, sailed for New York."

Nearly forty years ago the writer was furnished by the veteran Colonel John Sewell, who was born about the time that Nelson visited Quebec, with certain interesting facts connected with this affair. Colonel Sewell's informant was the Hon. William Smith, the Canadian historian.

It was current report in Quebec for many years that Nelson's charmer was Miss Prentice, a cousin of Mary Simpson, a niece of Captain Miles Prentice, who occupied the old stone mansion long known as the Chien d'Or and at that time containing the Freemason's Hall and an inn that went by the name of Freemason's Tavern. This Miss Prentice was a very beautiful girl at the time of Nelson's visit, but some old correspondence that turned up a number of years ago abundantly proves that it was not her charms that brought Nelson back to Quebec when under orders to sail. Miss Prentice married Mr. Sproule, surveyor-general of New Brunswick.

Daughter of a Highlander

It is equally clear from the letters already referred to that Nelson's idol at Quebec was a daughter of Saunders Simpson, an old Highlander, who had been one of Wolfe's provost marshals, and who was himself married to a sister, daughter, or niece of Miles Prentice, and was a constant visitor at the Chien d'Or. It was probably at some entertainment at Freemason's Hall in this building that the youthful captain met Mary Simpson. She was at that time sixteen years old, and her beauty had attracted considerable attention, for a newspaper poet of the following year printed an effusion in the old Quebec Gazette, which read in part as follows:

"Sure you will rather listen to my call,
Since beauty and Quebec's fair nymphs I sing,
Henceforth Diana is Miss S—p—n—,
As noble and majestic is her air;
Nor can fair Venus, W—le—s, vie with thee,

The Romantic Mary Simpson

Many were the conquests reputed to have been made by the marvellously handsome Quebec beauty of the latter part of the eighteenth century; but local admirers sued in vain, and Mary Simpson finally married Colonel Matthews, Governor of the Chelsea Hospital. She lived to a good old age and in the correspondence with old friends in Quebec, of which mention has already been made, there is a tender reference to her first admirer, the hero of Trafalgar, written not long before her death. Her father was a cousin of James Thompson, Sr., one of Wolfe's veterans, who, after the cession of Quebec to the British, was made Overseer of Public Works. This James Thompson died in 1830, at the age of ninety-eight, and three years before his death he gave the three mystic raps with the gavel, as senior Mason present, at the laying of the cornerstone of the Wolfe and Montcalm monument, at the special request of the Governor-General, Lord Dalhousie, who presided at the ceremony.

It is worthy of note that when Nelson—on the point of sailing from the St. Lawrence—returned to Quebec to offer his hand and heart to Mary Simpson, his ship was anchored as far from Quebec as the Isle of Orleans, and one story has it that considerable force had to be employed to prevent the future paramour of Lady Hamilton from carrying out his avowed intention.

The wound inflicted by Cupid's arrow at Quebec rapidly healed, however, for rather more than a year later Nelson wrote from St. Omer, in France, of the Miss Andrews, who a little later declined his suit, that she was "the most accomplished woman my eyes ever beheld." This again was only between three and four years before his marriage to Mrs. Nisbet.—From "Nelson's Love Affair at Quebec," by E. T. D. Chambers in Collier's.

CHANCE OPPOSES THE SPIT BALL

Claims That It Has a Bad Effect on Nearly All the Players.

Manager Chance's announced opposition to the "spit" ball is no matter for levity with him, but a serious proposition. In that opposition he has the support of practically every ball player who is not a "spit" ball pitcher. It is pointed out that the "spit" ball is growing in favour with the minor league recruits, and in a few years there will be nothing else. The result will be the disappearance of good catchers altogether and a great increase in errors by both infielders and outfielders on account of the constant slippery condition of the sphere.

Public Wants More Batting

The only advantage to the game of the "spit" ball will be an increase in base running and in scoring runs on errors. As most of the public would prefer to see runs made by batting, it is hoped to prevent a further decrease of batting by the abolition of spitters. It is in the method of stopping "spit" ball pitching that the comedy element appears, for the only effective way seems to be to gag all pitchers with rubber dams used by dentists. Should this be adopted, it is believed the umpires will demand it be extended to include all ball players, and later on all rooters, so as to conserve the sensitive feelings of the aforesaid arbitrators. Pitchers may pitch the spit ball some other way, but it is hoped it will sound sweeter under another name.—Chicago Tribune.

IN THE RING

Stanley Ketchel and Hugo Kelly meet to-night in San Francisco in a twenty-round mill for the middle weight championship. The men are to weigh in at 158 lbs. and Frisco sports are expecting a lively tight. Ketchel is the favourite with the fans.

• • • •

San Francisco, July 31. — James Coffroth last night arranged for a 45-round bout between Joe Gans and Battling Nelson, to take place on the afternoon of September 9th, at the Mission street pavilion, the scene of Gans' defeat July 4. Forfeits of $2,500 a side are to be posted. Articles were signed by Ben Selig for Gans. Willus Britt for Nelson and by Coffroth. According to the articles, 70 per cent. of the gate receipts will go to the fighters, 60 per cent. of that to the winner, and 40 per cent. to the loser. The weight will be 133 pounds stripped, ringside.

PLEASANT TIMES AT JUBILEE

Evenings Spent With Music And Dance—Fishing Is Fine.

Mr. J. J. Gilman, or Jack, as his friends know him, is happy these days. His guests are enjoying themselves in the cool breezes from the lake, and in spite of warm weather are having good success at fishing. Some of them are getting more fish than Jack himself, and that is "going some." The season is now at its height, and the evenings are enjoyably spent at music and dancing. The following guests are registered: Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Dobbin and family, Master C. Haskill, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wiklund, Misses L. Mahoney, M. O'Connor, M. Hallahan, A. Mahoney, Mrs. George Duncan and child, Mrs. Jas. Lewis and child, Mr. H. Gillman, Mr. McPeaters, Mr. R. S. Goheen and Mr. George A. Goheen. Many others are booked for August for Jubilee Point.

THE SHEATH GOWN IS TABOOED

A CHANGE IS EXPECTED

Before she left for Cowes with the King the other day, Queen Alexandra caused it to be made known that the sheath gown will not be tolerated at her court this winter. The intimation, recorded at some length in those London organs of fashion and aristocracy which circulate so widely among the middle classes, occasioned no surprise in circles in which Her Majesty's conservatism is well known. The Queen of England notes with positive horror, according to the London Throne, an impression in certain ill-informed quarters that the court of England in this reign has grown "lax." Queen Alexandra is affirmed to be especially indignant at rumours of gambling for high stakes at Sandringham, the estate on which the King leads, whenever he gets the opportunity, the life of a country gentleman. The idea that the court is "lax" is attributed to the good nature of the King in tolerating certain American social notions regarding the treatment of divorced men and women. It had been represented to the King and Queen that many estimable ladies on this side of the Atlantic regard divorce as conventional. Not to cause ill feeling among the Americans of distinction, their divorced countrymen and countrywomen have been given facilities of access to the court which would not have been granted to the sovereign's own subjects similarly circumstanced. The only result has been a widespread idea, even in England, that the rigidity of the late Queen Victoria's attitude towards divorce is a thing of the past. This is now affirmed to be a grave error. Court etiquette is to be revised, it seems, in a manner quite calculated to remove misconceptions in this head.—Current Literature.

HAS CHARGE OF SURFACE ARRANGEMENTS

The Maritime Mining Record, published in Stellarton, N. S., in its current issue, describes a new colliery of the Dominion Coal Company, the surface arrangements of which are under the supervision of Mr. C. W. Laing, son of Mr. Robt. Laing, etc. The record says of him and his work, in part, as follows:

"And then things on the surface will begin to assume shape. As yet, all appears, stumps, stones, and half orderly confusion. Foundations for main and fan engines are being prepared, and repair, blacksmith's, carpenter's etc., shops are being erected. All the surface arrangements are under the direction of Mr. C. W. Lairg, whose energies are restrained until railway connection is obtained. Then things will hum. Mr. Laing has the reputation of being a hustler, but he is better, he is thorough. He knows how to handle men and knows how to make them work steady and retain good humour, and he knows how to reckon costs and this pleases the general management. In the course of a few months Dom. No. 12 will be something worth looking at.

ARGONAUT EIGHT IS BEATEN

Leander Defeats Canadians In Preliminary at Henley.

SHOULD TRY ENGLISH STYLE

Critic Says Their Stroke Presents Competition With British Crews— Race Was Finest Exhibition Seen on the Henley Course For a Long Time—Cambridge Eight Was Beaten by the Belgians.

Henley-on-Thames, July 31.—The Leander eight of England beat the Argonauts of Canada in their heat yesterday.

The Argos got well away at the start, rowing 41 strokes to the minute, and had little heart when half the course had been rowed. Then they dropped to 38. It was the finest race of the regatta, the Argos rowing splendidly. They spurted a couple of times at the end, but not sufficient to push the Leanders much. Both crews received a grand reception. Leander won by a length. Time 8.02. Time for half the course 3.56.

Some few people competent to express an opinion say that the race was the finest seen for some time. They especially complimented Coach Wright on his excellent training of the Canadians. It was great, as at half way the Argos spurted and reduced the lead of the Leanders by a length, and the Argos' spurts near the finish, though fine, were unable to win.

"It is quite evident," said a well-known oarsman to the Canadian Associated Press, "that if Canada hopes to win at Henley the English style of rowing must be adopted."

The crews were:

Leander—Maclaren (cox), Bednall stroke, Etherington Smith 7, Sanderson 6, Burnell 5, Nickalls 4, Johnstone 3, Kelly 2, Gladstone bow.

P. J. Mulqueen of Toronto, speaking to the Canadian Associated Press, expressed himself as perfectly satisfied with Scholes' work. Scholes being beaten was a disappointment, but those disappointments must be put up with. "No one could have received better treatment in England than Scholes and I have," added Pat.

The Cambridge eight, on which the United Kingdom depended, with Leander, to win the championship in the eight-oared contest, was defeated by the Belgian crew.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Hon. Geo. E Foster is to make a tour of Nova Scotia during August.

Brazil announces that not one of the three battleships of the Dreadnought type now being constructed for Brasil in England is for sale.

The Brooks' plant of the American Locomotive Co. at Dunkirk, N.Y., has received an order for thirty locomotives from the Argentina Railroad.

Pelee Islanders are taking an appeal to the drainage referee to quash the bylaw of the township council to spend $45,000 in drainage improvements.

The enquiry into the charges made by the civil service commissioners against the officials of the Marine Department will be resumed in Montreal on Sept. 2.

Toronto Wins Suit.

Toronto, July 31.—A cable has been received from London, England, announcing that the Privy Council had allowed with costs the City of Toronto's appeal against the judgment of Canadian courts in the famous Russell tax sale case. Had the city's case failed, the corporation would be faced with the prospect of a succession of suits to recover land fallen into the city's hands through arrears of taxes and endless confusion and litigation would have been entailed.

Tornado Sweeps West.

Fillmore, Sask., July 31.—A tornado visited this district Wednesday at noon, causing considerable damage in the town and country south of here. School had just been dismissed and a number of the pupils entered the house of William Johnston for shelter. Just at that moment the building was demolished and Alfred Johnston, aged 11, was instantly killed. Mrs. Johnston had her hip dislocated and received other injuries as well.

Lightning Causes $100,000 Fire.

Sackville, N. B., July 31.—Lightning early yesterday set on fire the buildings of the Enterprise Foundry, and they were totally destroyed. The fire spread to the Intercolonial Hotel, which was ruined, and the railway station was saved with difficulty. The loss is $100,000.

Pension Bill Goes Through.

London, July 31.—The House of Lords yesterday passed the old-age pensions bill with a number of amendments which will be rejected by the House of Commons.

There is little doubt but that the Lords will acquiesce to these objections when the measure is returned to them.

Wife Beater, Dies.

London, July 31.—George Crow, a Grand Trunk laborer, living near Dorchester, was arrested last Saturday for assaulting his wife and was bailed in the sum of $1,000 to await developments.

Mrs. Crow died yesterday morning, and a jury will investigate the case

FRAUD CHARGED AGAINST TREASURER

Col. Leslie of Toronto Arrested on Another Affair.

EXCESS OF ZEAL TO BLAME

Ex-Treasurer of Exhibition Accused of Getting Funds Irregularly For Company He Was Interested In —Lack of Discretion Was the Cause of Shortage in the Exhibition Association's Funds.

Toronto, July 31.—Lieut.-Col. J. Frank Leslie, former treasurer of the Exhibition Association, was arrested as he was entering the office in the City Hall yesterday morning upon a warrant charging him with obtaining money from Charles M. Dee, of Berkeley street, under false pretences.

It is alleged that Dee gave him the money for the purpose of forming a company for making indexing tables for the McKinley Mining Co. of Cobalt. The money was paid in December, 1907, and Dee was to receive 5,000 shares of stock, but he says that while he was told from time to time of the progress of negotiations he has not received any shares, no tables have been made nor has any charter been taken out for the company.

Col. Leslie was admitted to bail in $2,000, his wife going on his bond. He admits receiving the money, but declares that the company was being organized for the manufacture of a different patent than that originally planned.

Mr. Dee says that he made several applications for his money or stock and was promised the money with interest at 8 per cent. for its use.

Col. Leslie took the proceedings quietly, saying that it would easily be shown that there were no irregularities.

Frank F. Brennnell will enter today upon the duties of the treasurership of the National Exhibition Association, his appointment being made by the directors yesterday.

Col. Leslie's zeal in disposing of six-for-a-dollar tickets is understood to have outrun his discretion. It appears that he was induced to issue thousands of tickets on the assurance that the credit of those to whom they were issued was good, and that checks amounting to about $2,000 in payment therefore were dishonored when presented at the bank.

IT IS ALL OVER.

Quebec Drops Back Into Its Peaceful Routine.

Quebec, July 31.—His Excellency Earl Grey leaves Quebec to-day for Ottawa, where he will be on Saturday to entertain Lord Roberts during his visit. All the titled guests have departed except the Duke of Norfolk, who sails for England to-day, and Earl Dudley, who accompanies his Excellency to Ottawa, where he will remain a few days prior to his journey west en route to Australia. Earl Grey will also go west in the course of the next few weeks, and may visit the extremities of the Dominion. Sir Wilfrid Laurier left yesterday for Ottawa.

The French admiral's flagship, Leon Gambetta, sailed at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, saluting the British ensign as she moved off.

The grand parade of national societies, Canadian Clubs and independent military guards announced for yesterday did not come off. There was no one to bring it along, and no one to look at it if it had come.

ACCUSES LAWYER.

Woman Charges W. H. Bartram of London With Misappropriation.

London, Ont., July 31.—William H. Bartram, a well-known local attorney, was arrested on Tuesday afternoon, on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Marion Bowles of London Township, charging him with misappropriating $35,000, which she alleges was placed in trust with the accused nine years ago. Bail was fixed at $80,000, for which three sureties were secured, and Mr. Bartram was released from custody.

Murdered a Trader.

Victoria, B. C., July 31.—The steamer Aorangi brings word of the capture of a trading schooner and the murder of Oliver Burns, a Sydney trader, in the Solomon Islands. Burns had a trading station at Marova Lagoon. Two blacks boarded the schooner trade, and while Burns was stooping to pick up some goods he was struck from behind with an axe. The trader's rifle was then seized and the natives looted the schooner. Kerosene was found in the vessel and it was scattered about and the schooner set on fire after being looted. The natives then robbed the dead man's store of everything and burned it.

Cannibals Eat Christians.

Victoria, B.C. July 31.—News of murders and cannibalism in the Bismarck archipelago, followed by a German punitive expedition, in which some villages were burned, was brought by the steamer Aorangi, which arrived Wednesday night from Australia via Honolulu. Rev. W. Danks' mission station was attacked at Baining and the three boys who were captured were killed and their bodies carried to the hills, where a feast was held. The remains were roasted and devoured. Evidences of the feast were found by an expedition sent to punish the natives.

Admirals Exonerated.

London, July 31.—The Admiralty, after a full investigation, has exonerated both Admiral Lord Charles Beresford and Admiral Sir Percy Scott from any blame in connection with the mistaken signal incident of the last naval manoeuvres.

It seems that Lord Charles gave the signal for an evolution, which, if obeyed, apparently would have brought the cruisers Argyll and Good Hope into collision. Sir Percy, who was on board the Good Hope, doubted the accuracy of the signal and refrained from obeying it.

SAYS EXTORTION IS PRACTISED

By the Owners and Their Employees on the Car Ferry Ontario—Excursion To Rochester.

IS POOR ACCOMMODATION

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I deem it a duty to the public to expose the imposition to which the excursionists were subjected on the trip to Rochester on Wednesday last under the auspices of the Grafton church. It reflected no discredit upon the church, as they were powerless to control the ferry boat that plies between Cobourg and the port of Rochester, and the two big railways of which it is a connecting link. While the boat is well adapted for a coal scow, it fell lamentably short as an excursion boat. The lower part of the boat being intended for coal trains, there is no available space for the passengers except on the deck, where there is no awning or covering of any kind; and as the thermometer was roaming around in the nineties, one can well imagine the sufferings of the passengers, exposed as they were to the rays of a scorching sun. The little shade afforded by the bridge of the vessel was eagerly sought, but it only covered a few who were huddled together like cattle in a pen. The suffering of the 500 or 600 passengers was intense while embarking and disembarking, when the passage would only admit of single file. The heat was intensified by the reflection of the sun's rays from the iron floor of the deck.

The advertised schedule of prices was exceeded when we came to buy our tickets, and although the excursion was advertised for Rochester, the tickets were good only as far as the boat landing, when another extra was put on from there to Rochester. We were to have five or six hours in Rochester, but two or three was nearer the mark. The quintessence of cheek was reached in the dining room of the boat. On entering, a bill of fare would be presented with prices marked on it, but upon settlement another bill would be substituted for double the amount. On the second day the boat did not leave or land on schedule time, and the consequence was that all passengers between Port Hope and Campbellford by way of Peterborough were too late for the train at Cobourg that would bring them to Port Hope for the last train to Peterborough. Owing to the wise suggestion of a lady and the prompt action of one of the church committee, a single car was secured and we were taken to Port Hope just in time to catch the Peterborough train.

Yours, etc.,
EXCURSIONIST.

KING EDWARD WOULD BE THE POPULAR CANDIDATE

'Boss' Croker has been giving his opinion of a few men. Bryan, he says, is 'a good man and ought to win.' Roosevelt is 'all right for writing books, but he only knows one game, Hughes, of New York, ought to be in the Salvation Army. He and Roosevelt are 'dragging the country down,' and, 'taking away our liberty,' but if there was an election tomorrow for every mother's son on the globe,' who would be elected King of the world? Roosevelt? Hughes? Not for a minute! But who? King Edward! . . . And why? . . . . Because he is a big man, a broad man, an all round gentleman. . . . who understands the poor tipster in the two-bob ring as well as the rich man somewhere else doing the same thing.'—Montreal Witness.

UPPER STONY LAKE NEWS

Special Staff Correspondent.

Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, July 30—Bright sunshiny days with only a slight breeze is the brand of weather Stony Lake people have been favoured with during the past week, and for the average summer visitor the conditions are ideal. Yachtsmen are sighing for a breeze now and then, but for women and children, who constitute the biggest part of the summer population, the weather is perfect, as it gives them an opportunity to be on the water all the time, something that is not possible with a heavy wind. True, it has been hot, but there are always cool spots at Stony Lake, and there has been little complaint in this regard.

The shore dinner is much in vogue just now, and every morning sees several flotillas of small craft bound for the head of the lake, Eel's Creek being the favourite destination.

"Glenwood" has been busy all season and just now a happy crowd of Cleveland people are quartered at the picturesque Boechink resort. The "Glenwood" people are having all kinds of luck in the fishing game, and on Tuesday last succeeded in bringing back to camp no less than forty black bass. The most prominent anglers are Arthur Severs of Toronto, W N Carleton of Buffalo and Eddie Walker of Cleveland.

Among those registered at "Glenwood" just now are Mr. and Mrs. L E Dunham, Miss Francis and Miss Marion Dunham of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Krause of Cleveland, Geo. Schmitt, Robt. Lindermueller, Geo. L Grose, and Edgar Walker, all of Cleveland; E M Lymen and W N Carleton, Buffalo; Arthur Severs of Toronto; Miss Might, of Peterborough.

Mr. Harry Brown of the Novel-T Company of Peterborough is spending his vacation at "Belvidere."

The pavilion at Crowe's Landing is in use every night, the young people from the surrounding camps gathering there for a "hop." Crowe's Landing is just as lively as Juniper Island, and the East End continues to grow in popularity. The regatta to be held on August 17 promises to be a great success, and a number of enthusiastic paddlers and oarsmen have already gone into training for the event. They may swoop down upon the Juniper Island regatta and carry off the purses there, but at present their intentions are only in regard to the East End aquatic tournament.

Your poultry won't be troubled with lice if Empire Poultry Duster is used as directed, and more eggs in neat will be the result. 25 cents at all dealers.

FINALS IN FOOTBALL FOR MIDLAND LEAGUE TROPHY

Warkworth and Warsaw Will Probably Meet Next Wednesday.

Warkworth and Warsaw football teams will likely meet next Wednesday evening in Norwood and play a sudden death game for the championship of the Midland League. The game should be a fine one as both teams are in the pink of condition. Percy Fitzgerald of the Quakers will possibly referee the contest.

PETERBOROUGH COMPANY SHONE AT QUEBEC

Lieut.-Col. Stevenson of the 57th Regiment has received the following letter from Lt.-Col. W H Sylvester-Lindsay, complimenting him on the fine behaviour of the Peterborough men at Quebec:

From the Officer Commanding 4th Composite Regiment to the O. C. 57th Regiment,

Sir,—Would you be good enough to convey to the officers and non-commissioned officers and men of the regiment under your command who took part in the Quebec Tercentenary celebration and formed part of the 4th Composite Regiment under my command my sincere thanks for their good conduct and loyal support in making it one of the best?

I am, sir,
Your obedient servant,

LOCAL DENTIST TO GIVE AN ADDRESS

"Instrumentation Within Root Canals" To Be His Subject—Dental Convention at Ottawa.

Examiner Special

Ottawa, Ont., July 31.—W. C. Gowan, D.D.S., of Peterborough, will give one of the papers at the Canadian Dental Association's annual meeting, which opens here on Tuesday for three days, and at which three hundred Canadian and American dentists will attend. His subject will be, "Instrumentation within root canals." A lengthy and important programme has been prepared. The delegates will be banquetted at the Russell, and will be shown through the House of Commons, and entertained in several ways. The officers of the association are: Jas. Magee, D.D.S., St. John, N. B., president; John Robertson, D.D.S., Ottawa, vice-president; W. G. L. Spaulding, D.D.S., Toronto, secretary-treasurer; E. M. Doyle, D.D.S., Calgary, registrar.

The first of the twenty locomotives being built at Toronto for the Grand Trunk Pacific have been turned out. Already there are employed west of Winnipeg along the line 67 locomotives. As the company expects to assist in the movement of the present crop, which promises to be a record-breaker, there will in all probability be at least 100 locomotives working on the prairie section by the end of this autumn.

WEIRD WILD CAT STORY COMES FROM THE BOYS Y. M. C. A. CAMP

Examiner Special

Y. M. C. A. Camp, Sandy Point, Clear Lake, July 30.—Well, here we are at the last day of out camp. The time has gone so fast that I hardly realize that out two weeks are over. We have had such a good time that I wish we could stay all summer. Mr. Wright paid us another visit and stayed over Sunday, but we didn't see very much of him. We all went to church on Sunday over at Juniper Island, and Sunday night we held a song service over at Miss Brown's cottage on Clear Lake. Mr. Frowde held down our little camp organ and over fifty people sang those good old hymns which we all like so well, after which Mr. McKenny, of Newcastle Y. M. C. A., gave a stirring address.

We have to thank the Misses Rogers for an ice cream treat, which we appreciated to the fullest extent, and the Misses Carlisle for an angel cake. I think when the big boys come up they will get more ice cream and cake than we did, because they somehow stand in better. Two boys played a great trick on me the other night, and although it is at my own expense, I am going to tell it. Mr. Frowde and two Port Hope boys caught a big 'lunge, and I went up up in the woods to clean it. Suddenly I heard a wild scream like a wild cat, and I flew as fast as my legs would carry me. When we returned there was no fish to be seen, but after hunting around for a while we found it badly torn up. I couldn't sleep all night I was so badly scared, and, in fact, everyone appeared to be. However, yesterday they told me it was a put up job. They certainly had the laugh on me. We found a new kind of bug this year and christened it a ballygander. Well, last night was the last in camp, so we out up till about two o'clock in the morning. We sang and yelled like a lot of Indians and had a merry time. We all wish next summer would hurry up and come soon. I will have to close now, so good-bye till next year.

WILLIE-NEVER-TIRE.

The Grand Trunk Passenger Department are in receipt of a letter from a prominent New Yorker complimenting the road on their excellent dining car service. He says: "My wife and I left New York on your train at 5.40 p.m. last Monday; yesterday morning we had breakfast in your dining car, and everything was so superior, food, cuisine, service and attention, that I think it my duty to compliment the road on this branch of the service.

Contract For The Firemen's Clothing Goes To Ed. Huff

His the Lowest of the "Tailor-Made-in-Peterborough" Tenders —New Hydrants Wanted—Mr. Taylor, The Assistant Chief.

FIRE, WATER, LIGHT NEWS

At the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night the important question was the awarding of the contract for the making of the firemen's suits. The committee wanted tailor-made suits and they wanted them made in Peterborough. The contract went to Ed. Huff, the tailor, and they will cost $305.30.

There were present Ald. Johnston, chairman; Ald. McIntyre, Butler, and Turner, Mayor Rush and Chief Howard.

The Water Commissioners asked for the installation of four new hydrants, three on Elm street, and one on Downie street, between London and Dublin street.

It was moved by Ald. Butler and McIntyre, that the chairman and Ald. Turner be a committee to look over both these streets and determine what is necessary.—Carried.

The awarding of the contract for the making of the firemen's suits was considered, the following tenders being presented:

H. LeBrun—

11 suits, each	$22 00
9 pair trousers; extra	5 25
Officer's suit	26 00
Trousers, military braid; extra	6 00
Total—	$321.25

Ed. Huff—

12 suits	$305 30

A. W. Cressman—

11 coats, each	$10 75
Officer's coat	12 00
12 vests, each	3 00
20 pair trousers, each	4 50
Officer's trousers	4 50
Total—	$290 75

Evans—

11 suits, each	$23 50
Officer's suit	27 00
9 pair trousers; extra	5 25
9 pair trousers, military braid	5 75
Total	$338 50

Laidlaw & Oles—

No. 1053, suits	$21 00
Trousers extra	5 00
No. 1046, suits	24 00
Trousers extra	5 50
No. 1652, suits	25 00
Trousers extra	6 50
No. 1193, suits	25 00
Trousers extra	6 50
No 1168, suits	25 00
Trousers extra	6 50
No. 2246, suits	25 00
Trousers extra	6 50
No. 2247, suits	22 00
Trousers extra	5 50
Total, at $22 sample—	$319 50

Merrill & Meredith—

Suits	$24 00
Trousers	6 00
9 pair trousers extra	5 00

The mathematicians of the committee discovered that A W Cressman's tender was the lowest and amounted to $259.25, which was about $46 less than the next lowest tenderer, Ed. Huff. The specifications called for "tailor-made," and after discussing the question at length it was agreed to have them made by a tailor in Peterborough.

It was moved by Ald. McIntyre and Turner that the suits be tailor-made, that they be made in Peterborough, and that the contract be awarded to Ed. Huff for the sum of $305.30.—Carried.

Ald. Butler showed a sample of matting made at Mr. Weatherstone's factory, Simcoe street, with which it was proposed to floor the firehall. It would cost forty cents per square foot. No action was taken.

Assistant Fire Chief

Chief Howard recommended the appointment as assistant chief of Mr W. H. Taylor, one of the present firemen, who has splendid qualifications. He has been connected with the Bell Telephone Company in its construction work in Oshawa, Owen Sound and in Peterborough, and since he has been on the force here he has shown himself to be adapted to the work. The committee endorsed this.

Condition Of The Crops And Live Stock Throughout Canada

Authentic Reports Secured From Correspondents in Every Province of the Dominion.

THE PROSPECTS ARE FAIR

The Census and Statistics Monthly is a publication of the Census and Statistics Office, and its chief aim is to issue reports on the crops and live stock of Canada. This number also gives some account of the work of the Department of Agriculture for the month of June as conducted by the Director of Experimental Farms, the Commissioner of Dairying and Cold Storage, the Seed Commissioner, the Veterinary Director General of Live Stock, and the Chief Officer of Census and Statistics.

The condition of field crops and live stock at the end of June is based on information received from a large staff of practical farmers throughout the Dominion, together with estimates of the areas of crops and numbers of live stock computed from data of per cent comparisons with the statistics of last year. British Columbia is the only province for which a report of areas is not made, for although a staff of correspondents has been secured there no data of agricultural statistics are available for comparison in that province later than those of the Census of 1901. The report for the province consequently is confined to the standard conditions of crops and stock.

In reporting upon areas and live stock, correspondents were instructed to compare the present with last year, measured on a per cent. basis for their several localities. If there was 10 per cent. more of oats in crop, for example, it would be denoted by 110, but if 5 per cent. less it would be denoted by 95; and so if the number of milch cows was 15 per cent. more it would be denoted by 115, but if 10 per cent. less it would be denoted by 90. As regards condition, correspondents were instructed to make the basis of comparison that of a standard, which as applied to crops means the condition for a full crop, and as applied to live stock means a healthy and thrifty state. "In each case," correspondents were told, "100 represents a standard condition, and any number above or below 100 will show a condition better than or not as good as a standard."

Excepting in a few localities in the eastern provinces, the seeding season opened early, and fine growing weather has prevailed in the months of May and June. But in a country of such wide extent as Canada it was inevitable that a low rainfall would be reported for some parts. The high average per cent. of standard condition however is proof of a rainfall fairly adequate.

Wheat is reported with a high average standard of 84 for all the provinces. It is 75 in Quebec and 81 in Ontario and New Brunswick, but in Alberta it is 93, in Saskatchewan 97 and in Manitoba 97. The increase of area in wheat over last year is 562,511 acres for Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba; but in Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island there is a decrease of 19,018 acres.

Oats shows an increase of area sown of 535,786 acres and a standard condition at the end of June of 90. Ontario's increase is the largest for any province, being 175,951 acres; but for the three Northwest provinces the increase is 280,399 acres. The area for all the provinces is 7,941,295 acres, which is 1,331,148 acres more than wheat.

Barley's area is 1,741,834 acres. This is only 5,055 acres more than last year, and while there is an increase of 21,635 acres in Alberta there is a drop of 23,907 in Ontario. The percent of a standard condition is 93.

The areas in rye and beans are relatively small and both show a decrease. The former is reported with a standard condition of 82 and the latter with 74.

The standard condition of peas is 82 per cent. and the area is 413,065 acres which is 9,565 acres more than last year.

Mixed grains have fallen off in area by 23,313 acres, but they still occupy the large area of 581,879 acres. Ontario alone has 429,945 acres and Quebec 133,213 acres. The standard condition is 84.

The crop of hay and clover shows a larger area than any other field crop in the Dominion. The extent of it is 8,211,176 acres, which is 484,841 acres more than last year. Ontario has 3,552,716 acres, Quebec 2,983,838 acres and the Maritime provinces 1,573,909. The per cent. of a standard condition for the Dominion is 87, and that of pasture is 99. In the Northwest provinces the farmers depend largely on the native or prairie hay.—Census and Statistics Monthly.

THE RARE BEAUTIES OF THE OTONABEE UNAPPRECIATED

To any one who is acquainted with the ever-changing, yet ever-refreshing beauties of the Otonabee, it must be a source of wonderment that the people of Peterborough do not enjoy to a far greater extent than at present, the many avenues of pleasure which it unfolds to them. Shadiest of nooks invite the canoeist to seek that rest to the eye and refreshment to the soul which only their cool recesses can impart. Reaches, whose broad bosoms shimmer with a myriad lights, whose shores are lined with pleasing alternations of woodland and pastureland, and at whose every turn striking scenes of sylvan and rustic beauty greet the delighted vision, offer unreservedly to the launch owner or oarsman, a trip unexcelled for purity of pastoral landscape in the whole of this grand Dominion.

Yet, strange to say, all this rustic loveliness, all this refreshment to body, soul and spirit seem to be most lightly regarded by those to whom they should prove among the greatest of earthly blessings. Shakespere tells us that there are "books in the running brooks, sermons in stones and good in everything." Going on that principle we may perhaps extend the Biblical saying that "a prophet is not without honour, save in his own country, and in his own house," to inanimate as well as animate objects, and reason that its close proximity to the city may have bred a contempt which is surely as foolish as it is undeserved.

Whatever be the cause, the fact remains that to-day the resources of this beautiful river are being utilized to a very limited extent, and what should be, par excellence, a camper's paradise, is still for the most part the undisputed abode of the wild duck and the heron.

THE EXAMINER'S SPORTING PAGE

GREAT BALL GAME ARRANGED FOR RIVERSIDE TO-MORROW

The ball game at Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon between the Petes and Athletics promises to be a hummer. Both teams are in the best of condition and the field will be adorned by the best dozen and a half players that ever graced the Riverside diamond. The Athletics have been putting up a good brand of ball in their past few games and many look upon them to win the match. It will be the best game of the season and lovers of the baseball sport should not miss the opportunity.

LOCAL BOWLERS DOUBLE THE SCORE

At the conclusion of the lawn bowling game last night between Peterborough and Oshawa, the club mathematician figured it out that the locals had exactly doubled the score. It stood Peterborough 118, Oshawa 59. The visitors arrived in the morning with the excursion from Oshawa town, and in the afternoon assembled at the Brookside Green for the game. They were to have brought five rinks with them, but owing to the fact that they were one short, two rinks of the Peterborough Club played half time each, practically making a five rink match. Peterborough shone on every rink, and the scores were, many of them, large so far as the locals were concerned.

The game, nevertheless, was a good one and winners and losers spent a very pleasant afternoon. The rinks and scores were as follows:

Peterborough		Oshawa.
T. Glover		Rev. Dickson
G. Ferguson		Morley Watson
T. E. Pratt		Jas. Allman

DAVEY ELLIOT'S BELLEVILLE BRAVES BEAT PORT HOPE

Lacrosse Game Played on Wednesday Afternoon in Belleville—Great Match.

An interesting and well-contested lacrosse match took place here yesterday afternoon between teams representing Port Hope and the city. The game was played on grounds situated at the corner of Bleeker avenue and Pine street. Whilst in some respects the grounds are better than those at the Driving Park, they are by no means large enough for this game, being very narrow. During the progress of the match there were some nice exhibitions of play. The result was a victory for the home team, who secured 4 goals to their opponents 2. At half-time the score was a tie, both having secured 2 goals. In the second half the Belleville players found the net twice whilst the Port Hope players were unable to score. Mr. P Shannon, of Trenton, was referee and did his work well. Mr Jack McKee was judge of play. A large number of spectators witnessed the game.

The Peterborough newspapermen are going to run an excursion to Idyl Wild on Civic Holiday and sports will be run off at that resort. An invitation to Lindsay papers to send representatives down to take part in the athletic events, I think, would not be out of place. We have a number of "has-been" or "would-be" sports on local papers that are aching to emulate Olympic feats. Donald, of he is a long distance runner since his illustrious countryman, Dorando, made such a showing in England.—Lindsay Warder.

F. M. Dela Fosse

On arrival at Swift Current, we started at once to unload our outfit from the cars. This was accomplished quickly, and, before long, we had the ponies tethered, the tents erected, and the kettle boiling for the evening meal. The telegraph operator, overjoyed at the arrival of our party, joined us at tea, and proved to be a jovial, joke-loving soul. The good nature with which he entered into the conversation was only equalled by the cheerfulness with which he won from us at euchre. He got what little money there was in the crowd, and also a coat and a pair of overalls from the fore-chainman. He was kindness personified. Having learned that the police had confiscated the party's whisky, he kindly supplied the deficiency by presenting us his share to the evening's entertainment two bottles of a well-known brand of Dyspeptic Cure. This, he assured us, was "real elegant" as a beverage, and though the tapers of the party looked somewhat askance at it at first, their misgivings were soon overcome. The subsequent opinions of those who had indulged in deep potations of the mixture were most painfully frank and free, for Hookey, in unvarnished terms, stigmatized the operator as an "assassin" whilst the cook denominated him "an offspring of Beelzebub." Their feelings were not modified in any degree by Jones' crude efforts to be funny on the subject.

Cruelty to the Ponies

Before leaving Swift Current, we received a fairly good insight into the dispositions of our ponies. When they were hitched to the carts, not one of them would budge, and neither the blandishments of the men nor the awkward cajoleries of the chief had the least effect on them. Jones grew furious. He threw his hat on the ground, stamped on it, flung his arms about wildly, called the heavens to witness that he was passing through the antipodes of Paradise right there in Swift Current, and then swore. Finding that none of the antics did any good, he rushed to the railway track, picked up two pieces of telegraph wire, and rushed back again. One piece he tied to a stick, the other he made into a slip-knot. Going up to the front pony, he slipped the wire over its head, and pulled and jerked on it till the poor brute's eyes almost started from their sockets. This proving ineffective, he began to rain blows on it with his extemporized whip. This was more than we could stand. There was a general cry of "shame" from the party, and we all bounded forward to stop him. He was a powerful man, and the effect of the four or five blows that he had given the poor beast was to be plainly seen in the blood that was issuing from the welts across its back. If he had laid on once more the whole crowd would have been on top of him, but, seeing us coming, he wisely desisted, threw the whip on the ground, and, including the ponies, men, carts, provisions and almost everything else in one sweeping malediction, walked off to sit and sulk on the rails. Being rid of his presence, we got to work in a sensible manner, and, mounting our carts, quietly smoked our pipes till the animals elected to start. It was about two hours and a quarter before this desirable event occurred, but when it did, it was astonishing with what wonderful unanimity the change of spirit manifested in the leader communicated itself to the rest. They followed quietly along the trail, giving no further trouble, and by evening we had journeyed about fifteen miles, and were camped on the western side of the creek.

Red River Carts

Although most of us had been used to the improvised vehicles of the backwoods, we discovered in the Red River cart a conveyance which, for rum-shackle appearance and noise, had anything that we were ever acquainted with easily beaten. And yet it was one of the most ingenious devices that the hand of man could frame, for not one ounce of metal was apparent in its construction. We had five of these conveyances, each of them capable of carrying half a ton, and they really answered our purpose very well. The advance of civilization in the West has long since relegated these primitive vehicles to the background, but, two years ago, I saw one near Red Deer, in Alberta, and it brought vividly back to my mind the days of long ago.

Our Chief's Disposition

Unlike most surveyors, who, without flattery, may be termed a fine, whole-souled class of men giving themselves no unnecessary airs and possibly less addicted to bad habits than the generality of mankind, Jones was one of the most unpleasant personalities that could obtrude itself on a cheerful man's vision. During the whole journey, from Winnipeg to Swift Current, he had, like Eugene Aram, "sat remote from all, a melancholy man," and when he hadn't been suffering from moroseness he had been swearing, partly, perhaps, to impress us with a due sense of his importance, and partly from sheer pleasure in the pastime.

The men detested him, and, to do him justice, so far as two or three of the party were concerned, he cordially reciprocated the feeling.

When the time came to strike camp the following morning, Jones took me aside and told me that he had decided to push on as rapidly as possible to his work, and to leave me behind in charge of the provisions. "You won't be left alone long," he concluded. "As soon as I reach the Forks I shall send men back to fetch you and the grub along."

It was not exactly a pleasant prospect that was so suddenly confided to me. To be invested with so much responsibility in a country that was absolutely new and strange, did not commend itself very easily to my fancy. For the solitude of the prairies is by no means the same thing as the solitude of the forest. In the latter there is the soft whispering of the breezes in the branches, the merry prattle of the rivulet, the melodious music of the rushing river. The birds sing in the tree-tops, the squirrels chatter. Laughter and song seem to permeate the atmosphere. But on the prairies it is different. The sun may shine, the gaudiest of butterflies flit by on painted wings, the simple beauty of the wild flowers arrest the eye and refresh the jaded spirit, but the impenetrable solitariness of it all sooner or later settles down on the lonely dweller like a pall, smothering the happiest aspirations and dispelling all cheeriness from the soul.

I did not communicate these romantic and somewhat sad ideas, however, to Jones, who, not being of a gregarious turn himself, would probably have failed to appreciate them. But when the gang had departed I realized to the full the true significance of keeping "Bachelor Hall" on the prairie.

My only weapon of offence and defence was a small axe, the only amusement practicable was fishing. The two tents left in my charge were filled with camp provisions, and I was forced to make my bed on the flour bags, with some sides of pork covered over with a cloth for a pillow. Some driftwood in the creek bed served me for fuel. Day after day the sun arose in pitiless majesty, shedding its glorious effulgence over the limitless prairie. There was no shelter from its rays, save in the tents, in which the heat was ten times more pronounced than in the open. The only reading matter in my possession was a piece of old newspaper and a novel, and these I read so often that up to a few years ago I was able to recite whole paragraphs by rote. The fishing was excellent. The number of goldeyes that fell a prey to my prowess was really remarkable. As I was amongst the earliest of white men who had tried the gentle art of angling in that stream, perhaps it is not so wonderful that my luck was great. Those that I couldn't eat I left on the bank where the coyotes or some other animals of predatory instincts made short work of them.

The coyotes were an abomination. I could see them, night after night, as the shades of evening fell, seated on coigns of vantage at a respectful distance from the tent, buying in chorus to each other, and rendering night hideous with the r devilish minstrelsy. They were as cunning as they were cowardly, and made a practice of licking out all the pots and pans that had been left outside the tent, which necessitated an extra wash-up every morning.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

The questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club for August 2nd, are as follows:

Golden Text—Man looketh on the outward appearance but the Lord looketh on the heart. I. Sam. xvi:7.

Verse 1.—What method did God use in talking to Samuel, and what method does he use to-day in talking to the faithful?

Was Samuel to be blamed or praised for mourning over Saul's rejection?

Ought the feelings and the judgment of every true man always harmonize wit the clearly expressed will of God?

Verse 2—Did the Lord intend this instruction to Samuel, to say he was to come to sacrifice, to be a means of deceiving Saul, and if so, is such deceit in harmony with the teaching of Jesus?

Verse 3—Is it perfectly safe to go where God may send us, with only partial knowledge of what we have to do, with the confidence that God will make clear our full mission in due time?

Verse 4—May we hope for prosperity if we do not fall in gladly with God's plans?

Verse 5—If we are afraid of God's representative, or of God's providence, is it a sign of guilt?

Is God's coming, in any guise, always "peaceably," and for our good, if we are true to God?

Do we all need special preparation in order to enjoy public worship to the utmost, or should we always be in a proper state of mind for worship?

Verse 8—Should we permit ourselves to form a definite opinion of others without special light from God and is such light always available?

Does God permit really true and careful men to sometimes form wrong opinions, and if so why?

Verse 7—How much dependence can we place upon a handsome appearance, as an index to ability and goodness?

Do men and women generally have their character stamped upon their faces?

What is the difference in God's judgment, and in man's judgment, of a man?

Verses 8-10—Is it usually necessary for us to find out by actual experience what we need to know, and why?

Why did God not tell Samuel which of the sons of Jesse he had chosen for King, without all this formality?

On what ground does God make his choice when he has positions to fill?

(This question is to be answered in writing by members of the club).

Does it follow that when God passes a man by and selects another for a certain position that he loves the selected one more than the other?

Verses 11-13.—Was it David's goodness alone that procured him the position of king?

When a man of God comes face to face with a supreme opportunity is there any possibility of him not embracing it?

Lesson for Sunday, Aug. 9th, 1908. David and Goliah. I. Sam. xvii:38-

Examiner Special.

Graysttck, July 29.—Haying is a thing of the past in this part of Otonabee and the farmers are busy cutting their wheat and barley. Some have already finished.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. Walter Dickson, who has been confined to his bed for the past week or so, is able to be around again.

Mr. E. Kent spent Sunday at South Monaghan.

Mr. Chas. Kindrod, who has been under the doctor's care, is on the mend.

Miss Jean Lancashire has returned home from the West.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Kindrod, Belleville, are guests of Mr. John Kindred this week.

Mr. E. Robinson, who has been on the sick list for a long time, is able to be around again.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Weir, Berlin, are guests of Mr. Joshua Smithson.

The annual garden party of the Zion Methodist church will be held on the beautiful lawn of Mr. Walter Dickson on August 5. A good programme is being provided. Also the Salvation Army Band of Peterborough will be present.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEATHER

More little lives are lost during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach troubles come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly, the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. During the hot weather months Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in every home where there are small children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles. Or if the trouble comes unawares the prompt use of this medicine will bring the child through safely. Mrs J. Renard, New Glasgow, Que., says:—"One of my children had a severe attack of diarrhoea which Baby's Own Tablets promptly cured. I know of no medicine so good for stomach and bowel troubles." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FARMER COMPLAINS OF BAD CONDUCT

Says Actions of Men in Automobiles in Smith are Disgraceful.

ESPECIALLY ON SUNDAY

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—It is not very often that I take it upon myself to write anything to a paper; but the actions of different parties for the last two Sundays has made it impossible to keep quiet any longer. First, on July 19th, two bus loads of men went down, acting as if they were crazy, raising all the disturbance they could. On that same evening also a large automobile full of people, acted just as bad or worse, went down. That was not enough, but on July 26th, last Sunday, an auto car went past, just as Wesley Church people were gathering for service. The actions of the inmates were anything but Christian-like, with their boxes of bottles, the contents of which appeared by their actions to be stronger than water. They went down in the evening, yelling and singing—a disgrace to any community. I might just say that if they come out this way acting as they did on Sunday again, they will be prosecuted. The time for such actions on the part of men has passed and gone. The public will not allow it; so I would say if they want to make fools of themselves, they had better do it elsewhere. Come along, boys, next Sunday and we will be on the lookout for you, and you will shell out the dimes. Don't you forget it! Mum will follow you wherever you go and report you.

From a lover of right.

NO MORE HEADACHES

Suffered From Constant Headaches—Cured by "Fruit-a-tives" When Doctors Failed.

"I was a sufferer from fearful headaches for over two years, sometimes they were so bad that I was unable to work for days at a time. I took all kinds of medicines, was treated by physicians, and yet the headaches persisted. I was rarely free from headache. A short time ago I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so with, I must confess, very little faith, but after I had taken them for three days my headaches were easier and in a week they left me. After I had taken a box of the tablets my headaches were quite cured. My appetite was always poor and my stomach bad, and now my appetite is splendid and my digestion is excellent. I had become thin and weak from the constant headaches, but now not only have I been cured of all these awful headaches, but my strength is growing up once more, and I feel like a new man. I have taken in all three boxes of "Fruit-a-tives." I am exceedingly grateful to "Fruit-a-tives" for curing me, and I give this unsolicited testimonial with great pleasure, as I hope thereby some other sufferer of headaches will be induced to try "Fruit-a-tives" and will be cured."

"Rats!" said Mullins disgustedly. "He's one of them Vermont desperadoes that never laid a bet till he was thirty. If Glenister loses he'll hate him for life."

"There are plenty of his sort here," the girl remarked. "His soul would fit in a flea track." She spied the Bronco Kid sauntering back toward her and joined him. He leaned against the wall, watching the gossamer thread of smoke twist upward from his cigarette, seemingly oblivious to the surroundings and showing no hint of the emotion he had displayed two hours before.

"This is a big killing, isn't it?" said the girl.

The gambler nodded, murmuring indifferently.

"Why aren't you dealing bank? Isn't this your shift?"

"I quit last night."

"Just in time to miss this affair. Lucky for you."

"Yes; I own the place now. Bought it yesterday."

"Good heavens! Then it's your money he's winning!"

She glanced at the long trail of devastated tables behind Glenister and his followers. At that instant the sound told that the miner had won again, and it dawned upon Cherry that the gambler beside her stood too quietly, that his hand and voice were too steady, his glance too cold to be natural. The next moment approved her instinct.

The musicians, grown tired of their endeavors to lure back the dancers, determined to join the excitement and ceased playing. The leader laid down his violin, the pianist trailed up the keyboard with a departing twitter and quit his stool. They all crossed the hall, headed for the crowd, some of them making ready to bet. As they approached the Bronco Kid, his lips thinned and slid apart slightly, while out of his heavy lidded eyes there flared unreasoning rage. Stepping forward, he seized the foremost man and spun him about violently.

"Where are you going?"

"Why, nobody wants to dance, so we thought we'd go out front for a bit."

"Get back, all of you!" It was his first chance to vent the passion within him. A glance at his maddened features was sufficient for the musicians, and they did not delay. By the time they had resumed their duties, however, the curtains of composure had closed upon the Kid, masking his emotion again, but from her brief glimpse Cherry Malotte knew that this man was not of ice, as some supposed. He turned to her and said, "Do you mean what you said upstairs?"

"I don't understand."

"You said you could kill Glenister."

"I could."

"Don't you love"—

"I hate him," she interrupted hoarsely. He gave her a mirthly smile and, spying the crap dealer leaving his bankrupt table, called him over and said:

"Toby, I want you to drive the hearse when Glenister begins to play faro. I'll deal. Understand?"

"Sure! Going to give him a little 'work,' eh?"

"I never dealt a crooked card in this camp," exclaimed the Kid, "but I'll 'lay' that man tonight or I'll kill him! I'll use a 'sand-tell,' see? And I want to explain my signals to you. If you miss the signs you'll queer us both and put the house on the blink."

He rapidly rehearsed his signals in a jargon which to a layman would have been unintelligible, illustrating them by certain almost imperceptible shiftings of the fingers or changes in the position of his hand so slight as to thwart discovery. Through it all the girl stood by and followed his every word and motion with eager attention.

The musicians needed no explanation of the terms they used. She knew them all; knew that the "hearse driver" was the man who kept the cases; knew all the code of the "inside life." To her it was all as an open page, and she memorized more quickly than did Toby the signs by which the Bronco Kid proposed to signal what card he had smuggled from the box or held back.

In faro it is customary for the case keeper to sit on the opposite side of the table from the dealer, with a device before him resembling an abacus, or Chinese adding machine. When a card is removed from the faro box by the dealer, the "hearse driver" moves a button opposite a corresponding card on his little machine, in order that the players at a glance may tell what spots have been played or are still in the box. His duties, though simple, are important, for should he make an error and should the position of his counters not tally with the cards in the box on the "last turn," all bets on the table are declared void. When honestly dealt, faro is the fairest of all gambling games, but it is intricate and may hide much knavery. When the game is crooked it is fatal, for out of the ingenuity of generations of card sharks there have been evolved a multitude of devices with which to fleece the unsuspecting. These are so carefully masked that none but the initiated may know them, while the freemasonry of the craft is strong and discovery unusual.

Instead of using a familiar arrangement like the "needle-tell," wherein an invisible needle pricks the dealer's thumb, thus signaling the presence of certain cards, the Bronco Kid had determined to use the "sand-tell." In other words, he would employ a "straight box," but a deck of cards, certain ones of which had been roughened or sandpapered slightly, so that, by pressing more heavily on the top or exposed card, the one beneath would stick to its neighbor above and thus enable him to deal two with one motion if the occasion demanded. This roughness would likewise enable him to detect the hidden presence of a marked card by the faintest scratching sound when he dealt. In this manipulation it would be necessary also to shave the edges of some of the pasteboards a trifle, so that when the deck was forced firmly against one side of the box there would be exposed a fraction of the small figure in the left hand corner of the concealed cards. Long practice in the art of juggling lends such proficiency as to baffle discovery and rob the game of its uncertainty as surely as the player is robbed of his money. It is, of course, vital that the confederate case keeper be able to interpret the dealer's signs perfectly in order to move the sliding ebony disks to correspond, else trouble will accrue at the completion of the hand when the cases come out wrong.

Having completed his instructions, the proprietor went forward, and Cherry wormed her way toward the roulette wheel. She wished to watch Glenister, but could not get near him because of the crowd. The men would not make room for her. Every eye was glued upon the table as though salvation lurked in its rows of red and black. They were packed behind it until the croupier had barely room to spin the ball, and although he forced them back, they pressed forward again inch by inch, drawn by the song of the ivory, drunk with its worship, maddened by the breath of Chance.

Cherry gathered that Glenister was still winning, for a glimpse of the wheel rack between the shoulders of those ahead showed that the checks were nearly out of it.

Plainly it was but a question of minutes, so she backed out and took her station beside the faro table where the Bronco Kid was dealing. His face wore its colorless mask of indifference; his long white hands moved slowly with the certainty that betokened absolute mastery of his art. He was waiting. The ex-crap dealer was keeping cases.

The group left the roulette table in a few moments and surrounded her. Glenister among the others. He was not the man she knew. In place of the dreary hopelessness with which he had left her, his face was flushed and reckless, his collar was open, showing the base of his great, corded neck, while the lust of the game had coarsened him till he was again the violent, untamed, primitive man of the frontier. His selfstraint and dignity were gone. He had tried the new ways, and they were not for him. He slipped back, and the past swallowed him.

After leaving Cherry he had sought some mental relief by idly risking the silver in his pocket. He had let the coins lie and double, then double again and again. He had been indifferent whether he won or lost, so assumed a reckless disregard for the laws of probability, thinking that he would shortly lose the money he had won and then go home. He did not want it. When his luck remained the same, he raised the stakes, but it did not change—he could not lose. Before he realized it, other men were betting with him, animated purely by greed and craze of the sport. First one, then another, joined till game after game was closed, and each moment the crowd had grown in size and enthusiasm so that its fever crept into him, imperceptibly at first, but ever increasing, till the mania mastered him.

He paid no attention to Cherry as he took his seat. He had eyes for nothing but the "layout." She clinched her hands and prayed for his ruin.

"What's your limit, Kid?" he inquired.

"One hundred and two," the Kid answered, which in the vernacular means that any sum up to $200 may be laid on one card save only on the last turn, when the amount is lessened by half.

Without more ado they commenced. The Kid handled his cards smoothly, surely, paying and taking bets with machine-like calm. The onlookers ceased talking and prepared to watch, for now came the crucial test of the evening. Faro is to other games as war is to jackstraws.

For a time Glenister won steadily till there came a moment when many stacks of chips lay on the dence. Cherry saw the Kid "flash" to the case keeper, and the next moment he had "pulled two." The deuce lost. It was his first substantial gain, and the players paid no attention. At the end of half an hour the winnings were slightly in favor of the "house." Then Glenister said: "This is too slow. I want action."

Thus it became possible to wager $400 on a card, and the Kid began really to play. Glenister now lost steadily, not in large amounts, but with tantalizing regularity. Cherry had never seen cards played like this. The gambler was a revelation to her. His work was wonderful. Ill luck seemed to fan the crowd's eagerness, while, to add to its impatience, the cases came wrong twice in succession, so that those who would have bet heavily upon the last turn had their money given back. Cherry saw the confusion of the "hearse driver" even quicker than did Bronco. Toby was growing rattled. The dealer's work was too fast for him, and yet he could offer no signal of distress for fear of annihilation at the hands of those crowded close to his shoulder. In the same way the owner of the game could make no objection to his helper's incompetence for fear that some bystander would volunteer to fill the man's part. There were many present capable of the trick. He could only glare balefully across the table at his unfortunate confederate.

They had not gone far on the next game before Cherry's quick eye detected a sign which the man misinterpreted. She addressed him quietly, "You'd better brush up your plumes."

In spite of his anger the Bronco Kid smiled. Humor in him was strangely withered and distorted, yet here was a thrust he would always remember and recount with glee in years to come. He feared there were other faro dealers present who might understand the hint, but there was none save Mexico Mullins, whose face was a study—mirth seemed to be strangling him. A moment later the girl spoke to the case keeper again.

"Let me take your place; your reins are unbuckled."

Toby glanced inquiringly at the Kid, who caught Cherry's reassuring look and nodded, so he arose and the girl slid into the vacant chair. This woman would make no errors, the dealer knew that; her keen wits were sharpened by hate—it showed in her face. If Glenister escaped destruction tonight it would be because human means could not accomplish his downfall.

In the mind of the new case keeper there was but one thought—Roy must be broken. Humiliation, disgrace, ruin, ridicule were to be his. If he should be downed, discredited and discouraged, then perhaps he would turn to her as he had in the bygone days. He was slipping away from her—this was her last chance. She began her duties easily, and her alertness stimulated Bronco till his senses, too, grew sharper, his observation more acute and lightning-like. Glenister swore beneath his breath that the cards were bewitched. He was like a drunken man, now as truly intoxicated as though the fumes of wine had befogged his brain. He swayed in his seat, the veins of his neck thickened and throbbed, his features were congested. After awhile he spoke.

The gambler shot a triumphant glance at the girl and acquiesced. "All right, the limit is the blue sky. Pile your checks to the roof pole." He began to shuffle.

Within the crowded circle the air was hot and fetid with the breath of men. The sweat trickled down Glenister's brown skin, dripping from his jaw unnoticed. He arose and ripped off his coat, while those standing behind shifted and scuffed their feet impatiently. Besides Roy, there were but three men playing. They were the ones who had won heaviest at first. Now that luck was against them they were loath to quit.

Cherry was annoyed by stertorous breathing at her shoulder, and glanced back to find the little man who had been so excited earlier in the evening. His mouth was agape, his eyes wide, the muscles about his lips twitching. He had lost back, long since, the hundreds he had won and more besides. She searched the figures wailing her about and saw no women. They had been crowded out long since. It seemed as though the table formed the bottom of a sloping pit of human faces—eager, tense, staring. It was well she was here, she thought, else this task might fail. She would help to blast Glenister, desolate him, humiliate him. Ah, but wouldn't she!

Roy bet $100 on the "popular" card. On the third turn he lost. He bet $200 next and lost. He set out a stack of $400 and lost for the third time. Fortune had turned her face. He ground his teeth and doubled until the stakes grew enormous, while the dealer dealt monotonously. The spots flashed and disappeared, taking with them wager after wager. Glenister became conscious of a raging, red fury which he had hard shift to master. It was not his money—what if he did lose? He would stay until he won. He would win. This luck would not, could not—and yet with diabolic persistence he continued to choose the losing cards. The other men fared better till he yielded to their judgment, when the dealer took their money also.

Strange to say, the fickle goddess had really shifted her banner at last, and the Bronco Kid was dealing straight faro now. He was too good a player to force a winning hand, and Glenister's ill fortune became as phenomenal as his winning had been. The girl who figured in this drama was keyed to the highest tension, her eyes now on her counters, now searching the profile of her victim. Glenister continued to lose and lose and lose, while the girl gloated over his swift coming ruin. When at long intervals he won a bet, she shrank and shivered for fear he might escape. If only he would risk it all—everything he had. He would have to come to her then!

The end was closer than she realized. The throng hung breathless upon each move of the players, while there was no sound but the noise of shifting chips and the distant jangle of the orchestra. The lookout sat far forward upon his perch, his hands upon his knees, his eyes frozen to the board, a dead cigar clinched between his teeth. Crowded upon his platform were miners tense and motionless as statues. When a man spoke or coughed, a score of eyes stared at him accusingly, then dropped to the table again.

Glenister took from his clothes a bundle of banknotes so thick that it required his two hands to compass it. Onlookers saw that the bills were mainly yellow. No one spoke while he counted them rapidly, glanced at the dealer, who nodded, then slid them forward till they rested on the king. He placed a "copper" on the pile. A great sigh of indrawn breaths swept through the crowd. The north had never known a bet like this—it meant a fortune. Here was a tale for one's grandchildren—that a man should win opulence in an evening, then lose it in one deal. This final bet represented more than many of them had ever seen at one time before. Its fate lay on a single card.

Cherry Malotte's fingers were like ice and shook till the buttons of her case keeper rattled, her heart raced till she could not breathe, while something rose up and choked her. If Glenister won this bet, he would quit. She felt it. If he lost, ah! what could the Kid there feel, the man who was playing for a paltry vengeance, compared to her whose hope of happiness, of love, of life hinged on this wager?

Evidently the Bronco Kid knew what card lay next below, for he offered her no sign, and as Glenister leaned back he slowly and firmly pushed the top card out of the box. Although this was the biggest turn of his life, he betrayed no tremor. His gesture displayed the nine of diamonds, and the crowd breathed heavily. The king had not won. Would it lose? Every gaze was welded to the tiny nickeled box. If the face card lay next beneath the nine spot, the heaviest wager in Alaska would have been lost; if it still remained hidden on the next turn, the money would be safe for a moment.

Slowly the white hand of the dealer moved back. His middle finger touched the nine of diamonds. It slid smoothly out of the box, and there in its place frowned the king of clubs. At last the silence was broken.

Men spoke; some laughed, but in their laughter was no mirth. It was more like the sound of choking. They stamped their feet to relieve the grip of strained muscles. The dealer reached forth and slid the stack of bills into the drawer at his waist without counting. The case keeper passed a shaking hand over her face, and when it came away she saw blood on her fingers where she had sunk her teeth into her lower lip. Glenister did not rise. He sat, heavy browed and sullen, his jaw thrust forward, his hair low upon his forehead, his eyes bloodshot and dead.

"I'll sit the hand out if you'll let me bet the 'finger,'" said he.

"Certainly," replied the dealer.

When a man requests this privilege, it means that he will call the amount of his wager without producing the visible stakes, and the dealer may accept or refuse according to his judgment of the bettor's responsibility. It is safe, for no man shirks a gambling debt in the north, and thousands may go with a nod of the head though never a cent be on the board.

There were still a few cards in the box, and the dealer turned them, paying the three men who played. Glenister took no part, but sat hulked over his end of the table, glowering from beneath his shock of hair.

Cherry was deathly tired. The strain of the last hour had been so intense that she could barely sit in her seat, yet she was determined to finish the hand. As Bronco paused before the last turn many of the bystanders made bets. They were the "case players" who risked money only on the final pair, thus avoiding the chance of two cards of like denomination coming together, in which event ("splits" it is called) the dealer takes half the money. The stakes were laid at last and the deal about to start when Glenister spoke. "Wait! What's this place worth, Bronco?"

"What do you mean?"

"You own this outfit?" He waved his hand about the room. "Well, what does it stand you?"

The gambler hesitated an instant, while the crowd pricked up its ears, and the girl turned wondering, troubled eyes upon the miner. What would he do now?

"Counting bank rolls, fixtures and all, about $120,000. Why?"

"I'll pick the ace to lose, my one-half interest in the Midas against your whole layout."

There was an absolute hush while the realisation of this offer smote the onlookers. It took time to realise it. This man was insane. There were three cards to choose from—one would win, one would lose, and one would have no action.

When Ben Sailed In.

By HARRIS INGALLS.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

"Come on out," pleaded Drakin. "There is only myself and the missus out there. I'll guarantee that you will not have to speak to any one else."

Ben Hubbard paused irresolutely, then he turned and suited his pace to the shorter steps of his friend. Drakin beamed.

"There's the sensible boy," he said approvingly. "I'll bet that you ask me to have your things sent out in the morning, so you can stay a week or two—the longer the better."

Hubbard shook his head and assured himself that a single night would probably be enough. It was only a year since Tom Drakin had married, and probably he would be bored by their absurd billing and cooing.

It was only for Tom's sake that he was coming out for the night, and only the fact that there would be no other woman there was his reason for going at all. Probably Mrs. Drakin would insist that he come again and would promise him an introduction to some friend of hers who would be just the one he should marry.

Hubbard was used to that.

Bessie Grandin's enthusiastic efforts to marry him to a cousin of hers had sent him scurrying off to South America. He had announced that he would write a book on the flora of the Argentine Republic, but his real reason for flight was the fear that Mrs. Grandin would make good her threat to marry him to Helen Wilson in spite of himself.

For years Hubbard had lived in fear of marriage. He was not exactly a woman hater, but an excess of timidity left him stammering and afraid in feminine presence, and he had come to have a mortal dread of matrimony—so great a dread that more than once he had fled from some enthusiastic matchmaker lest he be led, protesting, but helpless, to the altar.

But he was just back from the South American trip and hungry for the companionship of his fellows. In that frame of mind he had run across Drakin, who had once been the geologist of an expedition of which he himself had been botanist.

They had had lunch together, and Drakin had urged him to spend the night with him that their talk might be continued.

Drakin lived in a small suburban town, and Hubbard regarded approvingly the neat little cottage they approached, even though a woman in something fleecy and white stood on the porch to welcome them. Drakin had gone into the telephone booth at the station to announce their coming and had emerged from the booth very red and confused.

Hubbard hoped that his coming had not been the cause of the confusion. He knew that there were times when things in the kitchen went wrong and when visitors were not welcome. He had suggested as much to Tom, but the offer to return to town had been hooted at, and Tom had laughed immoderately to cover his confusion at the discovery of his embarrassment.

But there was no embarrassment in Mrs. Drakin's face as she made him welcome. There was only interest and cordial friendship, and Ben was surprised to find himself rather envying his chum.

Of course Tom had been exceptionally fortunate in finding such a woman, but as Ben tumbled into bed some hours later he told himself that were there two such women he should like to marry the other.

They had sat talking until late in the evening, and when Ben finally woke he discovered a note on his dresser, in which Tom explained that it was necessary for him to go to the city on business, but that he would return in the afternoon and bring with him the trunk Ben had sent to the hotel.

Ben wavered—and was lost. He slowly dressed and went downstairs to find Mrs. Drakin sitting in the dining room waiting for her guest to come downstairs.

"Tom left his apologies," she explained as she poured him his coffee. "He had to rise at such an unearthly hour to make the train that we decided to let you sleep. He will be out soon the 4:10, and in the meantime I am solemnly bound to hold you here at all hazards. Tom would never forgive me if you should be gone before he came back."

"You couldn't drive me away," declared Ben gayly. "I'll be well content to sit out on the porch and just think how lucky I was to run into Tom yesterday afternoon."

"I'll take my sewing out, and we can chat as I work," suggested Mrs. Drakin, and presently they were established on the cross pieces. To his surprise Ben found himself chatting with his hostess as freely as though she were a man and not one of the dread women.

Tom came out as he had promised, and Ben frowned as he caught sight of his friend perched on the seat of an express wagon in which was his trunk.

"Now you've got to stay," announced Tom. "We shall hold your trunk like they do in the hotels if you try to escape us."

"I think that you would be wise to ship me and the trunk back to town," said Ben seriously, but Drakin hooted down the suggestion, and when Mrs. Drakin added her entreaties to Tom's he gave in, and the trunk was taken up to his room.

That night when Ben put out the light he did not jump into bed, but long after the rest of the house was quiet he sat by the open window, looking across the moonlit fields and wondering what he should do.

Of one thing he was certain. He was in love, and in love with his friend's wife at that. What was more, it had seemed to him that as she had bidden him good night and had told him she was glad that he had decided to stay there was something more than mere friendship in the glance of the tender blue eyes.

Her hand had lingered for a moment in his, and she had paused by the door of her room to look after him. The memory of her smile was with him still, and when he at last flung himself upon the bed to fall into troubled slumber the problem was still unsolved.

But with the morning came calmer sense. As he came into the breakfast room there was no mistaking the soft flush that came to Mrs. Drakin's cheek nor the look that flashed into her eyes as she gave him the morning greeting.

Sick at heart, Ben followed his host out on to the piazza, while Mrs. Drakin remained behind to see to the disposition of the breakfast things and give her orders for dinner.

"Not on your life," was the emphatic response. "Do you suppose that I took all that trouble to lug your trunk out yesterday to have you lug it in today? You are going to stay right here for the next two weeks. By your own confession you have nothing else to do, and I don't promise to let you go."

"But I must!" cried Ben miserably. "I must, old man! I—I'm in love! I can't help it, but I've fallen in love with your wife. I must get away before greater harm is done."

"Lola seems pretty fond of you. It was only this morning that she was saying that she hoped to be able to induce you to stay here while you write your new book. I think it would be a great scheme. You can put in the day working on the book and then sit out on the piazza in the evening and gather inspiration for the next day's work."

Ben regarded his friend with horror. It must be that he had gone mad, for now his face was contorted with laughter, and he rocked in his chair. Ben had heard of great shocks turning men's minds, but he had not believed that Tom would take his declaration so much to heart.

His amazement seemed to increase Tom's merriment, and Ben half rose to his feet to go into the house. Tom sprang up and forced him back into his chair.

"It seems a funny sort of thing to laugh at," he said chokingly, "but, you see, Lola is not my wife. I knew that if I told you the truth and admitted that there was an unmarried woman in the house you never could be induced to come out. I posted Lola from the station when you were worrying for fear it was inconvenient. My wife is visiting her younger sister, who is very ill. That is my sister, Lola, who is keeping house for me until Nell gets back. So sail in, old man, and may luck be with you. Where are you going?" he added as Ben shook him off and made for the door.

"I'm going to sail in," explained Ben as he vanished into the house.

The Judge's Joke.

Henry Keyes of Vermont was a lifelong Democrat. Governor Mattacks, or Judge Mattacks, was for a brief period a Democrat also. After he got to be a judge he soon became a Whig. While holding court at St. Johnsbury he occupied a room at the leading hotel, which, as was usual during court time, was dull. Late at night Mr. Keyes arrived and wanted a bed. The landlord informed him that every bed in the house had two in it except the one that was occupied by Judge Mattacks.

"Go up and tell him that Henry Keyes wants to sleep with him."

The landlord went up, rapped at the judge's door and told him his errand.

"Henry Keyes," said the judge, half asleep—"Henry Keyes of Newbury? Democrat? Oh, yes; I've had it once. Let him in."

A Slave of Habit.

"Mr. Butcher," said the patron with the infant in her arms, "will you please weigh my baby?"

"Sure!" responded the busy butcher, depositing the little human bundle on his scales. "Just sixteen pounds and a quarter, Mrs. Riley."

"You're right, madam," said the butcher, reddening as he took another look. Then, turning to the bookkeeper behind the desk, he called out, "Annie, take off that quarter of a pound!"—Judge.

Chiltern Hundreds.

The Chiltern Hills are a range of chalk eminences separating the counties of Bedford and Hertford in England, and passing through the middle of Bucks to Henley, in Oxfordshire. They were formerly much infested by robbers, and to protect the inhabitants from these marauders an officer of the crown was appointed under the name of "The Steward of the Chiltern Hundreds."

How's Your Steam-gauge?

You can't get up a full head of steam for the human engine by putting poor "fuel" under the boiler. "FORCE" is the best energy-producing fuel.

"FORCE" is the whole wheat, made digestible by malting and baking.

"FORCE" is made of the best white wheat, steam-cooked, rolled into thin flakes, combined with the purest barley-malt and baked. Always "crisp" it before serving it by plunging into a pan and warming it in oven.

Your Grocer sells it. No other Flaked Food is "Just as Good."

DEAD MAN SAILS BACK.

The little fishing boat Fear Not went out to the Eddystone whiting grounds. In her were William Rowe, her owner, aged about 60, and his son, a lad of about 17.

Later in the afternoon the boat returned to Sutton harbor, in the Cattewater.

Rowe sat upright upon a thwart, with his arms folded, gazing out beyond the bows. His son leaned upon the tiller steering the boat. The wind was light, and she came along slowly.

The fishermen upon the pierhead hailed the two men to know what sort of a catch they had aboard, but received no answer. Neither of the figures stirred in the least.

This attracted some curiosity, and a boat went alongside the little smack. Then a startling discovery was made.

Rowe was dead, and his son appeared quite unconscious of his surroundings, like a man in a trance.

Later on he was able to explain the mystery to some extent. He said that his father hove up the anchor, and then dropped back into the sitting posture in which he was found, and never spoke or stirred again. Failure of the heart's action, brought about by heavy exertion in the excessive heat, was the cause of death.

When the son realized that his father had expired, he said he felt like one in a dream, and he can only remember blankly steering the boat for Plymouth.

LABOR IN ENGLAND.

Steady Increase In Membership Among British Unions.

From a report on British trade unions, recently issued by the chief registrar of the Friendly Societies, it is shown that this form of labor organization is steadily increasing in membership and strength. Returns were received for 1906 from 645 unions, with membership of 1,719,031, an increase of 151,512 over the report of the previous year. Their income for the same period was approximately $13,500,000, an increase of $760,000. Their expenditures aggregated $11,400,000 or $1,100,000 less than the year previous.

At the present time the funds of these unions total about $29,000,000, some of the leading ones being the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, whose funds are stated to be $3,600,000; the Amalgamated Cotton Spinners, with $2,400,000, and the Durham Miners' Union, with $1,850,000.

Taking the returns for the decennial periods since 1886, the growth of British trades unionism is found to be even more remarkable. In that year the membership was 340,393; in 1896, 1,106,507, and in 1907, 1,719,031, the corresponding income being $3,350,000, $8,940,000 and $13,500,000 respectively. The funds on hand at each period totaled $2,800,000, $11,200,000 and $29,000,000, as before stated.

Printing Without Light.

Of the many new processes which have been invented in connection with photography during the last few years none, perhaps, is so remarkable, or will have such far-reaching effects, as the Donistharpe process of printing without light. The simplicity of the process, together with its economy, makes it a great boon to every photographer, whether a beginner or an expert. Briefly, and without going into too many technical details, the process is as follows:

First, the negative to be printed is immersed in what is known as a "hardening bath" for five minutes. It is then rinsed for two minutes, and placed in a strong dye solution for another five minutes. After being taken out of the dye solution and rinsed, the negative is laid face upward on a piece of glass, while a piece of gelatinized paper, which has been soaked in water for two minutes, is laid face downward on the negative, the two being squeezed together. After a few minutes the paper can be gently pulled off, dipped for a moment in methylated spirits, and, after being blotted, the print will dry in five minutes and is finished. Immersion again for half a minute or so in the dye solution makes the negative ready to have another print taken from it in the same manner. In fact, any number of prints can be made from a negative after one hardening bath.

Good Proof.

At a colored revival two of the brethren started an argument as to the nationality of St. Peter. One brother claimed he was a colored man, while the other one said he was not. After arguing for quite awhile one brother, becoming greatly excited, said, "St. Peter was not a cullud man, an' Ah can prove it."

"All right," said the other. "Go ahead."

"Well, in de fust place, you recommember wah it say in de Bible dat aftah St. Peter denied the Lord de cock crowed for de third time?"

"Yes, I recommember dat," said the other.

"Well, dat's de solushion to de problem, for do you suppose for an instant dat if St. Peter had been a cullud man dat dat rooster would eber hab crowed mo'n one?"—Judge.

BUSINESS and PLEASURE

Exceptional Educational Opportunity —A Study of Cuba's Remarkable Resources at Short Range.

HERE'S AN ENTERPRISE POSSESSING INTELLIGENT AGRICULTURAL AND COMMERCIAL FEATURES AND AN INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY UNIQUE AND CONVINCING, THE EQUAL OF WHICH MAY NEVER AGAIN BE PRESENTED.

American money, machinery, ideas, and enterprise in Agriculture are transforming Cuba and the wonderful Tropical Soil of that Island under these conditions is producing marvelous results.

American Farmers and Fruit Growers in Cuba do not plow with a stick of wood. Those primitive tools are replaced with the most modern farming implements. More than 100 different Colonization Enterprises are in operation in Cuba, fulfilling every promise to Colonists.

The Cuban Commercial Company with its New Line of Fruit Steamships from Savanah to Cuba will meet the requirements of these Colonists for quick transportation both ways.

The Capital Stock of the Company, $3,000,000, par value $10, is being sold far below the par value and offers to the investor Greater Dividend Possibilities, backed by solid business of immense future possibilities than has ever been within reach of the investing public.

The Company has under option 5,000 acres of some of the best Land in Cuba and any stock purchased at the low figure above referred to will be accepted at its par value in exchange for land at the prevailing cash selling price.

FREE ROUND TRIP TO CUBA

during the Winter Months, with Meals and Berth included, Purchasers of Stock being given preference in order of purchase—"First Come, First Served."

Complete information is contained in our printed matter which will be mailed free upon request.

We want representatives everywhere. Permanent positions and good pay. Remember the price of stock is advancing $1 per share every month. The time to buy stocks is when they are low.

Write to-day and take advantage of this limited and most unusual opportunity. You will never have another chance like this.

AMNESTY FOR TURKS

Sultan Says Refugees in U.S. and Canada May Come Home.

AFFECTS 2,000 IN CANADA

Outcasts From Turkey Look Forward Joyfully to Returning to Their Own Country to Partake of Big Industrial Revival — Fear State of Affairs May Not Last—Unrest In Constantinople.

New York, July 31.—The Sultan of Turkey, through the Turkish consul-general in New York, has proclaimed a general amnesty to all political fugitives, regardless of race, in America. This relates to 200,000 Armenians, Assyrians and others in the United States and Canada.

The reading of the announcement in New York to a number of his countrymen by the consul-general, Munji Bey, was greeted with cheers He said:

"I regard this as the most important step forward that has yet been taken relating to Trkish subjects in the United States. There are 400,000 Turkish citizens in this country and more than 200,000 of these are political fugitives."

Mr. Sabe and his friends could hardly credit the news that they were absolutely pardoned, and expressed the fear that the experience of 20 years ago might be repeated when Parliament was formed for a short time and then dissolved, massacre after massacre having followed. Should official assurance come, however, he felt that thousands of his race on this continent would return home, many to become very rich. There were so many things the country needed, and American or Canadian Assyrians could generally lay the foundation for a great commercial and Christian nation. He estimated that there were 40,000 Assyrians in Canada.

The situation still lacks clearness, and it is impossible to forecast the next development. The young Turks are masters of Constantinople and the European provinces, and except in the capital the feeling is anything but favorable to the Sultan.

Toronto, July 31.—Mr. Courian of Courian and Babyan, who run an oriental store at 40 East King street, said there were about 2,000 Armenian refugees in Canada, amongst whom the news would be received joyfully.

To Help Unveil Tablet.

Halifax, July 31.—Hon. J. D. Hazen, Premier of New Brunswick; Hon. Mr. Lemieux, Governor Mackinnon, of Prince Edward Island, Congressman McLeod of Massachusetts, and Chief Justice Townhend are among those who have signified their intention of being present at the exercises in connection with the unveiling of the tablet in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the establishment of Parliamentary institutions in Nova Scotia, which will take place in the week beginning Aug. 17.

Hanged Himself In Bush.

Gorrie, Ont., July 31.—The very badly decomposed body of Alexander Robinson, aged 55, who wandered away from his boarding-house here, about July 22, was found yesterday morning suspended from a tree in the bush, a mile from the town, having used a fence wire to commit the deed.

Young Doctor Hurt.

Cobourg, July 31.—Dr. Adam Miller, son of ex-Warden Miller of Castleton, Northumberland County, and a 1908 graduate in medicine of Toronto University, was thrown out of a buggy and was picked up unconscious yesterday. His condition is still very critical.

Not Sir Thomas' Boy.

Montreal, July 31.—The Bert Shaughnessy who attempted suicide at Seattle Wednesday and claimed to be a son of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C. P. R., is an imposter. Sir Thomas has no son named Bert and both his boys are at home in Montreal.

Big Freighter Aground.

Port Arthur, Ont., July 31.—The new steel freighter Daniel B. Meachem, bound on her maiden trip from Ashtabula to Port Arthur with 9,000 tons of coal, ran on the rocks at Passage Island Wednesday night in a heavy fog.

SUMMER COMPLAINT.

Everyone Should be Prepared for it with a Bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Very few people escape an attack of Summer Complaint. It may be slight, or it may be severe, but nearly everyone is liable to it.

You cannot tell, when it seizes on you, how it may end.

Let it go for a day or two only, and see how weak and prostrated it will leave you.

There is only one safe way to cure it and that is by DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY. It has been on the market for sixty-three years and has been proved and tried so you are not experimenting when you buy it.

Do not accept a substitute or imitation, as many of these are positively dangerous to life and health. Insist on having DR. FOWLER'S.

Mrs. Norman H. Eisau, Ship Harbor, N.S., writes: "Last summer my baby was very bad with Summer Complaint. I tried most everything for him, but nothing seemed to help. One day a neighbor called in and told me to try DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY, so I got a bottle and after a few doses my baby was cured. I shall always keep it in the house."

STORY WAS UNTRUE.

La Patrie Is Sued by Ex-Speaker Roy For Libel.

Montreal, July 31.—La Patrie a few days ago made the announcement that Hon. P. H. Roy, president of the defunct Banque St. Jean, and Speaker of the last Quebec House of Assembly, and now under indictment in Montreal in connection with the bank's failure, had gone to Quebec during the tercentenary fetes for the purpose of occupying the Speaker's apartments and taking up the work of looking after the internal economy of the House. It was stated his actions had proved highly embarrassing to Sir Lomer Gouin and the Government. Enquiry failed to show that there was any truth in the statement, and yesterday it is announced that Mr. Roy is taking an action for $20,000 damages against La Patrie.

A COSTLY LYNCHING.

Mob Has Fierce Fight to Capture Woman's Negro Assailant.

Pensacola, Fla., July 31.—Two men killed and nine wounded, several fatally, is the record of the clash Wednesday midnight between a mob bent upon lynching Leandor Shaw, a negro, and the sheriff and his forces, in which the mob finally overpowered the authorities.

The lynching was carried out in the most prominent park of this city.

Rev. G. B. Brown Drowned.

Beamsville, July 31.—Rev. G. B. Brown, pastor of the Baptist Church here, was drowned at Jordan Harbor yesterday afternoon while attending the Sunday school picnic of the Baptist Church.

Bert McEnteer was swimming just ahead of Mr. Brown, when the latter called for assistance, saying he was tired. McEnteer turned and went back. Mr. Brown put his hand on his shoulder and was being assisted to shore when he suddenly sank, drawing McEnteer with him. Freeing himself McEnteer arose to the surface, but was unable to render assistance.

Asks His Victim's Help.

Brockville, July 31.—It is reported here that J. E. Anderson, late P. S. inspector for Brockville, but now of Kingston panitentiary, wrote recently to Mrs. Anderson the second, asking her to circulate a petition to have his sentence shortened. The letter was sent to the lady's father. No action is likely to be taken.

Anderson was sentenced recently at Renfrew on a charge of bigamy, to which he pleaded guilty, to serve seven years in the Kingston penitentiary.

Mrs. Guinness Poisoned.

Laporte, Ind., July 31.—Coroner Mack announced yesterday that Dr. Walter Haines of Rush Medical College, who analyzed the stomach of Andrew Helgeleit of Aberdeen, S.D., last victim of Mrs. Belle Guinness, finding strychnine and arsenic in fatal doses, has also found in the stomach of Mrs. Guinness and two of the children arsenic and strychnine in quantities sufficient to have caused death.

Not Selling Vote.

Washington, July 31.—"The report that I have ever said I would or could deliver the labor vote to any political party is an infamous lie," said Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, yesterday.

"I want no political office or honor. I have nothing for sale and don't propose to begin at this late day by selling my honor."

To Rescind $25 Clause.

Montreal, July 31.—There is a rumor here to the effect that the Government will rescind the $25 entry clause in the immigration rules and that Immigration Agent Scott will at once get three thousand men into the country to work on the Grand Trunk Pacific.

A high official last evening would neither confirm or deny the story.

Train Runs Into Gang.

Fort William, July 31.—Three men are dead, and a fourth will probably die as a result of a whole gang of men working on the Canadian Pacific double-track work stepping from the westbound track to avoid a passing work train and stepping directly in front of an eastbound passenger train yesterday morning at Buda.

Fire on Soldiers.

Vigneux, France, July 31.—Vigneux was invaded yesterday morning by several thousand strikers from Paris, carrying red flags and singing socialistic songs.

While a squadron of cavalry was passing through the streets the crowds stoned the soldiers, and four shots were fired at them.

Dies In Church.

St. John, N. B., July 31.—Mrs. Margaret Mills, while giving her testimony at a meeting in Middle Simonds Church, suddenly collapsed and was carried out. She died in a few minutes.

Against Embargo.

London, July 31.—(C. A. P.)—The board of the agricultural society support the Board of Agriculture on the question of importation of live cattle from Canada.

Ate Fly Pads.

Toronto, July 31.—Samuel Brown, 35 years, a washer in the T. Eaton stables, attempted suicide at his lodgings, 137 Spadina avenue, last night by eating two poisonous fly pads, which were in his room.

Sending Warship.

The Hague, July 31.—Orders have been issued that the battleship Jacob Van Heemskerk be made ready to sail for the Caribbean Sea, and it is expected that she will start without delay.

Drowned at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 31.—J. L. Kehoe, aged 18, son of J. J. Kehoe, recently appointed judge at Sudbury, was drowned yesterday morning at Rockliffe.

Deporting Insane Prisoner.

Kingston, July 31.—At noon yesterday Inspector W. P. Archibald started for Montreal with an insane convict named Smith, transferred to the penitentiary here from Dorchester, N. B. The convict became so unruly that he had to be returned to the prison. He struck a little girl upon the head and injured her severely. Smith was to be deported to the United States.

Train Mangles Three.

Utica, N. Y., July 31.—A freight engineer on the Lackawanna railroad in the early dawn of yesterday morning saw three men lying on the track about 300 feet ahead of his locomotive. The heavy freight could not be stopped until the entire train had passed over the sleepers. They were farm hands and had been spending the night in Cassville.

Prince August a Doctor.

Strasbourg, July 31.—The University of Strasbourg announced yesterday that Prince August, the fourth son of Emperor William, had passed his examination for the degree of doctor in the science of Government with the endorsement "very good" on his papers, and that the title of doctor had been conferred on him.

Mother Avenges Girl.

Ottawa, July 31.—Alfred Geouridge when discharged at the Police Court yesterday, charged with seducing Belle Ritchie, was attacked by the girl's mother on leaving the station. His collar and clothing were torn, when several policeman pulled away the angry woman. She threatened to punish him yet.

Adamites Still Tramping.

Bairnie, Man., July 31.—Colonization Agent Speers has reached here from the west and says the Adamites are still being followed by the mounted police, who have so far been unable to effect their capture. Four members of the party have deserted, and only three men and five women are left.

Dies on Road.

Glace Bay, July 31.—J. J. Pembroke, a well-known butcher of Lingan, was found dead yesterday morning on the road leading from Dominion to Lingan. He was sitting by the wagon. The horse remained with him all night. Heart failure was likely the cause of death.

Sir William Safe.

St. John's, Nfld., July 31.—Sir William MacGregor, Governor of Newfoundland, concerning whose safety much axiety had been felt since the news was received of the terrific storm which swept the coast of Labrador on Tuesday, is safe.

Slight Discrepancy.

Winnipeg, July 31.—It is claimed by the city engineer that there has been a mistake involving nearly half a million dollars in the bookkeeping accounts of the high pressure plant, and that it has not actually cost much over half what is charged to it.

Incendiary Fire.

Cranbrook, B.C., July 31.—At a fire inquest yesterday Government Agent Armstrong proved the fire in Wardner the other day, destroying two blocks, to be of incendiary origin.

Ottawa's Population.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

1—At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

2—If the father, (or mother, if the father is deceased,) of the homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

3—If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Six months' notice in writing should be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Supplying Coal for the Dominion Buildings," will be received at this office until 4.30 P. M. on Monday, August 24, 1908 for the supply of Coal for the Public Buildings throughout the Dominion.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the order of the Honourable Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order,

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situated.

Homestead Duties—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

1—At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

2— If the father, (or mother, if the father is deceased,) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such persons as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

3—If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent, or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, marked on the envelope, "Tender for Construction," will be received at the office of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway, at Ottawa, until twelve o'clock noon of Thursday, the 20th day of August, 1908, for the work required for the construction, in accordance with the plans, profiles and specifications of the Commissioners, of the following sections of the Transcontinental Railway, viz:—

(1) District 'C'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners near Weymontachene, in the of the north abutment of the Quebec Province of Quebec, 106.8 miles west bridge (each point being on the boundary between Districts 'C' and 'D') westerly for a distance of about 102 miles. Date of completion, 31st December, 1910.

(2) District 'C'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, about 107 miles west of Weymontachene, in the Province of Quebec westerly to the end of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company's contract, a distance of about 114.97 miles. Date of completion, 31st December, 1910.

(3) Districts 'D' and 'E'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, being at the western end of Fauquier Bros'.-Abitibi contract, in the Province of Ontario, in a westerly direction for a distance of about 104.24 miles. Date of completion, 31st December, 1910.

(4) District 'F'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, about sixty miles west of the easterly boundary of District 'E', in the Province of Ontario, easterly to the end of Fauquier Bros.' contract, north of Lake Nepigon, a distance of about 160 miles. Date of completion, 31st December, 1910.

(5) Districts 'E' and 'F'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, at the western end of Fauquier Bros.' contract north of Lake Nepigon, in the Province of Ontario, westerly to a point at or near Dog Lake, a distance of about 125 miles. Date of completion, 1st September, 1910.

(6) District 'F'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners at or near Dog Lake, in the Province of Ontario, to a point at or about mile 2.5 west of what is known as Peninsula Crossing, by alternative routes as shown on the plans, a distance of about 23.76 miles by the northerly route, and 24.13 miles by the southerly route, the selection of the route to be at the option of the Commissioners. Date of completion, 1st September, 1909.

Plans, profiles and specifications may be seen at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Commissioners at Ottawa; also in the offices of the following District Engineers, viz:—John Ayles, Acting District Engineer, North Bay, Ont.; T. S. Armstrong, Nepigon, Ont.; and S. R. Poulin, St. Boniface, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made in duplicate, and on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners.

Tenderers shall not be in any way entitled to rely upon the classification, or any other information given by any person on behalf of the Commissioners and before submitting any tender, bidders should make a careful examination of the plans, profiles, drawings and specifications, and read the forms to be executed, and fully inform themselves as to the quantity and quality of materials, and character of workmanship required; and are understood to accept and agree to be bound by, the terms and conditions in the form of contract, specifications, etc., annexed to this form of tender.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion of Canada, payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway as follows:—

" " 2,	" C'	... 150,000
" " 3,	" D' & E'	150,000
" " 4,	" E'	... 150,000
" " 5,	" E' & F'	200,000
" " 6,	" F'	... 100,000

Any person whose tender is accepted shall within ten days after the acceptance thereof furnish such additional approved security as may be required by the Commissioners; sign the contract, specifications, and other documents required to be signed by the said Commissioners; and, in any case of refusal or failure on the part of the party whose tender is accepted to complete and execute a contract with the said Commissioners, and to furnish the additional approved security within ten days after the acceptance of the tender, the said cheque shall be forfeited to the Commissioners as liquidated damages for such refusal or failure and all contract rights acquired by the acceptance of the tender shall be forfeited. The cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as part of the security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

'All mechanics, labourers, or other persons who perform labour for the purposes of the construction of the works hereby contracted for, shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the district in which the work is being performed, if there is no current rate in such district, then a fair and reasonable rate, it shall be determined by the Commissioners, whose decision shall be final.'

'This agreement is subject to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labour, and which are, or shall be, applicable to such work.' (The schedule of minimum wages determined upon by said Department will form part of the contract).

'The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said work, as far as practicable, use only material machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, provided the same can be obtained as cheaply, and upon such good terms, in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price.'

The contractor shall conform to the fire regulations adopted by the Commissioners, and also to the laws and regulations respecting fires in the different provinces wherein the work is being performed.

By order,
P. E. RYAN,
Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

THE SHEATH SKIRT NOT MORE IMMODEST THAN TIGHT TROUSERS

It the Georgia legislator who framed the much discussed Glenn bill, were to come to Detroit, he would certainly not be given very flattering ovations by the women, for if the verdict of a few representative ones is an indication of the sentiments of the many, Mr. Glenn would be made to feel that in spite of its reputation, Detroit is not a place where life is worth living. In discussing the measure some of the women are very emphatic. In order to give the reader the tone of the sentiment expressed the following quotations are printed:

"If men were as clean-minded as they ought to be, we would hear less of this silly and nauseating twaddle about the immodesty of women's dress."—Dr. Sarah Gertrude Banks, physician.

"The Glenn bill which aims to put a legal ban on short sleeves and clinging gowns is nothing but a huge joke. It's a product of one of the many legislators in this country who want to cavort in the limelight and is determined to emerge from obscurity at any cost."—Mrs. F. C. Osborn, leading member of the Twentieth Century Club.

"Let the men concern themselves about their own raiment. If they did they would not adopt trousers so abominably tight or so loosely negligee that both verge on immodesty. The empire and the directoire gowns are things of beauty and short sleeves are sanitary, comfortable and pretty."—Alice Viola Guysi, artist and art critic.

Sheath Skirt Condemned

"All success to Mr. Glenn, of Georgia, who is trying to bring about a reform in women's dress. We don't want peek-a-boo waists, we don't want uncovered ankles, nor elbow sleeves on fat matrons, who ought to have better taste. Above all we don't want the acme of immodesty, and vulgarity, the sheath skirt.—Mrs. Annie L. Andrus, President of the Detroit W.C.T.U.

Artists, literary women, physicians and leaders in all fields of feminine endeavour in Detroit have it in for the author of the Glenn bill, who has gotten his name from one end of the country to the other because he framed up a bill which has for its aim the destruction of every form of flighty raiment.

But one in all the city was found to lend her moral support to the framer of that odious bill. It was Mrs. Andrus, of the W.C.T.U. "The sheath gown is a positive abomination," she said, "and I'm sorry that our branch did not take up the matter. What could be done to prevent the merchants from displaying so vulgar a thing in their windows? Imagine a dozen of men gaping and laughing and nudging each other at a gown which was exhibited for the adornment of women. It's enough to make the most brazen of the sex blush for shame. Elbow sleeves are very well on a young girl, but when it comes to a matron the line ought to be drawn."

But the famous Mr. Glenn gets scant sympathy or approval from any other Detroit woman.

"Mr. Glenn is anxious to frisk in the spot light, just like some of our own legislators sometimes do," said Mrs. F. C. Osborn, president of the department of philanthropy and reform of the Twentieth Century club. "As to the right of any men saying what women shall or shall not wear, it seems to me that one part of the community can only coerce the other when the good of the whole is at stake. Now woman's dress, it does not appear to me, is any menace to men's morals. Certainly the sheath skirt, which displays a part of woman's anatomy is not, because women won't adopt it."

Men Sometimes Immodest

"If there's harm in a woman's attire it's due entirely to the mental attitude of the rabble which puts an evil construction upon an innocent fact. If women wanted to bother about men's immodesty they might have cause to raise a sensation too—but they are otherwise occupied," said Miss Alice Viola Guysi: "Look at the varying fashions of trousers, for instance, which jump from extremeness of tightness to negligee looseness. Both might be decried on the ground of not being exactly modest, but you never hear women bothering about it."

"If woman's dress is immodest the man is to blame," said Dr. Sarah Gertrude Banks, long a physician in Detroit. "Am I not right when I contend that it is Worth, or one of his sex, who plans the fashion of dress? If women were allowed to do things as they please there would be little cause for shocking. I laugh to think at man as woman's moral censor. Yet, we never hear spasms when we see a lot of Highlanders in bare legs and kilts. Why? Because our mental outlook is clean. That is what causes all the world's trouble, the mental attitude of those who would behold what is really pure."—Detroit Free Press.

WATCH YOUR TONGUE

If Furred and Coated, It's a Looking Glass Stomach Warning.

When it is the morning after the night before, you do not have to look at your tongue to know that the stomach is upset, the head is aching, no appetite nerves on edge with all the sunshine of life clouded.

The real time to watch the tongue is all of the time. If it is coated with a white fur, or possibly with dark trimmings, even though the stomach does not tell you by the acute pains of indigestion that it needs help, yet the coating shows that you are getting into a bad way and that there is need of Mi-o-na.

Mi-o-na is so positive, so sure so reliable in its curative action upon the stomach that Wm. Madill, the local agent, gives a guarantee of satisfaction with every 50 cent box or money back.

PAYS $400 FOR PARROT; BABY STARVES AFTER

Alton, Ill., July 31.—The 7-months'-old child of Mrs. Mary Gennar, who paid $400 for a parrot two months ago and ran through $1,500 that she received as insurance when her husband was killed six months ago, died, to-day of starvation. Mrs. Gennar admitted before the coroner's jury that she did not have the money to buy milk for the child, and as she had not eaten for three days, she did not have the strength to nurse it.

Mrs. Gennar's husband died last February. With the $1,500 she received from the insurance company she purchased a house for $800 and silk clothes and a grand piano with the remainder. A parrot owned by her tenant attracted her attention, and she offered to sell the house for $400 and the parrot. The offer was accepted. A few days ago the parrot died of starvation.

Two weeks ago Mrs. Gennar applied to Mrs. Sophie Demuth, the Alton police matron, for aid. She still wore the silk dresses, but she claimed she had had nothing to eat for three days. She was provided with food for herself and milk for the baby.

UNNA DEFINES A CAUSE

European Skin Specialist Says Dandruff is Caused by Parasites

Upon that theory, proved beyond a doubt, a cure for dandruff was sought after. Scientists, chemists, druggists and physicians all "took a hand," and the successful issue is the present product known as "Newbro's Herpicide."

This remedy actually kills the parasites that infest the hair bulb, does its work most effectively, and contains not an atom of substance injurious to anything else than the germ alone. Herpicide causes the hair to grow as nature intended it should—soft and abundant.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1. McDermid & Jary and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

JUST FOR FUN

When your wife resumes her maiden name,
Laugh;
When the stock you've bought is sagging,
Laugh;
When you've lost your new umbrella,
Or somebody starts to tell a
Story you have heard a hundred times before,
Do not fail to cling to gladness,
Give the ha-ha to your sadness,
Throw your head back and emit a cheerful roar—
Laugh, brother, laugh!

When the hackman tries to beat you,
Laugh;
When the short-change artists cheat you,
Laugh;
If a thief should pick your pockets,
Or your feet should like two rockets,
Leave the earth and cause, your head to dent the ground;
Do not show the least resentment
Or give up to discontentment,
But look cheerful and emit a merry sound—
Laugh, brother, laugh!

Her Blunder.

(From the Cleveland Leader.)
Him—And I'm the only man you ever loved?
Her—Yes, dearest.
Him—May I speak to you father?
Her—I suppose you'd better.
Him—I wonder how he'll take it.
Her—Oh, I never can tell about dad. He treats some of the boys very nicely, and at others he gets fearfully angry and — why, what's the matter, George?

A Parallel.

I've never known it yet to fail,
Whene'er I take my rod and hook
And shirk my job and steal away
Until I find some river nook,
Where rumour hath it, fishes are—
And fish from early morn to night,
With not a thing to eat and drink,
And never get a single bite—
It never fails that someone's there,
Some smiling chump, who's sure to say:
"I guess there's nothin' doin' here—
You ought t' been here yesterday!"

It's so with Life! Whenever I
Pursue the gold that's hidden where
The sages say the rainbow ends,
I always miss it by a hair!
When Luck and I play hide-an'-seek,
As frequently we have, I note
It lets me ALMOST catch it, then
It vanishes, and I'm the goat!
And times like that I always think
Of what the Bromide Waltons say—
Aye, Life and fishing ARE alike!—
You ought t' been here yesterday!"

Difficult Things.

COLLAR BONE BROKEN

Proprietor of Queen's Hotel, Port Hope, Attempts to Capture Broncho Colt--Lively Chase For Nothing.

IS AWAITING THE OWNER

Port Hope, Aug. 1—Special—As a result of trying to subdue a broncho, Mr. L. G. Bennett, proprietor of the Queen's Hotel, is nursing a broken collarbone.

The unwilling beast came under Mr. Bennett's protection through a commercial traveller. Mr. Bennett agreed to care for the animal until it was convenient for the commercial man to look after it. The animal was pastured in a field near the rifle butts, and on Monday Mr. Bennett and his horse trainer visited the pasture and endeavoured to capture the animal.

The trainer mounted him, but was soon sent sprawling over the ground.

Mr. Bennett said he would ride the animal, but the latter apparently had opinions of his own and Mr. Bennett suffered a similar fate.

Having failed in the attempt to capture the beast on foot, Mr. Bennett drove into the pasture in his runabout and followed the broncho about the field in an endeavour to tire it out.

He was driving at a pretty good speed over the rough ground, when he suddenly fell out of the runabout with the above result. The broncho seemed delighted over the result and gave its pursuer the bee-haw.

The following day the trainer visited the pasture and tried to lasso the broncho, but without avail.

Mr. Bennett is anxiously awaiting the arrival of the owner.

HIS TWENTY-FIRST ROUND TRIP ACROSS THE ATLANTIC OCEAN

Mr. J. J. Turner, sr., leaves on Monday next on his 21st round trip to the old world. He sails by the big and fast steamship "Lusitania" from New York, and is going abroad for pleasure and his health.

LARGE DRIVE OF LOGS THROUGH CODOCONK ON WAY TO LINDSAY

Coboconk, Aug. 1. — Special. — A large drive of logs, some 60,000 pieces belonging to J Carew, of Lindsay, passed through on Wednesday and Thursday. The running of the boom timber, cribs and boats over the slide, and some of the daring feats of the river drivers afforded great amusement for some of the tourists. The logs in the river caused a little irregularity in the boat service for a few days.

BAPTIE BROS. GET THE CONTRACT OF THE CURLING RINK

The contract of the new Curling Rink was reported let today to Baptie Bros. The amount of money involved was not given out. It is understood that the construction will be rushed through in order that the building may be completed by winter. The tender of Baptie Bros. was the lowest.

COMPLAINANT DID NOT APPEAR—HAS TO PAY THE COSTS

Herbert People's name was called six times at the police court this morning but he failed to appear. He was the complainant in a case against King in which he charged the latter with assaulting him on July 29th. Young King explained the affair and from his statements Peoples was apparently the aggressor.

Magistrate Dumble decided that the informant had to pay the costs which amounted to $3.40 and in default of payment 10 days in gaol. The court's dignity must be maintained and a complainant cannot lay a charge and then pay no further attention to it.

ONE OF THE FEW BEAVER DAMS TO BE FOUND IN PROVINCE OF ONTARIO OUTSIDE OF ALGONQUIN PARK

A Beaver Colony Located Across Powder Horn Creek In The County Of Haliburton

AN INTERESTING STUDY

While each successive wave of advancing civilization, beating on the frontier of the northern wilderness, drives the wild creatures farther into its depths, one of the most timid of our wood creatures is advancing into the heart of the settled country, to claim his own again. So silent and unobtrusive is the beaver in his return to the Ontario streams, that in many cases he has founded settlements of considerable size before his presence in a district has been noted or suspected.

One of the fo be ver colonies known in these parts is that on the Powder Horn Creek in Shelburne Township, Haliburton County, which was discovered when the dam was in the course of construction, by representatives of the Trent Canal staff in 1904. In the following year Mr. David Easson was in the same district and saw the dam completed. The accompanying cut is from a picture taken by Mr. Easson. Powder Horn Creek drains Powder Horn Lake and flows into Crab Lake. The sagacious animals chose as the base of operations for the cutting of the poplar a bank sloping down towards the creek, across which they constructed their dam—100 feet in length. Along this slope the beaten path of the beaver appear every thirty feet or more down which the pieces of timber for dam construction were drawn.

The homes of the beaver may often be located by the presence of poplar branches anchored there by sticking the sharp gnawed ends into the mud at the bottom of the stream.

The cuttings of the beaver are easily recognized by the marks of their broad chisel teeth. So keen is this weapon that many of the northern Indians use it as a convenient edge-tool. Branches thicker than a man's wrist are nipped by a single bite of their powerful jaws. In gnawing a tree of any size, the work is done round and round, so that the stump resembles a sharpened pencil, except that the point is not in the centre, but toward the side opposite which the tree is made to fall. In Ontario the only tree for which the beaver displays any relish is the white poplar; though he uses other varieties, especially willows, when constructing his dam.

How Dam is Built

When building on a creek the beavers prefer a deep wooded glen, at a point where i tis not too wide, though

THE DISEASE FATAL

HOGS AND A DOG DIE

The Provincial Veterinary made a visit to Pontypool last week, and after investigation pronounced the disease which has proved so fatal among cattle to have arisen from the carcase of a diseased dead animal which lay exposed during the hot weather on the commons where other cattle pastured. Mr. E. Harper is the heaviest loser, seven of his cattle having died. Geo. White lost two and several other farmers had losses. Some hogs and a dog that had eaten of the carcase of some of the dead animals died a few hours after. Other cattle in the neighbourhood are now being vaccinated.

PUT GASOLINE AND MATCHES IN WOMAN'S MOUTH TO IGNITE

Hot Springs, Ark., July 31.—Mrs. N. Pettit was attacked yesterday by a man who, after beating her almost insensible, thrust a rag saturated with gasoline into her mouth, bound her to her bed with wire, and then tied a number of matches in her mouth so that they would ignite if she moved her head.

Two hours after Mrs. Pettit had been bound and gagged, her husband returned from work and released her. On being released she fell into a faint. She may not recover.

FIRST CLASS HONOURS IN PRIMARY PIANO FOR MISS JEAN ANDERSON

Miss Jean Anderson, East City, daughter of Mr. J C Anderson, a pupil of Mrs. Thackeray, nee Miss Pollock, of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, has passed the examinations of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, in primary piano, with first-class honours. Miss Anderson's name was inadvertently omitted from the published list a circumstance, however, which does not detract from the splendid record she has made. Hearty congratulations are due to herself, her teacher at the Conservatory and to the Conservatory itself.

EAST CITY FURNITURE FACTORY BECOMES LOCATION FOR CITY'S LATEST INDUSTRY

Lubricator Company's Manufacturing Establishment.

INVITED BY THE MAYOR TO REMAIN OFF IN THE CITY FOR A SHORT TIME

LORD ROBERTS,
Who will pass through the city on Monday.

Thoroughly Suitable For Purposes of Company--Stock Taken by Prominent Citizens--To Apply for Bonus

NO PREFERENCE STOCK

Mr. Thomas W. Oke of East City, who has been operating a furniture factory on the north side of Hunter street, immediately west of Lipsett's Hotel, under the name of the Peterborough Furniture Company, having found that the premises are too small for his rapidly extending business, determined a short time ago to erect a new factory to the west of the present one with more than double its capacity. This presented an opportunity to the Lubricator Manufacturing Company to immediately obtain suitable premises for the manufacture of the "Philadelphia" Grease Cup. The factory has, therefore, been sold by Mr. Oke to the company, together with the line shafting and electric motor, at a price satisfactory to both parties. The lot upon which this factory is built is 42 by 198 feet. The factory is itself thoroughly suited for the purpose of the new company, has been very strongly and carefully constructed with a view to being utilized for heavy machinery, and has a solid and most substantial foundation. There will, therefore, be no difficulty in installing the necessary plant for completing the Grease Cups, and the factory is expected to be in operation within the next few weeks, as soon as the machines can be brought from Philadelphia, the parent company having had special machines designed for the economical manufacture of their product. It is satisfactory to learn that the stock of the company is being taken up by some of the most prominent citizens of Peterborough, and it is confidently anticipated that within a short time all necessary capital will be subscribed. It has been decided that the company will not go into actual operation until a certain amount is provided for working capital, so that the shoals upon which some of our companies have been wrecked will be avoided. On this page will be seen a cut of the factory.

To Apply for Bonus

An application is about to be made to the City Council for a small bonus and fixed assessment, which will probably be granted on the usual terms.

It may be added that there is no preference stock in the company, all shareholders thus being on exactly the same footing. The temporary offices of the company are at 387 Water street, where the books can be inspected, and any information given which may be desired.

Intending investors should not lose this opportunity of a safe security, as well as aiding a new industry.

It should be important to intending investors to know that the company have already received orders enough to keep the plant busy for the next five months. This is phenomenal in itself, when it is known that all these orders have come in to the company without any solicitation, showing at once to the practical and wideawake business man that the company have an article that is appreciated by the manufacturing plants throughout the Dominion of Canada, who have been alive enough to see that by applying the compressed air Grease Cup they are able to secure a saving in lubrication alone of at least fifty per cent. The demand for this cup is unlimited.

Secretary Of Fort William Y. M. C. A. Doing Good Work

Fort William, Aug. 1.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y.M.C.A. held yesterday, the following resolution was presented to Mr. Williamson:

"That we, as a Board of Directors of the Fort William Young Men's Christian Association, desire to express our heartiest appreciation of the work of our general secretary, Mr. Geo. H. Williamson, during the past year, and particularly for the success of the boys' camp which has just been held at Lake Shebandowan. We feel that we cannot adequately measure the good that has been accomplished through his agency this year, but we hope to show in this manner our satisfaction in his work and in himself."

Mayor Rush's Invitation To "Bobs" Could Not Be Accepted

Mr. Mayor Rush has shown a very commendable anxiety to discharge his responsibility as mayor to the people of the city he represents by endeavouring to give an opportunity to the citizens to pay their respects to "Little Bobs" on his way west from Montreal to Toronto. Mr. Rush has received and accepted an invitation from Mayor Oliver of Toronto to be present at the civic luncheon to be given to Lord Roberts at 12.30 next Tuesday. Desiring that the people should share to some extent in the pleasure thus opened to their civic head, he wrote at once to Mr. Osborne, superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, requesting that he would delay the train bearing Lord Roberts at Peterborough for fifteen minutes, and received the reply that if the train were a special one he would be happy to accede to the mayor's request. Mr. Rush also wrote directly to Lord Roberts on the subject and built at Peterborough, and received the following reply:

Sir,—

I am directed by Field Marshal Lord Roberts to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 30th inst., and in reply to convey to you and the people of the city of Peterborough his warmest thanks for offering him the honour of receiving their greetings.

Lord Roberts much regrets that he cannot accept your kind invitation. The short time at his disposal in the country is already so completely filled up that he fears it is quite impossible for him to add to his very numerous engagements.

Yours faithfully,
Signed, Hugh Dawnay,
A. D. C.

H. Rush, Esq.,
Mayor of Peterborough.

O'BRIENS HEAD THE LIST

New Directory Has Been Received And An Irish Family Tree Proves The Greatest Bearer.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The new directory has been received and is the exact counterpart of those of other years. It has the same gray cardboard cover with red binding, the same "ads" scattered all through the volume and but few changes are found inside. Apparently the people of Peterborough are not homicide or being largely owners of property they do not change their abodes.

Looking down the pages one finds the names of religious civic and business celebrities in large black type while the common horde are written down in ordinary insignificant characters. Looking over the list one finds that the clan O'Brien has the largest representation. No less than 78 of that name are found in Peterborough, sufficient proof that one of the best Irish names is showing no signs of decay. There are 63 Halls, holding second place to the O'Briens. The Browns and Brownes, same pronunciation but different nevertheless are next with 60; of Smiths there are 58, Wilsons 51 and Moores 50. There are 42 Hamiltons, 35 Thompsons, 43 Davidsons, 33 Allans and Allens, 25 Jones, 21 Youngs, 29 McDonalds, 24 Scotts and 23 Rosses. These are a few of the most largely represented names. Thirty-one have Wood for cognomen and 6 have Woods. There are 7 Fits, 5 Flowers, 2 Flukes and 11 Floods. There is one Spring, and one Winter. Fox and Frost are represented, also Bird and at any time there is a Blackeloud in the city.

Thus are our names listed. Where they came from or how they were formed many of us cannot tell. Some take a delight in tracing back their ancestry but with everyone there is a stop. The ultra-educated must ponders to trace his origin back through the stone breakers to the ape, while the ordinary citizen is satisfied with believing that Adam and Eve were the progenitors of the human race.

AN ALMOST FATAL RUNAWAY ACCIDENT NEAR CAVANVILLE

This morning at eleven o'clock almost a double tragedy took place on Gilmour street. Mr. William Lough, (postmaster) and daughter, of Ida, were driving to the city using a horse purchased only the day before, and guaranteed quiet. They had reached the foot of Gilmour street and were just turning into Park, when the horse caught sight of the Canadian General Electric car turning the corner at Charlotte, and at once bolted violently and turning round overturned the buggy and threw both of the occupants violently against the trunk of a tree, both being hurled against it in the position they were sitting, so that the blow came across the lower third of the front part of their thighs, severely bruising but fortunately not breaking any bones. Had the overset taken place a moment later their heads would have hit the tree with, possibly, fatal results. The young lady showed great pluck and coolness. With the help of a gentleman who happened to be on the spot the immediate needs of the injured were attended to. The horse was caught after a short run.

R. M. ROY AND PARTY AND ROB ROY RETURNS

Mr. R M Roy has returned from a trip to Orillia via T.V.C. He took up a party on the Rob Roy, and every mile of the journey was enjoyable. It goes without saying that Mr. Roy's camera was in commission and we may expect to see reproduced many of the beautiful bits of scenery and pictures of interesting spots with which the route abounds.

CIVIC CLEANLINESS.

Complaints are frequently received by the police of the neglect, by citizens, of their premises, resulting in the accumulation of foul garbage and house refuse which, festering in the tropical heat of the dog days, creates, not only foul smells and proves a source of annoyance to neighbours, but also engenders sanitary conditions, which are the reverse of beneficial. This may not be noticed by offending householders, for nature seems to have accompanied its gift of indifference to cleanliness with a compensating obtuseness of small and other senses, which prevents a due appreciation of the filthiness their carelessness creates. Householders are not the only offenders. While some of the fruit shops are models of cleanliness and care in the matter of cleanliness and tidiness, there are others who allow rotting and rotten fruit to accumulate, resulting in a veritable nuisance to both sight and smell. During the hot season, in the interests of health, too much care cannot be exercised in the maintenance of clean, sweet conditions of premises, both private and public. If householders and shop owners neglect to take proper precautions, the police department might very well take a hand. We must be clean and wholesome at all costs; we should also be tidy. In this latter connection, it is not amiss to call attention of the authorities to the infraction of the bylaw prohibiting the dumping of refuse from private premises upon the adjoining streets. This is too frequent a practice and should be stopped. The streets are public property and should be maintained in a condition to be pleasant to sight to the public. Ruskin says the outside of our premises is public property, and every property occupant owes it to the public to maintain the streets fronting his premises in as neat, tidy and attractive state as he does his private lawns or grounds. It is the height of selfishness, as well as slatternliness, for any private citizen to clean up his private property and place the refuse on the street. It is a breach, both of a bylaw of the city and of the golden rule, to beautify our own at the expense of others. Unfortunately, the city authorities do not set the example. After street-making, pavement-making operations, boulevards and street stretches which, before work was begun were found in clean, tidy and well kept condition, are left littered and untidy, entailing upon the owners of the adjacent property trouble and expense to remedy intolerable conditions by the very authorities which should make it a care to beautify instead of to disfigure and obstruct the streets. Let the city pluck the beam out of its own eye, and it will see clearly to take the mote out of its brother's eye, and can consistently enforce the city by-laws forbidding breach of sanitary regulations, as well as of the bylaws passed to protect the tidiness of our streets and public places.

WORK AND HOMES FOR ALL.

The unmarried unemployed in Peterborough and elsewhere may learn with interest that there will be needed in the Canadian West twenty-seven thousand hands to gather the harvest. If, instead of holding up street corners or killing time in profitless idleness, these persons took train for the Northwest, they would secure work at good wages, and, with saving habits, could secure enough means to put them comfortably through the winter, or could take homesteads, and, in another season or two, could be themselves employers of harvest hands. While there may not be in older Canada employment available, there are golden opportunities in the golden West, land enough to give every man a farm and a home, where, with thrift and industry, sturdy competence, if not wealth, would come. The stewart pioneers who settled Ontario did not drop into cushioned seats, but had hard work and hard times before they conquered the forest and converted its pillared wastes into thriving farms and happy homes. Men of mettle, men of stamina, both physical and moral, are those who succeed in the work of home-making and fortune-building in a new country like Canada. There is a difference between the home-seeker of half a century ago and the home-seeker of the present day. Then a farm and a home had to be made; now the farm is ready-made and the home follows with little of the toil, hardship and worry that marked the early days of Canadian up-building

CANADA'S FOREIGN TRADE.

Canada's trade continues in a healthy condition. While the exports of merchandise during the year ended May 31 last largely exceeded those of the preceding year, the imports show a slight falling off as compared with 1907, but a large increase over 1906.

According to a summary statement recently issued by the department of Trade and Commerce, the London Advertiser figures that the exports for the past year amounted to $280,619,002, as compared with $249,211,351 in 1907 and $243,789,331 in 1906. A portion of the exports represents foreign goods passing through Canada. Canada, of course, profits by the transportation of these goods across the country and in their shipment from Canadian ports. The value of this foreign produce in 1908, was $16,130,640, in 1907, $14,759,155, and 1906, $10,798,537. It will thus be seen that this foreign carrying trade is a growing one. The exports of coin and bullion last year totalled $13,684,626, as compared with $17,768,336 in 1907, and $9,417,901 in 1906.

Following is a statement of imports for the last three years:

Year ending May 31,	Merchandise	Coin and bullion	Total
1906.....	279,874,551	6,183,634	286,058,235

In the three years Canada exported $19,000,000 of gold more than she imported.

Our total exports, including coin and bullion, foreign and home produce, in 1908, amounted to $274,303,268, in 1907, $266,979,314, and in 1906, $203,207,302.

The total foreign trade—that is, exports and imports—for each of the three years was:

1907... ... ...$620,277,643
1906... ... ...$539,266,467

Like almost every country Canada's imports exceed her exports. But when it is remembered that the value of the exports is not that at which these sell abroad, but the home value as declared at the custom house at the time of export, and that a considerable amount of our imports is made up of settlers' effects, it will be seen that the trade balance is not so "unfavourable" after all.

The value of the exports of domestic merchandise for three years and the duty paid on the imports were:

	Exports.	Duty paid.
1908...	$244,505,362	$55,601,953
1907...	$234,452,190	54,529,718
1906...	$232,990,794	46,253,799

Canada's largest business dealings are with her neighbour, the United States. Of our total exports of home and foreign produce and of bullion, amounting to $274,303,828, we sent $88,316,912 of home produce, and $19,836,309 of foreign produce to our neighbours, and took from them $104,234,259 worth of dutiable goods, and $95,214,125 worth of free goods. In the year ended May 30 last, our trade in all descriptions of articles, home and foreign products, and bullion, totalled $613,161,079, of which $307,601,605 was with the United States. Next comes the mother country. Last year we imported from the United Kingdom $67,094,364 of dutiable goods, and $21,596,666 free, and exported to that country $125,425,897 of home produce, and $7,903,258 foreign produce, or a total of $222,020,181. So that of our total aggregate trade of $613,161,079, these two countries do $519,021,786, leaving to be divided between the rest of the world a little over $33,000,000.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The opening of the prairie section of the National Transcontinental Railway to traffic marks an epoch in Canadian transportation development. Its effects will be immediate in helping the marketing of this season's wheat and in stimulating more remote but equally marked settlement and production in the far Northwest. The completed line from ocean to ocean will contribute an immense forward stride in nation-building.

ONTARIO'S INCREASING DEBT.

Years ago, when Sir James Whitney was Opposition leader and Mr. Matheson was Opposition critic of the finances, they strenuously objected to the creation of a public debt. Fortunately, the ministry then in office, took a different view of its obligation to future Ontario. They did not hesitate to incur a liability for the building of the Temiskaming Railway. There was no possibility of building it out of current revenue, and it was the right policy to construct the railway, so the only recourse was borrowing money for the purpose.

Not for the purpose of finding fault with the present Government, but simply as a reminder of their former narrow view of their functions as legislators, we beg to call their attention to the fact that they are now about adding four millions of dollars to the public debt. One half of this is to take up treasury bonds; the other half will be largely for the extension of the railway. Presumably this money will be well spent, so far as mere administration goes, and with this no fault will be found for adopting and carrying through the policy of their predecessors. If they had had their way in Opposition the Temiskaming Railway would never have been taken up and constructed. This should be a warning to politicians in a new and growing country not to take up positions in opposition against public improvements, which they find themselves under the necessity of carrying out when they get into power. There is too much of reckless criticism by Oppositions, and this kind of criticism like curses and chickens, comes home to roost. The members of the present Government may live long enough to be in Opposition again, and if they do this friendly warning may help to serve them.

DELIBERATELY MISLEADING.

To excite antagonism against the Liberal Government of the Dominion, the Mail and Empire adds another to its daily roster of misstatements, when it asserts that "in the West the provinces are deprived of their public lands." The Mail and Empire is not alone in publishing this false statement—which the Globe describes as "downright deliberate and inexcusable falsehood." To show that "there is not a scintilla of truth in it, either explicit or implicit," the Globe says:

The Crown lands in the West never did belong to the provinces. They were bought by the Dominion for a million and a half of dollars from the Hudson's Bay Company; the Indian titles to them have been extinguished by the Dominion Government; the surveys, exploratory and topographical, have been made by the Dominion Government; the Mounted Police service which made settlement possible has been kept up by the Dominion Government; the early roads were made by the Dominion Government; the Dominion Government has from first to last expended enormous amounts in the construction of railways to make the lands accessible and facilitate the transportation of produce to outside markets. In the face of these facts, it is no mere blunder, but a studied falsification, to say that the provinces have been "deprived" of their lands. Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—the provinces referred to—never had any lands to be "deprived" of.

There is, therefore, no ground for the assertion of the Mail and Empire, which other Conservative journals will doubtless copy, "that Sir Wilfrid Laurier denies to Alberta and Saskatchewan the right to own and to administer the Crown property." The cause is a poor one that cannot be advanced without resort to deliberately misleading statements.

TRANSPORTING NORTHWEST GRAIN.

If the wheat crops as it promises to do, totals over one hundred million bushels, and if there is the usual amount of coarse grains besides, it will take a very large railway equipment to handle the traffic. Last year and the year before the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern lines were unable to render perfectly satisfactory service. This was, no doubt, due in large part to the fact that the expansion of grain growing in the west was more rapid than people knew. The railways could hardly be blamed for not seeing what no one else could see, but the railways have had another year to make ready and whether they have done enough or not they certainly have done a good deal in the way of preparation.

As heretofore, the main dependence must be upon the Canadian Pacific. It has many miles of branch lines constructed during the year; it has double-tracked a large part of its road from Fort William to Winnipeg, and it has added very largely to its rolling stock equipment. A great number of new engines and box cars have been provided, almost solely with a view to the accommodation of the wheat traffic. The Canadian Northern has been considerably extended during the year, and it also has added largely to its equipment of engines and box cars. The Grand Trunk Pacific Company has already twenty new locomotives, with others in progress of construction, and these with the sixty-seven already west of Lake Superior, will enable the company to render valuable service in the transportation of the grain crop. Already five hundred box cars of the latest and most approved type have been placed on different parts of the line west of Winnipeg.

The public will take more interest in this last announcement than in either of the others. The Canadian Pacific is now an old road and the Canadian Northern has been in working condition for some years, but this is the first year for the Grand Trunk Pacific section of the National Transcontinental Railway. Unfortunately, the road between Winnipeg and Fort William on this line will not be sufficiently advanced to enable the company to carry wheat through to Lake Superior. No doubt the connection will be established next year; and within a comparatively few years the Grand Trunk Pacific will be able to carry grain all through the winter by way of the main line to Abittibi and the Temiscaming (Railway, connecting with the Grand Trunk System at North Bay. Eventually, of course, it will be the quickest transportation to follow the main line direct to St. John or Halifax.

At the present rate of increase of grain production in the west it will be very difficult indeed for the railways to keep pace with the requirements of the trade. This shows that the Government and Parliament were well advised in making provision five years ago for the great undertaking known as the National Transcontinental Railway. They were none too soon in entering upon their work of providing accommodation that to the eye of statesmanship was an impending necessity. It may require all that these three railways can do to carry the produce of the west to the ocean, until they get additional assistance by the building of the Hudson's Bay Railway, surveys for which are already provided for.

SUITABLE IMMIGRATION.

The question of Canadian immigration has largely adjusted itself. For a time the volume of the stream was too large for the profitably and practically receptive capacity of the country. The immigration was, in part, of undesirable elements. Aliens and new-comers from undesirable sources of supply in Europe. The consequence was a congestion of the labour market, since many of the new arrivals were not land and home-seekers, and their presence was an obstructive element. Others were of the opposite class and sought and found homes in the West, and became elements of demand for the products of labour, because not only productive labourers themselves, but promoters of employment. The restrictive policy of the Government tends to decrease the volume of undesirable immigration without retarding the incoming of the desirable element. The immigration to Canada for the first six months of 1908 has been 98,119, as against 189,419 for the corresponding period of 1907. Canada has homes for millions, but the new-comers must be workers—producing workers like farm settlers. These cannot very well come too rapidly—the more the better, for at once they become tillers of the soil, they promote the employment of labour, and provide places for other new-comers who cannot or will not be persuaded to occupy land, but prefer the precarious livelihood of intermittent toilers in urban centres.

BRITONS UNAFRAID.

A British iron producer smiles at the suggestion of Yankee "dumping", swamping the British industry. He says the productive capacity of the United States furnaces is about 26,000,000 tons, and the rate of output is actually only 13,000,000 to 14,000,000. To enable the furnaces to work at their capacity about as much more would have to be "dumped." That could be done only by selling several times as much at an artificially high price at home as is "dumped"—sold at an abnormally low price—in Britain, and while the United States people would suffer a great loss by the process, the British iron-consuming industries would be making a handsome profit, it being the raw material of an important part of their manufactures. He does not think the business is one that would commend itself to the shrewd fellows who have induced the United States people to give them the privilege of levying a tariff tax upon them "to build up the iron industry," or, in other words, to make them pay extortionate prices to enrich the Swauks, Carnegies, Schwabs and their fellows. The spectacular "dumping" of occasional lots of iron is what might be called an "educational measure," costly, but borne for its effect on the United States voter. But neither to give the British cheap "dumped" iron nor to keep the Yankee labourer at "steady work at good wages" will the beneficiaries of the United States iron and steel tariff spend much of the high prices taken from the United States consumers to supply the foreigner with the goods at prices lower than he can produce them. The Trust wants to see the stream of United States earnings, diverted from their owners' pockets by the tariff, going into its own.—Hamilton Times.

THEIR RECTOR LEFT IN SECRET

Anglican Pastor at Barriefield Elopes With Fair Parishioner.

HE IS SIXTY YEARS OLD

Disappearance of Rev. Dr. J. H. Nimmo, Formerly of Brockville, With Miss Agnes Stewart Causes Profound Sensation Among His Flock—Secured Divorce Some Time Ago—Daughter Dead.

Kingston, Aug. 1.—Quite a sensation was caused here yesterday afternoon by the announcement that Rev. Dr. J. H. Nimmo, rector of St. Mark's Anglican Church, Barriefield, has gone away with one of his parishioners, Miss Agnes Stewart.

The couple went away on Tuesday, leaving letters announcing their intention of getting married as soon as they reached the United States.

Dr. Nimmo, who is about 60 years of age, was already a married man, though separated from his wife for many years. He had family troubles in Brockville and he and his wife separated. He resigned a good parish—Trinity Church, Brockville—and afterwards went to Dakota, where he secured a divorce. His wife is here at present.

No one in his parish had any idea there was anything between himself and Miss Stewart.

His only daughter died very suddenly a year ago, and he was utterly unnerved by the sad event.

Dr. Nimmo has been popular and has built up the Barriefield parish wonderfully since he took charge of it. He has been a great worker, and is a man of scholarly attainments. He has been in the parish or vicinity for fifteen years or more.

Miss Stewart is a farmer's daughter.

The doctor will suffer deposition and a loss of $400 per annum, a pension from the diocese communitation fund.

WANT TWEEDIE TO PAY.

Peculiar Transactions Blamed on New Brunswick Governor.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 1.—The Provincial Government has called upon Lieutenant-Governor Tweedie to pay to the Crown Lands Department the sum of $8,110, which, it is claimed, is due on account of certain transactions between the Government and certain parties, chiefly lumbermen, in the early 90's, when Hon. Mr. Blair was Premier.

It appears that a sum of $13,686.76 was carried on suspense account from 1895 until October, 1904, when Hon. Mr. Tweedie closed it out by personally handling the amount to the deputy receiver-general. It is interest on this amount that is now demanded.

The governor declares that, though he paid the original amount, he was not responsible for the transactions, and denies liability for the interest.

The inference is that the moneys which should have been paid into the provincial treasury were diverted from time to time to other uses by the Government, presumably political, and that had there been no special audit, the facts would not have been disclosed, as this suspense account never figured in reports submitted to the Legislature.

Lieutenant-Governor Tweedie disclaims personal responsibility for bills which he paid in 1906.

Auditor Miller discovered the suspense account and was authorized to probe the matter and communicated with the governor.

CAVE-IN AT FERNIE.

Twenty-Four Miners Are Imprisoned —Three Still Missing.

Fernie, B. C., Aug. 1.—Twenty-four miners were entombed in the Crow's Nest Pass No. 2 mine on Coal Creek at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, when a tremendous "bump" or cave-in occurred.

At 4 o'clock all but three had been rescued by a large gang of miners and others who frantically dug through nearly 700 yards of rock and coal. It is hoped to get others out alive.

Fortunately they were able to get air passages to the mine, thus preventing asphyxiation.

Nearly all the men in danger are married and with families in the vicinity and the scene at the mine was most distressing until, one by one, the rescuers brought out a score of weakened and in some cases unconscious men.

Not Breaking Record.

Montreal, Aug. 1.—H. M. S. Indomitable, which bears H.R.H. the Prince of Wales on his return trip to England, has evidently not yet begun that fast race against time which popular rumor has said she would attempt on the homeward voyage.

At 1 o'clock yesterday she passed Point Amour, only 669 miles from Quebec, according to the report of the Government station at that point. As the Indomitable sailed from Quebec on Wednesday at 4 o'clock in the morning, this would give a speed of only between fourteen and fifteen knots an hour.

ENGLAND TRIUMPHS ON THE WATER

LEANDER BEATS BELGIANS

After Record Run Eight Crew Vindicates English Stroke and Wins Easily—Magdalen Wins Four-Oar Event—Leander Pair-Oar Race —Blackstaffe Is Champion— Canadian Showing Good.

Henley, Aug. 1.—The international Olympic regatta came to an end with a sweeping victory for the United Kingdom oarsmen, who have defeated all the continental rowers who participated in the races.

The great event of the meeting was the championship eight in which, after winning several heats, the Belgian crew went down to defeat in the final before the Leander crew. The Leanders won with comparative ease by two lengths and a half over a course one mile and a half long. Time, 7 minutes 52 seconds.

The outcome of the contest was a great surprise, as yesterday morning any of the experts had practically conceded the race to the Club Nautique de Grand. It was a battle of styles, the orthodox long stroke, well driven home, of the British oarsmen against the short, light and fast stroke without any swing, which twice has carried the Belgians to victory in the grand challenge at Henley.

Had the Leander crew been defeated, British oarsmen were prepared to haul down their flag and take lessons in rowing from their foreign competitors, but yesterday's victory leaves all Englishmen convinced that the old style of rowing is the best.

The Leander crew led all the way. They were a length and half in front at the half way, and continued gradually to widen the gap. The magnificent spurt of the Belgians toward the finish resulted only in a momentary gain of a few feet. The home crew went away again and finished easy victors.

The Argo eight gave Leander a harder race than the Belgians did. The Argos are second best eight here. Leander won in record time.

In the final of the championship singles yesterday, H. T. Blackstaffe beat McCullough, one and a quarter lengths in 9 mins. 26 secs.

350 HOGS DIE.

Toronto, Aug. 1.—The attention of Dr. Warren, medical health officer of York Township, has been directed to a serious condition of affairs which prevails on "Glenavy Farm," in the 2nd concession of East York, about a mile and a quarter east of Yonge street, where within the past ten days no less than 350 hogs of all ages and sizes have died.

It was at first thought that the cause of the great mortality might be due to hog cholera, and as yet this view of the case is not wholly disproved, but other reasons have since been advanced, and the action of Dr. Hodgetts in going up is with the view of clearing these up.

Pending the report of the latter the York Township medical health officer will make no statement whatever regarding the case. As many as 2,000 hogs are sometimes kept at one time by Mr. Wilson, the owner, and the loss, whatever the cause, is a severe one. The animals are said to survive only a short time after taking sick.

WAS RIEL'S SON.

Winnipeg, Aug. 1.—The last of the immediate family of Louis Riel, the famous rebel leader who helped make history in 1869 and 1885 in the Canadian Northwest, died yesterday, when his only son, Jean Louis Riel, died in St. Boniface Hospital. He was born in Montana 36 years ago, during his father's residence there, following the first rebellion. He was well educated and finally took up the profession of a civil engineer. A few months ago he went to Quebec, where he married Mlle. Laura Cazeau, a sweetheart of his youth, and the couple had just come here to take up life together.

GREENWAY FOR COMMISSION.

He Is Said to Be New Appointee to Railway Board.

Montreal, Aug. 1.—It is announced here semi-officially that at the Cabinet meeting to-day in Ottawa Thos. Greenway, M.P., and two other gentlemen will be added to the Railway Commission.

It is also stated that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will start almost immediately upon his western trip, being accompanied by E. M. McDonald, M.P. for Lambton.

H. B. Ames, M.P., who has just arrived from Cape Breton, left yesterday for Moosejaw, where the member for St. Antoine will on Monday evening begin a series of twenty-five addresses, returning to Montreal in the early days of September.

Sailor Killed in Fight at Montreal.

Montreal, Aug. 1.—The death of an English sailor named John Harman is being investigated by the police.

He is said to have been involved in a fight with another sailor whose name is given as Charles Bardley, and the pair fell down a couple of flights of steps during the struggle. Harman was badly injured and he died in the hospital Thursday night.

Alfred H. Wood of Winnipeg Confesses to Outrages For Which J. W. Tollman Awaited Trial—Wood Is Given Two Years and Tollman Is Immediately Set Free— Was Caught Red-Handed.

Winnipeg, Aug. 1.—Pricked by overcharged conscience into an admission of guilt, Alfred H. Wood, aged 29, a tinsmith employed in the C.N.R. shops, who has a wife and children at his home in West Toronto, told Magistrate Daly in court yesterday morning that it was he who so brutally assaulted Mrs. Christina Wilson on Wellington crescent, four weeks ago, and not James Wallace Tollman, who had already been sent up for trial on the charge.

Tollman closely resembled Wood and was arrested some time ago and committed for trial. Other assaults, however, occurred and Wood was caught red-handed two days ago. He was identified by several women whom he had attacked and then made a clean confession.

Wood admitted four other charges of indecent assault and exposure, and the court lost no time in imposing the maximum punishment of two years in the Manitoba Penitentiary, with 36 lashes, 24 during the first year and 12 during the last year of his sentence.

On two other charges he was bound over in the sum of $200 each to appear for sentence when called upon.

The prisoner admitted having served 18 months in the Central Prison, Toronto, for theft.

Mrs. Wilson is in a delicate condition and the magistrate congratulated the prisoner that it was not a manslaughter case.

Tollman was set free by Judge Myers, before whom he had been sent for trial.

REV. FATHER McCOLL RETURNS FROM EUROPEAN TRIP GREATLY IMPROVED IN GENERAL HEALTH

Visited the Show Places in Western Europe—Took the Baths in France and Spent Days in Healthful Resorts.

RETURNED HOME YESTERDAY

It will be a source of deep pleasure and satisfaction to the many friends of Rev. Father McColl to learn that he has returned to his own, refreshed and invigorated, to resume the duties which impaired health forced him to temporarily resign. Upon the desire of His Lordship Bishop O'Connor and the whole congregation of St. Peter's, he left Peterborough on March 11th, and after nearly five months' rest and quiet in Europe's most famous health recuperating resorts he arrives safely back to continue his ministerings to his people. The journey and its intermediate visits to some of Nature's most beauteous gardens was most successful and Father McColl states that he is now in the best of health.

He sailed from New York on the 14th of March and enjoyed a most delightful voyage across the Atlantic. The captain of the "Koenigin Louise" stated that he had never completed a better passage. A short stay was made at Gibraltar after which the vessel continued on down the Mediterranean to Naples. In Italy Rev. Father McColl thoroughly enjoyed the delightful climate and in his trips to the most healthful places gradually began to regain his health. Sunny Campagna in all its wealth of natural beauty and the other provinces equally resplendent had a most quieting effect. The country as everyone knows is linked at almost every step with the old empire that swayed only to fall, overcome by its own power. Thus, a visit through this historic land is doubly beneficial. The events which the Roman world participated in during its golden era, are vividly recalled by crumbling ruins and the charm of the landscape which is claimed to have tempered the Italian mind with a marked artistic touch and the warmth and freshness of the atmosphere all combine to renew a shattered constitution. The traveller is reminded of Addison's lines—

"For whereso'er I turn my ravished eyes,
Gay gilded scenes and shining prospects rise;
Poetic fields encompass me round,
And still I seem to tread on classic ground."

Said Mass at St. Peter's

At Sorrento Father McColl saw the groves of orange and lemon trees which rise in terraces from the base almost to the top of the mountains. The wonderful church of St. Peter in Rome surpassed his preconceived ideas of its grandeur and stateliness. He visited almost daily while in the city but always found something new to ponder on, some new feature to gaze at in wonder. Rev. Father McColl had the honour of saying mass at the main altar which is above the tomb of St. Peter. On Palm Sunday, he had a private audience with Pope Pius X, and on Holy Thursday assisted at mass sung by His Holiness at which Father McColl received communion.

His travels took him through northern Italy visiting Loretto, Venice, Florence and Milan. Through southern France by easy stages he went on to Switzerland where he spent considerable time in the mountains and at the lakes. He saw Lake Geneva, also Lake Lucerne. A little chapel on the shore of the latter marks the spot where William Tell escaped from Gessler by climbing the sheer rocks to the ledge above.

In Paris the Church of the Invalides was very interesting. Close at hand is the tomb of Napoleon around which are flags which the ambitious leader won in his great battles.

His Grandfather's Home

The trip through the British Isles occupied six weeks, equally divided among the three countries. All the chief cities were visited and also the birthplaces of famous men. Father McColl took particular enjoyment in his visits to the places made famous by Shakspere, Scott, Burns, Moore, Wordsworth and others. Space will not permit to tell of the important historical places he visited, but Scotland the home of his forefathers had a special attraction. From Oban a little port on the west coast his grandfather set forth for America just 100 years ago. His home was at Appin, a town about 15 miles inward. Needless to say his visit here brought back many recollections of family lore. Rev. Father McColl also dwelt on the loveliness of Loch Katrine in the Trossachs. Words, he said, could not describe the beauty of the surroundings.

Two weeks were spent in Ireland where all the historic places were visited. Father McColl acknowledged that he visited the famous Blarney Castle.

He also mentioned the famous art galleries visited in his journeys and the grand old piles which are scattered along the itinerary he followed.

In all the countries one has no difficulty in the matter of language as English is spoken in all the leading hotels. In the Italian schools it is taught as a regular subject.

Father McColl started for home from Liverpool, and visited friends at Wooler before arriving in Peterborough yesterday evening.

Lindsay To Run Excursion With Lacrosse Team Next Thursday

The members of the lacrosse team are reminded of their practice on Monday night. There should be a large turnout as Lindsay will be down next Thursday afternoon and it is up to the locals to wipe out that game which in the opinion of the Lindsay Free Press was a great victory. A few good workouts should improve the locals a whole lot and it is safe betting that they will appear to better advantage when they again stack up against Mudville's dozer. By the way, it is understood that the Bengoughites are coming down en masse, running a special train and there is every prospect of a large crowd at the game.

Women And Men Crowd Around The Tax Collector's Office

The last hours for the time allotted for securing a discount off the taxes were last ones for the collector, Mr. Greene and his assistant, Mr. Stacey. All yesterday afternoon there was a crowd around the two wickets and the yellow papers passed in together with the money which the city demands from each property owner. Yes, the yellow paper and greenbacks went in, the paper was stamped and returned, but the money disappeared into the public coffers. "Seems like throwing $30 away," one woman said to a friend. Visions of a new hat and dress volatilized like recollections of a lovely dream. However, the discount would buy a few yards of lace or the makings of a corset cover and after receiving the change she started for the bargain counter.

"Well, if I was getting the water cart past my house, I would not mind it so much," one man casually remarked, and his neighbour had something else to mention which he believed he was paying for and was not getting.

A George street business man almost groaned as he handed through a cheque for $395.00. Another unassuming citizen remarked, "Come what come way you can't elude the tax collector."

Young Armstrong's Wish To Be Sent To Reformatory Granted

James Armstrong the 13-year-old boy who stole $92.50 from his employer, Mr. T. Elliott, on July 27, was committed to the reformatory at Toronto by Magistrate Dunbie this morning. He was sent to the Bank of Ottawa to deposit the money, but instead, disappeared with it. The first part of his route was down the Otonabee in a canoe, and from there he found his way to Toronto. Chief Ressel sent out cards giving his description and he was arrested on Thursday at the Leland, Toronto.

To Chief Ressel, he said, his father and mother reside at 128 Borden avenue, Toronto, but the lad says their life has not been one of the highest example to him. The boy has not had a chance, and he said he wanted to go to the reformatory, where he would learn a trade. He went as far as the third book at school.

About six months ago he came to Mr. Elliott, who is a baker. He had won his employer's trust, but fell when a real crisis came. He had $82 when arrested, having spent $10 in the couple of days that had elapsed before his arrest.

BAND WILL CONDUCT SERVICES

THE PRINTERS' PIC-NIC PROGRAMME

Great Day in Store for Those Who Go Down the Otonabee on Civic Holiday.

Anybody who has ever attended a Printers' picnic in the past knows that it is one of the best that goes down the Otonabee. It will be held as usual on Auguust 10th, Peterborough's Civic Holiday. Of course the attraction of the day will be the baseball match between the Review and Examiner and for burlesque, all past games between these two institutions will be backed into the shade. Then when it is mentioned that a canoe race for a ten dollar gold piece, donated by the editor of the Review; reporters' race and other are on the list, there should be nothing to hinder everybody from attending. The programme is as follows:

Girls' race, under 15 years.
Married man's race.
Young ladies' race.
Hundred yds. dash.
Married ladies' race.
Running broad jump.
Running, hop, step and jump.
Fat man's race.
Reporters' race.
Boot race.
Tug-of-war, Examiner vs. Times and Review.
Pie-eating contest.
Baseball game, Examiner vs. Review.

CARE OF THE HAIR.

Every woman and every man desires beautiful hair. And everyone may have it if they will but give it proper care and attention.

The first and all important step toward the prevention of baldness and greyness and toward promoting a luxuriant growth of fine, silken hair is to keep the scalp sweet and clean, and free from dandruff.

All kinds of advice have, from time to time, been offered for the removal of dandruff, and for the promotion of hair growth; some bad, some good.

There is, however, one safe, sure and economical way. That is to use Harlina Soap, Medicated, and Hay's Hairhealth.

Harlina Soap is absolutely the purest and most satisfactory soap made for every purpose of the bath, toilet nursery, complexion and hair. It is highly medicated, deodorizing, antiseptic, germicidal and delightfully fragrant. "A Breath of Pine Balsam in every cake."

Harlina cleanses the scalp, stops itching and all irritation. Destroys all disease parasites, and is the only soap that should be used in connection with Hay's Hairhealth.

Hay's Hairhealth "Keeps You Looking Young." It positively removes dandruff and always restores gray and faded hair to its youthful colour and beauty, no matter how long it has been gray or faded, or what its original colour.

It is not a dye, promotes a fine growth of luxuriant hair when all other remedies fail. Is not greasy or sticky and does not soil skin or linen.

You can get large 25-cent cakes of Harlina Soap and $1 and 50c bottles of Hay's Hairhealth of any druggist, or they will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price, by Philo Hay Specialties Co., 30-32 Clinton street, Newark, N. J.

OBITUARY.

MRS. ROBERT GARDINER

Mrs. Robt. Gardiner of Carmel, after an illness which extended over some years, passed away on Saturday last at the age of forty-nine years. Deceased's maiden name was Elizabeth Armstrong and was married to the now bereaved husband some 24 years ago. Four daughters and three sons are left with their father to mourn the death of the departed.

The funeral which was very largely attended took place on Monday last to Gardiner's Cemetery, the whole country side turning out to extend their sympathy towards the bereaved ones.—Millbrook Reporter.

MRS. THOMAS CASEMENT

The death took place at Inkster, North Dakota, on Saturday, July 25, of Sarah Nelson, wife of the late Thomas Casement, in her 83rd year. Deceased, who had been ill for some time, resided with her son, Mr. Hugh Casement. Her husband predeceased her eleven years ago. She is survived by five sons and three daughters. They are W H Casement, of the post-office, Lakefield; Robt. R., Madoc; Hugh, Inkster, N.D.; Alex and Walter, Claresholm, Alta.; Mrs. George Alsdorf, Medford, Ore., whose husband was killed last month by his horses running away; Mrs. Jos. Myers, Hannah, N.D., and Mrs. Joseph Dillabaugh, Strathmore, Alta.

BEAVER COLONY ON POWDER HORN CREEK

they have sometimes built dams as much as two hundred yards long. The structure is begun by fixing poplar boughs in the mud in such a way as to support each other and brace themselves against the stream. These are so built together that a bough could not be pulled out without destroying a portion of the dam—by no means an easy task. The framework of boughs is then reinforced by mud mixed with grass and rushes or twigs so wadded as to form a watertight lining. The upper portion of one side of the dam is usually left unlined, so as to allow the water to escape there, and so avoid the erasion of the remainder by falling water.

These dams are excellent fish traps of which the mink knows well how to avail himself. The presence of partly eaten fish in the dam has sometimes given rise to the ridiculous statement that beavers eat fish. Above the main dams are often found small, roughly constructed, temporary dams, which this lumberman, like others of his craft, utilizes to obtain deep enough water to float his timbers down.

Beaver houses show as much variety, proportionately, as the homes of men. That usually represented in books is a dome-like structure, resembling an Eskimo hut. Such a building, however, is almost invariably covered with a dense growth of willows, or swamp nettles, or with brushwood. The beaver is too sagacious to betray his whereabouts by a too conspicuous abode. More often he builds a "lean-to" against the bank, by working the mud and brushwood together so as to make little change in the appearance of the spot. Only an experienced observer can detect such a hut. Many beavers simply burrow caves in the bank, working from below the water; while others, if they have a flooded willow flat, often build their homes some distance from the shore. Except that the framework is of sticks, many of these huts vary little in appearance from a large muskrat house. The interior of all the houses observed consisted of a broad ledge around the sides, usually upholstered with grass; and a subaqueous passage into the pond.

NEW SUMMER THIRST QUENCHER

Lime juice, like salt, develops flavours. Making cooling drinks with fruit syrups, you need the addition of a small quantity of Sovereign Lime Juice to bring out all the flavour of the fruit, and to give the desired sip to the "thirst-quencher." About two tablespoonfuls of Sovereign Fruit Syrup (any flavour), a teaspoonful of Sovereign Lime Juice, a glass of water, ice, and you are suited.

SHOPPING IN CAIRO.

"I entered Sidi Okba's shop," said the man with the Shepheard's Hotel label on his baggage, "and a handsome carpet caught my eye."

"What is the price of that?" I asked.

"That carpet is not for sale," Sidi Okba answered. "I bought it at great cost for my own delectation only. How beautiful it is. But will not monsieur partake with me of coffee and cigarettes?"

"I partook. The next morning I was in that neighbourhood again, and Sidi came forth and saluted me. He had changed his mind about retaining the carpet. Allah forbade selfishness among the True Believers, and since I desired the thing, he'd let me have it for $1,000."

"I'll give you $10," said I.

"He fell back, almost fainting. Then in a weak, pained voice, he offered me coffee again.

"Next day when I turned up, he came down to $900, and I went up to $15, and we drank more coffee and smoked.

"Next day he dropped to $800 and I rose up to $17.50. We were very cheerful over the coffee and tobacco that day. We had the carpet spread before us to admire. It was evident that we would strike a bargain yet.

"Just before we left Cairo we did strike a bargain. The carpet became mine for $50. It would have cost $200 at home.

"As we shook hands in farewell, Sidi Okba said:

"'I love a good bargainer like myself. Bargaining is the bloom, the perfume, the poetry of trade. I adore it. Once,' he ground his teeth —'Once an American named Morgan —Pierpont Morgan—came in here, selected three carpets, and said, "How much?" I told him $3,000 for the three. "Well," he said, "that seems a fair price," and he paid me then and there in gold."

"Sidi rolled his eyes.

"'What a man!' he said; 'what a fool of a man! Were he to go into business, he wouldn't be out of the bankruptcy courts three days.'"

DRAGGED TO HIS DEATH

REINS AROUND HIS ARM

(Examiner Special)

Young's Point, August 1.— Robert Freeburn, who resides in Smith, about 1½ miles west of Young's Point, met with a horrible death this morning by being dragged a mile through a swamp by his horses, which had run away. He was driving a load of milk to the North Smith cheese factory at Selwyn when his horses became frightened. He wound the lines around his arm in an endeavour to stop the frenzied team. In some manner he was thrown from the waggon and the horses continued through the swamp. The distance through it is one mile, and the unfortunate man was dragged over stumps and hurled against trees until they were stopped at Hopkins' gate, beyond the swamp. He was dead when found and his body showed terrible bruises. The deceased leaves a wife and five children.

Borrows Revolver to Suicide.

Buffalo, Aug. 1.—Giles Stephenson, a bartender, committed suicide with a policeman's revolver Thursday night. Stephenson called Policeman Currie into a main street saloon and asked to see his revolver, saying he wanted to settle a dispute regarding the case of the cartridge. The patrolman handed over his revolver, and like a flash Stephenson pointed it at his own temple and fired. He died instantly.

PARACHUTE DIDN'T DO ITS WORK

MISSED A HICKORY TREE

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 3.—Special—William Oliver's "good-bye," shouted to picnickers, as his balloon rose above Hague Park Saturday afternoon, proved an eternal farewell, for within half an hour following his cheery adieu the aeronaut was dead. The fatal ending of the ascension was the result of the parachute failing to work.

The balloon went straight up, perhaps 3,000 feet, with Oliver doing acrobatic stunts on the bar attached to the parachute. The day was perfect, with scarcely a breath of air stirring. Thousands watched the ascension, which was all that could be desired.

Finally Oliver cut the cord and the parachute shot downward. It did not spread until the man had dropped probably 500 feet, and when it did it was with a jerk. A second later the parachute twisted sidewise, and began to descend with sickening velocity.

Before it had dropped 100 feet more the parachute whirled together, offering not the slightest resistance. A cry of horror arose from those looking on. As the balloonist approached the earth he saw a large hickory tree, and tried to throw himself among the branches. He partially succeeded, but the impact did not break his fall, and he struck the ground with an awful crash.

Oliver died after a few gasps. He fell within 300 feet of where he had bidden his friends good-bye.

FORMER RESIDENTS OF THIS CITY SAFE FROM THE RAVAGES OF FERNIE'S DISASTROUS FIRE

Forest-Clad Mountain Sides and Greater Portion of the Town Licked Up by the Unrelenting Flames—An Awful Holocaust.

LIFE AND PROPERTY LOST

Mr. W. H. Moore this morning received two telegraphic messages from Cranbrook, B. C., one sent by his son-in-law, Mr. Foster Ambery, and the other by his daughter. The despatches were to the effect that the town of Fernie, B. C., where they resided, had been destroyed by fire, but that Mr. and Mrs. Ambery and their property had been spared, a matter of hearty congratulation to themselves and to their relatives and many friends in Peterborough, where Mrs. Ambery—Miss Moore—was born and lived to about a year ago.

Mr. E. A. C. Peck also received a telegram sent from Cranbrook also by his brother in Fernie, Mr. John Peck, who married a daughter of Mr. Percy Strickland, Lakefield, giving the same information as to immunity from harm.

In further confirmation of the above despatch, Mr. Wallace Wood received a telegraphic message this morning from his brother, Mr. E. R. Wood, Toronto, giving the news of the destruction of Fernie, where Mr. Roland Wood, son of Mr. John Wood, 404 Belmont avenue, city, with wife and child, is engaged in business. Nothing has been heard directly from Mr. Wood in Fernie, telegraphic communication evidently being impaired, if not destroyed. Messrs. Ambery's and Peck's messages having been sent from Cranbrook, sixty miles from Fernie.

A special despatch over the G. N. W. wires this morning stated:

Fernie, B. C., Aug. 3.—Coal Creek, Michel, Hosmer and other towns all swept out of existence by bush fires. Six thousand people are burnt out. Great many fatalities. Seven hundred lives lost in Fernie alone.

Three Men Convicted Of Picking Pockets On Circus Day Get Terms In Central Hamilton, The Leader, Goes For Two Years Less One Month—Twelve Months Each For The Others.

RECORDS AGAINST THEM

The sentence upon the three men, Hamilton, Adams and Graney, who were found guilty by His Honour Judge Weller of picking pockets on Circus Day have been passed. A special session of the court was held on Saturday evening at 5 o'clock when Judge Weller settled the fates of the three men for some months to come at least.

Hamilton, who was considered the ring leader of the trio was given 24 months in Central Prison, while Adams and Graney will each spend 12 months in the same institution.

The men were convicted more than a week ago of picking the pocket of Mr. McTaggart. Mr. D O'Connell, the prisoners' counsel put up a strong plea for leniency, and stated that on previous convictions the prisoners were all given light sentences, in one case Graney receiving three months for stealing $5.

Judge Weller in giving sentence, said he felt sorry for the men, as they were in the prime of life, and after looking at their records he thought they had had time to reform. He considered Hamilton the worst of the trio, having the largest list of convictions against him, and the one who P. C. Newhall stated picked McTaggart's pocket. The sentence which he imposed on Hamilton was, therefore, twenty-three months in the Central Prison at hard labour.

Adams was the next sentenced, although, the judge stated, he was not as bad as Hamilton, he was found guilty of picking pockets, he therefore sentenced him to be confined in Toronto Central Prison for a period of one year. Graney had no previous bad record, but he had been convicted here, and he gave him the same as Adams—one year in the Central.

Mr. O'Connell then asked for a new trial, but the judge would not grant it.

ALLEGED HOUSE-BREAKERS BEFORE COURT ON SATURDAY ARE REMANDED UNTIL AUGUST 8

The two men Chas. Peace, alias Burns, and Geo Forbes, who were arrested Saturday afternoon on the charge of housebreaking were given a preliminary hearing before his Worship on Saturday afternoon, and were remanded on the charge until Aug. 8. Sufficient evidence was found on each of the arrested men to warrant a committal, and the charge will likely be proven without much difficulty. Peace, the older of the two was a sailor by occupation with no fixed place of abode. He claims to be a married man and came from the Old Country. Forbes is a mere lad 19 years of age and also came across the ocean. He has been in this country for the past four years. He stated that he had no fixed occupation but that of a labourer and he has already spent a term in prison in the Old Country for disorderly conduct.

The arrest of the prisoners followed a bold attempt to rifle the residence of Mr. E G Patterson, on Saturday afternoon. While busily engaged in collecting the negotiable articles of the different rooms, the burglars were alarmed by the voice of a visitor in the house who thought that Mr. Patterson had returned from lunch. They made a hasty exit through a lower window but their efforts to make a quick get-away resulted in their capture. Peace struck north. He was pursued by a neighbour of Mr. Patterson, who followed his game down Brock street to Dorcas street where the robber became "all-in" throwing himself upon the grass, while his pursuer stood guard, awaiting the arrival of the police.

"Come, get up," said P. C. Meagher when he arrived on the spot.

"I'll be blowed if I do—I'm bloody well blowed as it is—I cawn't walk, and if yer takes me yer'll 'ave to carry me." He was speedily lodged in the cells.

Forbes took a chance on running in the opposite direction, but he was pursued by Mr. Walter Stocker and caught near the Notre Dame Convent. After landing Peace at the police station the latter played dead dog for a short while but his undignified and by no means gentle entry into one of the cells quickly revived him and he set up a lusty howl. P. C. Meagher as well his valiant courier, and Mr. Stocker deserve considerable credit for the successful round-up as the articles found on the men show them to be dangerous characters to be at large.

NO WORD FROM HER HUSBAND FOR MORE THAN FIVE WEEKS

It was June 29th when Mrs. A N Armstrong, 544 Donegal street, last heard of her husband, whose whereabouts are now causing her considerable trouble and anxiety. Mr. Armstrong's occupation is that of manufacturing Diamond Silver Polish and Giant Cement for mending glassware, etc., which he has been accustomed to sell throughout the province. His wife always heard from him twice a week on one of which occasions she received a money order to help sustain herself and her five children. At the present time the only person who earns any money in her 19 year old son, and his wages are not sufficient to keep the house in ample provisions.

An Examiner representative called at her residence this afternoon and to him she told of her predicament.

"On June 25," she said, "he sent me the customary weekly money order, and on June 29th I had a letter from on. Although I wrote immediately he has never since written a line that I have received. He was then in Smith's Falls. I can't see why he doesn't write for he never was away so long before without letting me know his whereabouts and how he is."

Mrs. Armstrong says she will soon have to go out and work to help sustain her family—three daughters and two sons. She never worked out since her marriage and does not know where to go.

The police at Smith's Falls were notified of her husband's peculiar and mysterious disappearance but they cannot locate him. Any person hearing anything of the missing man will confer a special favour on Mrs. Armstrong by making her acquainted with the news.

A CONTRAST.

Our ConservatiGve friends are prompt and persistent in condemning the expenditure of the Liberal Government as extravagant and uncalled for, and the inference is that if they, the Conservatives, had a chance they would do better. When there is an opportunity we estimate the value of a man's claims to give good service according to his record. If his record is bad, there is less inclination or warrant for trusting him again. It is the same with a government or a party. Let us apply this proposition to the Conservatives. As proof of the careful and efficient manner in which the Conservative party managed our national finances during their eighteen years tenure of power, it may be pointed out that in that time they spent $167,000,000 on special and capital outlay. In doing this they were compelled to borrow $118,000,000, leaving only forty-nine millions provided for out of current income. Now for the contrast. In twelve years the Liberal Government of the Dominion has expended $162,000,000 on special and capital account, and there has been added to the public debt only $19,000,000, which means that one hundred and forty-three millions of dollars of special and caipital expenditure have been provided out of current revenue. This also means that the public service demanded the provision of various public works, and the Liberal Government provided them; they had the money and it was wisely and in effect necessarily spent, and the public convenience was served to the extent of $143,000,000 without adding a cent to the public debt. While, for similar purposes out of a similar expenditure the Conservative Government added $118,000,000 to the national debt. A little more contrast. The Conservative Government, of which Hon. Mr. Foster was Finance Minister, the gentleman who is still the financial critic of the Conservatives, and leads the outcry against alleged Liberal extravagance, never saw a surplus in the Postoffice Department, but had an average yearly deficit of half a million dollars. Within two years of coming into office the Liberal Postmaster-General reduced the annual deficit of $700,000 which was left by Conservative $700,000 which was left by the Conservative Government, to $47,000, and this deficit, after reducing the revenue by reducing postage rates one-third, in four years by proper business management was wiped out, and the first surplus in the postal department, since 1851, when it came under control of the Canadian Government, was achieved. Every year since has shown a surplus, in the face of liberal and costly extension of the service. Last year the Liberal Government, after paying out nearly half a million, as increase to post masters' salaries and three-quarters of a million in extending the service—an extra expenditure of one million two hundred thousand—in the Port Office Department showed a surplus of $1,100,000. When the people note the contrast between the results of Conservative and Liberal methods, do they want to intrust the management of public affairs to a set of public servants who have, with long opportunity, shown such masterly incapacity? The Conservatives in the House declaim virtuously against Liberal extravagance, ceasing this exercise only to raise their voices in clamour for the building of postoffices, wharves, piers, armouries, etc., in their own constituencies.

According to New York immigration returns, 585,970 aliens passed through up to July 1, as against 1,116,295 in the same period last year; it is estimated that 600,000 foreigners left New York for their homes in the same time. The amount of money brought in by immigrants in the six months of this year was $11,812,000, compared with $25,599,893 in the same period last year.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Toronto News approves the announcement of the intention of Hon. Frank Oliver to keep out of the Provincial election contest in Saskatchewan. It is to be hoped, says the Brantford Expositor, that it will be equally solicitous, when the Dominion contest is on, that Premier Whitney and his colleagues attend to their own knitting.

The despatches bring reports of numerous suicides—especially of farmers. One would think that farmers of all classes would be freest from business worries, one of the commonest causes of mental disturbances ending in suicide. It is possible that the extreme heat, affecting the brain, deranges its normal manifestations and leads to suicide.

Organized labour has its advantages and disadvantages, its good points and its objectionable features. While it may be desirable from a standpoint of neighbourliness to have a close connection between the labour organizations of Canada and the United States, to amalgamate to the mutual advantage of both, it is often found very objectionable in practice to have Canadian labour organizations managed by officials resident in the United States. In the matter of specific interests of labour there is much in common between the organizations of this country and our southern neighbours, but when it comes to the exercise of citizenship, a sharp line of cleavage appears. Any administration of labour's affairs from the United States, that interferes with the duties of Canadian citizenship is quite inadvisable in principle. For instance the refusal of organized labour in Ottawa, at the direction of some international official, to join in the reception to Lord Roberts, was carrying international co-operation too far.

DISCOVERIES DUE TO RAILWAY BUILDING.

The discovery of the nickel wealth of Sudbury followed upon the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The riches of Cobalt were revealed by the opening of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario. Now it is reported that rich veins of gold, silver and nickel have been found along the line of the Transcontinental to the west of Port Arthur.

There may be, as a result of the construction of the new line across the continent, an even greater discovery yet to come. It is the opinion of scientists who have made a study of the question, that masses of diamonds are hidden somewhere among the vast stretches of the rugged country lying between Lake Superior and Hudson Bay. It is possible that the Transcontinental will hit upon the centre of this location, just as the Temiskaming ran into the rich veins in the rocks beyond North Bay. If such a discovery is made, Canada will have another and exceedingly powerful lodestone drawing the overflow of the world in this direction.—Toronto Star.

A GREAT ADMINISTRATOR.

If it were assumed that Mr. Sifton would permanently leave public life, the Conservative press might do tardy justice to his great achievements, and he might share the experience of other Liberal statesmen who, after quitting the stage, have been praised as vehemently by their opponents as they were previously traduced. The Toronto World is an honourable exception. It has not waited for Mr. Sifton to die, or shelve himself, before paying him tribute. Says the World:

"If there be truth in the rumour that Mr. Sifton is once more to accept a position in the Cabinet, a new light will be cast upon his career. He has suffered the penalty of every man of constructive imagination. Twelve years ago the outlined plans for the future of Canada, which are now being appreciated and becoming intelligible. Being misunderstood, he was at that time criticised for what has proven to be his foresight. On the floor of the House Mr. Sifton's utterances have always commanded respect, because of their conciseness and pith. As a man of business capacity in the large sphere of government, he has shown himself alert, adroit, and competent. He is a man worth having in the service of his country."

Only Canadians blinded by party prejudice will refuse to recognize what Mr. Sifton has done to give this country the impetus which has carried it to heights of prosperity and progress undreamed of twelve years ago. It was a fortunate day when this man with a vision, and a capacity to realize it, set himself to the great task of developing Western Canada. His very success marked him out for calumny, but he pursued his design with apparent indifference to praise or censure alike. To-day Canada is reaping the reward of his foresight, energy and ability, and his fellow countrymen, with a few bigoted exceptions, acknowledge his unique public service.—London Advertiser.

A Semi-ready Player

We are told it wouldn't have fared so well with our crack local baseball team in a game of recent date if the wife of one of the opposing players hadn't either worn her husband's ball suit to the berry patch or hid them under the feather tick, thus preventing him from accompanying his team. —Tweed News.

WHEAT IN THE WEST WANTS MOISTURE

Western Harvest Endangered by Severe Drought.

YIELD IS BELOW ESTIMATE

Round Hundred Million Is Expectation Now Under Best of Conditions —Sudden Moisture Will Mean Attack of Rust Similar to Those In Dakota—South Alberta Grain Escapes.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 3.—What will be the amount of damage wrought by the prolonged drought on spring wheat crop can only be determined by the threshing returns, but the past fortnight of extreme and altogether unusual heat has played sad havoc with estimates made in the middle of July regarding the average yield and total crop.

Much of the spring wheat was caught by the torrid wave in a milk stage, and although there was lots of moisture in the ground to withstand any ordinary drought, the intense and prolonged heat has beyond question checked normal development of the grain, tending to parch it and prevent the fattening out of kernels such as would have taken place under average conditions.

What proportion of wheat so affected remains to be seen, but not likely more than 25 per cent., much of it not being far enough advanced.

On the other hand plentiful rains and cool weather are urgently needed this coming week to retard growth and give shrivelled roots and straw a chance to recuperate and perform their duty by the earth.

RUNAWAYS NOT MARRIED.

No Word of Wedding of Dr. Nimmo Has Been Received.

Kingston, Aug. 3.—Rev. Dr. Nimmo, the rector of St. Mark's Barrifield, and a divorced man, with Miss Agnes Stewart, a parishioner, left on Tuesday afternoon, by Grand Trunk Railway, and, therefore, the report that they were married in Watertown, on Tuesday evening, seems not correct. They were to be married, as the lady left a letter for her family to that effect.

Dr. Nimmo obtained a divorce ten years ago, but allowed his wife $600 a year, out of ample private means. His furniture was shipped to Toledo on Monday last. Miss Stewart came to the city to have work done by a dentist. She left a note there for a relative, telling what she had done and what was to follow her marriage.

Canon Loucks has been placed in charge of St. Mark's, Barrifield, temporarily. A regular appointment will probably not be made until changes occur in October. The vacancy and its circumstances have been reported to Bishop Mills, now in England The canon on discipline cannot be followed without his lordship's direction.

Fire In Timber Limit.

Port Hope, Aug. 3.—Fire, which broke out in the lumber limits of a Toronto lumber company, two miles north of Garden Hill, on Friday afternoon, and which has been raging fiercely ever since, is now under control. The limits contained one million feet of lumber, a large amount of which has been destroyed.

A portion of woods owned by John Worr was destroyed, also the woods owned by Samuel Ligget. The fire is said to have originated from the engine in the sawmill owned by C. J. Thornton.

About 40 residents have been fighting the flames at various periods until to-day. Smoke from the fire reached Port Hope. The loss suffered by the Toronto lumber company is partly covered by insurance.

Drowned At Pickering.

Pickering, Ont., Aug. 3.—Thomas Brown, a young man from Toronto, fell from a pleasure yacht Saturday evening and was drowned. The body was soon recovered, but all efforts to restore life were unavailing. The corpse was taken back to Toronto by boat. He lived with his widowed mother on Lippincott street.

SULTAN IS DARING.

He Goes Abroad In Constantinople For First Time In 32 Years.

Constantinople, Aug. 3.—A decree was read last evening before the sublime porte, solemnly upholding the constitution and enumerating all the exceptional measures of the old regime which it declared now have been completely abolished.

Abdul Hamed took a walk among the people in the streets for the first time since his accession to the throne in 1876. He was accompanied by a single official in plain clothes and returned to the Yildiz Kiosk unrecognized, as the people are not acquainted with his features and therefore did not know him.

As soon as the news of his remarkable departure from the habits of the Sultan became generally known there was a rush of Turks to the palace and much enthusiasm followed.

Izzet Pasha, the former sub-secretary of the Sultan, who a few days ago was given a post that amounted practically to exile, has succeeded in making his escape from Constantinople. He left the German Embassy at Therapia and boarded the British cargo steamer Maria, bound for Mediterranean ports. The young Turks made active efforts to stop the Maria, even applying to the British Embassy to compel the surrender of Izzet.

Break Through Bridge.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 3.—By breaking a temporary trestle on the Grand Trunk Pacific near Chipman, N.B., Saturday, an Italian, named Nick Accaddia, employed by the Toronto Construction Co., and three loaded cars, fell to bottom of a deep gully. The Italian being instantly killed.

Arm Crushed.

Belleville, Aug. 3.—Guerney Stevens of Greenbush, Prince Edward County, had his arm caught in a threshing machine, and it was broken and badly mangled.

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Mrs. J. M. Tweedale, 12 Napanee Street, Toronto, Canada, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was a great sufferer from female troubles, had those dreadful bearing down pains, and during my monthly periods I suffered so I had to go to bed. I doctored for a long time but the doctor's treatment failed to help me. My husband saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and got a bottle for me. I commenced its use and soon felt better. I kept on taking it until I was well and an entirely different woman. I also found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made childbirth much easier for me. I would recommend your Vegetable Compound to every woman who is afflicted with female troubles."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Tweedale, it will do for other suffering women.

NEW SUMMER HOTEL; NEW FISHING GROUNDS

Lakeview House for Good Fare—Loon Lake for Good Fishing.

The summer resort region in the vicinit of Peterborough is widening; every year new attractions are brought within reach of the tourist and pleasure seeker and fisherman. A new candidate for public favour is the Lake View House Hotel, at Loon Lake, one mile from Duck and Talent Lakes, serving a newly discovered fishing ground, Loon Lake, claimed to be the best fishing water in Ontario. This is shown by the fact that six of the guests of the new hotel, which, by the way, furnishes first class accommodation, in one hour this season captured one hundred fish. Loon Lake at the eastern end of which the hotel is situated, is twenty-five miles long. Its splendid fishing, in contrast with other waters, which are pretty well fished out, should cause a rush of anglers.

The Lake View House, conducted by Messrs. McCaskie and Bullied, is quite "up-to-date" in every particular. Though situated in easy reach of virgin fishing grounds, it has all the advantages of easy access and easy communication with the outside world. A first class road leads to Coe Hill railway station, and a bus from the hotel connects with every six o'clock evening train. There is telephone communication and a post office is at Clydesdale, Remember the Lake CView House, Loon Lake, when you want first class headquarters for first class fishing. Drop a postal card to Messrs. McCaskie & Bullied, Clydesdale.

THE LAKEVIEWERS WIN AGAIN

Defeated Wellingtons in Weird Exhibition On Saturday.

Only one game was played in the city league on Saturday, the Lakeviews defeating the Wellingtons by a wide margin. The score reported was 19—3 and the Wellingtons showed none of the form which characterized their game of a week ago. They were moreover handicapped by not having all their men in action. This, however, does not depreciate the work of the Lakeviews, who in the field and at bat put up a good exhibition. Mahoney was in fine shape in the box and the Lakeview fielders had practically nothing to do.

POST LEAGUE SERIES CONSIDERED

Petes Arranging to Meet St. Mary's of Toronto And Also Athletics for City Championship.

One more Midland League game is called for to be played at Riverside Park next Saturday when Cobourg meets the Petes. After that the local Midland League winners will likely play a series of three games with the winners of the City Amateur League, Toronto. The St. Mary's, it is understood, will, probably be the team and it arrangements are carried out the local fans will have a chance to see the Petes in action against the fast Queen City nine. Three games may be played between the Petes and Athletics for the city championship but nothing definite has been decided yet.

MORE GAMES IN NICHOLLS OVAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Men's singles—First round—
R. Best won from Easson by default.

2nd round—
F. Crossman won from R. Best—6 to 8, 6 to 2, 6 to 1.
G. Miller won from P. Might—6 to 4, 2 to 6, 6 to 3.
K. Crossman won from D. MacRae—4 to 8, 6 to 2, 6 to 2.

LAWN BOWLING.

A Frost trophy game was played on Saturday between Skips J. E. A. Fitzgerald and Dr. Holloway. The score follows—

Holloway 18, Fitzgerald 5.

The following scratch match was also played:

T.E. Fitzgerald	T.W. Mackenzie
S. Adams	C.D. Briggs
Dr. Caldwell	P.E. Wright
R. Waddell	W.S. Robinson
Skip..... 15	Skip..... 22

Two local rinks have gone to the opening of the new bowling green at Port Hope.

Three rinks from Bowmansville are playing with the local club this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

The Petes this season have played 11 league games, winning 9 and dropping 2. Altogether they have played 26 games and of these have won 24. Looks like playing some.

The highest score for the cigars presented by Mr. J. B. Hay of the Peterborough Bowling Club is now 126, made by Mr. S. Adams. With the duck pins, this is considered an excellent score and will likely be the record for some time.

The East City quoiting grounds are becoming more popular every day. On Saturday afternoon two knights of the horseshoe pitched one of the best games of the season, placing four shoes almost every time within the counting ring. The match was won by Mr. Eastman, the East City blacksmith, who made a fast finish with a ringer.

The Brandon baseball team now leads the Copper County League. Considering that the Wheat City is just experimenting with the professional ball proposition and has a population of only 12,000 inhabitants, it is doing remarkably well and the club will be able to pay a nice dividend at the close of the seaons. Now Mr. Peterborough ball fan, sit up and take notice.

At any rate you don't need to kick about the lack of fun that the city is providing. We have had baseball, lacrosse, tennis, cricket, and house-breaking this summer and next week you can see the ponies go, or go with the printers to Idyl Wyld on their eighth annual picnic. What do you want for ten cents?

Peterboro Aug. 3.—Andrew Freeborn, a Smith Township farmer, met a terrible death Saturday as a result of his team running away as he was drawing a load of milk.

The horses broke away from the wagon after an upset had occurred and the lines got tangled around Freeborn's body. He was unable to free himself and was dragged by the swiftly running horses over half a mile of a rough swamp road. He was terribly mangled and died a few minutes after the horses were stopped. He was 48 years of age and leaves a wife and several children.

Killed By Wagon.

Woodstock, Aug. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. William Lazenby, Centre street, this city, received a telegram Saturday morning stating that their son Frederick had been killed by being run over by a wagon in Chilliwack, B.C. Deceased was 40 years of age and unmarried.

PICTURE OF THE 48TH HIGHLANDERS

Local Man a Member of This Team of Crack Shots.

Mr. W A Elliott, the Hunter street photographer has shown the Examiner the picture of the rifle team of the 48th Highlanders of Toronto, of which he was a member for 15 years. He joined the regiment when it was formed and always took an active part in the marksmanship contest, besides being a sergeant. Pte. George Meade won the Governor-General's gold medal and two hundred dollars at Ottawa two years ago and the team, in fact, nearly won all the prizes. At the contests this month the 48th are expected to make another good showing.

RESPECT FOR NATIONAL ANTHEM

In a recent issue of the London Daily Mail Over-Seas Edition, a writer accuses Canadians of not showing proper respect during the singing of the National Anthem. His letter is as follows:—

Sir,—I am on my way home from a lengthened tour of the world, and have been very much shocked to see the way in which our National Anthem is received here.

At the races a few—very few—stood up when it was played, and only two men took off their hats. At a theatre my three companions and myself were the only people who stood up.—Yours faithfully,

"An Observant Traveller."

Government Report On The Fruit Conditions For July

Early Peaches and Grapes Reported Full Crops—Other Fruits Not Very Promising.

THE WEATHER FAVOURABLE

Mr. A McNeill, chief of the Fruit Division of the Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner's Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture has issued the following statement regarding fruit crops during July:—

Weather conditions in Canada have been favourable during the month of July for the fruit industry.

Apples are estimated somewhat lower for July than for June. Early and fall apples are estimated as slightly above medium. Winter apples at less than a medium crop. Quality good.

Pears are reported a light crop, except in British Columbia and southern Ontario, where a medium crop is expected.

Early peaches are reported a full crop.

Late peaches are reported light to medium.

Cherries have proved a medium crop and have sold at fair prices.

Plums are reported light generally. In British Columbia certain sections report a medium crop. In the Georgian Bay District three or four varieties promise well.

Grapes are reported a full crop.

Strawberries and Raspberries have been reduced by dry weather, but the average has been very good.

Insects and Fungous diseases are not so prevalent as usual.

The United States report prospects for a medium crop of apples, evenly distributed in season and territory. Peaches are a full crop. Other fruits good.

Great Britain has prospects for a medium crop of apples, other fruits being good.

BARRIEFIELD THE GRAVEYARD OF CLERICAL REPUTATIONS

Rev. J. H. Nimmo Elopes With One Of His Parishioners—First Wife Still Lives—An Unhappy Past.

MAY LOSE HIS ANNUITY

Examiner Special

Barriefield, Ont., Aug. 3. — The Diocese of Ontario and the parish of Barriefield have sustained like a shock and a loss in the departure of Rev. J H Nimmo, M.D., who has been a zealous rector and a popular leader. St. Mark's is one of the fine churches of Eastern Ontario, and stands alone, without substentations or outparishes, but through his energies and preaching ability, Mr. Nimmo sustained two services daily. Having a life annuity of $400, as one of a dozen sen or clergymen of the diocese, he was able to serve a single church and live comfortably. His previous parishes were Pittsburg, ten miles from Barriefield, Trinity Church in Brockville, and Rawdon, in Hastings. His abilities and social qualities were excellent recommendations.

It is not a pleasure to add that the rector left in company with Miss Agnes Stewart, one of his unmarried parishioners of very near middle age, and that he sent parting assurances to her family that they would be married upon reaching the United States. Dr. Nimmo has been separated from his wife for a number of years, and as an effect of the separation, spent several years in the United States—qualifying for a divorce, it was said. Possibly he obtained one, but it could not have been known here by the diocesan officials, or he would not have been received back with all privileges and benefits restored. His wife returned to Kingston this month from the east, as did also Dr. Nimmo, after a long visit to his son at Detroit, taken under medical advice.

The sudden death of a much beloved daughter had unnerved and almost prostrated him, and a vacation was enforced.

His second marriage, divorce or no divorce, will not be countenanced by the diocesan authorities, and deposition must follow. The departure of a married clergyman with an unmarried woman is a sufficient charge. The deposition will be attended by loss of the clergy commutation pension, the $400 a year, settled for life, with or without parish. Dr. Nimmo took the degree of doctor of medicine at Queen's while serving as priest in Pittsburg, and has lately made welcome sick calls (clerical) at the home of the lady in question, but there did not seem to be a particular affection between them. With all its advantages, Barriefield has been a graveyard of clerical lives and reputations.

Duck Hunting Prospects On Rice Lake Never Better

Many Young Ducks This Year—Fish Story About An Eel—Gamer Than a Dozen 'Lunge.

GORE'S LANDING NEWS

Examiner Special

Gore's Landing, Aug. 3.—The lovers of the grand sport of duck shooting state that present prospects for the coming autumn are fine, and that the opening of the season will find game plentiful in Rice Lake and the Otonabee. From Hall's Bridge down the young birds may be seen flying along the shores and feeding on the banks, and this fact has filled many a sportsman's heart with pleasure.

Mr. Frank Taylor and family and Mr. A. Vass and family, Peterborough, have gone home, after spending two weeks at the C. G. E. Anglers' cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Bellamy, Toronto, are with friends in the vicinity.

Mr. Eugene McNicholl, of the Bank of Toronto staff, Berlin, is holidaying with his mother, Mrs. (Dr.) McNicholl, Cobourg, and his sister here.

Mrs. Williams and Miss Viola Crank, Toronto, are at Keene, staying with Mrs. Wm. Kempt.

Mrs. O. B. Shepard, Toronto, is staying with her daughter, Mrs. (Dr) McWilliams, of Keene.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams entertained a party of friends on the steam yacht "Mermaid," on Saturday, calling at Harwood, Idyl Wyld, Gore's Landing and Wedlock's.

A well known banker was fishing on the Otonabee the other morning along with some other anglers. Getting an unusually vigorous bite he began to play it in a professional way. The rod swayed with the struggle and suddenly there appeared a big eel. The angler appeared satisfied, however, and stuck to it, and it was gamer than a dozen 'lunge.

Mr. T. R. Carman, organist of St. Peter's Church, Cobourg, Mr. M. D. G. Purser, and party from Cobourg are holidaying on Grape Island.

LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE STOPS TRAIN

Double-Header Loaded With Grain Cancelled at Midland.

The Midland Argus says that the local branch of the Lord's Day Alliance through their president, Mr. Jas. Hastings, stepped in on Sunday and prevented a double header loaded with grain from leaving Midland yard The train was made up ready to start when Mr. Hastings stepped into the station and forbade its removal. A despatch was forwarded to Allandale and word was received in a few minutes from the superintendent cancelling the train. The load was taken out shortly after midnight.

FIRE BRIGADE HAS TWO RUNS IN SUCCESSION

Nothing Doing in First and Blaze Out in Second.

The fire brigade were busy for a while yesterday afternoon. About three o'clock they called to answer an alarm sent in from box 59, but when they arrived at the scene they found it to be nothing but a false alarm. They had just entered the hall when they were called to Parker's Dye Works, but the employes had the fire out.

THE DRAWING HAS NO SANCTION

Person Collecting Money on a Drawing Contest Alleged to be in Aid of House of Providence.

While making the regular announcements at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning, Rev. Father McColl called attention to a drawing for which he had been informed some person was soliciting money. Whoever the individual was, he claimed that it was in aid of the House of Providence, and Father McColl stated that no authority had been given anyone for that purpose. The money was, therefore, being obtained without the proper sanction and under false pretences. Father McColl warned the people against these solicitations.

NO MORE FISHING BETWEEN LIFT LOCK AND NASSAU

Prohibited for Three Years by Order of Mr. E. Tinsley.

The Superintendent of Game and Fisheries has sent notices to Mr. Wm. Watt, Fishery Inspector, which point out that no fishing will be allowed on the Trent Canal waters between the Lift Loc kand Nassau for three years, beginning on the first day of August, 1908. The notice states that this stretch of water is set apart for the natural and artificial propagation of fish.

Rev. Father McColl Tells Congregation Of His Journey

Has Audience With His Holiness, The Pope—The Religious Situation in France.

ALSO VISITED IN IRELAND

At the 8 and 10.30 masses at St. Peter's yesterday, the rector Father McColl, spoke very interestingly of his visit to the old land, from which he returned Friday evening.

He said his vacation had been a delightful one and stated that he had seen many things that would interest a person in a religious and secular sense. The churches at Naples and Rome, he said, surpassed all his expectations. St. Peter's, Rome, was a particularly fine edifice, so grand in fact that it was impossible to give an adequate description of it.

It was one of the greatest privileges of his lifetime to be given an audience with His Holiness the Pope. The Holy Father was affable and friendly, and the reception he received was a most cordial one. The Pope was the possessor of a very strong personality, the power of which took hold of all who came in contact with him.

Rome, he said, was a beautiful city. He was impressed with the sacredness and sanctity of the place. It was impossible for anybody with a little religion to visit Rome and not be impressed with it.

Italy was a lovely country and the Italians were fine people. Their churches were the most beautiful in the world. The Italians were an artistic people, as is shown by their churches and by the world famous works of art of Italian masters.

In Switzerland, the next place Father McColl paid a visit to, about half the population was Catholic.

Religion in France

Special interest is attached at the present time to the religious situation in France. Father McColl said the Catholics in France were exceptionally good Catholics, and although they had been harassed there was now a religious revival taking place. The congregations of the churches were very large. He saw a church in Paris filled three times for one mass. This religious revival was probably due to the action of the Pope, who had adopted wise measures in dealing with the religious problem in France.

The speaker was delighted to see the old cathedral buildings in England, and the fact that they were still in a good state of preservation spoke well for the constructive skill and zeal of the Catholic forefathers in England.

Concerning Ireland

"I had a very fine visit to Ireland." It was a disgrace to the British Empire and to Protestantism that the old churches in Ireland should not be used by the Irish people, who were mostly all Catholics and not by Protestant worshippers, the small congregations of which only occupied a very small portion of these churches.

"The Irish people treated me with great hospitality, and I never received a more hearty welcome than I did in Ireland," said the reverend gentleman. He thought the English did not understand sufficiently the character and needs of the Irish people, but a large number of English were now more anxious to give Ireland more liberty.

STUMBLED ON THE DOCK AND WENT HEAD FIRST INTO RIVER

Those who were on board the steamer Otonabee on Saturday night as she arrived in port at the Wolfe street wharf witnessed a peculiar episode which for a few moments looked like a tragedy. A man named Stevenson, who is said to have hailed from Alnwick, was walking along the wharf, when suddenly he stumbled, and fell into the river.

In the fall he struck his head on the curb and received a cut which stunned him for a time. Assistance was at hand, and soon the unlucky individual was extricated from his holidaying at the lake.

The Dan Spence ambulance was called and Stevenson was removed to the Nicholls Hospital, where he yet remains. He was reported to-day to be getting along nicely.

A party who was in the neighbourhood of the wharf on Saturday afternoon stated that the man had gone to sleep beside the dock about 4 o'clock, and had awakened only a short time before the arrival of the boat.

CANOE CAPSIZES AND THE OCCUPANTS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

The Otonabee River was the scene of what was nearly a fatal accident yesterday afternoon about 3.30 o'clock. Mr. Eddie Pugh, in company with a friend, Mr. Henry Huffman, was canoeing a short distance below the Yankee Bonnet, when their canoe capsized. Mr. Pugh, not being able to swim, was in immediate danger of drowning, and, in fact, was sinking for the third time, when, providentially, Mr. Sheldon Huffman came to his rescue in his gasoline launch, and succeeded with considerable difficulty in saving him.

47th Anniversary Of His Ordination To Priesthood

Yesterday was the forty-seventh anniversary of His Lordship Bishop O'Connor's ordination to the priesthood. At St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday he made this announcement to his people and asked for the continuation of their prayers that God would spare him for many more years of active service. Entering upon his duties as a priest in 1861, he was raised to the position of Bishop in 1889, and celebrated his nineteenth anniversary on May 1st last.

Torontonians Flock To Stony Lake To Spend Their Civic Holiday In Pleasure

Many Attend Church Service—Concert Coming Off At "Glen Oak" In Aid of Piano Fund.

VICTORIA HOUSE DANCE

Examiner Special

Stony Lake, Aug. 3.—Though no ceremony, official or otherwise took place, the freedom of Kawarthadom was granted to Torontonians on Saturday, Sunday and on Monday, their Civic Holiday. Appreciation of this kindly feeling was shown by the large numbers who arrived on the up boats on Saturday.

Again the seating capacity of the Juniper Island pavilion was found incapable of accommodating the audience which gathered here on Sunday morning when Rev. J F Clokey, of Braddock, Pa., conducted the service. During the service excellent vocal solos were rendered by Miss Elsie Dixon Craig, Miss Trebilcock and Mr. Robt. Shaw, of Toronto.

A rare treat is in store for those who attend the concert to be given at "Glen Oak," the summer home of Mr. A L Davies on Wednesday evening Aug. 12th.

The programme will be presented by The Orpheus Quartette, of Toronto, composed of the artists, Bertha May Crawford, soprano; Elizabeth Campbell, contralto; R A Shaw, tenor, and Arthur Blight, baritone, and will consist of the Song Cycle, Liza Lehman's Daisy Chain and miscellaneous numbers. The proceeds will be in aid of the piano fund.

The usual Sunday evening song service was this week held at "Kiluna," the summer home of Hon. L H Grahame.

Dance at the Victoria

Basking in the sunny smile of Minnehaha of the west and conscious of the presence of the oriental Swastika, a truly cosmopolitan company of two score ladies and gentlemen tripped the light fantastic to the music of the "Merry Widow" waltz at the Victoria House on Wednesday evening. The event proved to be one of the most enjoyable ever given at that popular resort, due no doubt to the excellent management by the ladies. The company included, in addition to the guests, a number of their friends about the lake. The main floor of the house was thrown open on the occasion, dancing taking place in the spacious dining-room which, with the other rooms, had been artistically decorated with evergreens, flags, bunting and Japanese lanterns. Dainty, souvenir programmes, with birch bark cover bearing the Swastika and the words, "Minnehaha Dance, Victoria House, July 29, 1908," done in water-colour, were given out. During the evening light refreshments were served on the balcony. The following is the programme of the excellent dance music furnished:

MANY VISITORS AT HARWOOD

FORMER RESIDENTS HOME

Harwood, Aug. 3.—Special. — Miss Hilda Edmison has returned from Port Hope, after having a very pleasant visit.

Miss Pollock of Peterborough is visiting with her sister, Mrs. A. Johnson.

Some of our young people took in the excursion to Peterborough last Friday afternoon, and report a very pleasant trip.

Miss E. Haw of Dundalk is visiting at the home of her uncle, Mr. D. Stevenson.

The McQuinn family have been entertaining the people of this vicinity in Mr. Boyle's Hall every evening for the past week.

Miss Joan Carruthers is visiting friends in Midland.

Mrs. Hayes and three children of Rochester are renewing old acquaintances in this vicinity.

Miss Emma Clapperton and her friend, Miss Johnston, of Buffalo, are rusticating at the Clapperton homestead for a week or two.

Miss Florence Dowick of Cobourg and her friend, Miss Bolster, are spending the week in Harwood and vicinity.

It is alleged that fish are being openly sold around the lake, notwithstanding the fact that two fishery overseers live within plain view of the resort.

Miss Anna Buttars is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. A. Skeene, meeting a number of her former companions, who are all glad to see her again.

Mrs. T. Buttars, formerly of this place, but now of Cobourg, is renewing old acquaintances in the neighbourhood during the week.

HE ASKED AND GOT HIS THREE MONTHS SENTENCE

Mr. John Powers the Only Prisoner in The Dock This Morning.

City Clerk Armstrong disposed of the only case at the Police Court this morning. John Powers, an old offender with a very lengthy record, stood in the dock and pleaded guilty to the charge of vagrancy. With tears in his eyes he made a strong plea for a three months' sentence instead of the customary half year dose. The deputy Magistrate was visibly moved by the appeal and gave him what he asked for.

BARKER'S PRESENCE IN THE CITY NOT WANTED

Requested by the Magistrate to Leave as Soon as Possible.

John Barker, an Old Countryman, who has been nearly three years in the country, and the past week in Peterborough, was informed by Magistrate Dumble, before whom he appeared Saturday afternoon, that his presence in this city was by no means yearned for and was given just three hours to pack his portmanteau.

BE A CHARMING WOMAN

You never saw a beautiful woman who didn't have beautiful hair. The charms of a beautiful woman lie in her hair. Many women do not realize the attractions they possess because they do not give proper attention to the care of the hair.

The women of the "400" are famed for their beauty, not because their facial features are superior to those of other women, but because they know how to keep young by supplying vigour, lustre, and strength to the hair.

Up to a few years ago Parisian stage coul dhardly be obtained in America. But now this delightful hair restorer can be had in every town in America. Wm. Madill sells it in Peterborough for 50 cents a bottle, and he guarantees it to grow beautiful, luxuriant hair; to turn dull, lifeless hair into lustrous hair; to stop falling hair; to stop itching scalp. Understand, Mr. Madill will give you your money back if it fails.

TORONTO EXHIBITION OWNS 200 ACRES OF LAND

Excels the Great Franco-British Show In This Respect.

It is noteworthy that the Managers of the Franco-British Exhibition in London, England, advertise it as the greatest exhibition ever held in Great Britain. It covers one hundred and forty acres and possesses forty acres of buildings. The Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto can exceed these statistics in every way, possessing two hundred acres of ground, fifty acres of buildings and $1,500,000.00 worth of fire-proof structures. It is safe to say also that in the matter of attendance Toronto can beat great London, for returns show that the average attendance per day at the Franco-British Exhibition only reaches thirty odd thousand, while the attendance at Toronto averages to the eleven days during its existence fifty-five thousand per day.

THE FRUITS OF THE EARTH

Seem To Be Nature's Provision For Keeping Man Healthy and Warding Off Disease.

Cereals, vegetables and meat supply the elements needed for man's nourishment. Yet fruit — though it has very little food value—has proved to be absolutely necessary for perfect health.

Careful investigation has shown that all the common fruits act on the Liver, Kidneys, Bowels and Skin. These are the organs that rid the body of dead tissue and waste products, and the fruit juices stir them up to more vigorous action, thus keeping the whole body clean and healthy.

But few people eat enough fruit. Realizing this, after several years of experimenting, a prominent Canadian physician succeeded in combining the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes in such a way that the medicinal action is many times multiplied. Then he added valuable tonics and made the combination into tablets called "Fruit-a-tives." They are really Nature's cure for Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness and Stomach Troubles. Mild as Nature itself — but more prompt and effective. Sold by dealers at 50c. a box—6 boxes for $2.50—trial size box 25c. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

HOLOCAUST RAGING IN THE WEST

Fernie, Cranbrook and Other Towns Fireswept.

LOSS OF LIFE IS IMMENSE

Seventy Are Reported Dead in Fernie Alone and 6,000 Are Homeless—Damage May Reach Five Millions—Smaller Towns Fight Flames—Coal Creek Seems Doomed.

Winnipeg, Aug. 3.—The most dreadful conflagration in the history of Canada has swept the Elk River Valley in East Kootenay.

For 40 miles a tremendous bush fire has burned everything before it. It has held full and terrible sway since 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Estimates are that perhaps that 150 people have met death in the flames.

The following places have been destroyed:

FERNIE, with a population of 3,500.

COAL CREEK, with a population of 1,500.

MICHEL, with 50 inhabitants.

HOSMER, with 50 inhabitants.

An as yet unconfirmed report says Cranbrooke has fallen prey to the holocaust.

And other Crow's Nest Pass towns. Fernie is gone, but one despatch says that Hosmer and Michel are still fighting.

The homeless will number over 6,000.

The fatalities are growing hourly. In one case alone five families at Fernie were hemmed in and every soul perished. At least 70 lives are lost in Fernie, and only one house remains standing.

The property damage is between four and five million dollars, at least. The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company have $1,000,000 in property at Coal Creek, which is reported destroyed.

The disaster is unique in the history of Western Canada, for in the entire section of country the railways and bridges are swept away.

Last night at dusk the fire was still burning.

An earnest appeal for help has been sent out by the Mayor of Fernie, and it is only right that all Canada should know that help is badly needed at once.

At Whyte, both the Canadian Pacific and Great Northern Railways have suffered severely, losing rolling stock, depots, freight sheds and bridges. The Canadian Pacific has not yet handed out a statement, and as telegraphic communication is almost entirely interrupted, it is very difficult to get details of losses or news through as to whether there is any loss of life.

At Fernie it is known the C.P.R. lost its station, freight sheds, coal chute and water tank with about fifty cars, including one or more sleepers.

The fire raged fiercely at Hosmer, the coal mine centre, but by great efforts the town was saved.

So many bridges and culverts have been destroyed and have been warped and twisted by the great heat to such an extent that it must be a considerable time before traffic through the Crow's Nest can be resumed.

The Great Northern are just as badly if not worse crippled, having lost their big wooden bridge between Fernie and Michel with two or three train loads of coal and a large number of empty cars.

So far as can be learned Fernie is wiped off the map and Cranbrook is in little better shape, while other towns suffered to lesser extent.

A despatch from Cranbrook at midnight last night says:

At 4 p.m. to-day bush fire at Fernie got beyond control and spread to the City of Fernie, and in an incredibly short time made its way into a mass of flames, destroying the entire town with the exception of 17 dwelling houses, rendering over 5,000 persons homeless.

A force of 200 men are fighting desperately to save the town of Hosmer, but at this time it looks very doubtful.

In "The Old Town" inhabited by miners, it is thought is where most accidents occurred. It is very hard to make an estimate on the injured, but it will run well over a hundred.

Five families back from town are completely surrounded by flames, and there is no means of rendering them assistance.

It is reported the Great Northern bridge at Hosmer, B.C., is now burning, also 150 cars of coal and coke.

A first relief train left Cranbrook at 8 p.m., with doctors, nurses and supplies. A second relief train is leaving at midnight. Injured and homeless people being brought to Cranbrook, where arrangements are being made for their care.

The Mayor of Nelson has also been requested for assistance.

An unconfirmed report received in Winnipeg says that Michel has been completelp destroyed. A despatch this morning from Michel said: Forest fires which started Saturday, broke into the Crow's Nest Pass and spread up Elk River valley, have entirely wiped out the country, including towns, villages, mining and lumber camps, mills, railway stations and yards and other property, between here and Fernie and through to Cranbrook.

The known loss of life already amounts to a dozen and it is feared the loss may exceed any conflagration since the San Francisco fire, while the property loss may run over $5,000,000. The loss at Fernie alone, where only one building is left standing, is estimated at $2,000,000 to $3,000,000, and the Cranbrook loss will be nearly as heavy. The loss to the Canadian Pacific and Great Northern railways, and to the big lumbering and mining interests must be enormous.

For miles and miles through the country around there is one seething hell.

North and south of this town the flames are raging. A wall of flame girds it. Three thousand souls are grouped here, and if the wind changes and the fire turns from the Elk River Valley along the C.P.R. Nothing can save Michel. Canadian Pacific trains are ready to pull the population out to Crow's Nest if it comes to the worst, but it will be running a fiery gauntlet. All last night and all day the hills all around have belched smoke and flames.

Pete Campbell came in with three who were seriously burned trying to save the Sparwood Lumber Company's mill between here and Fernie. They have been taken to the hospital and will die.

Campbell said he left the manager, Mr. Forester, with his wife, and thirty men, fighting the flames. Word has come in that they have escaped, after great peril. The body of Pete Miller was found on the C.P.R. track charred.

Four bodies were taken into Nelson by a G. N. yard engine. Their lives were lost trying to save the big Elk River bridge on the Great Northern fifteen miles below here, but it was unavailing, as the structure was totally destroyed.

W. Carswell, assistant superintendent of the Grand Northern, has arrived here after making a journey on foot and by handcar from Fernie through the burned region. He left Fernie at 7.30, when, he said, the only building left standing was the fireproof warehouse of the Western Canada Wholesale Coal Co.

Tales of horrors are continually reaching here, but the people are wonderfully calm, notwithstanding eminent danger to every soul.

Lying Permissible, He Says.

Hamilton, Aug. 3.—Preaching last evening on the subject of "When, if ever, is it a duty to lie?" Rev. Dr. Lyle, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, said there were times in life when it was a duty to lie. The secret of Lord Robert's success was strategy, and strategy was lying. If a murderer entered your house and sought the lives of your loved ones, it was your duty to deceive him. It was also proper to deceive the enemies of society in business and social life, but it was always your duty to tell the truth if it were to your own hurt.

Engineer Was Asleep.

Newcastle, N.B., Aug. 3.—Investigation shows that Driver Robin Adair, whose engine collided with a train near here Saturday, doing much damage and fatally injuring a brakeman, was asleep in his cab.

Adair had orders to proceed from Newcastle to the yard a few miles away. Just before the yard was reached the collision occurred, and when the crew of the other train entered Adair's engine they found him fast asleep.

Both train and engine were going very slow, and the impact wasn't hard.

Fell From Vessel.

Parry Sound, Aug. 3.—Edward Walker, aged 29, of Shannonville, Ont., a cook on the tug Wahnapitae, was drowned at French River on Thursday night. He had dropped off the vessel, which was lying at the dock. He was unable to swim and was alone at the time.

LORD ROBERTS GOING BACK HOME

His Ill-Health Compels Him to Cancel His Trip.

LADY ROBERTS UNWILLING

Field Marshal On Advice of His Physician Goes to Ottawa Where He Will Spend a Few Days With Earl Grey At Rideau Hall, and Then Sails On Empress of Britain Aug. 7.

Montreal, Aug. 3.—Lord Roberts has canceled all western engagements and will sail from Quebec on the Empress of Britain on Friday next, for home.

The field marshal received a cablegram from Lady Roberts strongly urging her husband against the western trip, and this, coupled with his physician's advice, his lordship decided to return almost immediately.

several days, probably leaving for the ancient capital direct. As it is, it is not supposed that any great festivities will take place in Ottawa.

The field marshal was in pretty good health when he drove down to the station, Vice-President McNichol's private car being attached to the Vancouver regular train, and when the train moved out "Bobs" was the recipient of a very hearty cheer from those who had gathered to see the send-off. Very few knew, however, the hour of departure, and many thousands were deprived of the pleasure of wishing godspeed to the idol of the British army. Capt. Dawney, A.D.C. to the commander, and Lady Roberts were also of the party.

Before stepping on board the train Lord Roberts expressed his deep regrets to the people of Canada, in being compelled to cancel so many engagements and thus disappoint so many kind friends.

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—Lord Roberts arrived in Ottawa yesterday, but it has been decided to cancel plans for his proposed visit to Toronto, London and westward to Banff. He will remain in Ottawa till Friday next, when he will leave for Montreal, sailing from that city on Saturday, the 8th, on the Empress of Britain.

While no absolutely definite announcement has been made it is not expected that he will take part in any public functions apart from a state dinner which His Excellency Earl Grey will give in his honor. On the eve of his departure he may accept an address from the city.

Lord Roberts' decision not to make the attempt to carry out his program is based entirely on the condition of his health. He has been considerably shaken by the arduous round of entertainments in Quebec and Montreal and the intense heat, and feels that it would be unwise for a man of his years to take the long trip contemplated, with the public appearances it would involve.

Probably one thousand people had gathered at the Central Station when the Transcontinental train from Montreal to which Mr. David McNichol's private car the Metapedia with Lord Roberts and party on board pulled in. As soon as the crowd caught sight of Bobs a ringing cheer broke the stillness of the Sabbath.

Lord Roberts at once stepped into Earl Grey's private carriage and was driven direct to Rideau Hall. The members of his party were his daughter, Captain the Hon. Hugh Dawnay, and Lady Dawnay and Lady Aileen Dawnay.

Toronto, Aug. 3.—Deep regret was felt in Toronto when it was learned that Earl Roberts could not visit the city. Mayor Oliver has not, however, abandoned the hope that the field marshal may visit the city, and will try to have him pay an informal visit without any fatiguing round of ceremonies.

Engineer Decapitated.

St. Thomas, Aug. 3.—Harry Hulburt, a Michigan Central engineer residing at 28 Flora street, this city, was killed near Waterford yesterday morning.

He was struck by a sandpipe while leaning out of the cab window and running at a high rate of speed.

The blow was such that the man was decapitated.

Four Fall From Scaffold.

Toronto, Aug. 3.—Four men fell 20 feet with a collapsing scaffold while at work at 32 East Roxboro avenue Saturday morning. One of them, George Rignell, 442 Parliament, was so seriously injured that the ambulance was stopped on the way to the hospital to let his wife see him.

Tariff Reform Wins.

London, Aug. 3.—The bye-election consequent on the recent death of Sir W. Randal Cremer, the Labor member for the Haggerston (Shoreditch) division of London held Saturday resulted in a notable tariff reform victory.

At the general election the late member was returned by a majority of 411 and is now succeeded by his then opponent, the Hon. Rupert Guinness, the Unionist candidate, who was returned by a majority of 1,143 over the ministerialist supporter.

Bail For Buckborough.

Woodstock, Aug. 3.—Chester Buckborough, who was being held on the charge of burning the Queen's Hotel, Tillsonburg, in which a Toronto traveler lost his life, was released on bail Saturday afternoon, $5,000 bonds being furnished by an uncle and brother.

The crown attorney had refused to accept bail and the matter was laid before the Attorney-General, on whose instructions bail has finally been accepted.

Drowns In Humber.

Toronto, Aug. 3.—Because some over-modest person called out a warning that it was against the law to dive into the Humber naked, when several persons were preparing to go to the rescue, and because some overzealous person called out to a launch that was turning back, that everything was all right, "don't bother," the life of Thomas Fitzpatrick, aged 19, of 248 North Lisgar street, was lost in the Humber yesterday afternoon.

Fitzpatrick was drowned in plain view of a score or more of people, at about 4.20 o'clock, near the first bend of the river.

Candy Poisons Child.

London, Aug. 3.—Josephine M. Graham, aged 8, died at Victoria Hospital this morning as a result of being poisoned by eating a number of colored candies.

The little girl ate a large number of small candies and was taken very ill. The doctor in attendance states that the coloring used in the candies was poisonous, and being absorbed into the system, caused death.

Glass Goes Up.

Pittsburg, Aug. 3.—The price of window pane glass was advanced Saturday by the American Window Glass Company, the increase being 20 per cent. on single strength and 33 1-3 per cent. on double strength.

The advance, it is said, will be followed by an early resumption of operations in most of the glass factories.

Petes Defeat Athletics In Fast Game At Riverside

Score Was 7 to 1—Good Work by Both Clements and Quinlan—Home Run For Anderson.

THE GAME BY INNINGS

In a fair exhibition of baseball at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon the Peterboroughs demonstrated their superiority over the Athletics for the third time this season, defeating them by a score of 7 runs to 1. The game was a good one to watch, there being some very nice fielding on both sides. The features of the game were Edmunds' great throwing to second, catching man after man trying to get to the middle station, and also the work of Clements, who fielded his position perfectly and backed up his fielders in good style. For the Athletics, Quinlan pitched a splendid game, and Shea showed himself to be as good behind the bat as he is at short. Graham played his usual steady game at first, accepting some hard chances without an error. Anderson made one of the prettiest home runs of the season, lining the ball straight across the creek, it never being more than twenty feet from the ground.

Mr. Will Shaw of the Strathconas umpired the game to the satisfaction of both teams.

Game by Innings

First Innings—

Athletics—Shea struck out. Graham flied to Lawson. Connors also out. Hawkins to Lawson. No runs.

Petes—Burns hit safely. Murphy got a life on Mackrell's error. O'Brien flied out to Quinlan. Edmunds got a life on a pass ball by Rattray, and Burns and Murphy scored. Lawson was safe on Quinlan's error, and Edmunds scored. Anderson hit safely, but both died on the bases, Hawkins striking out and Craig flied to Shea. Three runs.

Second Innings—

Athletics—Rattray out, Clements to Lawson. Mackrell was safe on Hawkins' error, but next two struck out. No runs.

Petes—Clements went out, Shea to Graham. Burns flew out to Pilling. Murphy hit safely. O'Brien was safe on Mackrell's error but both were left on base on Edmunds' out, Quinlan to Graham.

Third Innings—

Athletics—Pilling struck out, Quinlan hit safely, and Shea followed with another, but Graham and Connors were out, Anderson to Lawson. No runs.

Petes—Lawson flied out to Flaherty. Anderson lost the ball over the creek for a home run. Hawkins followed with a hit. Craig struck out, and Clements went out, Rattray to Graham. Petes 4, Athletics 0.

Fourth Innings—

Athletics—Rattray got a base on balls. Mackrell flew out to Lawson. Callaghan was out, Clements to Lawson. Flaherty hit safely, but was caught trying to steal second by Edmunds' perfect throw to Anderson.

Petes—Burns out, Graham to Quinlan. Murphy struck out. O'Brien was safe on Pilling's muff, and went to second. Edmunds got a base on balls. O'Brien scored while Edmunds stole second Lawson flied out to Graham. One run.

Fifth Innings—

Pilling flew to centre and the ball got past Burns, the runner going to third. Quinlan out, Hawkins to Lawson. Pilling scored on Shea's safety. Graham flew out to Murphy, who doubled Shea at first.

Petes—Anderson out, Quinlan to Graham. Hawkins out to Graham. Craig flew out to Flaherty. Petes 5, Athletics 1.

Sixth Innings—

Athletics — Connors got a life but was caught stealing second Crowley struck out. Mackrell hit safely, but was out attempting to purloin second.

Petes—Clements out, Quinlan to Graham. Burns was out trying to get second. Murphy went out, Rattray to Graham.

Seventh Innings—

Callaghan struck out, Flaherty out Hawkins to Lawson. Pilling was safe on Lawson's error, but Quinlan struck out.

Petes—O'Brien struck out. Edmunds hit safely and went to second on a passed ball Lawson struck out. Anderson hit safely and Edmunds scored. Hawkins out, Mackrell to Graham. Petes, 6; Athletics. 1.

Eighth Innings—

Petes—Craig out, Rattray to Graham. Clements hit safely and went to third on Rattray's muff of Burns' drive. Burns out at second. Clements scored while Murphy was being caught between first and second Petes 7, Athletics 1.

Ninth Innings—

Rattray flew out to Lawson. Mackrell struck out, and Callaghan was an easy out, Clements to Lawson. Petes 7, Athletics 1.

WHAT HAPPENED THE CANADIAN MARATHON RUNNERS A MYSTERY

NOTE ON THF BIG EVENT

In writing to the Toronto Star, Lou Marsh tells the story of the defeat of the Canadian Marathon runners in England in the following words:

Because I could find no reasonable explanation for the defeat of the Canadian team in the Marathon in the wretched time of 2.55.18, I delayed writing the story of the race until this morning, and even now I have to confess that I am beaten for an explanation.

I went to Billy Sherring, the coach, but even he in his road-racing wisdom could not tell me more than the runners, who said:

"We simply could not run."

Figuring it out

Now, let us look the situation over. Here is a race won by Dorando—the Italian, who was disqualified afterwards—in 2.55. He beat Fred Simpson, our Mississauga Indian, who a week before ran 20 miles in 1.58, a clip which would have brought him the full Marathon distance in 2.33, and yet the best Simpson could do was 3.04.28 1-2. Close behind Simpson the trial day, ran Harry Lawson, who did 20 miles in two hours, or 2 1-2 miles in about 2.40—Lawson, who did 25 miles in the Canadian trial Marathon in 2.32, over desperate roads, on a scorching hot Canadian day, and finished it undistressed. Yet Harry Lawson was beaten and finished weak in body.

Longboat's Downfall

Then take Tom Longboat—the redoubtable redskin, whose name was on on every lip. Longboat, who could clip off those 26 miles in 2.30 if howere in his prime, went to the mark apparently in the pink of condition, yet he blew up and fell unconscious on the road, while apparently running well within himself, though at that he had battled his way into second place.

And so on down the line.

Jack Caffery, the veteran, who saved himself and did not let any early foolishness run away with his pace judgment, Eddie Cotter, and, in fact, all of them were beaten by something unknown—something strange and inexplicable. Canada's great team of long distance runners fell a victim to something—they know not what—and the only satisfaction they can draw is that they beat England's best on their own roads. They had to give place to Yankee runners, whom they have beaten time and again on their own continent.

The thing is utterly beyond my comprehension. The more I revolve it over the more puzzled I become.

The weather was not oppressively warm—at least we had none of the fierce July heat we have in Canada, the roads were smooth and hard, no loose stones to dodge, no dust or ruts to gallop over. No leaping of ditches from road to sidewalk and back to sidepaths, such as we get at home, nothing to do but run over these beautiful roads winding through quaint little villages and cool leafy lanes, yet the boys could not run with anything like their usual speed and courage. But to get back to the story of the race.

Twenty Seven Finished

Fifty-five men started and only twenty-seven finished.

When the pistol was fired Art Burn, the Calgary runner, sprang to the front at a hot clip, but before two miles had been covered, Jack, Price, Lord and Duncan, the Englishmen, with Hefferon, the South African, and Dorando, the Italian, who was the first to cross the tape, were leading. Jack in front was cutting off a pretty fair clip, having done the five miles under 56 minutes.

Tom Longboat was next up, 200 yards back, running strong Doc Morton, the Toronto cyclist, and I, who were his attendants, picked him up and away we went. The Indian was running his own race, and we did not bother him. As we travelled on mile after mile, Morton kept to and fro between the leaders and the Indian.

"They are running as if the devil himself were behind," he said finally, and I pilgrimaged forward to see for myself.

Sure enough, there they were, running like terror-stricken men. I told Tom.

"I ketch 'em," he grunted. "I kill them," and sure enough he did.

At nine miles Price fell by the wayside and we passed him as his attendants rubbed him down. Then Beale, the Englishman, came up from behind and joined Tom. Tom grinned and stuck like a leech when the Britisher urged on by his friends, tried to leave him. Beale hung on for five miles, and during that time, Jack, Duncan and Lord collapsed.

"You're whacked Longboat!" was the incessant cry of the thousands along the route, but Tom only grinned and strode on.

Then around a bend the red pants of the Italian Dorando caught our eye. Tom watched him a while and then steadily cut him down. Twice the Italian came back, but at 18 miles the Indian had been well beaten and Hefferon, tiring fast, was only 300 yards ahead.

"It's all over but the cheering," said Doc Morton and Tom Ianagan had gone on to the Stadium, content that Longboat would win, when suddenly, with a slight premonitory warning, the Indian staggered, threw up his hands and fell senseless across my wheel.

We gave him champagne, and were busy bringing him around, when a Marathon medical officer arrived and refused to let him go on.

"He's dead beat, and I won't let him start on," he said, though he acknowledged that Tom's heart and pulse were strong.

Tom said afterwards that he suddenly lost all sense.

"I think it's the heat that got me," he said. He went to the Stadium in a car.

It was a tough blow to Flanagan and the Indian felt blue, but there wasn't anything to do. We all felt that the Indian had gone back, but as the minutes rolled by, and we saw that England's best went down, and the others were making no time, we felt that it wasn't the Indian who had gone back, but that he had succumbed to strange weather conditions.

So much for Longboat, who followed the leaders, and experienced the hot early pace.

The Other Runners

How about Bert Goldsboro, Harry Lawson and Fred Simpson, who laid back in the second brigade and refused to be dragged out at a hot clip? They fared no better. Before 15 miles had been covered they were stopping to walk. Even Simpson, cared for by so good a man as Billy Sherring, couldn't make a showing. He had no speed or ginger at all. Good old Harry Lawson clung on gamely, but he, too, weakened, and back behind them Jack Caffery, Eddie Cotter, George Lister and the rest of them, who were depending on stamina alone to give them a place, and were only running nine miles an hour, weakened just the same.

W. H. Wood, of Brantford, who got fifth place, was the only chap who could run at all and it was sheer grit that pulled him through. He took it easy at first, battled off the attack of weakness without stopping to walk, and in the last ten miles started to come, but just when all the men in front were weak and he wanted to come on and win his legs cramped, and he could not do more than a dog trot. This Woods is a game lad. He didn't even stop to have his legs rubbed.

But to get back to Dorando, the Italian. After they took Longboat away Doc Morton and I went ahead to aid the nearest Britisher, for the Yankees—Hayes, Forsham and Welton were coming fast. We caught up to Hefferon, who was leading two miles out, and found his trainers stuffing him with bananas and lemons. We protested, give him a little champagne, and got him going again, but a little while later his stomach gave out and the Italian came by a whooping. This little black ball and muscle, ran like a machine until he turned into the exhibition gate. There he weakened fast. In the next hundred yards over soft cinders he staggered and tripped.

"He's gone," yelled Morton, and we rushed for him, because with Hefferon out we wanted anyone else to win. His attendants picked him up and started him on, but he only reached the entrance when he fell in a faint. Morton promptly pinched his ears and kept him away, while the rest of us rubbed his legs and stomach. Before his legs were right the Italian's attendants started him on and the result was he lost the race.

Inside the Stadioum

Inside the Stadium a runner is allowed no one. Upon the cinder course staggered the Italian, his legs bowed and his head back. He was game, but his legs wouldn't carry him, and amid the groans of the 75,000 people he sank again. Again he staggered to his feet, went on a few yards, and again he went down. Meanwhile down the road came Hayes, and urged on by his friends, he tried to catch the Italian. Dorando struggled on to within a few yards of the tape and fell again. The Yankee was coming strong on the other side of the track when the Italian's friends lifted him up and with a man on each side he staggered across the tape, only to be disqualified. Talk about your bull fights. If anything is more cruel than this race was yesterday, I don't want to see it. That finish fairly wrung tears from our eyes—and yet the poor Italian was disqualified and Hayes, the American, won the finish.

THE CITY LEAGUERS ON RIVERSIDE

Strathconas and Lakeviews May Play Next Saturday.

Next Saturday the Strathconas and Lakeviews are scheduled to play on the Oval, but an effort will be made to have the game played on Riverside Park. Providing neither of the big league teams are playing and the managers of the grounds are agreeable the game will be pulled off as the two city league teams are willing to clash on Riverside.

(3) Districts 'D' and 'E'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, being at the western end of Fauquier Bros'. Abitibi contract, in the Province of Ontario, in a westerly direction for a distance of about 104.34 miles. Date of completion, 31st December, 1910.

(4) District 'E'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, about sixty miles west of the easterly boundary of District 'E', in the Province of Ontario, easterly to the end of Fauquier Bros.' contract, north of Lake Nepigon, a distance of about 100 miles. Date of completion, 31st December, 1910.

(5) Districts 'E' and 'F'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, at the western end of Fauquier Bros.' contract north of Lake Nepigon, in the Province of Ontario, westerly to a point at or near Dog Lake, a distance of about 138 miles. Date of completion, 1st September, 1910.

(6) District 'F'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners at or near Dog Lake, in the Province of Ontario, to a point at or about mile 2.6 west of what is known as Peninsula Crossing, by alternative routes as shown on the plans, a distance of about 33.76 miles by the northerly route, and 24.13 miles by the southerly route, the selection of the route to be at the option of the Commissioners. Date of completion, 1st September, 1909.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made in duplicate, and on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners. A separate tender must be submitted for each section.

Tenderers shall not be in any way entitled to rely upon the classification, or any other information given by any person on behalf of the Commissioners and before submitting any tender, bidders should make a careful examination of the plans, profiles, drawings and specifications, and read the forms to be executed, and fully inform themselves as to the quantity and quality of materials, and character of workmanship required; and are understood to accept and agree to be bound by, the terms and conditions in the form of contract, specifications, etc., annexed to the form of tender.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion of Canada, payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway as follows:—

" " 2,	" C'	150,000
" " 3,	" D' & E'	150,000
" " 4,	" E'	150,000
" " 5,	" F' & F"	200,000
" " 6,	" F"	100,000

Any person whose tender is accepted shall within ten days after the acceptance thereof furnish such additional approved security as may be required by the Commissioners; sign the contract, specifications, and other documents required to be signed by the said Commissioners; and, in any case of refusal or failure on the part of the party whose tender is accepted to complete and execute a contract with the said Commissioners, and to furnish the additional approved security within ten days after the acceptance of the tender, the said cheque shall be forfeited to the Commissioners as liquidated damages for such refusal or failure and all contract rights acquired by the acceptance of the tender shall be forfeited. The cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as part of the security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

'All mechanics, labourers, or other persons who perform labour for the purposes of the construction of the works hereby contracted for, shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the district in which the work is being performed, if there is no current rate in such district, then a fair and reasonable rate, it shall be determined by the Commissioners, whose decision shall be final.'

'This agreement is subject to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labour, and which are, or shall be, applicable to such work.' (The schedule of minimum wages determined upon by said Department will form part of the contract).

'The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said work, as far as practicable, use only material machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, provided the same can be obtained as cheaply, and upon such good terms, in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price.'

The contractor shall conform to the fire regulations adopted by the Commissioners, and also to the laws and regulations respecting fires in the different provinces wherein the work is being performed.

By order,

P. E. RYAN, Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

CATTLE MARKET DULL LAST WEEK

Mr. H. P. Kennedy Shipped Eight Carloads of Live Stock to Montreal —Prices Down.

Last week Mr. H P Kennedy shipped eight cars of livestock to Montreal, notwithstanding the quiet condition of the market. The week was an excessively hot one, which no doubt helped to depress transactions.

"But I'm not happy a minute unless I'm on the go," was the very forcible and quite truthful admission of Mr. Kennedy.

"How were prices last week?"

Mr. Kennedy said the price paid for export cattle was 4 1-2 to 5c and for butchers' cattle 2 1-2 to 4c, live weight. The price of lamb dropped one cent, 5 1 2c per lb. live weight, being the highest paid in Toronto. Sheep, 3 to 3 3-4c.

TO CONSIDER AID FOR FERNIE

Finance Committee Have Matter in Hand —Other Cities Assisting.

The Finance Committee of the City Council will consider the proposal made last night at the council meeting by Ald. Morrow to send aid to those who have been rendered homeless by the disastrous Fernie fire. Ald. Morrow pointed out that Toronto was sending $5,000, Hamilton $500 and he considered Peterborough should do its share with the others. Ald. Elliott was in favour of sending something to eat as was done in the case of the San Francisco blaze. Ald. Morgan believed it was time enough to send assistance when asked to do so. Ald. Turner moved that $100 be sent by Peterborough, but the motion of Ald. Johnston and Phelan, that the question be left with the Finance Committee with power to act, carried.

BICYCLE COLLIDED WITH BUGGY

Miss Watt Injured Yesterday Afternoon —In Nicholls Hospital.

Yesterday afternoon while wheeling down George street opposite Robt. Fair & Co's store, Miss Watt, an employee of the Post Office, was rather seriously injured in a collision. A buggy by the side of the street suddenly turned as she was passing. She was knocked off the wheel and her knee injured.

Dr. Burnham was called in to attend her after the accident and found she was suffering from a badly injured knee and sent her to Nicholls Hospital in the Dan Spence Ambulance.

BEAUTIFUL SUN SPOT DISPLAY NOW ON VIEW

The hot wave, which has been boiling humanity quite recently, may be referred to some sort of celestial circus giving a continuous performance on the sun's photosphere. Dr. Marsh, F.R.S., Springville, reports the existence at the present time of a beautiful display of maculae on the sun's face. It is visible to the naked eye by the aid of a smoked glass. Dr. Marsh has taken measurements and will report the dimensions of the sun's spots, which he has also photographed, using the sun's own light to take a picture of his disfigured face, suggesting the poetic fate of the eagle whose wing feather plumed the shaft that pierced his breast.

NEW BARBER SHOP TO OPEN IN THE MORNING

HALF A CENTURY PASSES BY SINCE AYLMER STREET WOMAN HEARS FROM LONG-LOST BROTHER

Amaziah Schwerdfeger Joined The South In United States Civil War —Taken a Prisoner—Released And Went Out To Sea.

LETTER COMES YESTERDAY

It was more than fifty years ago since Amaziah Schwerdfeger, brother of Mrs. A. Peters, 120 Aylmer street, had been heard of by his friends. Yesterday a letter from him, which contained a scanty number of lines, reached his sister here, who had thought him dead half a century ago.

The story of his early life, so far as Mrs. Peters knows of it, is an eventful one. His home was down near Belleville, from where he left fifty years ago to join the rebel forces of the Southern United States against the North in their great civil war. He was taken a prisoner, and for some time was apart from the outside world. Upon his release he joined a sailing vessel. Before putting out to sea, however, he sent word to his home that he would return to see his friends on his arrival back to New York again.

Since that time until yesterday his sister has had no news of him. It has been long considered that either drowned at sea or killed on land and it was, therefore, welcome news that Mrs. Peters received yesterday when she learned of his existence after so long a lapse of time. He wrote from "Mariner's Harbour, Richmond County, Staten Island, N.Y."

His letter was merely an inquiry as to whether his sister resided here or not. Mr. Schwerdfeger is more than seventy years of age. It is a peculiar fact that another brother of Mrs. Peters' was also quite a wanderer. He had not been heard of for some time until a short time ago when his friends located him in British Columbia.

Many Attend Funeral Of Unfortunate Smith Farmer

Supposed to Have Been Lighting His Pipe When Accident Occurred—Body Horribly Mutilated.

CAUSE OF THE RUNAWAY

Examiner Special.

Young's Point, Aug. 4.—The funeral of Mr. Andrew Freeburn, who met such a tragic death on Saturday near here, was held yesterday to the Lakefield cemetery. Friends from far and near paid their last respects to the memory of the deceased, and when the funeral cortege passed through the village there were more than one hundred vehicles in the long procession.

The unfortunate man's body was horribly mutilated in its travels through the swamp where Mr. Freeburn lost his life. Details of the sad affair indicate that his ribs were broken, as well as his arms and legs, and his face was badly disfigured.

Lighting his Pipe

The supposition is that Mr. Freeburn was lighting his pipe, prior to the runaway, which presumably was caused by the sudden approach from behind of another milk waggon which made considerable noise. A jack knife, tobacco and pipe were found along the road later lines were wound around his wrist, which lends colour to the supposition that Mr. Freeburn was lighting his pipe. His team was stopped at Mr. Robert Duff's gate and a few moments later the last spark of life had fled.

Young's Point residents all knew Mr. Freeburn well and they deeply regret that such an untimely death should have befallen his household.

OTONABEE ATHLETIC CLUB INAUGURATE A FIVE-MILE ROAD RACE FOR CIVIC HOLIDAY

Next Monday—Peterborough's civic holiday—will see the inauguration of a five mile road race to be run under the auspices of the Otonabee Athletic Club. The club has been considering this step for the past week or more, but only last night was the final decision reached.

The race will be open to Peterborough county with a view to finding out the younger long distance runners so that they will have an early training. Any, therefore, 17 years of age and under are eligible to enter. Two prizes—a silver and a bronze medal—have been purchased by the club and will become the property of the two leaders in the race.

The course has yet to be chosen, but the finishing tape will be somewhere in the vicinity of the Lock's Bridge. The winners of the race will be starters in the Examiner road race on Thanksgiving Day.

Otonabee, it is stated, has some strong five milers, and next Monday they will be given an opportunity to test their mettle.

Entries for the event, which begins at 9 a.m., will be received up to Saturday night by the secretary, H. T. Huston, at the Examiner office.

HAVELOCK HOUSE BURNS WHILE THE OCCUPANTS ARE ABSENT

Examiner Special

Havelock, Aug. 4.—Fire completely destroyed the residence of James Kellar, Old Havelock, this morning about 4 o'clock. The occupants were away at the time and the blaze had got considerable headway before it was detected. House, contents and all were consumed by the flames causing a loss of probably more than $800.

The origin of this fire is believed to have been from a defective electric wire. A small portion of the loss is covered by insurance.

Runaway Team Hit Buggy; The Driver's Narrow Escape

Mr. Wm. Pethick, of Smith, had another narrow escape in a runaway accident yesterday. A short time ago his team ran away while at work in one of his fields, and last evening near Bridgenorth he was struck by a runaway team belonging to Mr. Thos. R. Mann. They had been standing in front of the blacksmith shop at the village, when suddenly they started to run away. Mr. Pethick, so the report says, was on his way home. There was a high wind blowing and he did not hear the oncoming horses until they were close at hand.

He immediately endeavoured to drive to one side of the road, but did not entirely escape. The waggon tongue struck his buggy on one side, tearing it and bending the support. The carriage was nearly overturned and Mr. Pethick jumped out, thinking it would be thrown on its side. Fortunately his horse remained quiet but Mr. Mann's team ran three miles before they were stopped.

City Has Bank Account To Its Credit Of $27,192

At the council meeting last night Ald. Morrow called attention to the state of the city's financial condition at the present time. He stated that the city's bank account had been covered and that the city had now to its credit a considerable amount.

The Examiner this morning secured from him the exact figures as shown by the tax collector's books and the bank account. In 1907 on the first of August the amount of taxes collected was $100,857, while this year up to the same time $110,306 were received, making a difference of almost $10,000 more this year than last. In 1907 the total amount of taxes on the roll was $180,000, while this year the amount reaches $160,000. The city has now a bank account to its credit of $27,192.

GASOLINE INSTEAD OF WATER USED

Brother of S. R. Banks Poured Gasoline Over Red Hot Iron—Died From Injuries.

Examiner Special

Hagersville, Ont., Aug. 4.—George Banks, expert machinist, of Brantford, and manager for J. H. Head, who was burned yesterday in the disastrous gasoline explosion at Head's shop, died last night at 8 o'clock. He was conscious to the last. He said he made a mistake and turned the gasoline instead of the water on the red hot iron. His body will be taken to Brantford for burial to-morrow. Banks leaves a sister in Brantford and a brother in Peterborough to mourn his loss.

Car Had Travelled All the Way From Rochester, N.Y.

An auto party from Young's Point, consisting of Mrs. H. B. McKay, of Rochester; Mrs. Frank Burgess, Lakefield; Miss Lottie and Mr. Harry Kearney, Young's Point, was in the city to-day. They came down for a jaunt in Mrs. McKay's car which travelled the 300 miles by road from Rochester to the Lakeview House at the Point. The journey was completed in two days.

FOREST WEALTH.

The forest wealth of Canada is not only supremely important from a commercial standpoint, but, as the source and regulation of the immense water-powers, which are our national pride, which taken in conjunction with our vast stores of raw material and our splendid and continuously expanding transportation system, must make the Dominion a great manufacturing country. The average Canadian, while, doubtless, appreciating the value of our forest resources, has, perhaps, an exaggerated idea of their extent and permanency. He will be surprised to learn that our "inexhaustible" forest resources are in danger of being exhausted in the near future. Considering the demands made upon our forest supply, and the lamentable destruction inflicted by forest fires, the need of a sane and comprehensive policy looking to the conservation and reproduction of our forests, becomes evident.

To this end, the Canadian Forestry Association is striving to make our people comprehend the serious consequences of forest waste and to awaken an intelligent public opinion that will, in a way, compel systematic action looking to the preservation and wise use, as well as reproduction, of our forest wealth. The Association, in pursuance of this object, has issued a booklet setting forth Canada's commanding position in regard to the possession of forest areas. This consists of the printed opinions of European students of forestry generally, and of the Canadian situation. While these authorities unite in conceding to Canada very enviable possessions of this character, the appreciation is accompanied by a note of warning as to the danger of serious impairment of our source of supply. The subject is an important one, and much more worthy of public attention than is generally appreciated. The reproduction of the closing appeal of the little booklet of the Forestry Association, which should be in every hand, under the heading, "For Every Good Citizen," is worthy of reproduction and studious perusal:—

The forestry movement should appeal to all Canadians. Canada has been blessed by Providence with a wealth of forest. It has interwoven itself in her poetry and her history. It clothes with beauty her sterile lands, making them productive and giving healthy occupation to a happy people. In the advance of the civilization of the nineteenth century, two-thirds of this forest has been swept away by fire, uselessly and needlessly. Rocky and sandy wastes have been bared and left desolate. Is this all the intelligence of man can do? Has the twentieth century no other purpose to accomplish? Will the close of another cycle find the destruction much more surely and completely established? Or will the expiration of another hundred years find the forests clothing the rocky hills and valleys with their beautiful verdure, well-ordered, productive, abounding in wealth for the state, furnishing the needs of Canada and, the regions beyond, supporting a hardy and intelligent populace, forming a shelter for the wild animals and a pleasant resort for the people? The accomplishment of such a purpose is well worthy of the support of all patriotic citizens, of all who love their native land and have a genuine interest for its future. Such is the purpose which the Canadian Forestry Association has set before it as the idea for Canada, for which it purposes to work and for which it appeals for support.

A GOOD SHOWING.

The Review is vexing its righteous soul greatly over what it considers a heterodox article about "Sensible Religion," printed in the Examiner, and taken from Toronto "Saturday Night," as a sample of the religious vagaries of our neighbours to the south of us.

While we in Peterborough feel to some extent and in some ways the effects of the financial dullness, it would appear that the citizens generally, are not very seriously troubled by lack of funds. Up to the first of August the amount paid in of the first instalment of taxes for 1908, which total $160,000, as against $136,000 last year, was $110,206. Last year the payment on account of the first instalment of taxes up to August 1st, amounted to $100,557, some $10,000 less than the total amount paid in this year up to August 1st. It is also stated that the city has to its credit in the bank the sum of $27,192. Conditions are therefore, fairly satisfactory in Peterborough.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Look here, who would be elected King of the world to-morrow if there was an election for every mother's son on the globe? Roosevelt? Hughes? Not for a minute. But who? King Edward! There's the most popular man in Christendom. And why? Just because he's the sort of man I say ought to lead a nation—a big man, a broad man, a man who knows the whole game, and not a part of it, an all-round gentleman, who enjoys a fair game and understands the poor tipster in the two-bob ring as well as the rich man somewhere else doing the same thing. No, sir; there's more freedom, actual freedom here in Ireland to-day than there is in New York. And men like Roosevelt and Hughes are the cause of it.—Richard Croker.

Considerable comment has been caused by the Provincial election being arranged in Saskatchewan a year before it was due. The explanation given appears a satisfactory one. A redistribution bill was passed during the last session, not merely redistributing the seats but also adding largely to their number. It is good constitutional doctrine to have an election as soon as possible after such a measure becomes law as only in that form can a representative assembly claim to be really representative of the people. This was done in Ontario last June and nobody quarrelled with the decision of the Ontario Government in this regard. The late Parliament in this province had one more year to run if it had gone its full term. Conservative critics are inconsistent in condemning the action of the Saskatchewan Government in bringing on the elections under the circumstances.

SOME SCHOOL STATISTICS.

Some interesting comparisons in regard to the public schools are made in the annual report of the Minister of Education for 1907. The school population of the province in 1908 is given as 595,257—an increase of 17,225 over the preceding year. The total number of enrolled pupils in 1906 was 448,992, as compared with 446,494, in 1905—an increase of 2,498. The total daily average attendance in 1906 was 267,252, the percentage of average attendance to total number attending being 59.52. In 1905 the daily average attendance was 264,107 and the percentage 59.15.

The attendance at rural schools continues to exceed that at urban schools, the figures for 1906 being: Rural, 247,029, or 55.22 per cent. of the total, and urban, 201,063, or 44.78 per cent. But while for five years the percentage of rural attendance has steadily declined, that of urban attendance has increased.—London Advertiser.

CONTROL OF PUBLIC LANDS.

The Mail and Empire says that in the west the provinces are deprived of their public lands. In answer to this charge it is pointed out that the Crown lands in the west never belonged to the provinces; that they were bought by the Dominion for a million and a half of dollars; and that the Dominion Government also extinguished the Indian titles, made surveys, maintained the mounted police, and subsidized railways for the benefit of the west. It is said that it is a question of expediency whether the provinces shall have the lands or shall receive from the Dominion Treasury an increase in the cash subsidy equivalent to the estimated revenue from the lands.

In the early stages of development there are reasons for allowing the control of the lands to remain with the Dominion Government, in order that there may be a uniform policy as to immigration and settlement.—Toronto Star.

RETURNS TO VISIT HIS OLD HOME

Dr. Jas. A. Gillespie Likes Life in British Columbia.

Dr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Gillespie and family, of Cumberland, B. C., have been visiting at Mrs. E. R. Wilson's, Burnham street, sister of Dr. Gillespie. Dr. Gillespie is an old Peterborough boy and has been renewing acquaintances with old friends. He sees a great change in the progress of Peterborough. Dr. Gillespie has been in Montreal for nine years, and left for British Columbia, where he has resided for the last seven years. While pleased and gratified with the progress of Peterborough he thinks there is no place like British Columbia. The valleys and mountains are all rich and the timber forests are unequalled. The climate is all that could be desired, and the coal fields are of the best.

MANY WOMEN FOR THE WEST

Left on the Homeseekers' Excursion This Morning.

The C.P.R. passenger traffic has been particularly brisk since Saturday night, due to Monday being Toronto's Civic Holiday. The evening trains on Saturday all carried extra coaches. This morning a special home-seekers' excursion left for the West and took on a large number of persons at the local station. Among them were many women who chose this trip, saying that they could not very well go with the harvesters later on. The train was a long one and a fine class of people were on board.

A Boon to the Bilious

Are you compelled to deny yourself many wholesome foods because you think they make you bilious? Do you know that your condition is more to blame than the foods? Your liver and stomach need attention more than the diet. When you find yourself suffering with a bilious attack, take and all annoying symptoms will soon disappear. They settle the stomach, regulate the liver and exercise the bowels. Their good effects are felt immediately.

Beecham's Pills mingle with the contents of the stomach and make easy work of digestion. The nourishing properties of the food are then readily assimilated and the residue carried off without irritating the intestines or clogging the bowels.

Beecham's Pills should be taken whenever there is sick headache, furred tongue, constipation, sallow skin or any symptoms that indicate an inactive liver.

TWO MEASURES PASS THE HOUSE

Twelve Were Forecasted in British House Program.

$20,000,000 WILL BE NEEDED

Old Age Pensions Bill Will Make Difference In Budget Next Year—Irish Universities Bill Goes Through Before Adjournment—Eight Hour Law For Miners Progresses Satisfactorily

London, Aug. 4.—Of twelve important measures foreshadowed in the King's speech at the opening of Parliament in January, just two had been passed up to the adjournment Saturday for the summer vacation. These were the Irish universities bill and the old age pensions bill, neither of which was opposed in principle by the Opposition, although the House of Lords amended some clauses of the pensions bill, only, however, to have them rejected by the House of Commons and to accept the rejections when the bill was returned to the Lords in its original form.

The old age pensions will become operative Jan. 1, 1909, so that only three months will be chargeable to the present financial year, and no great increase in the budget will be necessitated. For the first full year, however, the Ministers estimate that six million pounds sterling (about $30,000,000), will have to be found.

There were many minor bills passed, although the first part of the session had been fruitless, but the extensions have been put off until the autumn sitting. These include the licensing bill, which reached the committee stage and was strenuously opposed in the House of Commons; and unless it is radically amended it will be thrown out by the House of Lords.

Next in importance comes the education bill, on which, however, an effort is being made to reach a compromise.

The port of London bill reached the committee stage in the House of Commons. The bill proposed to establish a new port of entry in London, which will extend river accommodation to shipping, so if necessary new docks may be constructed. Under the bill the purchase of docks will not be compulsory.

The children's bill, which aims at the abolishment of juvenile smoking, the discontinuance of the practice of sending children under 16 years of age to jail, the establishment of children's courts, and making better the supervision of children's homes, is another measure which will take up some time at the fall session.

To Donate Warship.

New York, Aug. 4.—Leading members of the Syrian colony in this city started a movement to present Turkey with a modern battleship. The money to build the war vessel is to be raised among all the Syrians in the new world, their number being estimated at upward of 200,000, and the gift not only is to commemorate the granting of a constitution to the people of Turkey, but also to express the confidence felt by the Syrians and Young Turks in this hemisphere in the genuineness of the reforms.

London Treasurer Dies.

London, Aug. 4.—John Pope, city treasurer of London since 1869, died last night after three weeks' illness from a general breakdown. Mr. Pope had been in ill health for a year. He was born in Surrey, England, in 1834, and came to Canada in 1853. In 1867 he came to London. He was a lifelong Sunday school worker.

He is survived by three sons and three daughters.

Caught Burglar.

Toronto, Aug. 4.—Charles Morton, 173 McCaul street, was observed by John Morrow, 137 Jamieson avenue, last night. Morrow says that the man was trying to break into the back door of 135 Jamieson avenue, the family there being away.

He grappled with the man and held him until the police took him into custody.

Million Dollar Fire.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Fire yesterday destroyed the Burlington elevators E and F., the stock transfer warehouse of that road and either burned or rendered useless 100 box cars. The loss on the grain in the two elevators is placed by Armour & Co., who owned it, at $700,000. The total loss is placed at $1,000,000. No one is known to have been injured.

Cure For Lockjaw.

Pittsburg, Aug. 4.—The Magee Annex, also known as the Pasteur Institute, attached to the Mercy Hospital of Pittsburg, last night came to the fore with what it claims is the first real cure for tetanus, or lockjaw. Magnesium sulphate injected into the spinal column is said to have affected the cure.

Boy Burglars Caught.

Brantford, Aug. 4.—Geo. Mushberger and Paul Stevens, aged 17 and 15, were arrested in a farm house between Paris and Brantford, where they were taking supper. They are charged with entering the store of Charles Mitchell, sporting goods, and A. McFarlane's gents' furnishing, on Saturday night.

Woman Shoots Herself.

North Bay, Aug. 4.—Mrs. Maud Lamothe, keeper of a house of ill fame in the Township of Widdifield, one mile from North Bay, committed suicide Sunday night with a thirty calibre revolver. She held it in her mouth and pulled the trigger.

Roberts Is Resting.

He has definitely decided to call off all his Canadian engagements.

Textile Trades Investigated.

Montreal, Aug. 4.—The enquiry into the condition of the cotton workers in the Province of Quebec before, during and subsequent to the recent strike, was resumed yesterday before W. L. Mackenzie-King, the royal commissioner.

Mr. Ouellette, who lays claim to the union presidency, the validity of his election, however, being disputed by Mr. Gignac, was the only witness. He said that most troubles arose out of misunderstandings. He thought a permanent board of arbitration should be formed, one representative to be chosen by the employes, another by the employers and the third selected by these two. Their decision should be final.

"Human Arrow" Hurt.

Toronto, Aug. 4.—"Dare Devil Lotto," or, correctly speaking, William Sleeph, seriously injured his spine while diving from the 125-foot electric tower at Scarboro Beach Park yesterday afternoon.

Thousands of people witnessed with horror the last plunge that the plucky little fellow will make for a long time to come. His body struck the net with the resounding thud of a 9,000 pound impact, rebounded about 18 feet into the air and fell back into the corded basket a limp mass.

Lotto is 35 years of age, and has been in the "human arrow" business for 14 years.

Homecoming a Success.

Guelph, Aug. 4.—Though yesterday practically marked only the opening of old home week, the crowds of old boys and girls who poured into the city on every train were such as to guarantee that the celebration will be a success in every way.

The citizens parade leaving the city hall at 1.15 and the evening parade at 7.30 were both successes. Madame La Hoit, who is 7 foot 2 inches in height, was dressed in a directoire gown and made a great hit.

Volunteer Firemen Meet.

Thorold, Aug. 4.—The first meeting of the Provincial Volunteer Firemen's Association Convention for 1908 was held at Thorold yesterday afternoon with A. J. Fisher, president of the association, in the chair. Addresses of welcome were given the visiting delegates by Mayor Williams, Mr. McMann, president of Thorold board of Trade, and Councillor McClarz.

CATTLE MARKETS.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 11½c to 12½c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10½c to 10⅝c per pound.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

TORONTO JUNCTION, Aug. 3.—The receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 69 carloads, composed of 1392 cattle, 253 sheep and lambs and 5 calves.

Exporters.

Expert steers sold at from $5 to $5.50; export bulls at $3.75 to $4.50. There were several loads of butchers' cattle and some common light exporters reported as being bought at $4.40 to $4.80 per cwt. for export purposes, to be shipped to the Manchester market. The fact of there being a fair demand by several dealers for the export trade was the main cause of drovers being able to do as well as they did to-day.

Butchers.

The two best loads of butchers' heifers and steers were sold at $4.90; loads of good, $4.50 to $4.75; medium, $4.10 to $4.40; common, $3.75 to $4; cows, $3.50 to $3.75; canners, $1 to $2 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

There was nothing doing in either class.

Milkers and Springers.

Not many offered. Prices ranged at from $35 to $55 each, there being only one at the latter price.

Veal Calves.

Hardly enough to make a market were offered, and these sold at $3 to $5.75 per cwt.

Hogs.

Gunns, Limited, reported $6.65 f.o.b. cars at country points, and $6.90 at market, fed and watered, with an easier tendency.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Aug. 3.—(Special.)—The receipts at the Montreal stock yards, west end market, to-day totaled 1250 cattle, 280 sheep, 1100 hogs and 154 calves. For the week the receipts were 3272 cattle, 1163 sheep, 2324 hogs and 462 calves. Trade was active to-day and stocks were well cleaned out at about last week's prices. Choice cattle, $5.25 to $5.35; good to choice, $4.75 to $5; fair to good, $4.50 to $4.75; medium, $3.85 to $4.25; common, $3.25 to $3.75; canners, $2. Calves sold at $3 to $6, according to quality. Sheep were in fair demand at $4.50; lambs, $6 and yearlings, $4.25; good lambs were in big demand, but the common stock sold slowly. Hogs brought $7.25; sows, $5.75 and stags, $3.50.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Aug. 3.—Cattle—Receipts, 4600 head; best steady to 10c lower; others 15c to 25c lower; prime steers, $5 to $5.80; shipping, $5.60 to $5; butchers, $4.35 to $4.75; heifers, $3.50 to $5.50; cows, $3 to $5; bulls, $3 to $4.50; stockers and feeders, $3.25 to $4.25; stock heifers, $3 to $3.25; fresh cows and springers steady to strong, $22 to $58.

Hogs—Receipts, 12,000 head; slow and 10c to 25c lower; heavy and mixed, $7.20 to $7.30; yorkers, $6.75 to $7.25; pigs, $6.60 to $6.75; roughs, $5.50 to $6; stags, $4 to $4.50; dairies, $6.75 to $7.15.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 3500 head; active; yearlings and mixed sheep steady; others higher; lambs, $5 to $6.50; yearlings, $5 to $5.25; wethers, $4.25 to $4.70; ewes, $4 to $4.25; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.50.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Beeves—Receipts, 2122; steers slow and steady to 10c lower; bulls and cows 25c lower; steers, $5 to $6.70; bulls, $2.75 to $3.70; cows, $1.50 to $3.90.

Calves—Receipts, 4957 head; veals steady to 25c higher; buttermilks 25c lower; common to choice veals sold at $5.50 to $8.25 per 100 lbs.; a few selected lots at Jersey City at $8.50; culls, $4 to $5; grassers and buttermilks at $3.12½ to $4.12½.

Hogs—Receipts, 8875; feeling firm; New York State hogs sold at $7 to $7.30 per 100 lbs.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Cattle—Receipts, 24,000; market, steady to 10c lower; steers, $4.75 to $8; cows, $3.40 to $4.65; heifers, $3.25 to $5; bulls, $3 to $5; calves, $5 to $7.50; stockers and feeders, $2.60 to $4.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 40,000; market, 10c to 15c lower; choice heavy shipping, $6.45 to $6.80; butchers', $6.80 to $6.90; light mixed, $6.40 to $6.55; choice light, $6.40 to $6.70; packing, $4.60 to $6.70; pigs, $4.50 to $6.35; bulk of sales, $6.50 to $6.65.

Sheep—Receipts, 25,000; market, 10c to 15c lower; sheep, $3.50 to $4.80; lambs, $4.75 to $6.85; yearlings, $4.35 to $5.35.

Slashed With Razor.

Toronto, Aug. 4.—Pietro Pansera, 256 Niagara street, went into Philo Lamb's hotel at 96 Agnes street with a friend last night. A dispute arose, and the friend drew a knife, slashed him across the neck and on the hand and then decamped. Pansera was removed to St. Michael's Hospital, where 15 stitches were required to close the wound in his neck.

EXCURSION OF KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Was Held Yesterday—Delightful Sail Around Pine Lake.

The annual excursion of the Peterborough Council of the Knights of Columbus was held yesterday to Gore's Landing and Idyl Wyld. While the attendance was not large the trip proved a most delightful one. The steamer Otonabee arrived at the Landing at noon and several hours were spent there. The sail down the lake was throughly enjoyed. Tea was had at Idyl Wyld and the return trip made in good time. The weather could scarcely be improved upon and altogether the day's sail was a thorough treat.

MANY GUESTS AT IDYL WYLD

Mine Host Parker Reports a Good Season Fishing and Bathing are Fine.

Mr. Tommy Parker who is in charge of the Idyl Wyld hotel this summer reports a very good season thus far and say there is every prospect of a busy month in August. At present he has 21 guests and nearly all the rooms are occupied. There are a number of Americans coming this week who will swell the number considerably. The fishing is excellent according to the reports and yesterday two of the boarders got 12 bass which they claim averaged nearly 4 lbs a piece. Mr. A Talbot is camping at Idyl Wyld and has his trim launch the "Gianette" with which he entertains his friends in trips over the lake. The bathing is excellent.

ONE IMPROVES THE OTHER.

In making cool summer drinks with Sovereign Fruit by ups remember that a little Sovereign Lime Juice improves the flavour. Sovereign Lime Juice blends perfectly with plain or carbonated waters, or with Sovereign Fruit Syrups. It develops their fresh fruit flavours, and with its own acidity helps to make a refreshing beverage.

BROTHERS RETURN HOME FROM ABITIBI

Messrs. Thomas and Augustine Whibbs returned yesterday on the "Soo" train from Abitibi Crossing, whither they had journeyed to assits in the search for their brother. As was mentioned in the Examiner a few days ago, the body of their brother had been found and buried prior to their arrival.

Tea is more susceptible to foreign influences than even butter. This is why it should never be exposed to the air or sold in bulk form. The sealed lead packets of "Salada" Tea preserve the tea in all its native purity. Insist upon "Salada." 58

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Howden Start on Long Trip Through the West.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Howden left this morning for a trip through the northwest, in which they will go as far as the coast. They are taking the lake trip from Owen Sound through Lake Superior to Fort William. There they again board the train for the west. On their return they will spend some time in Manitoba, where Mr. Howden has a large section of land under cultivation.

NOTHING IN REPORT ABOUT EX-FIRE CHIEF

Attention to This Called by Ald. Elliot at Council Meeting.

The fact that the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee contained nothing about the presenting of a testimonial to ex-Chief Thos Rutherford, when it was read at the Council meeting last night, called forth the disapproval of Ald. Elliott. He understood that it was the intention of the aldermen to remember in some way the past services of the ex-Fire Chief, and thought that something should have been said about it in the report. Other members of the Council stated that this had not been lost sight of and that something would be done.

Isolation Hospital Question Not Yet Laid On The Shelf

To Be Reopened Again---Many Matters Considered at Regular Council Meeting---New Company Asks for Bonus---Sunday Dust Nuisance----Power Question Recalled---Communications and Committee Reports.

The regular session of the City Council was held last night, when all the routine business, as well as some of a special nature, was transacted in a remarkably short space of time.

The members present were His Worship the Mayor, Ald. Johnston, Tovey, Elliott, Morgan, Turner, Phelan, Morrow, McIntyre, Buller and Gillespie.

Mr. Sullivan wanted the council to attend to the drains in front of his residence on Park street, near Parnell street. There was no outlet at the proper place, which caused the water to back up and flood his cellar in the spring.

Ald. Phelan reported that he had sent men there recently to look into the matter, but Mr. Sullivan stated tthat what they were doing was of no use. Ald. Phelan, as chairman of the Board of Works, was authorized to settle the grievance.

A communication from a number of ratepayers was read, objecting to the manner in which the carters used the Carters' Shelter. Some carters never went near the shelter and many others did not remain there for their orders. This was left with the Property Committee.

Hon. J. P. Mabee, Chief Commissioner Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, communicated to the city council, the applicant for protection at the crossing on Reid treet, the orders of the commissioners respecting the duties of the corporation and the Grand Trunk in connection with the crossing there. The order is as follows: It ir ordered that a watchman to be appointed by, and to be under the control of the Grand Trunk, but to be subject to dismissal for cause by the corporation of the applicant, be provided and kept at the said crossing between the hours of 6.45 a. m. and 6.30 p. m. and from 8.45 p. m. to 10 p. m, on each day, except Sundays; that two-thirds of the cost of providing and erecting the necessary house for the shelter and accommodation of the watchman and of providing him with necessary light and heat for his accommodation and use, and of his wages, be borne by the Grand Trunk Railway, and one-third by the applicant. The Grand Trunk shall render monthly to the applicant a detailed account of the cost of providing and sheltering said watchman, etc., and the applicant's share of the cost shall be paid within fifteen days thereafter.

And it is further ordered that in case any dispute arises between the applicant and the Grand Trunk respecting the amounts payable by the applicant to the Grand Trunk under the terms of this order, the same shall be referred to the Chief Engineer of the Board, whose decision shall be final and binding on all parties."

Ask for Bonus

The Peterborough Lubricator Manufacturing Company asked for a bonus from the city equal to the cost of their site and a fixed assessment at that figure for a period of ten years.

The Finance Committee

The Finance Committee's report was read by the chairman, Ald. Morrow, as follows, and adopted:

That arrears of taxes of $1.11, sewer taxes, charged to the North Ward School, and 90 cents sewer taxes and $1.47 sidewalk taxes, charged to a lane on Burnham street, which is a public lane, be written off, and that these taxes be remitted for this and subsequent years.

That the usual grant of $500 be made to the 57th Regiment Band, on the usual terms.

That in view of the increased amount of taxes it will be necessary to look after, we recommend that the council pay the cost of the guarantee bond of the collector of taxes.

That the mayor represent the city at the luncheon in Toronto to Lord Roberts, on the kind invitation of the Mayor of Toronto, and that his expenses be paid.

That hereafter for the purpose of paying wages on the weekly pay lists, one cheque be issued to the City Treasurer for the amount of the pay lists, and that the men be paid in cash each Friday evening, between five and seven o'clock and their receipts taken.

That Ald. Phelan and the City Clerk attend the annual meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association at Toronto in the interests of the city and that their expenses be paid.

That a charge of $4.00 for flushing private sewer connections be approved, and that of this sum $2.00 be credited to the Board of Works, and $2.00 be paid to the Water Commissioners for the water.

Committee of the Whole

The report of the Committee of the Whole, which was adopted, was read as follows:

That the matter of the Peterborough Light and Power Company opening streets for laying and repairing gas mains be referred to a committee composed of Ald. Phelan, Bradburn and Gillespie and the City Solicitor, to confer with the county in regard to an arrangement, and to draft an agreement.

That so much of section 4 of the report of the Finance Committee adopted by the City Council on July 8, 1908, as provided that the assessments of park lots Nos. 1, 2 and 3 be reduced only when deeds of the lands taken for the extension of George street are given to the city, be rescinded.

Legal Committee

The report of the Legal Committee was read by Ald. Elliott as follows and adopted:

Your Legal Committee beg leave to report that they have arranged a settlement of the claim of W. D. Morris, and that the Peterborough Radial Railway Company has agreed to pay half the cost, and we recommend that the City Treasurer be authorized to issue a cheque to carry out the settlement, on the order of the chairman of this committee.

Ald. Morgan Scores

In the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, Ald. Morrow considered that five incandescent lights on Weller street would be insufficient, and moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that instead of five incandescent lights on Weller street, there be nine.

Moved by Ald. Morgan and Elliott, that instead of five or nine lights on Weller street, there be seven on that street, and two on Sophia street, East City.—Carried.

Ald. Turner objected to clause 4 of the Board of Works report, which stated that "the sewer be built on London street, from Park street to Downie street." He said there was no water on that street, and as there was nothing definite regarding the installation of water mains, he did not think the sewer was needed.

Ald. Phelan said the Board of Works was given to understand that it would be only a short time before water would be placed on that street. He also reported that the Board of Works had already requested the Water Commissioners to take up the question.

Isolation Hospital Again

Ald. Morrow objected to the clause in the report of the Property Committee referring to the decision not to build an isolation hospital in view of the heavy expenditures and the absence of contagious diseases. He had learned that both hospitals contained many ill with contagious diseases. Last year the city was put to the expense of $300 on account of a contagious disease. With $2,500 or $3,000 the city could erect a suitable building which would cost but little.

Ald. Elliott called attention to the same, stating that a building might be erected this year with little cost on account of the abundance of labour.

On motion of Ald. Morrow and Elliott, the clause was struck out of the report.

The clause referring to the salary of the City Hall janitor was also omitted to allow the Property Committee to reconsider it with a view to making a further increase.

Ald. Turner moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that the question of the settlement with Mr. J. Z. Rogers be left in the hands of Ald. Phelan, Ald. Morgan and the Mayor, and that they report back to the Council.—Carried.

Ald Morrow referred to the improvement made by the removal of the Bell Telephone Company's poles from Hunter street and on a part of George street and stated that he would like to see the other companies approached with a view to having other poles removed. Ald. Phelan reported that negotiations along these lines were already underway.

New Outfall Sewer

Ald. Morrow also called attention to the proposal to build an outfall sewer on Park street and suggested that an expert be procured to advise the council in this respect. He moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that the Board of Works be instructed to secure expert advice on the building of this sewer and on the condition of the present system.

Ald. Morgan did not think that the city should pay from $25 to $100 per day to an expert when we have a City Engineer whose salary was recently raised and who should know as much about it as any expert.

Ald. Tovey stated that the C.G.E. has always had trouble with the carrying away of the waste water. He did not think it advisable to secure an expert if his advice wasn't taken. This condition of affairs had existed before.

Aldermac Morrow's motion carried.

Power Question Quiet

Ald. Elliott stated that nothing had yet been done about the securing of power for the city. This he thought was contrary to the interests of the city and that something should be accomplished at once. Ald. Morrow said that the special Power Committee had not forgotten it and that something would be heard about it in the near future.

Sunday Dust

Ald Turner thought that the dust nuisance in the centre of the city on Sundays was becoming intolerable and that these streets be watered late on Saturday night or even early on Sunday morning to protect the citizens and stores from the dust. He moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that the Board of Works be requested to have the streets in the centre of the city watered late on Saturday night when needed during the summer.

The motion was later amended to read that "The Board of Works be requested to consider having the streets watered late on Saturday night." This was carried.

It was moved by Ald. Tovey and Johnston, that the Water Commissioners be authorized to have repaired the standpipe in the park at the corner of Charlotte and Park streets.—Carried.

THE HAIR BRUSH

Breeds Dandruff, which Causes Falling Hair and Finally Baldness

Prof. Unna, Hamburg, Germany, European authority on skin diseases, says that dandruff is as contagious as any other malevolent disease, and that one common source of the spread of dandruff is the use of the same brush by different persons. The way to avoid catching dandruff or any other disease from another's brush is to insist on the use of Newbro's Herpicide. It not only kills the dandruff germ, but it is also an antiseptic that will prevent the catching of any disease whatever through contagion of another's brush. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

THE SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. W. G. YELLAND

Stricken With Paralysis While Holidaying At Stony Lake.

A sadly sudden death took place this morning at Mr. Benj. C. Yelland's cottage, Burleigh, when Mrs W. G. Yelland was fatally stricken with paralysis. On Friday, Mr. W. G. Yelland, of the Land Titles office, Osgoode Hall, Toronto, accompanied by his wife, came to Peterborough on their way to spend their holidays at Stony Lake, the guests of Mr. Yelland's brother, at his cottage near Burleigh. They spent Saturday in Peterborough, Saturday night and Sunday in Lakefield, and went on Monday to Burleigh, arriving safely. This morning at 6 o'clock, Mr. Wm. Yelland, city, received a telephone message stating that Mrs. Yelland (W. G.) was stricken with paralysis, and soon passed away. The deceased lady, whose maiden title was Miss Spence, was fifty years of age. Beyond a slight trouble with rheumatism, she was in good health while in the city on Saturday, and the intelligence of her sudden death comes as a shock to her friends and acquaintances in Peterborough.

Arrangements as to the funeral had not been made at the time of going to press.

THE ST. JOHN'S RECTORY CONTRACT AWARDED

St. John's Rectory Building Committee met last night to consider tenders for the building. Seven tenders were received and the lowest that of Mr. A. A. McIntyre, was accepted, and the contract awarded him. The contract was signed this afternoon, and work will be begun at once on the new building.

Twenty Boats Towed Behind Launch — Gasoline Engine To Run Ice Cream Freezer At Viamede.

MANY VISITORS THERE

Examiner Special.

Viamede, Aug. 4. — Viamede has a great many guests located here at present, and presents a very gay appearance during the day, and at night when lit up and music and dancing is in progress in the pavilion, gives one an idea of fairyland.

Fishing has been very good this week, Messrs. Southgate, Simpson, Taylor and others making fine catches.

A feature of the week was a large shore dinner at Lovesick on Thursday. The party, which numbered nearly sixty, were taken there by "Jack" Blewett's yacht, the Evelyn. It towed twenty boats and canoes behind it and attracted the attention of all the cottagers going and returning, and let people know there was something doing at Viamede.

A new gasoline engine is being installed to operate the ice cream freezer in order to meet the demand on the ice cream parlour and to assist in pumping water.

Services were held in the Viamede pavilion on Sunday evening by Rev. Mr. Wilkinson of Apsley, and were well attended.

Miss Elsie Dixon Craig and Miss Trebilcock of Toronto have been furnishing some very high class music during the week.

Among the arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. A E Wheelock, Moscow, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. G J McLaughlin, Mrs. V McLaughlin, Rochester; Miss Margaret Waldrew, Salt Lake City, Utah; Miss Winnifred Reid, E A Trebilcock, Mrs. Trebilcock, Miss Edith Trebilcock, Roy Trebilcock, W C Gall, H A Damp, Miss M Saunders, Miss Gladys Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. F R Sweeney, Miss Helen Sweeney, Gordon R Douglas, Mrs. Cumberland Sturgeon, Mr. and Mrs Chas. FUNERAL OF LATE DR. BURROWS Peterborough Friends Present—Large Number in Attendance.

Lindsay, Aug. 3.—The funeral of the late Dr. Burrows took place yesterday afternoon to Riverside cemetery. There were a large number of the citizens of Lindsay present to pay their last tribute of respect to one who had done so much for the town, and many were the words of regret at the sudden departure of the doctor.

Service was held at the residence of deceased and at the grave by Rev. Mr. Collier, of St. Paul's Church. A large number of floral tributes had been sent and the casket was covered with wreaths forwarded by friends. The pall bearers were Messrs. Richard Sylvester, Thomas Stewart, F. C. Taylor, C. D. Barr, J. R. McNeillie, and Judge McMillan. The funeral was one of the largest ever seen in Lindsay.

Friends from a distance were Mr. Frank Matthews, of Ottawa; and Mr. William Matthews, of Peterborough, and Mr. Geo. Needler, of Millbrook.

ALLEGED HOUSE BREAKERS PHOTO'ED

Brought Down to Roy's This Morning For a Sitting.

Chas. Peace and Geo. Forbes, the men now in custody charged with housebreaking, were this morning brought down from the jail to Roy's studio, where they were photographed. Both put up a vigorous resistance and did not fall in with the idea of being photoed. They were finally caught, and a few of the finished pictures will probably soon go travelling.

ON THE GRAND TRUNK

The Algonquin Park of Ontario is fast becoming popular for anglers and those fond of the woods and outdoor life. The Grand Trunk Railway System have received a letter from a high Government official of the State of Connecticut who has just returned from a few days in the confines of that delightful Park, he says:—

"Some weeks ago I sent for and obtained a Grand Trunk folder relating to Algonquin Park. The printed matter received was very interesting reading, but I had the opportunity of learning within a few days that the beauties of the Park were not overdrawn, and that the fishing obtained there was the best I have ever had the privilege to enjoy although I have fished the trout waters of Prince Edward Island, through the Canadian Laurentian sections, and in Colorado and Wyoming in the United States.

"I arrived at Algonquin Park from Toronto on the 27th of June, and the 28th I left the hotel for Smoke and Ragged Lakes, arriving at Smoke Lake late Sunday evening, June 28th. I started for Crown Lake the next morning, and fished in that Lake and had good luck, catching square tailed trout. This lake is outside of the Park. As I started for my headquarters at the Park, June 30th, on my return trip I fished in Ragged and Smoke Lakes for salmon trout, using a deep water trawl and brown minnow for bait. Between four and five o'clock I caught two salmon trout, one of them weighed eighteen pounds and measured thirty-two inches in length.

"As my stay was only three days in the Park, I mean to know more about this place, and shall try to go in there again this fall. Descriptions of localities and prospectus of railroads are often times disappointing. Many times I think it is due to the fact that the pictures are greatly overdrawn, but from my own experience I should say that your folder does not describe this beautiful country, known as the Algonquin Park in as bright colours as the facts warrant.

"Since my return I met a friend of mine, United States Congressman Edward W Higgins of Norwich, Conn., who upon my advice is now fishing in the Park in company with his wife. He writes me that all that I told him regarding the country is true, only that I should have said more."

CRAFT LEAKED AND A KEENE TRIO HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Water Over the Skiff Seats When "Mermaid" Made Rescue—Half a Mile From Landing Place

BALED WATER WITH HATS

Examiner Special.

Keene, Aug. 4.—Messrs. Harry Mathers and Fred Burnham, Keene, and Mr. Albert Edington, Toronto, who is visiting friends in the village, had a narrow escape from drowning Saturday evening, and the adventure is one that they will not soon forget. Mr. Edington had been visiting relatives in Roseneath and the other two young men, who are carpenters, had been working on a contract for Mr. R. J. McCamus in that vicinity. They borrowed a skiff at the lake shore and were assured by the owner that it was perfectly safe and seaworthy.

Before they had gone far they noticed that the boat leaked badly and discussed going back, but after considering the matter they concluded that they would be able to bale the water out as fast as it came in and they proceeded. When they reached Sugar Island they ran the boat up on shore and upset the water out of it. In upsetting the boat they must have strained it, that it sprung an additional leak, for it leaked worse than ever afterwards. Still they thought they were safe to venture to Keene in it. Mr. Burnham took the oars and the other two baled with their hats, but when they had got about half way from Sugar Island to the "Elbow," the water was gaining ground rapidly, and on account of the great amount of it in the boat, they made little progress. The river below the elbow is bordered by marsh, and the mud at the edges is as deep, or nearly as deep as the water. They had almost given up hope of reaching the elbow with their craft, when they sighted Mr. James Wedlock's yacht ("The Mermaid," steaming up the river some distance behind them, and that gave them encouragement to work harder in an endeavour to keep afloat until it caught them. When the yacht came up to them the water was splashing over the seats, and if it had been five minutes later the boat would have sunk. They were taken into the yacht and their skiff taken in tow, and in five minutes were home in Keene, and with dry clothes were little the worse for their adventure.

Had the boat sunk there is little doubt as to what their fate would have been, for when rescued they were nearly half a mile from the nearest possible landing and the "Mermaid" was the last boat of any kind to come up the river that night.

HOOPER'S SIGN STRUCK BY STEAM ROLLER

About 3.30 p.m. yesterday the steam roller which was at work on George street, fell foul of the illuminated sign hanging in front of Hooper's restaurant and tore it from its fastenings. Had it not been for the electric wires connected with it, it would have fallen to the pavement, or on to the head of some passerby. Some slight damage was done to the sign.

OLD HASTINGS RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

Death and Funeral of Mr. Byrne Lynch, Formerly of This City.

A former resident of Peterborough in the person of Mr. Byrne Lynch passed away on Saturday in Hastings at the age of 73 years. His death occurred on Saturday morning, after an illness of about six months. He is survived by his wife and two children, John, of Tacoma, Wash., and Mrs. Pomeroy of the same place. Mr. Lynch was very well known to the older residents of this city and to the people of Hastings, where his death is much regretted. The funeral was held yesterday morning.

EKO BOYS LEAVE FOR THE LAKE

Advance Guard Went Yesterday—Remainder on Saturday.

An advance detachment of members of the Eko Club went up to Stony Lake in their yacht yesterday. Those in the party were Messrs. Stanley and Bert Cannift, Edwin Hooker, Howard Waram and Douglas Hatton. They will be followed at the end of the week by several other members of the Club. The camp headquarters will be at Hendren's Island, but the members of the party have arranged to get their meals at the Victoria House, McCracken's Landing. It is expected that, by the end of the week about fifteen members in all will be in camp at Stony Lake.

EIGHTY LIVES LOST IN THE FIRE

Three Towns is Tale of Fires in East Kootenay.

SEVEN THOUSAND HOMELESS

Fernie, Coal Creek and Michel Are Destroyed By Fierce Conflagration —Five Million is Property Loss —Prisoners Freed — Sister Cities Helping—Hosmer Badly Scorched.

Nelson, B.C., Aug. 4.—The latest news from the Crow's Nest Pass disaster shows a death list of 62, which will probably be increased to 70 or 80.

The property loss exceeds five million dollars.

About seven thousand people are homeless.

Fernie and Michel have been wiped out.

Coal Creek, five miles east from Fernie, is also destroyed.

Hosmer lost some ten houses, and the Coal Company's surface works were destroyed.

The five black hand suspects who were in Fernie jail were brought in irons to Cranbrook, and will be brought on here. The other prisoners were given their liberty.

Two hundred refugees will reach here this evening, and will be housed and looked after.

Nelson raised $2,000 yesterday, and sent Alderman McMorris and two carloads of food and clothing to the scene.

Vancouver wired $5,000, and Spokane rushed in a carload of provisions.

The Daily News publishes an extra this morning with the following account of the disaster from its special correspondent at Fernie.

"Fernie is in ruins. Only thirty-two houses have survived the disastrous fire which swept the city out of existence yesterday. It is not definitely known as yet whether any lives were lost in the city proper, but the finding of several corpses in the neighborhood of the city is reported, and it is feared many have perished in the relentless flames.

Had Small Beginning.

"The fire originated in a bush fire that has been burning for the last month, in the limits of the Cedar Valley Lumber Company to the west of the city.

"On Saturday a gale of wind started early in the morning with the force of a cyclone and revived the fire that was supposed to be quenched. By about 11 in the forenoon it had spread to the coal ranch.

"The fire jumped the river about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, striking the south end of the town. The Fort Steele brewery was the first to go, and from there the sparks carried the fire into the old town, which was soon a pall of smoking embers. At the same time the Elk Lumber Company's mill and the Cedar Valley mills caught fire, and in an incredibly short time West Fernie was a seething mass of flames, the people fleeing for their lives. The conflagration jumped the river by the wagon bridge, and inside half an hour the entire business section was in flames, owing to the high wind scattering the burning shingles in all directions, and for long distances.

"When at its worst the fire was making springs of over a hundred yards in length and zigzagging in all directions.

"The damage cannot fall short of five millions of dollars, the greater loss falling on the C.P.R., which lost the coal tipple, coal bunkers, depot, freight store, water tower and over one hundred cars; the Trities Wood Co., which lost its magnificent store and stock, and the lumber companies, whose mills, limits and stock is wiped out. Fully twenty-five million feet of manufactured lumber is gone.

"The extent of the disaster can be measured better by the recital of the few buildings left standing than by a detailed list of the widespread destruction. There remains of what once was Fernie and the erections that housed a population of about seven thousand souls, ten or eleven small cottages and five or six residences, all situated near the park. For the rest there is not a store, bank, hotel or business concern of any sort or description left standing except the offices of the coal company, the Great Northern depot and water tank and the big concrete warehouse of the Trites Wood Co.

"On Baker avenue and the park a determined effort was made to stay the conflagration, and to the heroic work of the residents and the firemen the few remaining houses owe their preservation.

"About three hundred men, women and children fled to the coal company's office. The fact of that building being isolated and surrounded by spacious lawns, suggesting it to the panic-stricken people as the only place in town that offered the slightest hope of refuge. Willing volunteers ascended to the roof and fought like heroes for hours amid the scorching heat and suffocating smoke. The water pressure remained good and several lines of hose poured tons of water on the structure.

"The large new court house and the new postoffice and customs building were directly opposite and it was while these were burning that the greatest danger existed.

"Again and again swirling masses of sparks found entrance to the attic and a bucket brigade did yeoman work in quenching them. Store after store and hotel after hotel caught, and despite the efforts on the part of the fire fighters they fell one by one, until not a building of any description or kind remains standing north of Victoria street save the residences of W. R. Ross, M.P.P., D. V. Mott, the Catholic priests', Coal Company office, residence of J. T. Telfer and the Western Canada Wholesale Co.

"The scene at night was awe-inspiring, the lumber piles in West Fernie blazing fiercely, the mountains on every side a mass of flames and the town itself lighted up by the smouldering ruins."

"Having seen the results of the calamity at Fernie, I must say that it is more entirely extensive than any report gave reason to believe.

"It is a disaster not paralleled in the interior of British Columbia, and one calls for the promptest action on the part of the public.

"Some three thousand people, mostly women and children, have to be housed and cared for until they shall have time to look about them. These are being shipped to Cranbrook, where every public and nearly all the private houses are being used as temporary shelters for the homeless and in many cases naked refugees.

"Hundreds slept Sunday night in the open without blankets or covering of any sort. Relief committees have been organized and food is being supplied to all. Special constables have been sworn in and the town or what is left of it is orderly.

"The relief committee organized by Mayor Fink has got away two trains filled with provisions of every kind—blankets, stoves, flour and all the simple requirements. There are many mouths to feed and every one here is taking a practical hand at trying to alleviate the sufferings of those who have come to us in their dire necessity.

"According to reports, sixty-one men and two women have been burned to death at the number four camp of the Elk River Lumber Company. Four men were found burned to a crisp on the C.P.R. tracks near Hosmer."

Toronto has placed $5,000 at the disposal of the sufferers.

Regina wired $500 without delay on Sunday.

Premier McBride, of British Columbia, telegraphed to the government agents at nearby points instructing them to do all in their power to relieve the situation.

Calgary Council held a special meeting Sunday afternoon and forwarded a train load of supplies in the evening which included 15 tons of flour, half a ton of oatmeal and cornmeal, ton of potatoes, five thousand pounds of shoulder bacon, one hundred tons of cooking utensils, twenty-five camp stoves and one thousand loaves of bread.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has instructed General Macdonald to place all militia tents blankets, etc., in British Columbia at the disposal of the fire victims. The Federal Government will take no action regarding money till it learns the details.

Loaded with provisions, clothing and bedding, a special car was attached to yesterday's trains over the Spokane International railroad for Fernie, B.C., to aid the thousands made destitute by fire in the district.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—Dr. Frederick K. H. Von Leanus, chief of Emperor William's so-called civil cabinet, died here yesterday. He was born in 1831.

BIG WARSHIP MAKES FAST VOYAGE

Indomitable With Prince Aboard Averages 21 Knots.

ENCOUNTERS A HURRICANE

Battleship With Speed of Cruiser In Spite of Heavy Gale At Straits of Belle Isle Makes Record of 25 Knots From Land to Land—Officers Are Gratified By Showing.

Cowes, Aug. 4.—The British cruiser Indomitable, with the Prince of Wales on board, arrived here, at 9.40 last evening from Quebec.

The Indomitable left Quebec about daybreak on Wednesday last, and maintained an average speed of 21 knots on the voyage across. The slower pace necessary while in the St. Lawrence was, of course, a handicap.

British navy officials were watching with interest the reports regarding the performances of the Indomitable.

This battleship cruiser—for she combines the speed of a cruiser with the armament of most battleships—left Quebec on the morning of July 29, and although caught in a hurricane about the Straits of Belle Isle, wireless telegraph reports received at the admiralty yesterday contained the welcome news that the big vessel had maintained the high average speed of 21 knots and that she expected to drop anchor off Cowes at 6 o'clock last evening.

Taking into consideration the delay caused the Indomitable by the hurricane, this average is looked upon by naval officers as satisfactory.

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—Earl Grey last evening received a message from the Prince of Wales announcing his safe arrival in England.

The message read: "Arrived safely at Cowes after most successful voyage. We averaged over 25 knots from land to land."

The average from port to port was 21 1-2 knots.

Hostilities Renewed.

London, Aug. 4.—Telegraphing Sunday from Tabriz, Persia, the correspondent of The Times says:

Hostilities were renewed Saturday and to-day there was shelling again, considerable number of the shells bursting in the European and Christian quarter of the city. Both the Royalists and the anti-Royalists need money, and are making forced levees to obtain funds. The business situation is pitiful. The Turks are still advancing in the Urumiah district, and the re-occupation of Suibalak may occur at any moment.

[illegible] Bryant

[illegible] Bryan and the National Democratic platform were the main topics of discussion among the delegates to the convention of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, which opened here to-day.

Maybe No Merger.

Montreal, August 4.—The meeting on Wednesday of the directors of the Mexican Light, Heat and Power Co. will probably decide whether that company will tie up with the tramway company of the same city. As the power company now, the statement is made will earn nine per cent. on the common stock, it looks as if there might be a good deal of opposition to the merger.

Forgot His Role.

Brockville, Aug. 4.—Peter Craig, a young man claiming to come from Carleton Place, is in the county jail here serving 21 days. Craig struck Gananoque dead, "broke," and to recruit his finances, labelled himself, "deaf and dumb." The cash came, he got drunk, forgot his new occupation and was taken into custody by the police for using profane language.

French Warship Departs.

Quebec, Aug. 4.—The French cruiser Admiral Aube succeeded in recovering her lost anchor and chain last Saturday night. She left for sea yesterday morning.

Quartermaster Gunner Guedes, who had an arm amputated as a result of an accident aboard ship shortly after arriving at Quebec, has been awarded the military medal of France.

BABY HAD DIARRHOEA FOR SEVEN WEEKS

Thousands of infants die annually who could be saved by the timely use of DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY.

There can be no doubt about it. Sixty-three years experience has proved this sterling remedy to be the best for Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus Summer Complaint, and all bowel troubles in both children and adults.

Mrs. A. B. De Marchand, Bath, N.B., writes: "My baby was troubled with Diarrhoea for nearly seven weeks. I tried three different doctors, but none of them could do her any good. I was advised to try DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY and less than half a bottle cured her."

A LIFE ANNUITY TO THE WINNER

ORANGE MEAT is made from the whole wheat. This King of Cereals is used in the manufacture of ORANGE MEAT, instead of Corn, Rice, Barley, Oats, etc., because wheat contains properties that satisfy the needs of the human system that are not found in other cereals.

ORANGE MEAT has been determined by analysis to be FIFTY per cent. more valuable as a food than bread. Milk is a complete food. It is a flesh-former and heat-maker. ORANGE MEAT taken with milk every morning and evening forms a perfect and evenly-balanced food. Taken together they are easily digested and assimilated.

In the past considerable money has been spent in introducing and advertising ORANGE MEAT. Travellers have covered the whole of Canada from Halifax to Vancouver, at enormous outlay for salaries, travelling and other expenses.

The management have decided to introduce a new system. They are offering a series of CASH PRIZES to consumers.

All persons using ORANGE MEAT will enjoy a wholesome and perfect food, and, in addition, participate in a contest for a CASH PRIZE.

TO THE WINNER OF THE FIRST PRIZE, THE SUM OF FIFTY-TWO DOLLARS WILL BE PAID EVERY YEAR, DURING HIS OR HER LIFE TIME. The manufacturers of ORANGE MEAT will purchase an annuity policy from one of the largest Life Insurance Companies in Canada, by which the Insurance Company will contract to pay (to the winner of this prize) the sum of FIFTY-TWO DOLLARS during each and every year of his or her life-time.

A SECOND PRIZE OF ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS CASH WILL BE PAID, AND IN ADDITION:

TEN CASH PRIZES OF TWENTY DOLLARS EACH.
TEN CASH PRIZES OF TEN DOLLARS EACH.
TWENTY CASH PRIZES OF FIVE DOLLARS EACH.
ONE HUNDRED CASH PRIZES OF ONE DOLLAR EACH.

THE PARTY SENDING IN THE LARGEST NUMBER OF CARTON BOTTOMS ON OR BEFORE MAY 1st, 1909, WILL RECEIVE THE FIRST, OR GRAND PRIZE. THE SECOND IN ORDER WILL RECEIVE THE SECOND PRIZE, etc. Before above Prizes are distributed ten days will be allowed for parcels to reach ORANGE MEAT, Kingston, that are mailed on or before above date.

CONDITIONS

READ CAREFULLY

Save the Carton Bottoms of every package of ORANGE MEAT you buy. Collect every Carton Bottom you can get from your neighbors or friends. Send them in as often as you please by mail to ORANGE MEAT, Kingston. BE SURE AND PREPAY POSTAGE. Send a post card to ORANGE MEAT, Kingston, stating that you are entering the contest. Write your full name and address plainly. Keep accurate count of the number of Carton Bottoms you send in. THE ORANGE MEAT COMPANY will acknowledge receipt of any Carton Bottoms sent in if Postage is prepaid.

Every Carton containing ORANGE MEAT has the private mark of the manufacturers on the bottom of the package. This serves to identify them.

THE JUMBO PACKAGE OF ORANGE MEAT WILL COUNT EQUAL TO THREE OF THE ORDINARY SIZE.

BEGIN NOW TO COLLECT.

GET YOUR FRIENDS TO HELP YOU.

IF THE WINNER OF THE GRAND PRIZE SO ELECTS, THE MANUFCTURERS OF ORANGE MEAT WILL PAY THE SUM OF SEVEN HUNDRED DOLLARS IN CASH, INSTEAD OF THE POLICY CALLING FOR FIFTY-TWO DOLLARS PER ANNUM DURING LIFE-TIME.

How Harry L. Young The Cyclist Won Race For The Empire

Remarkable Tribute to Canadian and Former Peterborough Boy Who Paced the Englishman to Victory----Non-Success of Cycling Team Due to Several Causes ----The French Dare-Devils.

Young, the former Peterborough man, who participated in the Olympic bicycle races in London, is receiving great praise for his remarkable pacing which brought victory to the British Empire. Lou Marsh, in telling the story of the ride, says:

The Canadian team of a scanty four men—Walter Andrews, Harry L. Young and Doc. Morton of Toronto and Fred McCarthy of Toronto — were beaten but not disgraced. In fact, though they take home only bronze medals for third place in the team race, they made for themselves a warm spot in the hearts of English cyclists.

Their self-sacrifice to-day in the great 62 mile cycle race, the tid-bit of the entire cycling programme, will never be forgotten as long as British Olympic cycling is remembered. "Bravo, Canada!" It has been "Bravo, Canada!" ever since the race finished, and though Walter Andrews finished sixth in the big event, Harry Young is the hero. In fact, it was due to Young's heady pacing that the English team won. The race, a furious plug from the bell, was run in a driving rain, which made the track treacherous. The French and Swedes, and Belgians combined, made a dead set upon Leon Meredith, the Englishman, twice winner of this event. When he met with an accident about midway they set up a bit of relay pacemaking that soon split the field to pieces and sent Meredith to the rear.

Young, who was lapped, saw Meredith's predicament, and, laying up a lap, leaped in front of him and paced him three desperate miles, and would have had him up again, but he met with another accident and had to drop out. Once Meredith was "gassed" for keeps. The Frenchmen set about to kill off Bartlett, Denny and Pert, the three Englishmen left in the first flight. At different intervals one or the other of the Englishmen lost ground through accident, but Young, who had been loafing for the purpose of helping Andrews if the opportunity presented itself, went back and by dint of desperate pacing, yanked them back to the bunch.

Crowd Crazed With Joy

The crowd went almost delirious with joy at the sample of British unity. Young himself had been only granted permission to ride at the last moment. He clearly made fifth place in his heat on Thursday, but was deprived of it by a scorer's mistake. On Friday the Cycling Committee refused to let him in, and on Friday night Young broke training by going to a banquet. Half an hour before the race it was announced that he would be allowed to ride, and he hastily climbed into his suit. The late hours and rich food of the night before told on him, but he was hanging on gamely and would have been all right but for the desperate spurt the Continental riders set up when Meredith spilled. Then he cracked his knee going out, but pluckily held on in order to aid the Britons, and that he did is lucky for the Britons. Indeed, so delighted were the Britons at the National Cyclists Union banquet that Young was honoured by a special toast, and it was announced that he will get a special medal struck to mark meritorious performances.

"Do you know what you did, Young?" said a National Cyclist Union official. "You won that race for the Empire."

As a matter of fact, had Young been given his official place in the final and had not gone out of training, both he and Andrews would have been knocking on the door at the finish, for both were strong, and despite lack of complete trainings did remarkably well against the world's greatest riders.

Remarkable Gameness

In this grind Walter Andrews rode a race remarkable for its gameness. His heat left him in very bad shape, but he laid up all day Friday and went to the mark Saturday a trifle weak but determined. The first fifteen miles the Continentals drove at a terrific clip, but Andrews was there all the way. Once Young dropped back, but Andrews went back and unselfishly brought him back to the bunch. Then he plugged into the bunch and was hanging on grimly with the leaders when Robertson of England went down and Meredith and Andrews went over him. Andrews scrambled to his feet and upon his wheel, and with a 14-inch gash down his thigh and the blood streaming down to his shoe top, pounded after the leaders. He had broken his toe-clip, and before he got settled away both he and Meredith lost a lap. This was when the Continentals set up the tremendous sprint to beat Meredith.

After this Andrews clung on like a leech. It was raining, cold and chilly, and the men were almost unrecognizable, owing to the flying mud, but no matter how fierce the sprints, Andrews, his gashed leg paining him every step, clung on, Man after man went back, but Andrews' red and white cap circled that cement track with a clock-like regularity, and in the final dash, where the Britons pub-generalled the Frenchman, and won, Andrews was right there lending a helping hand. He was fifth, only a lap behind the leaders.

Taking it all in all, Andrews leads the Canadian team in its showing. In addition to fifth in the long race, he reached the semi-finals in the 660 yards' race and was beaten by V. L. Johnstone, the ultimate winner. Young rode in all races, but the last impetuous sprint of the Old World riders down the stretch seemed to be beyond him, though he was only beaten half a wheel in a field of four in the 660-yard dash.

McCarthy was a close second in his heat in the 660 but in the other races he was out-generalled. Several times he was boxed up and had to go around the bunch before he could make his effort. In the 1,000-metre race McCarthy was hurled off the track by Schilles, the French champion. Schilles was afterwards disqualified.

Doc Morton had hard luck. In his heat of the 62-mile race, while holding the bunch at 18 miles and responding to every sprint, he was upset by Weints and went down in the bunch. He was sadly battered up, and though he rode in every race, was so sore and stiff that only his pluck kept him close up at all.

The team race should have come to Canada—and would have too but for a misunderstanding. In these races teams of four start from opposite sides of the track and ride three laps. The time of the third rider in each team is taken, and the result decided by the fastest time. Canada had a walk over in round one, the United States scratching, but they foolishly rode their heads off, doing the journey in 4.12. Fifteen minutes later they were sent against the British team in round two, and lost by one second. The British team rode in 4.13 3-5. Had the team laid up in the walk over and ridden out in the semi-final with the British team they would have come home decorated with gold medals instead of bronze. It was a sheer case of misunderstanding. As a matter of fact, the boys were riding and did not understand the conditions. However, they beat Holland and France, and got third money. The English papers pointed out the contretemps which lost the Canucks the event.

Time for Training

The non-success of the Canucks is due to the fact that they had no chance to get any real training before they left home, and that their wheels are not built for the last dash up the straight, which decides all races from five miles down here. When they first came out at the Stadium they couldn't hang on worth a continental, but inside of a week they had educated themselves to this jump, and were always fairly well up on end.

The way in which the French riders look around and take their hands off while riding at full speed and wiggle waggled around in front of dangerous opponents made the Canucks' hair stand on end, but they soon commenced to employ the same tactics and drove into anyone who threatened them. Then, too, the men the Canucks had to meet, are men who are racing three times a week from early spring, and they were all on edge and up to every trick of the trade.

LACROSSE VETERANS FOR THE LINE-UP AGAINST LINDSAY

Lindsay lacrosse team is coming down on Thursday to play the return game with Peterborough. The scene of the struggle will be Riverside Park and the time 6.15 o'clock. The locals were trimmed in Lindsay by the narrow margin of 1—0, and they intend to turn the tables when the visitors come down.

A splendid practice was held last night, when "Dinny" Dobbin and Harry Morgan were out again and with these two veterans, in addition to McCabe, Stroud and others, of the old guard, Lindsay shouldn't have much of a look in. The Scugogites will likely bring down a big crowd to do the rooting. Lovers of lacrosse who can, should see Thursday night's game. It will certainly be a hummer.

THE PETES TO PLAY ON HOLIDAY

Fast Toronto Team Will be Down for a Double-Header.

On Civic Holiday the Petes will likely play two games with either the St. Mary's or Park Nine of Toronto. Arrangements are being made now for a morning and afternoon game, and those remaining in the city next Monday will have a chance to see two of the best games of the season. The two Toronto teams referred to are tied for the leadership of the Toronto Amateur League, and are playing fast ball. They are helping to provide players for the Toronto Eastern League team.

GREAT BOWLING DAY FOR CITY

Peterborough Rinks Up Everywhere—Win by 102 Shots Altogether—Bowmanville and Millbrook Here.

GAMES AT PORT HOPE

Yesterday was possibly the busiest day that the local bowlers have had in the history of the Club as two rinks went to Port Hope, three rinks played Bowmanville in the afternoon here, two rinks played with Millbrook and also two Bowmanville rinks in the evening here. In the Port Hope game, there being rinks from several outside towns, Peterborough was drawn against Oshawa and Parkdale. The results are:—

CHIEFTAINS WIN THE BALL GAME

Bowmanville Defeated by 9 Runs to 8—Some Fine Ball.

FALLENS' SPLENDID WORK

The Chieftain baseball team succeeded in defeating Bowmanville yesterday afternoon by a score of 9—8. There was a fairly large crowd of rooters present and they witnessed one of the best games of the season. The visitors are the leaders in the Central Ontario League, and came up here to play the winners of the church league. They should have been playing the winners of the Midland League. The youngsters played snappy ball and had their big opponents always guessing. Bill Fallon the little centre fielder of the Chieftains, practically won the game by a nice single in the last of the eighth. He drove a three bagger in the fifth and also made a sensational catch.

Frank Kennealy umpired satisfactorily.

RACES ON HOLIDAY WILL BE FAST

Turf Club's Meet is Bringing Out Many Entries—Work-outs at the Track.

Things are getting busy at the Driving Park these days in anticipation of the races next Monday and Tuesday. The Turf Club has arranged a good meet and a warm interest is being taken in the different events. The workouts are quite exciting, and give promise of keen, fast races.

THURSDAY'S LACROSSE GAME

Lindsay Coming Down Strong to Meet The Locals.

It has been definitely learned that Lindsay's lacrosse team will be down on Thursday afternoon to meet the locals. The ball will be faced at 6.30 p.m. at Riverside Park and a big effort will be made to turn the tables on Mudville's artists. There should be a large crowd at the game, and Lindsay will most likely have a crowd of fans along with the special, which they are running.

AN AMUSING INCIDENT

The sudden somersault turned by a horse on Wolseley street, in the north end of the city last night, was the object of much comment from the neighbours who saw the circus act. The animal was driven along by a local citizen, who was accompanied by his wife. In its walk it suddenly turned completely over. Although there was a bad tangle for a few moments neither the harness nor the buggy was broken, and the occupants of the latter were soon able to continue on their journey.

FARM MACHINES ARE SELLING WELL

Dealers Doing Good Business—Raspberry Crop is all Done.

EPWORTH LEAGUE SOCIAL

Examiner Special

Halls Glen, Aug. 5.—The farmers in this locality are busy at present harvesting their crop. All except one are through haying weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne of Warsaw spent Sunday with friends here.

The raspberry crop is nearly over, only a few persons are seen occasionally wandering through the village en route to the famous Crowe patch.

Mr. W Parsons visited friends in Douro this week where he spent a very enjoyable time.

The Epworth League of this place intend giving a social in the near future. We would like all to be on the look-out for further particulars.

The Third Line School which is undergoing a series of repairs, is under the well directed management of two of our local carpenters.

The Massey agent is as busy as ever this season. It is wonderful the sales he has made in this vicinity, and yet there seems to be no let up to the business.

The administration of the sacrament of the Lord's supper was held in Zion Methodist church on Sunday, under the management of our pastor, Rev. Dr. Marvin. A large attendance from the adjoining appointments were present, and all appeared to be deeply interested in the grand and earnest sermon which was rendered. We wish Dr. Marvin every success on his new field of labour, and we trust much good shall be accomplished.

World of Finance

New York, Aug. 4.—Special — The market wears a somewhat tired and uncertain appearance. Improving conditions have already been so fully discounted and prices have shown such a striking recovery, that discriminating buyers stand off and wait for further developments. It seems difficult to realize that the market is now 20 to 25 points above the low prices succeeding the panic, but such is the case, and many stocks are as high or higher than a year ago, when our railroads and industrials were doing a profitable business and steadily increasing their dividends. Now the same concerns are complaining bitterly of a lack of employment and are contemplating a reduction of dividends if they have not already been lowered. Plainly present prices of securities do not represent current conditions. They represent hopefulness or expectations of conditions that may or may not be realized. If they are realized, it is a question whether or not the good times coming have not been fully discounted?

Since the market has become so largely artificial, it is of importance to closely watch its technical position. The late advance, while largely based upon improving tendencies, was mainly the result of powerful manipulation, as is usual in all important speculative movements. The big operators who bought stocks to check the panic had a double purpose, in advancing the market; first to lighten their own burdens, and second to aid the financing of railroads in need of funds by creating a stronger stock market. In the last named respect they have been partly successful. Several important new issues have been floated and the immediate wants of roads unable to meet their obligations have been at least temporarily provided for. The extraordinary losses in gross and net earnings brought many of the weaker systems near a crisis as regards their maturing obligations, which was only averted by confidence in business revival in banking circles. One great advantage of the rise is that it facilitated liquidation of important concerns injured by the panic, and thus averted further disaster. As for the stocks bought to stem the panic, these have only partly been disposed of. At times there have been very positive evidences of inside selling, and this is the weakest element in the market at present. If the big insiders are quietly unloading, as seems to be the case, there is little inducement for buying stocks; although it is quite possible that prices may be temporarily carried to a higher level, especially in stocks hitherto neglected. But, with such a large amount of long stock awaiting distribution, it is evident that prices cannot be carried much higher; and that the market is exposed to a setback in event of important unfavourable news. The situation would be bettered were there a short interest of some consequence; but the bear side of the market is never a popular one, and operations on short account have been extra hazardous ever since the panic.

Canadian Pacific Strike Is Affecting Havelock

Employees Quit Work—Liberals of Belmont and Havelock Organize—Splendid Rain—Question of Methods on Cheese Board.

THE FORESTERS' EXCURSION

Examiner Special.

Havelock, Aug. 5.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Liberals of Belmont and Havelock for the purpose of organization was held in the Council Chamber, Havelock, on Tuesday evening. Officers for the township and village Associations were appointed and committees for each polling subdivision were chosen. The Liberals of this district are much chagrined at the result of the last Provincial election. They intend to do their utmost to secure the return of a Liberal for East Peterborough. It is understood that there was no discussion whatever about a candidate. The Liberal Convention will nominate a man at a convention to be held in the near future.

Strike on! The metal workers in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway went out to the number of about 30 this morning. The night men went off early and the day men were to retire at 10 o'clock. All the metal workers employed on the Canadian Pacific Railway are expected "to strike" to-day. It is not anticipated here that the strike will last long as the repairs to passenger and freight cars must be made from day to day.

The Foresters' excursion from here this morning by way of Trent Bridge to Idyl Wyld was not the success that it would have been had the day been more propitious. Many Havelock people intended going but the unfavourable outlook for the day prevented them. As it was, it was expected the excursion would be fairly successful.

Hon. J R Stratton was in Havelock on Tuesday evening.

The electric storm in Havelock on Tuesday evening was very severe, so much so that the Electric Light Company closed off the current about 11 o'clock and the village was in darkness until the storm subsided. The users of electric light had to revert back to the coal oil lamp and candle of earlier days.

Mr. MacDonald, road master of the C.P.R. was in the village this evening.

This is "cheese day" at Peterborough and the cheese makers from this district have gone to dispose of their cheese. There is a difference of opinion in this locality as to the justness of the expulsion of the Buckhorn factory from the Board at the last meeting and Mr. Kennedy has many sympathizers. It is contended that many of the factories secretly dispose of their output and when called do not accept until the "right" call comes. Then it is handed over according to agreement. The unfairness of the cheese buyers is also being commented upon, and a particular instance is given. A buyer made an offer for the selection. It was accepted by the board and the buyer took the most of the factories. He, however, never called for them. Many of the factories held the cheese for two weeks and sold them at the following meeting for half a cent per pound less. Unless the cheese factories play fair and keep their union which the board practically means they will fall to pieces through their own weakness. It is far better for the factories to get a fair price for their cheese throughout the whole season than it is to get a little advantage for a short period. The Globe may complain of manufacturers' unions or "combines" as they would term them, but the farmers to be successful with their cheese and milk supplies adjacent to the larger centres must have their combines or understandings. Of course it is folt to allow factories to publicly dispose of their output off the Board would in a short time interfere with the usefulness of the Association. On the other hand it is felt that it is more honourable, when it is sold off the Board, to make it known without waiting for it to be seen that it is sold off the Board by the factory affected answering only to the "right" call.

Many prominent Liberals from the surrounding township were observed moving about the village on Tuesday evening. It is expected that if a candidate is nominated acceptable to the people of the East a large vote will be polled. It is not generally known but it is a fact nevertheless that there was a larger vote polled in the last Provincial election than there was in the previous Dominion election. Mr. Finlay polled 1,589 votes. Mr. McNulty polled 1,257; Mr. Sexsmith polled 1,518 votes; Mr. Thompson polled 1,978. The total vote polled in the Finlay-Sexsmith election numbers 3,100 and in the Thompson-McNulty election the vote polled was 3,233 or 137 more were polled in the local than in the Dominion election. Yet there are 1,630 names entitled to vote on the voters' list. Making a fair allowance for absentees and deaths there should be 1,000 votes more polled than were polled in either of the last two elections.

Some of the ratepayers are feeling the burden of the new tax-rate. Thirty mills on the dollar with the present assessment is looked upon as being a little heavy. But then the village is laying cement sidewalks which must be paid for and provision must be made.

With licenses at $750 and the tax rate at 30 mills and the electric light and heating to be added, hotelkeeping in this village cannot be very profitable.

Last night's rain will do a world of good in this locality. Pastures were drying up. The potato crop will be helped, although it would have been a failure. In all respects the rain was a blessing undisguised.

DENSE SMOKE CAUSES TROUBLE

"Simcoe Street Taxpayer" Objects to It Blowing Into His House.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

While not wishing to throw a stone at the manufacturing interests of our city, I think patience has a limit in regard to the operations of some of our manufacturers. On Hunter street is located a plumbing establishment which daily emits clouds of dense soft coal smoke from a large chimney at the rear. Day after day, when a northerly wind blows, the Y. W. C. A. and adjoining buildings on Simcoe street are deluged with fumes of soot-laden smoke. Yesterday to my certain knowledge, a private residence near the Y. W. C. A., on which heavy taxes are paid annually, was rendered practically uninhabitable by the dense clouds of smoke that blew from this chimney. It is time the city council gave some protection to those from whose pockets is derived the "money that makes the mare go." This Hunter street plumber should consume his smoke and not make himself a nuisance to his neighbours.

THE PRINTERS' PIC-NIC FOR YOURS

On Civic Holiday Just Fall In With the Good Ones For An Outing of Fun and Pleasure.

The Printers' Picnic! It stands for the best, the premier event in pleasure outings which are held from this city every summer. It will be held as usual on Civic Holiday, Aug. 10th. It is the Marathon event. Last year the printers established a record for having the largest crowd and everyone had twice their money's worth in fun. On the boat dancing was a feature and at Idyl Wyld there were all kinds of doings. A specialty this year will be the sacrifice of the Review's would-be ball tossers. The Examiners hate to do it. Handing out hard jolts to anything that the Review ever put forward in sporting lines just seems to come natural, so they can't help it. Last year, 'tis true, they played the Peterboroughs, or the best part of them, and with all due sense of modesty we did not believe we could win. Even "Pazy" himself admits that. But this year there will be a different story. The Review have nine home crews with Taft-like aspirations of the aeroplane variety and while the Examiner team will not be as strong as they might be, still there is no doubt of the outcome.

Added to this is the dancing at the pavilion, the long list of sports, the canoe race for the ten dollar gold piece and a hundred and one things that the committee keeps as surprises. Don't miss the trip with the Printers.

ROSE BUSH IN SECOND BLOOM

Jackson Avenue Resident Has Fine Rose Bush on Which Flowers Are Reappearing.

Mr. Adam Frick, Jackson avenue, has in his flower garden a "snowball" rose bush that is now bearing its second bloom. The first time it bore six lovely flowers. Their stems were cut and five more have re-appeared several of which are in full bloom. Mr. Frick believes the second bloom to be rare. He at any rate has not noticed it before.

I. O. F. EXCURSION TO IDYL WILD

Will be Held on Labour Day—Steamer Otonabee Chartered.

The fifth annual excursion of Court Chemong I.O.F. will be held on Labour Day to Idyl Wyld. The committee has completed all its arrangements. The steamer Otonabee has been chartered and an orchestra will be on board to provide music for dancing and an excellent time is promised.

HAIL REPORTED IN THE WEST

Said to Have Passed Over Parts of Saskatchewan Damaging the Crops.

Arcola, Sask., Aug. 5.—A devastating hailstorm passed over this district recently and did great damage to the crops. The storm passed over a district three townships wide, the length of its course is not yet known. But in the district covered great havoc was wrought, the crops being completely destroyed.

MAKES THEM ANGRY.

How a Skunk Captures Yellow Jackets With His Tail.

All agree that the skunk is the natural enemy of insects, and it is for this reason that the farmers in a great many agricultural districts have secured legislation for his protection, but did you ever think what ingenuity is employed by the little fellow in the capture of his prey? Does he charm like the snake? Does he lie in wait, or does he provoke them to assault? It is the latter. A skunk can catch any insect that he can get to fight him. On one occasion I went to the woods in quest of squirrels. It was a warm, cloudy afternoon in September. While standing on a log waiting for a squirrel I saw a large object moving through the woods toward me, which I first took to be a grey fox. I raised my gun and prepared to shoot, but as the animal advanced I noticed that it was not a fox, but a skunk, the largest I had ever seen, his color being much like that of a gray fox. When he first saw me he was about twenty steps away, but instead of making an effort to retreat he rose on his toes, fluffed up his hair and tail and jumped up two or three times, alighting on the ground stiff legged, after the fashion of a sheep on the entry of a dog to the barn lot, as a mad house cat will do. I kept him covered all the time with my gun.

In a few minutes his anger seemed to subside. He then walked a few feet away, and with his left paw he made a few quick digs in the leaves and then, turning around, began to slowly switch his tail over the place where he had scratched. At each movement I became more and more interested, and watching, I saw a swarm of yellow jackets emerging from the ground. Hot and furious they darted at the little fellow's tail, which was kept constantly in motion, each one sticking tight to the long fur and doing no damage. I never shall forget his keen black eyes as he looked at me, as if to say: "Watch me. I have done it before."

With a tail covered with jackets, like so many burs, he walked a few feet away and began to pick them off and eat them as a hungry boy would so many berries. This act repeated once more, the little yellow warriors were gone, and their home, left defenceless and desolate, was dug out and carried away by the visitor, who left apparently without any fear that I would do him harm. And I, then a boy, now grown to manhood, am glad that I did not shoot.—Forest and Stream.

How to Clean Straw.

A good straw lasts a long time if properly cared for, and when trimmings are so very reasonable in price every woman can have stylish hats if she knows the cleaning trick. To clean a white milan or a split straw scrub with toothbrush or nailbrush dipped in a weak solution of oxalic acid and water, then with clean water, not wetting more than necessary. Then scatter precipitate of sulphur and lay in the sun. Brush off with a clean brush when dry, and your hat will be clean and white. A black milan, hemp braid or horsehair, clean with nap side of velvet dipped in alcohol and rubbed thoroughly with the tips of the fingers. Black chip, give a coat of bottle shoeblacking. Colored hats, clean with gasoline and a piece of velvet. Faded hats can be tinted with a dye made of oil paints and gasoline. The only remedy for chip hats that are sunburned or faded is to give them a coat of polish or take them to a professional. White, colored and black lace or net hats can be cleaned by dipping the hats without the trimming in clean gasoline and drying outside.

Novel Incident In Lords.

Lord Morley did not enter the House of Lords in the orthodox way. On the very threshold of his new career he came in conflict with the traditions of that august assembly. The onlookers present during the ceremony of swearing in noticed a sudden break in the order of proceedings. The new peer addressed the reading clerk, who was observed to shake his head vigorously in the negative. A hurried consultation took place between the reading clerk and Lord Peel, who, with Lord Esher, stood sponsor for the new peer. The incident arose upon Lord Morley's refusal to take the oath, he insisting on making an affirmation. There being no precedent for such objection, there was no form of affirmation handy. The form of oath, however, was slightly varied, and the incident closed without its significance being guessed by the onlookers. The rest of the ceremony was unimpeachably decorous.

CRATERS OF DIAMONDS.

It is now generally believed that diamonds are formed in the earth by extreme heat and pressure. Barney Barnato, the South African diamond magnate, was one of the first men to fathom the secret of the source of the Kimberley diamonds and to make a fortune from his knowledge. The pioneers worked in the yellow earth which lay on the surface and found diamonds there in abundance. How they came there the men could not imagine. When they had got through this layer of yellow earth and touched the blue rock underlying it their hearts sank. They thought they had come to the end of their riches. Barnato, however, did not believe that the gems had been deposited from above. He believed that what they were working in were really the craters of extinct volcanoes, that the diamonds had been forced up from below and that whence these had come more and greater were to follow. So he bought every claim he could, and time vindicated his judgment.

He did not make his guess public property. The ordinary man when he found his layer of yellow ground run low made haste to sell out to the uninitiated. One man who had reached this stage obliged a friend by allowing him to dump upon his claim the yellow earth which had been worked and sorted. Then he found a newcomer who was looking for a claim rich in yellow deposit. The novice paid $2,000 for the site and thought that he had virgin yellow upon which to work. As a fact, he had to go down into the blue before he handled a diamond.

But the biter was bitten. The claim which was sold for $2,000 soon began to pay out of the blue rock and then could not have been rebought for $200,000. Barnato would have given $40,000 for it and taken the risk, but he did not hear anything of the transaction until the tenderfoot had bought and the man who thought himself clever had departed.

WORK FOR WOMEN.

How They Can Help to Make Towns Wholesome Places to Live In.

Much in the line of town improvement work can be accomplished by women. In The Delineator a writer tells some of the things a woman can do—namely:

Abolish unnecessary noise.

Establish traveling libraries and so bring reading matter within the reach of all.

Help to save the forests from demolition.

Clean up her own back yard and make it such a thing of beauty that it will be an inspiration to her neighbors.

See that the health of her fellow citizens is cared for by securing the appointment of a public nurse whose duty is the care and instruction of the poor.

Insist upon paved sidewalks.

Demand clean streets and get them.

Do away with immoral theatres, moving picture shows and postal cards.

Beautify her street with window boxes.

Prevent much loss of life by insisting that all wires be underground.

Arouse public interest in the public welfare.

Keep her garbage box clean and covered and insist upon her fellow citizens doing the same.

She can do because she has done every one of these things. And when she does them all towns and cities will be clean, happy, wholesome places in which to live.

Weak on Mathematics.

In a recent trial a judge made arithmetic a test of mental soundness. But if this test had been applied to certain great men they would have been declared imbeciles. Dean Stanley, eminent author and divine, for one, would have been set down as hopeless had he been judged by his incapacity to do a sum in simple addition or multiplication. Had Keble, writer of famous hymns, depended upon his arithmetic Oxford would not long have known him. When bursar he found, to his horror, that certain accounts came out nearly $10,000 to the bad. In vain did the learned and pious men of the college go over the figures with him. Not until an expert was summoned was it discovered that Keble in casting up a column had added the date of the year to the college debts.

He Worked on Floor.

Keir Hardie, labor member of the British Parliament, is noted for the carelessness of his attire. Not long ago, when some repairs were being done to the House of Commons, Mr. Hardie was lounging in the library, when he was accosted by a friendly policeman, who failed to recognize him in his somewhat shabby clothes. "Ullo, matey," exclaimed the man in blue, "are you working 'ere?" "Yes," replied Mr. Hardie, laconically. "On the roof?" "No," said the labor leader, with a quiet smile, "not on the roof. I work on the floor of this house."

Origin of "Pall Mall."

"Pall Mall," pronounced pel mel, comes from paile maile, an ancient game supposed to have been played on the present site of Pall Mall by Norman monks, by whom it was introduced into England.

"April 2, 1661. Into St. James' park, where I saw the Duke of York playing pelemele, the first time that ever I saw the sport."

Not the Same.

Miss Woodby—So Mr. Smart really said he considered me very witty, eh?

Miss Knox—Not exactly. He said he had to laugh every time he met you.

FOUGHT BEAR WITH HANDS.

Alaskan Has Terrific Struggle With a Big Polar.

The story of a terrific fight between an Eskimo and a polar bear is brought from the Arctic slope by Jujiro Wada, the Japanese musher.

In the middle of December a native named Nigakuse was in his snow house, when on looking out through the peculiar little place of exit he saw a polar bear. The man seized a rifle and went out to give battle to the great white brute. Thinking it was best to let the bear get within close range and then to plug him with the leaden pellet, and thus make no miss shot, the Eskimo let the bear advance to within a few paces.

The next moment when the native expected to look beneath the lifting wraith of smoke and see the prostrate form of a blood-stained giant, he was horrified to realize that the rifle had failed in its service, and that with the clogged barrel he was at the mercy of the on-rushing monster. With angry snarl and rampant arms the beast fell on the now fleeing man and hugged him ferociously.

The bear held the man in such a way as to clasp the vice-like jaw on the unhappy Nigakuse. The man jerked the arm away, but in the foaming mouth of the beast remained a slice of the arm.

The native then side-stepped, dodged and stepped away from the bear. Another native, attracted by the noise of battle, emerged from the snow house and with ready rifle and steady aim sent home the death messenger. Nigakuse was repaired with the crude process of surgery available and lived to sink his teeth into the forearm of the bear and to devour his heart, his brains and tenderloin and to sleep in peace on the hide of the brute which had dared to walk and to fight like a man.

MORAL LAWS IN DAWSON.

Order In Mining Centres Is Excellent Says Minister.

Rev. J. R. Seymour, a well-known Methodist clergyman, who has spent about eight years on various stations in British Columbia, and who for the past two years has been stationed at Dawson as pastor of the Methodist Church there, said recently in referring to the conditions affecting church work, that after an experience in various parts of the Province of British Columbia he could say that the moral conditions in Dawson were quite as good as they were in any place of its size in the province. The dance halls had been wiped out by the council, and the police were exercising quite rigid oversight, and seeing that the laws were properly enforced.

Mr. Seymour, from his long experience in the mining towns of British Columbia, is well qualified to judge of these conditions, and his announcements on moral conditions in Dawson are contrary to the reports that Rev. Dr Pringle has been circulating.

Questioned with regard to Dr. Pringle's action, Mr. Seymour said that as pastor of a sister church he did not feel that he should attribute motives to him in his course. Dr. Pringle, he said, had taken an active part in pressing for moral reforms. It was not for him (Mr. Seymour) to find fault with that, as his efforts were similarly directed along these lines. As to the methods employed to accomplish the ends, that was a matter, he said, that rested with the individual worker. Statements had been freely made that Dr. Pringle had said he had not been properly treated by the Liberal party, and would take the stump against that party. This had undoubtedly lessened Dr. Pringle's influence with a considerable portion of the population, and alienated a number from him and his work.

Canada's Century.

That the nineteenth century belonged to the United States and that the twentieth would be Canada's has been the jubilant attitude of the Canadians for ten years and more. Now the grain carrying trade of New York is suffering from the competition of Montreal, with the result that the White Star line has withdrawn five of its freighters from the service at this port. Other lines have taken similar action. Two and one-half cents can be saved on each bushel by shipping by way of Montreal, and the grain trade will follow the line of least resistance.

It remains to be seen what action can be taken to bring this trade back to the United States. The steamship officials want reductions in railway charges to overcome the present advantages of Montreal. This presupposes the willingness of the shipping men to do their share. Yet if the natural advantages are with the Canadian port the effort to compete with it by means of artificial stimulation is not likely to be successful in the long run.

Has Canada's century begun?—New York Sun.

A Search For Solitude.

Oh, where is the street that is free from contention,
A street where the people will not pause and stare,
Where style without riches attracts no attention?
Ah, would that kind fate would direct me to there!

Shops, cars and automobiles don't annoy me,
And nothing I care for the odors they make.
One place, could I find it, would quite overjoy me—
A place I could eat this five cents' worth of cake.

Mr. Madison—Well, that was quite natural.

WAS ORIGINAL OF TOPSY.

When the negro problem was troubling the south, an aristocratic English family named Overaker, for conscience sake, separated themselves from the associations of their lifetime, and sought a home on the banks of the Ohio, in the vicinity of Cincinnati.

This family brought with them a retinue of house servants in order to set them free. They were scattered among the various families of this lovely vicinage, some being employed at one time or another in Prof. Stowe's family and some in that of his next neighbor, also a professor in the seminary. One of these neighbors has said that she has seen Mrs. Stowe sit whole afternoons watching the children of the two families and the young blacks at play.

It was then and there that Mrs. Stowe saw Topsy and took her comical likeness in unfading colors. Topsy was a stray bit of ebony humanity that in some unrecorded way came to be one of the piccaninnies perched on the portioos of the Overaker mansion in New Orleans, where the family had a winter home, or hung around the quarters, ran errands or played with the dogs on the Tichenor plantation at Natches.

She was such a little imp of darkness that "that limb was past saving," and so she was left among the field hands who were to work out their freedom there on the plantation of Natchez. But the case of the abandoned waif appealed to the sympathy of Mrs. Stowe's neighbor, and the elfish Topsy was brought north and placed in the family of the young professor to be trained for service.

It must be confessed that the effort to develop her into a reasonable being was not a shining success. Joan—for that was the real name—drifted into the abandoned stratum of Cincinnati life and was seen no more by her former friends till the day of Mrs. Tichenor's funeral.

Black Sam also, he of the "o'bobservation" faculty, was at service in the same family, but he will be best remembered by the act of putting the beechnut under Haley's saddle when they were about to start after Eliza. Others of the small fry named were of the same group.

In 1850 Dr. Stowe had accepted a professorship at Bowdoin, and was living in Brunswick when the fugitive slave law of that year was passed. This was the final fire which set the colors of Mrs. Stowe's resolution to write something "which should hold up slavery to the world as a dramatic reality."

She was then in the midst of heavy domestic cares, with a young infant, and with a party of pupils in her family to whom she was imparting lessons daily with her own children, but the story was so much more intense a reality to her than any other earthly thing that the weekly instalment for Dr. Bailey's National Era never failed. Once Mr. Jewett, who was to publish it, wrote to ask her not to make it too long, as the subject was not popular. Mrs. Stowe replied that she did not make the story, that the story made itself, and that she could not stop till it was done.

This feeling increased in intensity to the end. It is even said that in those last days of her life she had said, "God wrote it. I merely did His dictation."—Lippincott's.

Some Superstitions.

When starting for the river, says a writer in London Field, if you have to turn back and get something that you have forgotten, you are sure to catch little or nothing that day. This is an article of Devon folklore, and I am inclined to think the west country folk right herein. The disappointment, the hurry and the bringing of wrong things always act prejudicially upon what ought to be the unruffled, even temper of a successful angler. He becomes hasty and rash, most often with ill results to his basket. In the western highlands it is currently believed that if you see a colt with its back to you when starting in the morning on a fishing excursion it is the worst of luck, only to be exceeded should you hear a cuckoo before breakfast.

Thackeray and Archdekne.

Thackeray got into trouble by copying some of the characters too closely from life, notably when he put his friend, Arthur Archdekne, into "Pendennis" as the ever delightful Harry Foker. Although Thackeray meant no unkindness, Archdekne never quite forgave him. One night, just after Thackeray had delivered his first lecture on "The English Humorists," Archdekne met him at the Cider Cellar club, surrounded by a coterie who were offering their congratulations. "How are you, Thack?" cried Archie. "I was at your show to-day at Willis'. What a lot of swells you had there—yes! But I thought it was dull—devilish dull! I will tell you what it is, Thack—you want a piano."

Counting a Billion.

Suppose you undertook to count a billion. How long do you think it would take you to do it? A billion, according to the French notation, which we follow, is a thousand millions. If you had before you a pile of silver dollars containing a million and could count one very second for eight hours every day it would take you thirty-five days to complete the task. But suppose you undertook to count a thousand of those million dollar piles. You would be at work eight hours a day for 35,000 days, or about 100 years.

Missed a Chance.

"But, Tommy," said his mother, "you asked for two cakes and I gave them to you. Aren't you satisfied?"

"No, I ain't," growled Tommy. "You was so easy I'm kickin' meself now 'cause I didn't ask fur four."—Philadelphia Press.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.
"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic. I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

Woman's World

A MODEL DAIRY FARM.

Chicago Society Woman Directs Million Dollar Farm.

Mrs. Scott S. Durand, a Chicago woman, is receiving credit for having saved the lives of hundreds of young children through her determination to be something more than a butterfly of fashion and to do something useful, as she puts it.

Young, handsome and cultured, Mrs. Durand has forsworn the drawing room and the gayeties of the city to become the directing head of a million dollar farm. She has demonstrated to the men that the purest of milk can be sold at a profit in air tight silver jugs, the pink seals bearing the imprint of her own gold signet ring. She took a special course in a famous college of agriculture, winning the highest honors in competition with 600 students, that she might carry on her new work scientifically, and today she is one of the most powerful leaders in the milk crusade extending throughout Illinois.

That a woman, one who occupied a place in the exclusive society in Chicago, should voluntarily undertake to remedy such conditions is a fact at which state officials marvel. In their campaign among the dairies and milk supply depots they point to her establishment as a model and urge all dairy farmers to follow her advanced methods. Besides, they have enlisted her as a lecturer to tell the men how to produce the most milk and the best milk and how to keep it free from germs of disease till it reaches the consumer's table.

When Mrs. Durand decided "to do something useful" she was a resident of Lake Forest, a Chicago suburb whose inhabitants are mainly millionaires. The wife of a sugar merchant of extensive means, she had a home that was second to none in the place. Her entertainments were lavish. A Virginia girl, grown up with a love of the fresh air and freedom of the woods, she continually heard the "call of the country" even while she participated in the strenuous round of social pleasures. It became her custom to take horseback rides in the rural districts for recreation.

On one of these trips Mrs. Durand stopped at a farmhouse and asked for a glass of milk. What she received did not appear to be as free from impurities as she thought it ought to be. The thought occurred to her, if there were visible particles of dirt in the milk where it was produced, what might it not contain after it had passed through several hands and reached her own back window ledge! She resolved to find out. The result was that she began a systematic study of the city milk supply, with revelations that astounded her, and the establishment of her dairy farm was the result.

Scent Box For Hats.

The perfumed [illegible]d grows apace, and every millinery [illegible]er own way of doing it.

"The essential thing," says one milliner, "is any kind of a box. But it must be large enough to hold the hat without crushing the feathers. One woman used a little tin ice chest which had been unused for a long time and was free from smell. A big white paper box can be set inside the tin one. Then comes the matter of scenting the paper box, which must be lined with silk.

"The most successful scented hat box I ever saw was made of paper, and there were four inside pieces of silk

Diarrhea

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

In fact, in most cases one dose is sufficient. It never fails and can be relied upon in the most severe and dangerous cases. It is equally valuable for children and is the means of saving the lives of many children each year.

In the world's history no medicine has ever met with greater success.

PRICE THIRTY-FIVE CENTS.

which served to [illegible] it. They could be removed. When filled with scent they were simply overpowering and the paper hat box was a bower of the richest sachet. Into this the hat was placed.

"The cover was put on the paper box, and the whole thing was set away in the tin chest. The chest, being air tight, held the scents within, and so the hat became scented. It held its scent even in the wind for three months.

"I am interested in scents from a complexion standpoint, for a really fine milliner, one who is worthy of the task of preserving the beauty of her customers, must understand a great deal. I have just built a rose colored hat for a woman. She is slightly pale, and the roses will bring out the pink in her cheeks."

Are Women Ideal Tempered?

When it comes to a question of hobbies and pursuits, are wives ever as indulgent as their husbands? A man is usually far more lenient to his wife's tastes than she is to his. He may not be able to understand her fondness for Mrs. Smith's company, but he endures it without a murmur. He may not appreciate her espousal of the suffragette's cause, but he allows her to "gang her ain gait" without expostulation. With her other fancies and ideas it is the same. If they "please her and don't hurt him," he is content.

A woman, however, will lose no time in informing her husband that she can't endure Brown and he really must not go fishing with him any more, or if bicycling happens to be his innocent recreation she will never rest until she has got him to take up tennis, a form of sport which may appeal to her personally, but in which he has no sort of interest. A man shows far more good nature in respect of his wife's liberty and leisure. Long before she has ceased grumbling at the untidiness of his particular den, at the presence of pipes and the absence of matches in every room in the house, he has patiently and good humoredly recognized the fact that it takes at least five hatpins and twenty-five minutes to adjust the hat of the period at the fashionable angle.

Do You Use Oil?

Americans should cultivate a taste for olive oil, as it lubricates the system and is one of the most wholesome of all fats.

It is easily digested and assimilated.

It is more wholesome than animal fats, especially in hot weather.

It must be pure, however, and absolutely unrancid.

Pure olive oil has little taste beyond a pleasant oiliness.

It should be kept in a cool place, but not allowed to freeze.

Some of the best oils have a slightly greenish tinge.

If bought by the gallon can, as is frequently done, it should be bottled in pint or even half pint bottles and tightly corked. Oil exposed to the air gets rancid more quickly than if sealed.

Never let oil for French dressing stand in the cruet in the dining room or other hot place.

When King Edward desires to pay a call on a personal friend a message to this effect is sent earlier in the day. This rule is almost invariable, but on one occasion His Majesty neglected the precaution, and on arriving at the house of his friends found the hosts out of town and the charwoman in charge. The King desired to go in and write a message, but was asked by the cautious caretaker for his card, and as that was not forthcoming she declined to let him in. "He was a very pleasant, civil-spoken gentleman," she told her employers on their return, "but as he hadn't a card I left him outside." It was only some time afterwards that the master discovered to his horror the identity of the visitor.

Britain to Pension the Aged.

The distinctive feature of the annual budget presented to the British House of Commons by Premier Asquith is the provision for allowance from the national treasury of $1.25 a week to persons over seventy years old and possessing incomes under $130 a year. This would not go to those dependent classes already under the public care. Asquith estimates that on this plan the pensioners will not exceed 500,000 and that the total cost will not exceed $30,000,000. Stringent conditions would be imposed for forfeiture and suspension, and the Premier added that if this scheme was socialism it was socialism of a kind that both parties accepted. It will not go into effect until Jan. 1 next.

To Cut Hot Brown Bread.

After many failures and many sucky knives in trying to slice a hot loaf of brown bread I finally, says a contributor to Harper's Bazar, tried a piece of fine wire, such as comes with shipping tags, or it may be had by the spool in fancy work stores. This worked beautifully. The same wire may be used in[illegible]

A DAINTY TRIFLE.

Whisk Broom Holder Made From Wall or Crinkled Paper.

A useful little article which may be made from paper, either flowered or plain, is a whisk broom holder laced together at the sides with ribbon. The back of the holder is made of cardboard in the shape of a shield and is covered with an all over flowered paper. A smaller piece of cardboard is covered with paper and laced to the back through perforations made in both pieces. The edges are finished with gold paint, which is not at all difficult to put on. It is splashed on quite irregularly in a narrow border.

basket made of paper. A big splashing floral design is chosen for this purpose and is matched in color by the plain paper for the inside. There are five pieces in the wastebasket, the four sides and the bottom. The paper may be one of the very deep border designs or an all over pattern.

The four pieces which are to form the sides of the basket are the same size and are cut narrower at the bottom than at the top. They are straight along the bottom and may be straight along the top or scalloped. The bottom piece is made to fit the square formed by the bottom of the four sides. The sides are perforated along the edges and along the bottom, and the entire basket is laced together with ribbon.

DOGWOOD CULTURE.

The Garden Varieties Among the Most Valuable Shrubs.

The garden varieties of the dogwood are among the most valuable shrubs in use, being especially adapted for moist and shady places. Some of them have richly colored twigs, which produce a fine color effect in the winter. All are hardy and adapt themselves readily to a variety of soils and climates.

Flowering dogwood (Cornus florida) is very showy in flower and also beautiful in autumn when the leaves change color before falling. The plant is of tree form, rather slow in growth and ordinarily from ten to fifteen feet high. It has branches spreading almost horizontally. The flowers appear early in spring, and in full bloom the shrubs have a striking appearance owing to the whorls of leaves that surround the blossoms. It bears a bright scarlet fruit.

Red osier (Coranus stolonifera) grows freely in marshy ground in Canada and the northern states. Its main stem is prostrate, and from it many shoots grow six to ten feet high. These shoots are green in summer, but scarlet in winter. The flowers are white or cream and are followed by white fruit. A variegated leaved variety can be obtained and in some respects is best, having leaves that in summer are broadly and irregularly margined with yellow and white.

Cornelian cherry is a small tree or large shrub, reaching a height of fifteen feet. Small, bright yellow flowers appear in early spring before the foliage, giving the plant a very striking appearance at that time. There are two variegated forms, which are beautiful.

Asparagus Omelet.

Cut four or five tender pieces of asparagus into pieces about one inch long. Boil in salted water until tender, about fifteen minutes. Drain and stand in warm place while you make the omelet. Beat four or six eggs slightly, not enough to make them light, but simply to thoroughly mix. After you have beaten slightly add to them four tablespoonfuls of boiling water and a piece of butter the size of a filbert. Now stir in carefully the asparagus. Melt two ounces of butter in a perfectly clean, round frying pan. Pour in the omelet at once, shake and with a knife separate the thickened part of the frying pan, allowing the liquid part to go underneath. It must never stick, but move as you shake the pan from one side to the other. As soon as the eggs begin to set dust with salt and pepper and with a limber knife roll and fold the omelet and turn it out on a heated plate. Send to the table at once.

Story of Hans Andersen.

Hans Andersen, the great Danish writer, was an excessively nervous man, and he had a very great fear of being buried alive. So great was this dread that every night when he went to bed he would place by his bedside a large piece of paper on which was written, "I am only apparently dead."

WARNED BY SPECTERS

One Person's Three Experiences With Ghosts.

THE SPIRIT OF HIS SISTER.

How an Apparition From the Unseen World Aided the Brother in Deciding an Important Legal Question—The Phantom on the Grave.

Three times in my life, each instance separated by an interval of years, have the experiences here told been mine.

I come of a family to different members of which have become visible at times those appearances which for want of a better name are known as "ghosts." It is at least possible that the superstition regarding the second sight of one born with a veil may have some foundation in scientific fact, for my uncle was thus veiled at birth, and all his life from infancy vacant space was peopled to him with forms, which he would describe so accurately in dress, appearance and manner that listeners would instantly recognize departed friends, gone over years before my uncle's birth in many instances.

It was not till he was a large boy that he realized that the forms seen by him were not visible to others. Pages could be written of his experiences, but I am not here to give hearsay evidence, but my own personal experiences, the sights seen with my own bodily vision.

The first instance was so early in my life that I do not recall it, but my mother relates the circumstances.

Our home was in Brooklyn, and we had gone for the summer to Greenfield Hill, Conn. I was so young that I still wore dresses and was in charge of a nursemaid who was in the habit of receiving visits from Annie, a girl of her own class, so that I was well acquainted with Annie.

She died suddenly and was buried in the country churchyard, but I was not told of her death, being considered too young to understand.

As I walked with my nurse past the cemetery one evening in the edge of dusk her superstitious horror can be imagined when I cried, pointing directly to Annie's grave: "Oh, Maggie, there is Annie! She is waving her hand for us to come over to her!" I broke away from my nurse and ran to the cemetery fence. She caught me up and ran in a panic to the house, nor would she ever again pass the cemetery after dark.

The only idea in my mind was that of a familiar friend whom I had not seen for some time.

The second instance was at the most unromantic age possible to a boy—about thirteen. I was attending boarding school in Dedham, Mass.

At about 9 in the evening I sat on the edge of the bed removing my shoes when the wall of the room seemed to part and open, showing the night outside, with the dim forms of the trees gently waving in the wind. As I sat spellbound at this strange sight in the rift of the wall against the background of the night stood my friend as I had last seen him, just as in life. He waved his hand to me in token of farewell, stood looking at me a moment, and gently the vision faded.

I said to my roommate, who had seen nothing: "Charlie is dead. I have just seen him." The next morning a telegram to the school said that he had died the night preceding.

In the third instance I had grown to manhood—a normal, healthy man, over six feet tall and weighing nearly 200 pounds. I am a civil engineer, the hardy outdoor life being far removed from dreams and morbid imaginings.

It was on one occasion necessary for me to consult a lawyer, and one evening I met the lawyer in his Boston office to talk over a matter of business. In the course of the conversation he asked me a question which I was undecided about answering. I stopped a moment before replying, for consideration, lowering my eyes, and, when I raised them, there stood behind the attorney a favorite sister, dead many years.

Her eyes were fixed on mine, her fingers on her lips. I instantly absorbed the idea conveyed by her suggestive pose and did not give the lawyer the information he asked. As it afterward proved, it was greatly to my interest not to do so.

The lawyer shivered slightly as the visitant stood behind his chair and said that there was a draft through the room.

He never knew that the sensation of cold conveyed to his nervous system was a breath from an unseen world.

Science has proved that light, sound and color are all the results of vibration of greater or less rapidity. Some of these vibrations affect our senses and we see, hear or feel their effects. But what of the vast space filled with those vibrations which affect none of our senses, yet are unknown to science? Could our senses respond to them what secrets of the unseen might not be revealed, and who can say but the secret of these strange sights which sometimes greet the eye of mortals is hidden in this unknown range of vibrations, hiding a world that is all about us, mingling with and overlapping, surrounding and telescoping our common humdrum daily life and only in rare moments of attunement drawing the veil aside for a glimpse into the unknown.

The Artistic Poison.

Passing by other drugs, each of which has its own way of making people crazy, we come to what may be truly termed the artistic poison. This is, says Dr. William H. Thomson in Everybody's Magazine, the mescal button, which grows on a low cactus in the valley of the Rio Grande and fortunately is scarce and hard to get. Chewing this button causes the most gorgeously colored scenes to appear before the entranced vision, far surpassing, according to descriptions, the most magnificent sunsets. It would seem to be the drug for landscape painters, but unfortunately, whatever other things drugs do, they never increase efficiency. It was first discovered among the Kiowa tribe of Indians, who used it in their religious rites till missionaries induced the government to remove the Indians from where they could get it.

Lightning and Thunder.

By counting the number of seconds in the interval between lightning and thunder it is possible to figure approximately how far from the observer is the scene of the storm. Sound travels 1,100 feet a second, so multiply the number of seconds by 1,100, which will give the distance in feet from the point where the lightning flashed. For example, if ten seconds have elapsed the distance away will be 11,000 feet, or a little over two miles. It might be added that, as light and lightning travel so much faster than sound, if one survives after hearing the crashing peal he can be sure he is safe. Remembrance of this will dissipate terror.

No Cause to Be Discouraged.

Mr. Youngpop—My little girl is nearly two years old and hasn't learned to talk yet. Mr. Henpeckke—Don't let that worry you. My wife says she didn't begin to talk until she was nearly three, and now—

BOARD CUTTING PUZZLE.

How a Carpenter Fitted a Square Plank into an Oblong Hole.

Boys who have tinkered at carpentering know how hard it is sometimes to get a board to fit a certain place. The old story is told of a ship's carpenter who was roused up in the night to repair a leak in the hold of the vessel. He found the hole was 9 by 16 inches in size, while the only plank he had was 12 by 12 inches. Being an ingenious fellow, it soon dawned on him that by cutting the plank in steps and putting the two pieces together again, as shown in the diagram, they would just fill in the 9 by 16 hole. You can make a good puzzle of this by taking a piece of square cardboard and then asking your friends how they would cut it in order to make it fit a hole that was longer and narrower.

MIMIC FIREWORKS.

Miniature fireworks of a brilliant and beautiful kind may be produced in the parlor with very simple materials, a candle, a clay pipe and several strips of tin foil. Nor is there the least danger in the experiment to either the person or the furniture. The only precaution necessary is to spread a sheet of paper over the table on which the candle stands.

Get a number of strips of tin foil such as comes around chocolate and press them closely together. The strips should be about an inch in width. By means of the pipe blow the flame of the candle against the tin foil, and the increase of oxygen thus given to the flame and the corresponding increase of heat will fuse the metal and make it fall to the table in brilliant white globules, which run in radiating lines. If the flame be powerful enough to make the metal melt and burn rapidly, the effect will be very pretty and the light very brilliant.

Wicked Thing to Game.

One of the players represents the wicked thing. He [illegible] somewhere, and the other players walk around cautiously, singing:

How joyfully we'd play and sing
If there were not a wicked thing!
The clock strikes one! The clock strikes two!
The wicked thing is watching you.
The clock strikes three! The clock strikes four!
The wicked thing is at the door!

The wicked thing jumps from its hiding place the moment the last word is sung, and if it succeeds in catching another player the captured one must take the part.

Cat and Mouse.

Two players, the cat and the mouse, are blindfolded and tied to a tree or post by two long strings. The mouse is given two pieces of wood, or a nutmeg grater and nutmeg answer the purpose much better. These the mouse grates together occasionally to give the cat a clew as to her whereabouts. As both players are blindfolded, the cat is sometimes close beside the mouse when she hears the grating and can easily pounce upon her. When caught the mouse becomes the cat, and the cat joins the spectators, while a new mouse is chosen to take the place.

The Telegraph Plant.

There is a queer shrub growing in India whose trifoliate leaves move in a way much like railway telegraph signals. The two side leaves rise and fall alternately for a time and then are still, soon starting into motion again. The leaves are most active in the early morning. Sometimes many of them are in motion at once; at other times only a few of them are, which shows that their action does not depend on the wind.

Conundrums.

What gives more milk than a cow? A milk cart. Speaking of milk, have you heard of the strange case of the Boston baby being brought up on elephant's milk? It was the elephant's baby.

Why is President Roosevelt like "America?" Because he is the national him (hymn).

For You.

There are little tasks a-waiting that only you can do;
There are little songs want singing that must be sung by you;
There's a little race wants running that only you must run;
There are little things that you must do, or they will be undone.

There are little words of kindness that only you can say,
And little deeds set in between the bounds of each short day;
There are little fights and victories that only you can win,
And childhood's passing, oh, so fast—had you better not begin?

There are little hills before you that only you can climb;
Just try to mount up one today—'tis easier each time.
Don't you think you'd better gain it now ——And keep it evermore?

A SAILOR ROOK.

Story of Bird That Made Its Home on Shipboard.

Many years ago as the whaling ship Diana was returning from a voyage in the Arctic ocean her captain and crew were surprised one day to see a rook in a state of great exhaustion flutter into the rigging. The nearest land was more than 200 miles away, so such a visitor was quite unexpected.

With great care and gentleness the bird was caught, and after receiving as much attention as any storm tossed traveler would require it was offered its liberty again. But, though thoroughly restored to health and vigor, it refused to leave the ship. With loud caws of contentment it would hop about the deck as though that were its real home, and when darkness settled down upon the ocean it retired into the rigging, there to roost as comfortably as any of its stay at home relations among their leafy elms. When the Shetland islands were reached the captain of the Diana sent his feathered passenger on shore, naturally thinking that this would be in accordance with its wishes. But the next day, when the ship was forty miles farther on the route to Hull and land was quite out of sight, the sailors saw a dark speck in the sky which grew and grew till, to their astonishment and delight, the passenger they had left behind fluttered joyously on board, cawing its satisfaction at reaching home once more, if not reproving them, for giving it the slip.

After that there was no more thought of parting, and this Columbus of the bird world became a great favorite with all on board. Sad to say, when the journey's end was reached at Hull the poor bird, which had found upon the stormy sea such sympathy and kindness, was attacked by a party of ignorant boys and killed.

A CANDLE MOTOR.

Here, boys and girls, is a new motor for you. Take a candle and make the experiment yourselves.

Take two pins and, first heating them sufficiently to penetrate the candle, insert them in the center of the candle at right angles to the wick on opposite sides so that the projecting points will form an axis upon which the candle can move freely. Trim the ends of the candle and try it upon the edges of two goblets until it balances perfectly. Now light both ends and place a small plate under each to catch the drippings. Now, as one end drips that side becomes lighter, and it goes up while the other drips, and it starts up, and so on. The candle will seesaw faster and faster until it is all consumed. Little paper manikins attached to either end add to the entertainment.

The Word Quaint.

This word three or four centuries ago had a most elastic signification. Now it means something odd or unusual, something out of the ordinary run of things. Then it meant almost anything you pleased to have it mean. For example, it was applied to things that were agreeable, elegant, clever, neat, trim, gracious, pretty, amiable, taking, affable, proper, spruce, happy, handsome, knowing, dodgy, artful, cunning, gentle, prudent, wise, discreet. Perhaps no other word in the language was quite so comprehensive.

Questions and Answers.

Why should a man named Benny marry a girl called Annie? Because he would be Benny-fited and she would be Annie-mated.

What is the difference between a man looking upstairs and one going up? One is staring up steps, the other stepping upstairs.

Why have chickens no future to look forward to? Because they have their necks twirled (next world) in this.

Why is a lazy dog like a hill? Because he is a slow pup (slope up).

Why is a bee a great deceiver? Because he is a humbug.

What the Months Bring.

January brings the snow,
Makes our feet and fingers glow.
February brings the rain,
Thaws the frozen lake again.
March brings breezes loud and shrill,
Stirs the forests on the hill.
April brings the violets sweet,
Scatters daisies at our feet.
May brings flocks of pretty lambs,
Skipping by their fleecy dams.
June brings pansies, lilies, roses,
Fills the children's hands with posies.
July, hot, brings cooling showers,
Pleasant shade in leafy bowers.
August, with its burning heat,
Brings the fields of yellow wheat.
September brings luscious fruit,
Every various taste to suit.
October brings the golden corn,
In groaning wagons homeward borne.
November brings the stinging blast,
Makes the leaves go whirling past.
December, chilly, brings the sleet,
Blazing fire and Christmas treat.

A Candle Trick.

Let a candle burn until it has a good long snuff, then blow it out with a sudden puff. A bright wreath of white smoke will curl up from the hot wick. Now, if a flame be applied to this smoke, even at a distance of two or three inches from the candle, the flame will run down the smoke and rekindle the wick in a very fantastic manner. To perform this ceremony nicely there must be no draft or "banging" doors while the myrtle smell is dying.

BARNUM'S LITTLE JOKE.

Talking of tricks reminds the editor of one that the "great and only" showman, Barnum, got off one day on a transatlantic steamer for the amusement of the passengers, says the Chicago News. One of the passengers told the editor about it. It seems that Barnum had picked up a good many sleight of hand tricks and tricks that did not require sleight of hand from the show people that he had met in his long career, and it was his invariable custom to perform some of them on every steamer that he sailed on to amuse the passengers, particularly the children, for he was always the children's friend.

This trick was old enough to be threadbare, but perhaps some of the children have not heard of it. He took an apple from his pocket, and, having placed it on his head so that it balanced well, he put his hat on over the apple. Then he said that he was going to eat the apple without touching the hat. Thereupon he made a number of somewhat grotesque grimaces, pretending that he was chewing and swallowing, and finally invited the boys present to lift the hat and see what had become of the apple. Of course the apple was still on his head, and he at once took it off and proceeded to eat it, so, you see, he ate it without touching the hat.

SECTIONAL PICTURES.

An Entertaining Game That Requires Patience to Excel In.

There is a craze just now for sectional pictures. The grownups have taken up this children's game and are so fond of it that they have formed clubs in Boston just to play it. If you want to make a sectional picture game I'll tell you how.

First, you choose a large colored picture—perhaps your mother will let you take one from a large magazine—and you paste it on a sheet of cardboard, and after it is dry cut it up into little pieces, with nice, irregular edges. The grownups paste the picture on a thin sheet of wood and cut it up with a scroll saw and afterward polish the edges with sandpaper, but this is much harder to do, although it makes the game more durable. When they are cut out mix up the pieces and then try to fit them together to make the picture again. Even when you have cut out the game yourself and know what the picture ought to look like when it is finished you will find it hard to put it together again, and when some one else has made it and you don't know what the picture is going to be it is harder. And it is still harder if when you cut it out you separate the different colors of the picture.

Bedtime Jingle.

The oysters in their little beds
Are falling sound asleep;
The chasm yawns; the dog star now
His watch begins to keep.

Saved by a Dog.

Many years ago a Thames waterman was sleeping in his boat near Hammersmith when, just as the tide was turning and the water began to ebb, the boat broke from its moorings and drifted away. It was carried along so silently by the tide that the man was not roused, but slept on while the boat was caught under the bows of a barge and began to fill with water. But fortunately the man had his dog with him in the boat, and the faithful animal saw the danger which threatened its sleeping master. It began to tug at the collar of his coat and gently scratched his face. By these means it succeeded in waking him, and the man was able to save the boat and escape from drowning.

Riddles.

Why are words like arrows? Because once sent they never return.

Which is the most moral musical instrument? An upright piano.

What is the difference between a boy and his shadow? A boy can see his shadow, but his shadow can't see him.

What contradiction is true of an unpleasant companion? The more you think of him the less you think of him. —Philadelphia Ledger.

The Change.

Last year, when Sammy Snow was four—
Oh, it was long ago!
He heard the giant crackers bang;
The Fourth had come, you know.
He set a few torpedoes off,
And sister did the same.
He walked most halfway down the block,
Then back again he came.
The cannon boomed, the pistols cracked.
Great was the din and roar.
He stayed up in the nursery,
For Sammy Snow was four.

But this year Sammy Snow is five,
A great big boy, dear me!
His closet's filled with fireworks
And punk—well, you should see!
I s'pose he'll get up early
And go out with the boys
While Sister Jane is in her crib
He'll make such lots of noise:
He'll fasten pinwheels to the fence,
The gladdest boy alive,
While friends appear from far and near,
For Sammy Snow is five.

His Fate.

The race of consequential vergers is not yet extinct. Dean Pigou has a story about one of them, who, when a bishop asked him at what point he was to make his appearance, replied:

"First I take the choir people to their places, and then, after they are seated, I return for you, my lord, and conduct you to the [illegible]."—London Telegraph.

The Flight of a Great Nebula.

One of the most striking spectacles revealed by telescopes is that of the great nebula in Orion. In the complexity of its glowing streams, spirals and strangely shaped masses, intercepted by yawning black gaps and sprinkled over with stars arranged in suggestive groups and lines, it has few rivals in the heavens. The impression of astonishment made by the sight of this nebula is heightened by knowledge of its enormous size. The entire solar system would appear as a tiny speck beside it. Yet this tremendous aggregation of nebulous clouds and starry swarms has been proved by the researches of the astronomers of the Lick observatory to be flying away from the earth and the sun at the rate of eleven miles in every second. But so vast is its distance that a hundred years reveal no visual effects of the great nebula's swift retreat. If it were near by it would seem to become rapidly smaller.—Chicago Record Herald.

What He Did Know.

St. Thomas' Episcopal church, in Fifth avenue, has under its jurisdiction an east side chapel. One of the features of the chapel is a gymnasium, in which boys are trained in all of the branches of physical culture. Some of the boys are quicker in this sort of training than they are in the more polite talk of the west side boys.

The rector of St. Thomas', the Rev. Dr. Stires, visits the chapel frequently and is fond of talking with the lads about their work. He said to one little fellow who hails from near the East river:

"Well, my son, they tell me you won quite a victory in your last contest with the boys of a rival school."

"I don't know 'bout that, but w'en we went up ag'in dat bunch from St. Pat's we put it all over 'em, and dey ain't never peeped since."—New York Sun.

The Ugliest Beast.

Probably the ugliest beast in the world is a monkey, a grewsome looking animal called the bearded saki. This is so utterly grotesque a beast that it would scarcely be safe to let a child or nervous person see it. The ugliness is not of an amusing kind, but of an evil, sinister nature. The beast has a sort of beard and a countenance unlike anything else in shape and lines. The monkey itself is not particularly savage, but is so hideous that the natives of its country, South America, say that no beast of prey, however hungry, will tackle it. Even a hungry jaguar will starve in a cageful of sakis.

Lord Mount-Stephen has once more shown his great interest in Aberdeen. This time it is again the Royal Infirmary that has benefited. He has given it no less than £26,758 6s. 5d. as a free gift. Note the fivepence. No round sum with Lord Mount-Stephen, apparently. The fivepence, and all the odd money for that matter, was explained by the fact that the sum handed over to the infirmary is the proceeds of certain railway stock, and, that is the exact amount the property is worth. He wishes the money spent on the permanent improvement of the infirmary rather than for increasing the regular income. The regular income, he thinks, should come from the general public. This is not the first big donation Lord Mount-Stephen has given to Aberdeen Royal Infirmary. He gave £25,000 in 1901, capital producing £1,000 per year for all time, in 1902, and £10,000 last year. The directors may be very glad that he was a patient in the infirmary 62 years ago. He has paid for his nursing pretty well.

TRAIN FOR BUSINESS

Most men train their brains and al-most entirely neglect their bodies. They do not seem to realize that keen-ness of judgment and clearness of thought depend as much on the body as on the brain itself. Any man can prove this to his own satisfaction by attempting to decide a weighty busi-ness problem while suffering with an acute attack of indigestion or a vio-lent spell of biliousness.

The amount of work that the brain can do depends much on the health-liness of liver, bowels, kidneys and skin.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in tablet form. They act directly on liver, bowels, kidneys and skin—and enable these vital organs to rid the system of all impurities. Thus the blood will be kept pure and rich, the brain active, digestion sound, and life made pleasant.

"Fruit-a-tives" are now put up in two sizes—the new 25c box as well as the regular 50c size. If your dealer does not carry them, write Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

IN AFRICAN FORESTS.

Tales of Their Gloomy Darkness and Silence Denied by Modern Writers.

The travelers who first penetrated the vast equatorial forest of Africa fixed the world's attention with word pictures that are now believed to be partly fantastic. Some of them told how they wandered months without seeing the sun. They lived at noon-day in semi-darkness. The under-growth almost prevented progress, no fresh breezes could penetrate the area of gloom, and even the animals were silent, like every other phase of na-ture existing there.

To-day writers seem to take an en-tirely different view of the tropical forest, so that one is forced to the con-clusion that either the old-time writ-ers or else those of modern days re-gard the public as a collection of stupids ready to swallow anything so long as it is thrilling or unusual. Maurice Delafosse, one of the leading colonial officials of France, contra-dicts many statements of earlier trav-elers. He says that nowhere has he found the African forest darker than any other dense woodland. The vege-tation in it is certainly more luxuriant and more crowded together than in a European forest, but it is an exaggera-tion to say they are covered with im-penetrable vegetation. Wherever the natives live, well worn footpaths lead in all directions. Traveling is hard on some of them, but many of the paths are very useful highways. De-lafosse had none of the experience of travelers who assert that their gar-ments have practically been stripped off them by the dense and thorny undergrowth. He lived for months in forest without greater damage to his clothing than in any other parts of Africa, except that when traveling rapidly on a hunting path his sleeves have become unduly worn at the el-bows.

As for darkness in the forests, he often took his compass bearings with-out artificial light when pitching camp at nightfall. The forest traveler has this advantage, that he is always in shadow, and on the hottest days he can pursue his journey the whole afternoon, which would be impossible in the open country.

As for the reputed feeling of dis-comfort and oppression in the depths of the forest, this is partly true. When there is no stir in the atmosphere it is more difficult to breathe in the forest than in the open, and as there is less chance for evaporation the discomfort of excessive perspiration is manifest.

It must be remembered, however, that if under such atmospheric con-ditions a man breathes more easily in the open land he is at the same time much hotter and so far more un-comfortable. When a breeze stirs anywhere it penetrates the woods also with refreshing effect.

Delafosse records that he has had few such delightful experiences in Africa as on his morning walks in the depths of the forest. He has never found forest travel as uncomfortable as marching over the savannahs where the high grass is above his head. It is then that a man without air, horizon or shade feels as though he would melt.

There are plenty of sounds in the forest to attract attention also, and they help to keep ennui at a distance. Something is going on all the time.

In addition to the ceaseless mur-mur of the streams there are the hum-ming of insects, the song of birds, the chatter of the monkeys, their gymnas-tic feats from branch to branch, the occasional falling of dead branches and tree trunks, and at night time the wonderful harmonies and discords of animate and inanimate life that awaken when darkness comes and sleep again at sunrise.

March Through Fire.

Six thousand Hindus and a select few English officials have recently witnessed in the neighborhood of Ma-dras a remarkable religious ceremony, the principal actors being Solvrastas, a sect of Brahmins.

The festival was called "the march through fire," and it is appropriately enough named. The proceedings were in honor of Brahma and Vishnu, the gods of water and fire.

Preparations for the ceremony had been going on for a month, says The London Globe. A trench 23 feet long and 19 feet deep was dug, and in it a fire was kindled. At sunrise 40 fanatics, who were to demonstrate their asbestos nature, slowly march-ed around the furnace bearing the curious idols. The Solvrastas were clothed in yellow tunics, and without hesitation entered the fire trench sing-ing a hymn, the refrain of which was "Govinda! Govinda!"

After walking around this artificial Gehenna three times they emerged apparently none the worse for their experience, and have established an unassailable claim for sanctity among their people.

The Breathless Model.

When Sir Luke Fildes was painting his famous picture, "The Village Wed-ding," he employed a rustic to pose as model for the bridegroom. Soon after the artist had begun to paint the mod-el turned deadly white. "Are you ill?" asked Sir Luke anxiously. "Naw," said the man; "I be all roight, zur." However, the painter made him rest awhile, but when he resumed work a little later the unfortunate "bride-groom" became even paler than be-fore, and in serious alarm Sir Luke asked him what was the matter. "It's nawthing at all except the 'olding of me breath so long," replied the model. For some extraordinary reason he had imagined that it was necessary for him to refrain from breathing all the time he was having his portrait painted.

Malta's Goats.

Malta's celebrated goats are likely soon to be only a memory on the his-toric island, for it has been found that banishing goats' milk means an end to the ravages of Malta fever. The commission appointed in 1907 to trace the origin of the fever in the garri-sons and crews of warships made the discovery that the germ of the fever was present in the milk of the goat. Wherever the use of this milk has been prohibited the fever has disap-peared.

BATTLEFIELD PANICS.

Odd Events That at Times Demoralize Veterans.

HORRORS INCIDENT TO WAR.

Two Terrifying Episodes That Occurred During the Franco-Prussian Campaign—Madness May Seize Even the Most Hardened Troops.

It is a peculiar circumstance that hardened and trained troops will go through a long fight surrounded by all the horrors that are inseparable from war without flinching and with the utmost apparent callousness and the same men will be struck terrified by a single trifling incident.

Every war of any importance, par-ticularly wars between civilized na-tions, is prolific in incidents of trivial character in themselves, but so un-usual and unnatural that they appeal to the natural instinctive horror of men more suddenly and intensely than perhaps the main terrors of days of carnage. Such an incident is the one, for example, which occurred at the battle of Worth, in the early days of the Franco-Prussian war.

In the heat of the great battle a wing of the Prussian army was charg-ed by the regiments of French cuiras-siers in the hope of turning the wing and facilitating the falling back of the French infantry. But the cuirassiers were driven back by the unflinching Prussians. Again the cuirassiers charged, and again they were driven back by the withering fire.

For a third time they came down again, and as the enemy waited for them to draw nearer a horrible, blood freezing terror seized the Prussians, and for the moment it looked as if they would turn and fly or be cut down without defending themselves. But in a moment they had pulled themselves together and beaten back for the third and last time the gallant cuirassiers.

The sight that terrified the Prussians appears nothing very much in black and white. It was a regiment of cui-rassiers led at a dashing rate toward them by a headless officer sitting up-right in his saddle and apparently en-couraging his men. It was no less a person than Futsum de Lascarre of the Third regiment of cuirassiers, whose head had been carried com-pletely off his shoulders as the troop broke into the third desperate charge by a cannon ball, which also took off another officer's hand and cut the bugler in two.

It is remarkable and singular that at the battle of Forbach, which took place the same day as Worth, a very similar incident occurred and did more to shake the nerves of the Germans than hours of roaring cannon and fighting had done.

While a regiment of Prussian infan-try were standing in reserve watching the fight as well as they could, from their position of shelter a charger be-longing to a French dragoon regiment, one which was practically destroyed in the battle, galloped right into the midst of the men, who rushed to arrest it and immediately fell back in alarm, for swinging to the bridle was the whole left arm of the charger's rider, the fingers of the hand firmly grasping the reins. The arm appeared to have been severed a few inches below the shoulder and was certainly that of an officer, but who the officer was has never been satisfactorily established.

So moved were the hardened men of battle at the horrible sight that no one would touch the horse, and the animal was allowed to gallop off to be killed a few minutes later in crossing before some Prussian guns. Thrilling as the incident was, many of the brave fel-lows who witnessed it declared that their first, almost irresistible, impulse was to throw down their arms and bolt. Yet it was with the help of just such men that General von Goben routed the French that memorable day in August, 1870.

It is a well known fact that the finest and bravest troops the world can produce have no immunity from that strange and mysterious madness known to military history as "war panic." A heavy war, frequent sanguinary en-gagements, night marches and sur-prises sometimes play havoc with sol-diers' nervous systems and render them more like high spirited colts than men who have taken the field prepared to suffer immeasurable horrors and take death cheerfully.

During the peninsular war two Brit-ish regiments, the very pick of the army and seasoned veterans, were marching along in good order when a rumor ran down the lines that the ene-my was at hand. The next moment the line of orderly soldiers was changed into an elongated mob of armed men throwing away arms, baggage and all they carried, running away in every direction, blind terror in their hearts, their faces blanched and their ears deaf to the thundered commands of their officers.

For the moment they knew but one sentiment, one emotion, a sudden, pas-sionate, blind terror, and they fled without thinking whether they were running into the arms of the thing they dreaded or not. It was a terror that was madness, and only its mad-ness redeems it from dishonor. If anything were necessary to demon-strate the unnaturalness of the panic it would be done by the grand fact that the moment it became known that the enemy was really at hand the men in-stantly fell in and showed the utmost eagerness to attack.

Such war panics are mysteries. Even the most experienced military of-ficer cannot satisfactorily explain them

THE CAKE POINTER.

In the sideboard apprehension
Thrills the hidden gingerbread.
Doughnuts, shrinking from attention,
Shiver with a nameless dread.
In the pantry devastation
Now begins its ruthless rule.
Hungrier than all creation,
Little Willie's home from school!

As the pointer scents the rabbit,
As the needle seeks the pole,
Willie moves by force of habit
Toward each gastronomic goal,
Sniffs the air and tiptoes slyly
To the sideboard, with a smile.
"That there boy," says uncle dryly,
"He can smell a cake a mile!"

Once we had a maid name Tillie,
Who was sly as any mouse.
"Me for angel cake!" said Willie
As one day he searched the house.
Later Tillie cried, "I did it!"
(Saved the cake was what she meant.)
'Neath the onions Tillie hid it.
Throwing Willie off the scent.

Do You Believe This?

An individual went into a place where things to wear are sold and was shown an article of wear.

"Here is the latest thing," said the sales person, producing the article of wear.

"I wouldn't be seen on the street in that," said the patron.

"Try it on," suggested the sales per-son, and the customer did so and de-clared:

"It is positively ridiculous. I would not have it as a gift."

"But it is quite the latest style," urged the sales person, "and everybody is wearing it."

"Well, I suppose I'll have to take it," said the customer.

Preserving the Proprieties.

A traveler in the mountains of Ten-nessee had been stowed away in the best bed the cottage afforded. Late in the night he was awakened by the voice of paterfamilias addressed to the daughter, who was entertaining com-pany by the fireside.

"Mandy," growled the old man, "is that young man there yit?"

"Yep, pap."

"Is he got his arm around yer waist?"

"Yep, pap."

"You all tell him to take 't away."

"Aw, ye tell him yerself, pap," re-plied the girl in a dull, lifeless voice. "He air a plumb stranger to me."—Success Magazine.

The Melodrama Again.

"And you dare deceive me?" she hissed. "Didn't you make a vow that you would never tell me another bare-faced falsehood?"

"And I have kept my vow, Helene Hominy. I am barefaced no longer."

With a cry of despair the beautiful heroine jumped into the pasteboard river.—Judge.

One Sure Cure.

"Yes, Phaker used to be a small druggist and poor as poverty, but now he's manufacturing and selling a sure cure," said Towne.

"A sure cure for what?" asked Browne.

A Mark of Respect.

Andrew Carnegie was entertaining a Montenegrin prince at Skibo cas-tle. The morning after the prince's arrival a party of guests set out in a huge motor car for a long run, and as they whizzed past an inn a great crowd of highlanders rose from the benches before the inn and saluted.

The prince seemed amazed at the highland dress.

"Why," he asked, "do these men go bare legged?"

"It is a local custom," said Mr. Carnegie, "a mark of respect for you, sir. In some places people take off their hats to show honor to distin-guished visitors; here they take off their trousers."

A Hen Hunt.

An English paper says that the hat of a certain shortsighted master at Eton blew off one day and as he started in pursuit a black hen dashed out of the gateway. The schoolmas-ter saw the hen and thought it was his hat, and all Eton was electrified by the spectacle of a hatless and breathless reverend man hunting a black hen circling from one end of the street to the other.

SAW ARCTIC MONSTER.

Canadian Priest at Armstrong Creek Describes Terrible Animal.

The Chicago Record-Herald pub-lishes a startling story from its Paris correspondent concerning the antedi-luvian monster of the Arctic Circle, the keratosaurus.

The great beast has recently been seen alive, he says, by M. Georges Dupuy, a well-known Paris writer and explorer; by James Butler, a San Francisco banker, and by three other intrepid explorers.

An expedition is being fitted out regardless of cost, the writer further declares, on behalf of the Duke of Westminster, for the capture of the creature. The duke has, he asserts, given Dupuy a most liberal contract to fit out an expedition, that is to include the chartering of a 4,000-ton steamer to take the live monster, weighing more than fifty tons, straight to London.

The duke has, according to The Record-Herald correspondent, signi-fied his intention of taking a hunting trip in the Rockies in the summer, but the trip will really extend away up to the McQuesten river, in the Yukon, where a tribe of snow Indians will be waiting to accompany the ex-plorers on their daring exploit.

One of the men who states that he has seen the creature is Father La-vagneux, a Jesuit missionary at Arm-strong Creek, Canadian post. In a letter to Dupuy he says: "I and ten of my Indians again saw the terrible monster. It passed like a hurricane over the frozen surface of the river, dashing into the air behind it enor-mous blocks of ice. All its hairy fur was covered with hoar-frost, and its terrible eyes flamed in the twilight."

On another occasion Dupuy, accom-panied by Father Lavagneux, Butler and a miner, Leemore, started off at 5 a. m. to hunt the monster.

"All the morning we hunted for new tracks," says Dupuy. "At noon we built a fire, and just as the tea was boiling down came crashing an aval-anche of boulders amid thunderous roarings and rumblings.

"The monster, black and gigantic, lurched down the ravine beyond us, sweeping great rocks aside like peb-bles.

"We were petrified. For ten min-utes we stared at the prehistoric thing. Its withers stood twenty-five feet high. From its nose to its tail the Titanic monster measured seven-ty feet, and as it crashed over the ground its head was held forty feet high in the air.

"Then suddenly the monster raised its head and roared like thunder and went romping down the ravine in vast bounds at forty miles an hour."

The miner Leemore took three snap-shots of the creature, prints of which, The Record-Herald correspondent as-serts, are in possession of the Duke of Westminster.

PATENTS UNPROTECTED.

New English Law Hits Canadian and Other Colonial Factories.

The new patent law which goes into effect in Britain on July 23 will oper-ate to some extent against Canadian manufacturers. It virtually refuses protection to foreign patentees unless they manufacture their patent on British soil. As the Old Land is dis-tinct from the colonies so far as pa-tent law is concerned, the new regu-lations operate against Canadians, although they were aimed primarily against German and United States manufacturers.

There has been a year's warning given of the passage of the new law, so as to give manufacturers an oppor-tunity to remove their factories to England or start branches there. Many such branches have already been started. After July 23, a British concern can freely manufacture in Bri-tain any patented article not being manufactured there. Thus, a Cana-dian company sending its patented goods to the Old Land might find a competitor in a British company man-ufacturing the same goods, and they could not sue the Britishers for in-fringement of patent.

A large number of Canadian factor-ies, including the large implement concerns, manufacture patented goods for the Old Country market. They may, however, be able to satisfy the requirements of the law by opening British factories with only a nominal output.

Countries Must Be Friends.

James Bryce, Ambassador of Great Britain to the United States, in a re-cent speech at a banquet given in his honor said: "Canada and the United States are destined by the Almighty to be friends. You have many settlers in the United States from Canada, and in Canada we have many from the United States. It is my privilege to try to prevent any misunderstand-ings or friction between Canada and the United States.

"No British ambassador could have more respect and confidence than I in that great and brilliant man, Mr. Roosevelt, who is honored and es-teemed in Great Britain as he is hon-ored and esteemed here.

"During the last four months four treaties have been signed that are destined to overcome difficulties that may hereafter arise between the United States and Canada. These are proofs of the cordial relations that exist between these countries."

How She Viewed Bishops.

The Right Rev. Dr. Edmund Knox, Bishop of Manchester, is famed throughout the north of England for his open air preaching. He has con-ducted some very successful missions on Blackpool Sands, and he is im-mensely popular with the rough and ready natives of Lancashire.

During one of his recent missions on Blackpool Beach two Lancashire mill girls were discussing the situa-tion. "Who's that?" asked one as the bishop got up to speak.

"That's the Bishop of Manchester," was the reply.

"Nay, lass," said the first speaker, "no bishop 'ud do that."

"But it is the bishop, I tell ye."

'Well, if it really is the bishop let's go and 'ear him, for I thowt as bish-ops did nowt but draw their brass."

A Slight Jolt.

"Yes," said young Blowitz, "I can trace my descent back 400 years."

"Indeed!" rejoined Miss Cutting. "I had no idea you had been on the down-ward path so long."—Chicago News.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dom-inion lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter sec-tion of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made on cer-tain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to per-form the conditions connected there-with under one of the following plans—

1—At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

2—If the father, (or mother, if the father is deceased,) of the homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for, the require-ments as to residence may be satis-fied by such person residing with the father or mother.

3—If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Six months' notice in writing should be given to the Commissioner of Dom-inion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Supplying Coal for the Dominion Build-ings," will be received at this office until 4.30 P. M. on Monday, August 24, 1908 for the supply of Coal for the Public Buildings throughout the Do-minion.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application at this office.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with their actual signa-tures.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the order of the Hon-ourable Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 pc.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Asst. Secretary.
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, July 15, 1908.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.

Any person whose tender is accepted shall within ten days after the accept-ance thereof furnish such additional approved security as may be required by the Commissioners; sign the con-tract, specifications, and other docu-ments required to be signed by the said Commissioners; and, in any case of refusal or failure on the part of the party whose tender is accepted to com-plete and execute a contract with the said Commissioners, and to furnish the additional approved security within ten days after the acceptance of the tender, the said cheque shall be for-feited to the Commissioners as liquid-ated damages for such refusal or fail-ure and all contract rights acquired by the acceptance of the tender shall be forfeited. The cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Re-ceiver General of Canada as part of the security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

'All mechanics, labourers, or other persons who perform labour for the purposes of the construction of the works hereby contracted for, shall be paid such wages as are generally ac-cepted as current for competent work-man in the district in which the work is being performed, if there is no cur-rent rate in such district, then a fair and reasonable rate, it shall be deter-mined by the Commissioners, whose decision shall be final.'

'This agreement is subject to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force dur-ing the construction of the works here-by contracted for, made under the au-thority of the Department of Labour, and which are, or shall be, applicable to such work.' (The schedule of min-imum wages determined upon by said Department will form part of the contract).

'The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said work, as far as practicable, use only material machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, provided the same can be ob-tained as cheaply, and upon such good terms, in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price.'

The contractor shall conform to the fire regulations adopted by the Com-missioners, and also to the laws and regulations respecting fires in the dif-ferent provinces wherein the work is being performed.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

MECHANICS STRIKE IN WINNIPEG

Canadian Pacific Railway Shop Men Walk Out.

8,000 TO 10,000 ARE INVOLVED

On Ninety-Five Per Cent. Vote Machinists Decide to Strike For Recognition of Demands — Wages, Hours, Apprentices and Other Things Are In Dispute—Ultimatum Is Sent.

Winnipeg, Aug. 5.—A general strike of the mechanics department of the Canadian Pacific Railway was inaugurated this morning at 10 o'clock.

Final orders were issued last night to men in all shops and roundhouses from St. John to Vancouver to quit at sound of the whistle.

On Friday last general instructions were sent out that if the C.P.R. posted a schedule as recommended in the majority report of the arbitration board, the men were to walk out. This, of course, was subject to later instructions.

In the meanwhile an ultimatum was delivered to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy to the effect that if the new schedule was put into effect the men would quit. At the same time he was asked to reopen negotiations. No reply was received from him, and instructions were issued to the men to stand by the orders.

Every shop, roundhouse, terminal and divisional point on the whole system is affected, there being between 8,000 and 10,000 men involved.

These unions are blacksmiths, machinists, moulders, pipefitters' specialists and all helpers to various trades. All of these organizations are part of the international trades unions, and will be backed by the international organization in the pending fight.

Of the whole number of men employed, 95.3 per cent. have voted for strike, which means that all shops and roundhouses will be closed down absolutely for a time at least.

J. H. McVety stated yesterday morning, when announcing the walkout, that the men were all informed as to what action they were to pursue. Since first instructions were issued on Friday there had been several bulletins sent out, keeping the men well in touch with what was going on. For a time there was hope that the C.P.R. would consent to reopen negotiations on the points in dispute, but when Sir Thomas Shaughnessy failed to reply to communications, it was taken as sufficient evidence that the company was prepared to stand by the majority report of the arbitration board.

"Is the Canadian Northern involved in this strike?" was asked.

"Not at present," said Mr. McVety; "but if the C.N.R. attempt to ship any rolling stock or locomotives for the C. P. R., or if they try to help that company out in any way, they will be involved, and right away. You can see by the vote that all the men are with us. We do not care to say what funds we have behind us, for the company would laugh, but we have the International Union at our backs, and that is about all that anyone can expect or ask.

"There are several principles involved in the fight which we are prepared to put up. First, there is reduction of wages for a large percentage of boilermakers; this affects all boilermakers except a few in large shops, such as at Montreal and Winnipeg. Then there is the question of overlapping hours, which will work a hardship on a number of men by increase in the percentage of apprentices, and a number of other issues which have been definitely decided years ago, and which the company now wants to re-establish for ends of their own.

"It is evident to us that this is to end in the breaking up of the unions, so that the company can have the men at their mercy.

"Many of those who are on strike are not directly affected by the new schedule, but they are fighting on the basic principle of trades unionism. The company would lose their trade and this they cannot permit."

TASK OF BURYING THE DEAD

Fernie Commences Task of Recovering From Devastation.

TWENTY-TWO KNOWN DEAD

Communication Is Re-Established and Work of Restoring Order and Relieving Sufferers Is Proceeding With All Possible Speed—Missing List Is 100, But Fatalities Are Not So Many.

Fernie, B.C., Aug. 5.—Communication by wire and railway with the outside world has been established and vigorous efforts to identify and bury the dead and prevent the seven thousand homeless people from starving are vigorously under way in the stricken region to-day.

A public safety committee of fifty is directing affairs, the patrol of Mounted Police assisting in the effort to restore order and relief.

Twenty-two dead bodies have been recovered and while this is not supposed to be all the victims it is known that the death list is very much smaller than at first supposed, while the missing list contains nearly 100. This is now thought to be due to the separation of various families.

The tabulation of business men's losses began yesterday, and it is planned that a special session of the British Columbia Legislature or Order-in-Council will be passed supplying credit where it is absolutely necessary.

Telegrams have been received in a vast quantity from all parts of Canada, United States and England offering aid. The wholesalers of Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, and Spokane doing business here have promised all credit necessary to those business men who required extended credits to restore their business. This will probably be necessary, as in a large number of cases the losses are complete.

As a rule in Fernie even those insured have lost their policies and all records, and will have much trouble in settling their claims, all notes of their debtors, as well as books showing who their creditors are, being destroyed.

The dead in the city so far as can be ascertained are:

Walter Ford, wife, and two children, bodies found in well, where they had vainly sought safety.

Mrs. Turner, an aged cripple in the annex, whom friends were trying to rescue, but were forced to leave her to her fate.

Two children and man, names yet unknown, in West Fernie.

J. Anderson, engineer, at Hosmer Mines, body found Monday in air shaft, where he was suffocated.

Lena Bell, woman of red light district.

When the fire broke out first care was taken to rescue sick in hospital. All were taken to coal company's office. Typhoid, scarlet fever and other patients all housed in building, as there was no other place to put them.

Frantic and hysterical women rushed hither and thither, searching for their children, while men stared in each other's faces speechless before the great calamity. Over three thousand people have been taken to Cranbrook and other towns west and east.

It is certain that several were drowned in trying to swim Elk River to islands for safety, as they were soon swept away.

There is considerable sickness among those here, and there is sure to be more if clothing and shelter are not soon provided, especially among the women and children.

The theory that the Black Hand started the fires in revenge for imprisonment of their members is being followed up by the mounted police, and, while the story is not generally credited, it is to be sifted to the bottom.

Relief trains have poured enormous quantities of supplies into Fernie and surrounding towns. It is largely now a question of organization.

The quick response of American towns along the border has created the liveliest feeling of cordiality among all the towns of Crow's Nest Pass region.

One very serious feature of the fire is the cutting off of the principal and most readily available source of coal supply for the Canadian prairie west, especially at a time when fuel stocks are depleted.

British Sympathy.

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—His Excellency Earl Grey has received from Lord Crewe, Colonial Secretary, a message expressing his sympathy with Canada in the loss sustained by the forest fires in British Columbia. It is as follows:

"I have learned with very great regret of the disastrous fire in British Columbia and earnestly trust that the loss of life and property may not prove to be as great as it is now feared.

"I will be glad to receive such information as your Government has to hand."

Charged With Theft From Son.

Hamilton, Aug. 5.—Wm. Lawson, the deputy-returning officer who got into trouble over the ballots at the last provincial election, was arrested again yesterday on the charge of stealing a small sum of money from his son.

Only Sons; Both Drown.

Chatham, N.B., Aug. 5.—Word reached here Monday of a sad drowning accident at Nappan River, in which two young men, Frank Robertson, son of Rev. John Robertson, and Frank Dickson, son of James Dickson, lost their lives while swimming in the river. They were about 28 years of age, and only sons.

TOTTENHAM STRUCK BY HAIL STORM

Terrific Storm Sweeps District Carrying Ruin In Its Track.

HAILSTONES BIG AS PLUMS

Gale of Ice and Rain Breaks Hundreds of Windows and Beats Down Standing Grain Which Will Be a Total Loss—Buildings Are Carried From Their Foundations.

Tottenham, Aug. 5.—The worst wind, hail and rain storm that has ever been known in these parts struck Tottenham at 5 p.m. yesterday, lasting half an hour.

It passed over a section about three miles in width, starting about two miles west of here, and passed about three miles east.

The hail stones were as large as plums and when the water carried them down the streets, were piled about a foot high.

Hundreds of windows, including those in the churches, were demolished.

Light buildings were moved off their foundations, trees were blown down and many of them a foot through were broken off. A barn east of here was blown from the foundation and the roofs removed.

The streets were turned into rivers and horses were crazed with fear. A few accidents are reported from runaway horses.

Telephone and telegraph wires were put out of business and trains passing through were delayed, not being able to get clearings orders over the wire.

Grain uncut will be a complete loss and many fields are cut as done with a reaper. This will include all the oat crop. Vegetables and flowers were clipped to the ground.

Nurse In Trouble.

New York, Aug. 5.—Chalta Cameron, a pretty nurse girl, 18 years old, employed in the Lebanon Hospital, was arrested yesterday charged with the theft of a diamond ring valued at $500 from Mrs. Mary Gilgoll, an emergency patient.

"A doctor told me to take the diamond ring and hide it, that the woman would never miss it," the nurse said yesterday to the police, giving the name of the physician.

Miss Cameron was born in Toronto of Scotch parents and has been in New York only a few months.

Must Pay Earthquake Insurance.

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 5.—The insurance companies must pay the claims resulting from the great fire of 1907.

The news of this decision was received here yesterday from England, where the appeals of the companies from the decision of the lower courts of Jamaica were dismissed by the privy council. The amount involved is $4,000,000.

Earthquake In Algeria.

Constantine, Algeria, Aug. 5.—A violent earthquake was experienced here at 20 minutes past 2 yesterday morning. It lasted ten seconds and did great damage. No people were killed here, but it is reported that a number of lives were lost in the nearby towns. The population, especially the Arabs, is panic-stricken.

Hotel Thief At Work.

Belleville, Aug. 5.—A most daring theft took place at the Dominion House at noon yesterday. While Miss J. Higgins was at dinner someone unlocked her door and became the possessor of a valuable pearl watch, two rings and her purse containing twenty dollars. This is the second theft in the house since the new year, the proprietor's sister being the first victim.

Tug Crushed Under Wall.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—The fire tug Illinois, which has been working all night on the smoldering ruins of elevators E and F, which burned Monday, was sunk in the river yesterday by the falling of the wall of elevator F. Tons of brick fell on the deck and the tug sank beneath the weight.

Arrested the Ringleaders.

Moncton, N.B., Aug. 5.—Armed with revolvers and clubs, a group of dissatisfied foreign laborers employed on the Grand Trunk Pacific, compelled three hundred others to join them in striking for increased pay. The police force hurried to the scene and placed the ringleaders under arrest before serious trouble could develop.

ZEPPELIN MAKES FLIGHT.

Count Carries German Officer On Record Trip.

Constance, Germany, Aug. 5.—Count Zeppelin's great airship had a most successful flight yesterday, in spite of a small accident to the machine. This was soon remedied.

The day and the hour when the ascent was to be made were kept secret until late Monday night, and not even the imperial commissioners appointed to accompany Count Zeppelin on the voyage were present. The only official taking part in the flight is Major Gradenits, who represents the German Government.

In the forward gondola were five men and in the after gondola three members of the crew.

Burglary At Falls.

Niagara Falls, Aug. 5.—A daring robbery took place here yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. J. L. Vanstone, accountant for the Ontario Silver Company. About 5 o'clock while Mrs. Vanstone was entertaining friends on the front verandah she saw a well-dressed young man crossing the road in the direction of the house next door. About twenty minutes later Mrs. Vanstone went into the bedroom and found that a gold watch and chain, two gold brooches set with pearls, also a purse containing $37 in bills, another purse, containing about $12, and other articles of jewellery were missing, the total value of the jewellery stolen being about $200.

PREFERS THE FARM RATHER THAN OFFICE

Young Londoner Arrives And Is Now With Smith Farmer—Had a Chance To Take Up Office Work Before Coming Out.

IS ONLY TWENTY YEARS OLD

There are not many young men in this city like Donald Farey, who recently arrived from London, Eng., to take up farming. His father is in the office of the Tea Growers' Association, but the son did not show any marked inclination or desire to take up the work. In fact he expressed a wish to enter upon farm work and his father wrote Mr. Geo Howson with reference to securing a place on a good farm with a progressive farmer. The boy—he is only 20—arrived a few days ago and is now with a farmer in Smith township. He is a promising young fellow and with the experience he will receive should in a few years give a good account of himself in agriculture.

TRAVELLING BY AUTO BECOMES BURDEN AT TIMES

Toronto Party Stalled In Ditch In North Monaghan—Women Look On While Men Make Repairs By The Roadside.

THE FRONT WHEELS WERE OFF

Autoing at its worst was experienced last evening by a number of Toronto folk while passing through North Monaghan, about a mile from the city. In some inexplicable manner their machine became uncontrolable and headed for the ditch. The result was a twisted axle. A North Monaghan farmer, passing, stated that both front wheels were off and that two men were engaged in the repairing of the car. Their lady friends watched the course of events from a nearby farmhouse.

YOUNGSTER LANDS BIG 'LUNGE ON CHEMONG LAKE

Mr. John F. Thornton, of George street, accompanied by his son, Willie, while fishing at Chemong Lake yesterday, caught four bass and one 'lunge. The premier honours go to the boy, for he hooked the 'lunge and the largest bass. The former went 12 1-2 pounds and the bass weighed nearly four pounds.

Accident At Hiawatha—Farmers Get Their Pay—About One Thousand Bushels On Board—Cause a Mystery.

BIG EXPENSE WAS INCURRED

Considerable inconvenience and expense has been occasioned by the sinking of one of the Otonabee Navigation Company's scows at Hiawatha on Monday evening. It was loaded with wheat to the extent of about one thousand bushels, purchased from Messrs. Jas. Kylie and R. Thompson, of that vicinity. The grain is all water soaked and much of it is sprouting. The farmers have been paid for their grain, so that the loss to them will be nothing. The cause of the sinking of the scow will likely be investigated. The grain was owned by the Central Milling Company.

CARRIED AWAY PROVISIONS AND OTHER EFFECTS

Pilferer Broke Into Cottage At Upper End Of Stony Lake—Got Away With The Goods—Other Places Untouched.

AUTHORITIES ON THE TRAIL

So far this season there has been very little pilfering reported from cottagers and campers at the various resorts, but one case has been card of from the upper end of Stony Lake. Mr. D. Flemming, who resides in the northern part of the city, had the cottage he was occupying at Hall's Landing broken into, and not a little loot was missing when the discovery was made. Provisions and utensils were taken, also clothes. This occurred during the latter part of last week, according to another party, who were close by. They had a new canoe and other portable things, but lost nothing. Mr. Flemming alone suffering.

FAST MOTOR BOAT PASSES THROUGH CITY

The "Miss Fidgety" One Of The Speediest Of Her Class—In Charge Of Mr. R. A. Shaw—To Be Seen At Regatta.

MADE FAST TIME UP THE RIVER

The "Miss Fidgety," one of the fastest motor boats that ever appeared on local waters, passed through the city to-day in charge of Mr. R. A. Shaw, on its way to Stony Lake, where it will be introduced among the speedy ones this evening.

The boat was consigned to Mr. Shaw by the Schofield, Holden Company, Toronto, and he brought it up from Bewdley this morning. Leaving Bewdley at ten o'clock he went to Gore's Landing, then across to the mouth of the Otonabee and up to Peterborough, arriving at 11.45 o'clock. The distance is probably more than thirty-two miles.

The "Miss Fidgety's" speed is reckoned at twenty-three miles per hour. She will be seen among the fast ones next Monday, Civic Holiday, at the Stony Lake regatta. Undoubtedly she is one of the speediest motor boats that ever went through Peterborough and that ever travelled the waters of Kawarthadom.

LANTERN SWIPED IN DARK HOURS OF THE NIGHT

DIDN'T GO DOWN IN THE BOOK

Mr. Jack Thirlbeck, foreman of pavement construction operations on Dalhousie street on Monday night left a good new signal lantern in the proper place on the works corner of Dalhousie and Stewart streets. Yesterday morning he found in its stead an old lantern in a state of worthless dilapidation. Some person with a keener discrimination between the value of lanterns than the law of meum et tuum, made the exchange. Mr. Thirlbeck has a shrewd idea of where his good lantern is. He is sure it never left Dalhousie street, and the person who stole the exchange will avoid notoriety and trouble by persuading the good lantern to change places with teh scrap iron affair that was put in its place.

Have a Good Time

...e feature of farm work he noticed was the good time that some young farmers have. They were among the first to purchase lands, and have fine large sections under cultivation. They have plenty of hired help and seldom do any actual work. They live in the cities and towns and drive out to their land to oversee the work and keep everything running properly. Mr. McCannon said he saw quite a number of men who were able to do this, and in nearly every case they were quite young.

Building Lots

At present real estate is a dead letter and many easterners were beginning to find out that land which they had purchased without seeing were almost useless. There were some cases in which full value was received, but they were not very numerous.

There is an imperative demand for farm help, and the farmers are waiting the advent of the special excursions of harvesters. The west has many idle men and if they go on the farms quite a gap will be filled. There will, however, be plenty of work to be done.

...reat Preparations For Chemong Regatta August 13th

...he Chemong regatta, which will ...held this year on Thursday, Aug... 13, promises to be a greater success, from both a social and sporting ...dpoint, than any of its predecessors. Excursions will be run from ...y Lake and Sturgeon Point, and ...s confidently expected that a ...ge number will be present on the ...sion. The trustees of the Kawartha Lakes Challenge Cup have ...anted to allow the race to be held ... year at the regatta. It may be ...tioned that this cup is presented by the Trent Valley Navigation Co., as a perpetual challenge cup, to be raced for annually by 14-foot dinghys carrying not more than 144 feet of canvas.

The race was won last year by Mr. A. A. Hollingshead, a member of the Chemong Yacht Club.

The yacht club this year intend to make a strenuous effort to retain the cup, having held it now for the past three seasons.

The auto car will make regular trips throughout the day. Due notice of the times at which it will run will be announced later in the press.

...oman Charged With Theft From Hotel At Lindsay

...indsay, Aug. 5.—Special. — Miss ...nie Peacock was arrested on Monday by Chief Vincent on a charge of theft. She was lodged in the lockup and in the afternoon was brought before for preliminary hearing before Magistrate Jackson.

Asked if she would be tried by a judge and jury or by the magistrate, she said she would like to write and get her father's opinion on the matter. The magistrates then remanded the case until Saturday.

The charge was that she did unlawfully steal from the Simpson House a number of articles amounting in all to about $53. The goods were all found in her possession.

...irl Dissuades Lover From Suicide After Night's Vigil

...London, Aug. 5.—A young woman described at an Inquest at Barnet yesterday as terrible an ordeal as ever a girl had to undergo.

Her name is Alice Hancock, and the inquest was being held on her sweetheart, Arthur Campbell, a chemist of New Barnet, who poisoned himself with oxalic acid.

He threatened to commit suicide the evening last week, she said. She begged him not to, and all night long she waited with him in Hadley Woods pleading with him for his life.

Every moment—while it thundered and poured with rain—she watched each movement of his hands, and at length persuaded him, by a stratagem, to give up the phial of oxalic acid he had in his possession.

Then she made him promise never again to try to commit suicide.

He broke his word, however, and that night he was found dead in his father's garden with a cup of poison by his side.

RAIN BRINGS UNTOLD WEALTH TO COUNTRY

Great Benefit Locally---Some Damage Done---Hastings Horse Electrocuted---Close Shave For G. W. Green's Foundry---His Stable Struck

BARNS ARE NOT FORGOTTEN

The electrical disturbance in the elements last night has possibly not been equalled in grandeur and apparent destructiveness on any previous occasion this season. However, the accompanying rain was a blessing to the country. Although late in most places to be of much assistance to standing grains, it will be of untold aid to the farmers with pasturelands, roots, potatoes, buckwheat, etc. It will mean hundreds of dollars to the tillers of the soil.

Some damage to standing grain was caused. This was due to the downpour of rain, which flattened the crops in many places. In some places hail was experienced, but it is not felt that the damage will be great, as a slight wind in the right direction will cause the proper reaction.

Most of the grain cut had been drawn in, so that few will suffer in that connection. Hay, wheat, barley, rye and peas are almost all under shelter.

Horse Electrocuted

Livestock throughout the rural districts usually suffers from the electric storms. A report was brought to the city from Hastings stating that a valuable horse belonging to Mr. Samuel Beamish had been killed by the electric fluid. It was insured for $160. Mr. Beamish resides about a mile from Hastings.

Stable Struck

The lightning played havoc with a tree just outside the machine shop of Mr. G. Walter Green. It ran down the trunk, tearing off the bark and leaving small holes in its wake. The motor was burned out, the telephone was put out of business, and a brick stable belonging to Mr. Green was struck. From it about a wheel-barrow full of bricks was dislodged just above the horses' heads. It was a narrow escape for them.

Barns not Forgotten

Throughout the country a number of barns were reported struck, but fortunately little damage was done. The electric fluid ran down the barn of Mr. Thos. Hunter, North Monaghan, but otherwise it escaped. Two or three buildings were struck near Norwood also.

Telephone Troubles

The wires of the Bell Telephone Company were frequently carrying electric currents from the clouds. The local office reported to the Examiner that some arresters were grounded, and wires were blown open. Telephone services, chiefly in the west end, were impaired, as well as some of the party lines in the country districts. These included the lines to Douro and Indian River.

Almost all the long distance lines in this vicinity experienced trouble.

MRS. BENJ. COONEY HAS HOME GROWN FIGS

Mrs. B. Cooney, 218 Stewart street, well known for her fondness for, and success in, floriculture, has left with the Examiner something of a rarity for private house culture. It is one of several fully ripened figs, the fruit of the ficus carica. It is of normal size, and well ripened. Producing figs without hot-house conditions is quite a triumph of patience, care and skill.

Principles Involved In C.P.R. Strike

Winnipeg, Aug. 5—J. N. Barber Special—J. P. McAughey, representative of the union men in the shops of the C.P.R. to-day, made the following statement:

There are several principles involved. First, there is a reduction of wages for boilermakers, which affects all except a few large shops at Montreal and Winnipeg. Then there is the question of overlapping hours, which will work hardships on the men. The increase in the percentages of apprentices and a number of other issues which were definitely decided years ago, and which the company now wants to reopen.

FAST VOYAGE IN MOTOR BOAT AT TRENTON TOWN

The Trenton correspondent says that Mr. Robt. Fair, of Peterborough, and Mr. J. C. Kells, of Millbrook, Ont., were entertained over Sunday in his elegant bachelor quarters by Mr. C. A. Bigelow, of that town. Mr. Bigelow is the possessor of one of the swiftest motor boats on the Bay of Quinte, and on Monday took his friends down to Belleville in the short space of fifty-eight minutes. The return trip was made in forty-nine minutes and twenty-eight seconds. Mr. Young of that town was at the helm.

In an interview with Mr. Fair regarding the authenticity of this report, he stated that it is true in every particular.

THE CHEMONG YACHT CLUB'S ANNUAL DANCE

The annual dance of the Chemong Yacht Club will be held at the pavilion, Chemong Park, on the evening of regatta day, Thursday, August 13. A first-class orchestra will be in attendance, and all the friends of the club are cordially invited to be present.

TWO ENTRIES IN BIG FISH COMPETITION

There are now two entries officially turned in to the Examiner Office in the big fish competition. One of the two 'lunge was captured in the Otonabee River, and the other in Stony Lake. Both were fine specimens of their class but have often been excelled. The winner of the competition will receive a handsome trawling outfit donated by the Examiner.

A Circus "Wild Man" Lives Up To His Title

A despatch from McDonald, Pa., on August 4 stated that during that evening, Leppo, the wild man, with the Metropolitan show at that place, became crazed when lightning struck the big tent. He attacked John Dudley, a negro, with his teeth and bit him so badly that he was said to be dying. Leppo then ran wildly about the tent, and hurt many people before being felled with a stake and chained.

TWO EXCURSIONS OVER THE G. T. R. THIS MORNING

The G.T.R. is quite busy this summer with excursions, and a large number have either come to Peterborough or passed through the city. This morning two excursion trains passed over the line. One was from Port Hope to Bracebridge and the other from Belleville to Stony Lake. Quite a crowd was with the latter, which arrived in the city at 9.30 this morning and took the Otonabee at the Wolfe street wharf for a steam up the canal. The lift lock proved a drawing card.

MR. WM. GIBBS PLUCKS THE PLUM AT NORMAL SCHOOL

Mr. Wm. Gibbs, Hunter street, has, it is stated, emerged from the maelstrom of push and pull which has eddied in Conservative inner circles for the last few weeks. He has plucked the plum, represented by the janitorship of the new Normal School. It is no wonder that there was a keen struggle over the position among the faithful. It is well worth covering, being worth about $1,200 a year—$900 salary, with free house, free fuel and, perhaps, other meaty perquisites.

Mr. Gibbs has been active in aiming to promote the interests of the Conservative party locally and from this point of view perhaps deserves the position, but whether he is the most deserving on this score may be left to the judgment and knowledge of the long list of unsuccessful applicants who have been "turned down."

Western School Teacher Writes Home To Tell About Grandeur Of The Rockies

Mr. J J Long, of 545 Aylmer street, city, has just received a letter from his son, Sidney, who is at present in British Columbia, and who, for four years past has been teaching in schools in various parts of the Northwest Provinces. Mr. Long Jr., like thousands of others who have journeyed to that country, is enchanted with the scenery and speaks in glowing terms of its magnificence and grandeur. "We had quite a little run among the towering Rockies before Banff was reached," he writes. "The train remained a very short space and I saw nothing except the station, which is very neatly built of peeled logs, and looks quite rustic. They speak of 'Seas of Mountains,' 'fifty Switzerlands in one,' and I believe the inventors of those names had very good heads. The Rockies are very grand."

"There was one thing that I noticed particularly as we travelled westward. The vegetation increased in luxuriance and the trees in height. I saw many great Douglas Firs 200 ft. high if they were an inch. Raspberries and bear-berries, as I found they were called, grew along the track and about Golden I first noticed ripe clover and timothy and an apple orchard."

Mr. Long has a good word for the B. C. Japanese, of whom he writes as follows:

"There are over 200 Chinamen in Kelowna and several Japs. Certainly B. C. has the Oriental question to tackle. The Japs are certainly little hustlers (that's why they're not wanted,) and such as I came in contact with were very pleasant and good-natured and were picking up the language quickly."

He refers also to the mosquitoes at Steamous. In this connection it may be observed that Steamous is famous for the size and ferocity of these insects. It is, perhaps, rivalled but not surpassed by Arrowhead, from which point any traveller journeying to Revelstoke needs to keep his mouth tightly shut the entire distance if he wishes to have any appetite left at the end of his journey. Any unguarded opening of it will result in such an inrush of mosquitoes as will prove an effectual meal for most people.

Spirit Of Destiny Seems Unkind To Fernie Town

The city of Fernie was founded in 1897 and grew rapidly, but has had to face a series of setbacks. It received its first in 1902, when on May 22 the great explosion at Coal Creek killed 128 men and badly wrecked No. 2 Mine. A strike followed and the mine was closed for three months. The following spring another strike tied up the mines for another three months, but on April 1, 1903, a permanent agreement was reached.

But Fernie was a town of wooden buildings, and its business centre had to be burned by fire before it could be built up with the fine structures that lined Victoria avenue before the conflagration of Saturday last. The first big fire came early on April 29, 1904, and in four hours six blocks in the centre of the town were in ashes and over $500,000 of property had vanished. Brick, concrete and stone were the materials used on most of the new buildings, and in eighteen months the burned portion was fully restored. In July, 1905, another wooden block, valued at $80,000, was removed by fire, and in August of the same year $40,000 damage was again done.

In July, 1904, Fernie was incorporated as a city.

Omemee Family Have Narrow Escape; Reaboro Barn Burns

Examiner Special

Omemee, Aug. 5.—At one o'clock this morning during a thunder storm a house owned by J. B. Brandon, and occupied by Owen Johnston, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The family of father, mother and four small children barely escaped with their lives. A barn belonging to Silas Calvert, of Reaboro, near here, was also struck by lightning and burned. The loss is heavy, all hay and machinery and four horses being burned.

Two Thousand Men Leave Montreal Shops As Result Of Strike

Examiner Special:

Montreal, Aug. 5.—The strike order affecting the C. P. R. mechanics over the entire system, was obeyed at the Angus Shops, where 2,000 men laid down their tools and walked out. Everything is quiet. Advices from North Bay and Quebec state that the order was obeyed at those places, while at McAdam Junction and other sections of New Brunswick, according to Mr. Bell Hardy, of Calgary, president of the Associated Mechanics of the C. P. R., the employees are out to a man.

IMMIGRATION REGULATIONS.

The Examiner has received a copy, in pamphlet form, of the laws and regulations dealing with immigration and immigrants. It is authoritative, and should serve to correct the many misrepresentations or misstatements made by the Conservative Opposition and the Little Canadians so numerously represented in that party, who have so frequently decried immigration. It needs only a cursory glance at this pamphlet to learn that the Government has considered and dealt with every phase of the immigration question. The immigrant is under Government surveillance from the time he is invited to come to Canada till his arrival on our shores, and afterwards, also. The prohibitive clauses of the law and regulations are many and comprehensive. They disqualify as Canadian immigrants, the insane, epileptic, persons afflicted with contagious diseases, criminals, prostitutes, and other undesirable persons. And power is given to still further restrict and modify, by order-in-council, the inflow of immigrants, as witness the following sections:

30. The Governor-in-Council may, by proclamation or order, whenever he considers it necessary or expedient, prohibit the landing in Canada of any specified class of immigrants, or of any immigrants who have come to Canada otherwise than by continuous journey from the country of which they are natives or citizens, and upon through tickets purchased in that country.

31. Acting under the authority of the Minister, the immigration agent, the medical officer, and any other officer or officers named by the Minister for such purpose, may act as a board of inquiry at any port of entry to consider and decide upon the case of any immigrant seeking admission into Canada.

The decision of such board affecting the right of any such immigrant to land in Canada shall be subject to appeal to the Minister.

The Governor-in-Council may make regulations governing the procedure in connection with inquiries by such boards of inquiry and appeals from their decisions.

30. All railway or transportation companies or other persons bringing immigrants from any country into Canada, shall, on the demand of the superintendent of immigration, deport to the country whence he was brought any immigrant prohibited by the act, or by any order-in-council or regulation made thereunder, from being landed in Canada who was brought by such railway, transportation company or other person into Canada within a period of two years prior to the date of such demand.

Every patriotic citizen recognizes that population is the great need of Canada, and it is also evident that the only way to meet this need is by immigration—bringing in people from the Mother, and other countries to occupy and make productive our now idle fertile lands.

The law and regulations referred to show that, while the Dominion Government has adopted and put into practice a vigorous immigration policy, it has used precautions and provided safeguards to insure the elimination of as many undesirable features as possible incident to a free flow of immigration. It is to be pointed out that there is no assisted immigration and that no bonuses are paid except in respect of agriculturists and domestic servants. In addition, penalties, the minimum being fifty dollars fine, are provided for the offence of using false or misleading representations to induce immigrants to come to Canada. It is further provided, in order to insure as desirable a class of immigrants as possible, that persons arriving in Canada between December 1 and February 15 must have in possession $50 per adult passenger and a ticket to destination. Between February 15 and April 1 the sum required is $25. This provision, however, is not to be enforced in cases where satisfactory evidence is furnished that the immigrant is going to some definite employment or to friends or relatives, who will assume responsibility for the care of such person. Authority is also given to exclude certain classes of immigrants when the labour conditions in Canada render exclusion desirable.

It is inevitable, however, that exclusion cannot be practised to the limit of possibility. We invite and welcome new citizens. Canada, it is pointed out, has been extensively advertised as a prosperous and growing country, with homes for millions. There is no misrepresentation in this, but the resulting influx has been great beyond our powers of immediate assimilation, especially at a time of trade dullness. But the evil is only temporary and matters will readjust themselves. The Government has shown its bona fides in the application of an energetic policy, in protecting to the fullest possible extent the interests of the older residents of Canada. Those who object to immigration, per se, are enemies of the country, and those who do so merely to embarrass a government with which they are not in political sympathy are merely political quacks.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Conservative newspapers have kindly fixed October 15th as the date of the Dominion general elections. So far it is not known whether Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Prime Minister of Canada has been officially notified of the date set.

Mr. J W Flavelle, late banker for Toronto News, has given an option to purchase the News to a company or syndicate of which Mr. J S Williams is president. It is announced that there will be no change in the editorial or business management. The News could not be made any more uncompromisingly "Tory" than it has been of late.

The fast trans-oceanic time — the quickest yet made—scored by the indomitable with the Prince of Wales on board shows that the All Red Line from the point of quick passage may be made feasible. If a war ship not primarily built for speed can make so rapid a passage, vessels can be built with special reference to speed which can do as well or better.

The promptitude with which the Board of Control of Toronto got together on Sunday morning and decided to send $5,000 to the British Columbia fire sufferers, remarks the Ottawa Free Press, is highly commendable. He gives quickly who gives twice. The advertisement which the city of Toronto has obtained by reason of the immediate action of its controllers is alone worth the five thousand dollars.

LOYAL BOTHA.

General Botha, Premier of the Transvaal, distinguished himself at the recent meeting of the South African States, called for the purpose of revising the South African customs tariff, by preserving the British preference feature of the present tariff. Cape Colony and the Orange River Colony were keen to cut out the preference, with Natal anxious to retain it. General Botha allied himself decidedly with Natal.

"I never would have granted the preference in the first place," said Mr. Botha, in effect, "for it was an unreciprocated concession, but now that a change is obviously coming over opinion there, I certainly am not going to slap the British public in the face. We must maintain the preference."—Ottawa Free Press.

A FIRE DISASTER.

Appalling as is the destruction of life and property by the fires which have swept over Fernie and neighbouring towns in the Crow's Nest Pass district, it is impossible to realize the full extent of the suffering which the fires have entailed in that busy and prosperous corner of the Dominion. Sufficient is known, however, to mark the conflagration as one of the greatest disasters in Canada's history.

Apart from the destruction of life, the greatest loss is the complete wiping out of the railway line, as a consequence of which the fire-swept area must for many weeks be deprived of an important artery of communication essential to the necessities of the region and now doubly needed to speedily carry supplies and comforts to the thousands rendered homeless by the fire.

That great hardship and suffering must descend with all its cruelness upon the fire sufferers is already apparent from the meagre stories of the disaster, which have already come east, and no time should be lost in forwarding aid to the stricken district.

Fortunately the towns have been visited by disaster at a most favourable season of the year, when climatic conditions will render the state of the homeless more endurable, yet the climate of the mountain region is, even in mid-summer, uncertain and summer heat may suddenly be turned into autumnal chilliness. Thousands are without adequate clothing and provisions, and to meet their want there should be a prompt response from all parts of Canada.—Ottawa Free Press.

Crushed Under Stove.

Montreal, Aug. 5.—Almansai Charlebois, five years old, was instantly killed at his father's home at Coteau Landing Monday. His father bought a stove at Coteau village, and took it to his house in a two-wheeled cart. He unhitched the horse and took it to the stable, and while he was away his two little sons essayed to climb up the back of the vehicle. Their combined weight was sufficient to tilt up the cart and the stove fell across Almansai, breaking his spine and killing him almost instantly.

Toronto Gives Up Hope.

Toronto, Aug. 5.—Mayor Oliver, after ineffectual efforts to communicate with Earl Grey by phone yesterday, abandoned the forlorn hope that Earl Roberts might be induced to visit Toronto for a day, and the civic address was sent by express to Ottawa last night. The Mayor had an idea yesterday of going to Ottawa to present the address personally, but as the Earl leaves for Quebec to-morrow, he decided that no time should be lost.

TWENTY-THREE CAUGHT.

Officers Make Big "Rounding" of Hotelmen In Kingston.

Kingston, Aug. 5.—All but five of the 28 retail liquor men were yesterday served with summonses for selling liquor on Saturday nights, making the biggest round-up in the city's history. Information was laid by Inspector Ayers of the License Department, Toronto, as a result of the work of two detectives here for some days past.

The majority of the defendants have but one charge against them, but one has three and another two. Not content with land business, the detectives went on the water and summonses have been issued against the management of the steamers America, Caspian and North King for selling without a license.

The cases against the hotelmen will be heard Thursday. D. M. McIntyre has been retained for the department and James Haverson is looking after the interests of the hotelmen.

The liquor men are full of fight and have been holding meetings to take steps for their defence.

The informations are chiefly for illegal selling against license-holders, and against certain steamboats plying to and from Kingston. Inspector Clarke Wright, through Barrister Webster, has issued a writ for damages for alleged slander against Rev. Mr. Burke, the Methodist minister here. Mr. Burke has made some remarks personally and privately to Mr. Wright, and the action is said to have arisen from this.

NURSE MAKES MISTAKE.

Gives Brockville Man Fatal Dose of Carbolic Acid.

Brockville, Ont., Aug. 5.—A sad accident occurred yesterday morning when Carl Lee, a young man, 18 years of age, died as the result of a fatal mistake made by a trained nurse.

He had been ill, threatened with typhoid, since coming from Quebec, where he had gone as a member of the Forty-First Regiment of this town.

Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock the nurse in giving him medicine by mistake administered carbolic acid. He died in three minutes.

Must Face Problem.

London, Aug. 5.—(C.A.P.)—In the August number of The National Review, W. T. R. Preston, Canadian Trade Commissioner to Japan, has a lengthy article on fair play to Japan. "The sooner," says Preston, "we dismiss the idea that Japan may possibly be a hewer of wood and a drawer of water for the western nations, the better. There would be no greater illusion as to the actual situation. It should be frankly and fairly faced. It may startle some stay-at-homes to realize that the Japanese regard themselves as the equal of any western nation.

"The continual reference in the west to the so-called yellow peril is bound to create popular indignation, which may have far-reaching results in the near future."

Bronson Howard Dead.

New York, Aug. 5.—Bronson Howard, the author and dramatist, died in Avon-by-the-Sea, N.J., to-day.

Bronson Howard was born in Detroit, Oct. 7, 1842, of which city his father was one time mayor.

From 1868-72 he was an active New York journalist. Since that time he was a dramatic writer altogether. His more famous productions were The Banker's Daughter (1878), Truth (1879), Wives (1879), Young Mrs. Winthrop (1882), The Henrietta (1887), Shenandoah (1889), and Aristocracy (1892).

Gets Three Years.

Woodstock, Aug. 5.—John McGaw, aged 35, and unmarried, was found guilty by Judge Finkle yesterday morning of stealing cattle from a number of Dereham farmers and sentenced to three years at Kingston Penitentiary.

McGaw and his brother were captured and lodged in Simcoe jail, but they broke out. John was recaptured, but Edward is still at large.

The two are alleged to have stolen about a dozen cattle, but the stock was all recovered.

Brakeman Pardoned.

Toronto, Aug. 5.—Richard Newton, C.P.R. brakeman, sentenced in April to nine months' imprisonment for criminal negligence, has been pardoned from Milton jail.

Newton's negligence, it was held, caused the death of Engineer Armstrong at Guelph Junction. A petition signed by Peter R. Gibbs, A. Knapp and other citizens of Milton was forwarded to the department by T. C. Robinette, and word came yesterday that an immediate release had been ordered.

Taft to Talk By Gramaphone.

Hot Springs, Aug. 5.—William H. Taft has consented to make several short speeches into talking machines for reproduction, and he yesterday found Mrs. Taft laughing at him as he was rehearsing. Several experimental talks were made and reproduced with varying degrees of satisfaction. The speeches which a single record will hold average about 300 words.

Missionary Beaten.

Bombay, Aug. 5.—A brutal attack on a woman missionary by a band of Hindus at Paudharpur, in the Poona district, indicates the growth of the anti-foreign sentiment in India.

Miss Steele, the woman in question, fell into the hands of the fanatics and was beaten with sticks and stones into unconsciousness.

Farman's Success.

Farman made three flights, twice at 600 yards and finally at 900 yards.

Fishing Boats Lost.

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—The Marine Department has been advised that a couple of fishing craft were driven off St. Paul's Island, near Sydney, C.B., in a recent storm and have not since been seen. The customs steamer Gladiator has been sent to look for the missing vessels.

LEARNING TO SWIM.

The Fat Man Who Was a Model of Patience and Perseverance.

Persistence in undertaking is a laudable virtue, but it can be a bit overdone sometimes, as in a case described by Y. L. Molloy in "Our Autumn Holiday on French Rivers." Mr. Molloy and his friends, longing for a good dive, went to a swimming school on an island in the Seine. They donned their rented costumes and were preparing for the plunge when a man with ropes came along and insisted on tying them about their waists. It was according to police regulations, and, although they made an indignant protest, they were obliged to submit.

While we were dressing, says Mr. Molloy, we asked the two swimming masters for an extra towel.

"Pardon," they replied, "we must attend to our monsieur."

Then we saw that there had come upon the platform a short and absurdly fat man dressed in bathing costume, swimming sandals and oiled cap.

"Let's see him go in," said we. "What a splash he'll make!"

The swimming masters received the new arrival at the middle of the platform. There he balanced himself on his stomach on a wooden stump two feet high. The masters seized him by his hands and feet and with slow and deliberate movements made him strike out with the action of swimming. They kept this up for a quarter of an hour, and the perspiration rolled off him in great drops.

"He'll be awfully hot to go into the water after that," said I.

But he did not go into the water. The swimming lesson over, he moved toward the dressing room, saying:

"I have done better today."

"Ah, yes," answered one of the masters. "Your progress is admirable."

The fat man beamed with complaisance and went in to dress.

I called the swimming masters aside. "Does 'our monsieur' practice often like that? He must have great perseverance."

"Perseverance! He has worked like this for five years, and he has never been in the water!"

SIGN OF A BEATEN MAN.

Runner Who Looks Behind Almost Sure to Lose the Race.

"There are many more good distance runners now than in my days," said an old time champion after watching a three mile scratch race at the New York Athletic club games. "But the habits of the runners have not changed any, for I noticed one little trick in the race that bore the significance that used to attach to it.

"To the casual onlooker there was nothing to choose between the two leaders when they were beginning the last quarter of a mile. Right from the crack of the pistol they were running almost stride for stride with the low, graceful, easy action of the real long distance runner.

"Neither had called into use the reserve power which must be utilized in the final sprint for victory when they turned into the stretch for the final lap. Then one of them slightly turned his head to see where the third man was.

"'That man is beaten,' was the thought which occurred to me at once, and it proved true, as always, for when the dash for the finish began he allowed his rival to get a lead of five yards before going after him in earnest pursuit.

"From that point to the finish there was no perceptible difference in the speed of the men, but the man who had turned his head to make sure that he would get second place, instead of bending every energy to win, of course landed where his thoughts placed him."

The fool who is silent passes for wise.—French Proverb.

JACK THONEY OF TORONTOS 1907 TEAM AMAZES BOSTON FANS

What Boston fans think of Jack Thoney, star fielder and batter of the Eastern League last season, is shown by the following from the Boston American:

"Boston fans have gazed on many fielding phenomenons since the game was first started and we thought that there were some pretty good gardeners planted right here in the Hub in the past, but they are all put in the shade when ranged up along side of "Jock" Thoney, the blonde-headed flashlight, who startles the patrons of the game daily by some marvellous exhibition of brilliant fielding through the agency of his great speed and natural aptitude at connecting with the ball.

"The other day against Detroit he reeled off a feat which beats anything in his glittering record of the season, when he corralled a fly in the extreme corner of the field, going up a four-foot bank, after springing almost fifty feet, and grabbing the ball a foot from the fence. Schaeffer, who made the terrible clout, was turning third when the ball descended into the "Bullet's" hands, and he was more surprised than anybody else when he realized that his well-meant swat amounted to nothing, because Boston had a fielder who was able to do almost impossible things in the field."

ST. MARY'S OF TORONTO TO PLAY THE PETES

Two Games for Civic Holiday—One of Queen City's Best.

The Peterborough baseball team will play two games next Monday, with the St. Mary's, of Toronto, who are tied for first place in the league there. The St. Mary's are possibly the fastest bunch in the league, having defeated the Park Nine, on Saturday. Two games will be played, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

LACROSSE MATCH AT RIVERSIDE

To-morrow is the Day—Lindsay Coming With Strong Line-up.

Another splendid lacrosse practice was held on Riverside Park last night and it looks as if the Lindsay bunch won't have much of a look-in on Thursday evening. The visitors, however, are coming strong and there promises to be a great game. The match begins at 6.15 on Riverside Park and the grandstand should be well-filled on that occasion. To-morrow is the day.

FRED HICKEY TRAVELS WITH THE LEAFS

Torontos Leave Yesterday for a Lengthy Journey.

Fred Hickey was taken along with the Torontos, who began a lengthy series of away-from-home games yesterday. Guelph is seeing the Skeeters and Leafs fight another battle today. Then Jersey City, Baltimore, Providence, Newark and Montreal are visited in turn, before the Skeeters again open up on the local diamond, August 20. Hickey will take his regular turn in the box. McCaig, the Georgetown amateur southpaw, reported for trial yesterday. He will stay at home, but will soon be given a chance to show his mettle when the Leafs come back.

TWO ENTRIES FOR ROAD RACE IN OTONABEE

There are already two entries in for the five mile road race in Otonabee for Civic Holiday. Jimmy O'Brien, of Gilmour street, entered last night and to-day Mr. Dan Whelan, Jr., left the name of Albert Smoke, a sixteen-year-old Indian of the Chemong reserve. The medals have already been purchased and the race promises to be a good one.

FARM HANDS SCARCE IN THE WEST

Applicants for Harvest Help Becoming Numerous.

The Winnipeg Free Press says:—The demand for good farm hands is still largely in excess of the supply, and many applications are received daily in the city at the offices of the department of immigration. The wages offered range from $25 to $40 per month for experienced men. For inexperienced men, from $15 to $25 per month with board is offered. As many as fifty applications are received in a single day from farmers, the letters coming from all parts of the West. The applicants are in many cases men who in recent years arrived in the country practically penniless and who were themselves cared for at the immigration hall and assisted to find homesteads on the prairies. The demand for men for the farmers will soon become acute, and those who are interested in the matter of finding a supply of men for this purpose are somewhat at a loss. The usual excursions of farm labourers will be run from Ontario and the other eastern provinces, but the supply of men will probably be insufficient.

TIMELY TIPS.

By Suburban Reporter.

In view of the success of the Peterborough police in capturing circus pickpockets, the city newspapers should publish, free of charge, a notice similar to the following:

Notice to Pickpockets

All members of the light-fingered gentry will be made welcome to this city. Don't tell us when you are coming; just drop in any time and hang around any old place, and you will be given the glad hand by our officers, who are experts in locating men of your profession. They will treat you kindly and escort you to the city buildings, where you will be examined to see if you are clean and in good health. No embarrassing questions will be asked, and your sojourn will be made as pleasant as our capable staff can make it. In the course of a few days, when you have become accustomed to the surroundings, a public meeting will be held in the assembly hall and you will have an opportunity to tell the people why you came to Peterborough, and how you accumulated so much cash in living. On this occasion, you can congratulate the natives on the prosperity and beauty of the city in return for their hospitality. If you cannot demonstrate that you are a fit member of your profession, then you will be cast forth on the world to wander about and eke out an existence. But if you can convince those present that you are competent in your vocation, you will be given a free ticket to the city of Kingston, where a large health resort is located, in which you may spend a few years in peace and quietness, without any worry as to where the next meal is coming from. Of course, the length of your stay in that delightful place depends largely upon the references which you can show from the managers of similar institutions. When you come to Peterborough, be sure to bring your "character," as it will help the proceedings along wonderfully.

Welcome to our city!

Signed, CHIEF OF POLICE.

The saying that "all signs fail in dry weather" has been verified intensely during the past two weeks. For two days in succession the wind blew from the east; on several mornings there was an entire absence of dew; at times, dark clouds covered rear; and on several occasions the cuckoo bird came close to the habitations of man and "cuckooed" loudly.

The underbrush in the old Methodist cemetery is growing taller every day, but there is still no visible sign of any effort being made to clear it. A continuous bombardment of comments on this subject will be kept up until a start is made at the work.

Excursion Down River Of The Peterborough Band

Trip To Hastings Cancelled—An Enjoyable Party And An Enjoyable Day.

SOME MUSIC ON BOARD

"As advertised," could not be said of the excursion yesterday, under the auspices of the new Peterborough Band, which was billed for Hastings, via steamer Otonabee. The morning brought threatenings of rain, which doubtless was the cause why so few turned out. At 8 o'clock the hour advertised for leaving the wharf, the steamer still hung to her moorings, having about 40 or 50 excursionists on board. It was noticed that the steamer Monaroh which usually runs the regular daily trip to Rice Lake, was not in her usual place at the wharf, and on inquiry, it was learned that she was still down the river. At 8.30 o'clock when the flagship of the company gave no explanation why she should not proceed on her advertised trip, the Hastings excursionists began to sit up and take notice. The assiduous manager of the steamboat company, who was present, was seen to get busy, and then the captain and crew received a "wireless." The Hastings trip was to be cancelled and the Otonabee instructed to take the Monaroh's trip, thus killing two birds with one stone. It was perhaps good business on the part of the company, but it was not "as advertised," and of course there was some dissatisfaction on the part of the excursionists who had tickets for Hastings. In justice to the members of the band, under whose auspices the excursion was held, it was learned that they had done what was in their power to keep faith with the public, but they did not happen to have a charter for the day.

It was twenty minutes to nine before the Otonabee pulled out, quite an additional number having gone on board, composed of those who were waiting for the Monaroh. Once started everybody began to get merry. The band under the leadership of Mr. Roland Common, furnished pleasing music throughout the day. A short distance below the Yankee Bonnet the Monaroh was passed coming up the river with a scow load of grain. Calls were made at Thompson's Landing, Jubilee, Gore's Landing, Harwood and Idyl Wyld. Dinner was enjoyed at the Island, and the party started for home again at 3 o'clock. The band received quite a welcome at Idyl Wyld and as they played their selections were loudly cheered by the guests and visitors, at the hotel; several of their female admirers starting out in a row boat to wish them bon voyage as they sailed away from the dock.

The pleasure of the homeward trip was again enhanced by the music of the band. Violin music was also started and dancing was indulged in. Several musical ladies and gentlemen on board regaled the party with popular vocal songs, while others assisted in the chorus. The steamer reached the Wolfe street wharf in good time—7.30.

At Idyl Wyld, while dinner was being enjoyed in the hotel, a lady walked into the dining room in a joyous manner, displaying two fine maskinonge which she had just caught a short distance out from the island. The fish weighed twelve and nine pounds respectively, and were captured within fifteen minutes of each other. The exultant lady was Mrs. Groh, of Rochester, who, with her husband and family and a select party are enjoying a delightful season at Idyl Wyld. Mrs. Groh was warmly congratulated by her friends on the successful catch. It was her first "string," and it looked as if she was as much pleased over it as a bride on her wedding day.

Mr. and Mrs. Talbot and party are still guests at Idyl Wyld and are having quite a rare time.

Mr. Sam Wallace, Lakefield, and Mr. McBride, who formerly conducted "Lilac Lodge," Gore's Landing, were among the excursionists. Both gentlemen made confessions which they doubtless would not have done had it not been for the social character of the party. Mr. Wallace is now 63 years of age, and although he had lived all his life in the vicinity of Lakefield, had never been down the Otonabee before. Mr. McBride, at 45 years of age, had never been on a railroad train until about two years ago, when he took his first trip on the G. T. R. from Garden Hill to Lakefield.

Local Cheese Board Prices Up Another Notch To-day

12c. Paid All Round the Board—Much Better Than Corresponding Sale of Last Year.

NEW BUYER ON THE BOARD

One of the smoothest sales of the season took place this morning on the Peterborough Cheese Board. The bidding was brisk and what pleased the salesmen most was the fact that the price remained the same all the way through. That was 12 cents per pound; and incidentally the highest price on the board for this year.

At the sale in 1907 corresponding to to-day's, there were 4,495 boxes boarded, the price being only 10 13-16. To-day there were 4,222 boxes boarded.

The buyers present were Messrs. Cook, Morton, Gillespie, Riddell, Gunn & Langlois, Fitzgerald, Weir, Kerr, Free representing Olive, Dorrin & Stroud, Montreal. The last mentioned is an addition to the buyers on the Peterborough Board. The secretary announced that several of the factories had not yet paid their board fees and many of these handed over their dollars.

The following cheese were boarded:

Keene	160
Wurmister	120

WOMAN GETS A BIG 'LUNGE NEAR JUBILEE

Weighs Twelve Pounds—Mrs. Jas. A. Tully the Fortunate Lady—Alone at the Time and Somewhat Frightened.

MANY VISITORS AT THE CAMP

Examiner Special

Rice Lake, Aug. 5.—On Jubilee are camped Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Tully and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Metheral, and during the past week they have had a considerable number of visitors. The talk of the summer population there at the present time is the 'lunge captured last Saturday by Mrs. Tully. Mrs. Tully went out in the skiff, and, contrary to her usual custom, took a trawling line with her. Fair fortune smiled on the fisherwoman, and it was only a few moments later when something began struggling at the other end of the line.

Mrs. Tully had never in her life before caught a fish, and naturally she became excited—possibly frightened. Nevertheless, she gamely hung on to the struggling "monster of the deep," and by sheer strength pulled the 'lunge over the gunwale of the skiff. Later she landed with her prize which was, needless to say, a surprise for her friends on shore. The fish was weighed, and tipped the scales at exactly twelve pounds. This is one of the best 'lunge seen—outside of fishermen's dreams—around Rice Lake this season. And a woman got the credit.

Among the visitors at the camp during the past few days were Mr. and Mrs. J J Turner, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Morley Lyle, Miss Best, Mrs. P L. Moscrip and daughters, Misses Marion and Helen, of Erie, Pa.; Misses Eleanor Latimer and Helen Metheral, Peterborough.

SOMETHING CAN BE DONE

To Stop the Increase of Catarrh in Peterborough.

Catarrhal troubles are increasing, not only in Peterborough, but all over the country.

Catarrh is a germ disease, and to cure it, germ life in the nose, throat and lungs must be destroyed, and this can be done only by breathing Hyomei.

There is no dangerous stomach drugging when Hyomei is used; no tablet or liquid mixtures whereby the digestion is often destroyed.

Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, its healing balsams penetrate the most remote air cells, destroying the catarrhal germs so that quick recovery follows. The complete outfit costs but $1, and Wm. Madill agrees to refund the money should Hyomei fail to do all that is claimed for it. For sale by Wm. Madill, corner Hunter and George streets.

WEDDING BELLS.

FROST—ASHBY

A quiet wedding was celebrated on Saturday at the home of Mr. Frank Leyson, Campbellford, when Miss Violet Ashby was united in marriage to Mr. Frank Frost, Albert street, city. The bride was dressed in white organdie trimmed with lace and insertion, carried a bouquet of white carnations and wore a small wreath of the same flowers in her hair. Her travelling dress was of dark blue silk with hat to match. The happy couple were unattended. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond pin. Mr. and Mrs. Frost will reside with Mr. McManus, Park street.

BYERS—TAYLOR

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Taylor was the scene of a pretty wedding this afternoon, when their youngest daughter, May, was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas H. Byers, of this city. The house was very tastefully decorated for the occasion with cut flowers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Henderson, pastor of Charlotte Street Methodist Church, in the presence of the relatives of the contracting parties. The bride entered the parlour on the arm of her father who gave her away and looked charming in a gown of white net over silk, and carrying a bouquet of bridal roses and carnations. The happy couple were unattended, and after congratulations the guests sat down to a wedding supper, which was served by Mr. T. Hooper. The bride was the recipient of a large number of handsome presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Byers left for Hamilton and Toronto on the 4.38 C. P. R. express, the bride travelling in a becoming dress of navy blue voile over silk. On their return from their honeymoon they will reside at 267 Bethune street.

OBITUARY

JONATHAN GRIFFIN

Mr. Jonathan Griffin, one of the oldest residents of Lakefield, died suddenly yesterday afternoon. He was staying at his cottage, "Eagle's Nest," Stony Lake. He and his daughter were sitting on the verandah when Mr. Griffin was suddenly stricken down. Medical assistance was at once summoned, but Mr. Griffin had passed beyond human aid. The remains were brought down to Lakefield by Mr. Bickell, undertaker, and the funeral will take place to-morrow. Mr. Griffin was eighty years of age and has for years been a highly respected resident of the village. He leaves behind him two sons, Roland and Everest, and three daughters, Gussie, Annie and Edith. Mrs. Griffin died several years ago.

Mr. Griffin was at one time proprietor of the Lakefield News, and had always been actively identified with the Conservative party. In the earlier history of the village he acted as member of the council for several years. In religion Mr. Griffin was an Anglican.

HELEN LEONA BARRETT.

This morning the death occurred of Helen Leona, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah E. Barrett, 187 Simcoe street, after an illness of four days. The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon to the Little Lake Cemetery, under the auspices of the Salvation Army.

ANGUS WILLIAMS

At 1.30 o'clock this afternoon one of the city's oldest residents passed away in the person of Mr. Angus Williams at his residence, 71 Crescent street. His death is assigned to old age. The deceased was born in Glengary county, Ontario, 86 years ago. He married a Miss MacDonald also of Glengary, who predeceased him four years ago. At one time Mr. Williams was proprietor of a general store on George street about where Mr. Benj. Shortly is now located.

The deceased is mourned by the following children: Mrs. John Crough, of Emsimere; Edward, of Toronto; Angus, of Utica, N.Y., and Jean of Peterborough. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

MRS. JOHN SPELLMAN

The death of Mrs. John Spellman, of Hastings, occurred yesterday evening at St. Joseph's Hospital, after a rather lengthy illness. The deceased was 79 years of age and was born in Ireland. She came to Canada 45 years ago. Her husband predeceased her several years ago. The surviving children are Robert, of Montana; William, of Texas; Arthur and Tierney, of Hastings; James of Campbellford; John of Webwood, and Mrs. A Swan of San Francisco. The body was taken to Hastings on the afternoon train and the funeral will be held to-morrow morning.

Power House Safe

Inquiry was made at the power plants of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, the Otonabee Power Company and the C.G.E. at Nassau, and all report little trouble. The arresters took care of everything.

A house in the vicinity of London and Stewart streets was reported on fire, but the blaze was speedily extinguished.

The chimney of Mr. John Edward's residence, in Lakefield, was struck and the bricks badly scattered. The paper on the walls was also torn off in many places.

THE SALVATION ARMY MEETINGS

Staff Captain Horne—Special Services On Saturday and Sunday.

Staff Captain Goodwin and Captain Maisey, of the Salvation Army, have returned to the city and this evening the usual soldiers' meeting will be held. Public service will be held to-morrow night and on Saturday and Sunday the services will be special. Major Sinco, Toronto, is coming. She belongs to the Candidates Department there and she is bringing her little son Reginald, who is a violinist and soloist at the age of 13 years. He will contribute to all services.

A REGULAR CIRCUS

Every Time Children Had to Take Cod Liver Oil.

We have all seen or experienced it—they had to be bribed—their nose held, and some sweets ready as soon as it was swallowed, and even the grown-ups demanded preserves, lemon or coffee in which to take cod liver oil.

That was years ago before two eminent French chemists, Mergues and Gautier, discovered how to separate the medicinal and curative elements of the cod's liver from the useless, nauseating oil, and produced Vinol.

Vinol is not a patent medicine, but a real cod liver preparation, containing in a highly concentrated form all of the body-building, strengthening and curative elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, with all the useless oil eliminated and peptonate of iron added. It is delicious to take, and children love it.

We ask every mother in Peterborough who has a weak, delicate or ailing child, every run-down, debilitated or aged person, and every person suffering from pulmonary troubles, to try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails to give satisfaction. THE WEATHER

A very severe thunderstorm passed over the city last night, and the parched ground received a thorough soaking. The rainfall totalled 1 inch and 57-100 on the level. Yesterday's highest temperature was 89 degrees in the shade.

GOOD CURTAIN-RAISER FOR THE DRAMATIC SEASON

Mr. C. H. Knapp, business manager of the Quincy Adams Dramatic Company, has been a frequent and welcome visitor to Peterborough. He is in the city making preliminary arrangements for the appearance here in the Grand Opera House, September 8th, of the Quincy Adams-Sawyer Company in the enticing rural drama of that name, which will constitute a delightful curtain-raiser for the play season in Peterborough.

HE SWIMS WITH ONLY ONE LEG

Makes Fast Time Despite His Handicap in a Recent Race.

New York, Aug. 5.—John Gilday, an eighteen-year-old life saver at the Battery public baths, was the winner of the annual long distance swim of the Sixth District United States Life Saving Corps, held yesterday. The swimmers have to pass through the treacherous Hell Gate channel in their five and one-half mile water journey from East One Hundredth street to North Beach on the Sound. Thirteen life savers started, and seven of them finished. Gilday's time being one hour and 22 minutes. Peter Ott, of the Yorkville division, the second man, was three minutes behind Gilday.

A large crowd on boats and at points along the shore, witnessed the race, a feature of which was the performance of William Bratton, 18 years old. He has only one leg, but covered the distance in the remarkable time of two hours.

The funeral of the late Mrs. W G Yelland will take place from the residence of Mr. Wm. Yelland, 258 McDonel street, to Little Lake Cemetery, to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. It is requested that no flowers be sent.

That tired feeling will disappear, and you will be able to eat well and sleep well by using Miller's Compound Iron Pills. Sold by J. D. Tully, druggist, Peterborough.

NO FARM HANDS MADE APPLICATION

When Farmers Came in They Were Noticeably Absent.

On Saturday Mr. Geo. Howson had many farmers call at his office looking for helpers but scarcely any presented themselves. During the week quite a number had called and had promised to be on hand on Saturday afternoon but they proved to be absentees as usual. The harvesters' excursion, it is learned will take quite a number of those now unemployed to the west. The local demand will soon be over and those who want to to get a place can easily do so. If they make good, they in many cases, will be kept on during the winter.

ALEXANDER R. SUTHERLAND, FORMERLY OF ASHBURNHAM, IS MURDERED IN HIS OWN HOME; WIFE CONFESSES COMMITTING THE CRIME

At First a Mystery But Truth Is Now Known—A Son of the Late Captain Sutherland, Grain Buyer, Peterboro—Well Known to Many Here—Last Words Before Death

BURGLARS REPORTED IN THE HOUSE ON EVENTFUL NIGHT

Residents of Peterborough twenty years ago will remember a young man named Alexander R Sutherland, son of the late Captain Sutherland, a prominent grain buyer about that time. This same Alex Sutherland, who of late has made Buffalo his home, was murdered by an unknown assailant on Tuesday morning in his own home.

Mr. Sutherland was born in Ashburnham on Stewart street — now Roger street—and lived here for 20 years or more. He spent some years in Toronto and then went across to Buffalo. Mr. John T Craig, East City, was probably the last person to hear of him. He stated to the Examiner to-day that it is more than 10 years since the murdered man was in Peterborough. But it was only last spring since Mr. Craig's sister, who is now in Hamilton, heard from him. He then wanted to know something of the whereabouts of his friends of former years. Up to that time Mr. Craig had not heard of him for a long time.

Mr. Sutherland was a brother of Mrs. Louise Henderson, Lindsay. He had another sister named Fleecy, who is married and residing in Cobourg. A brother, William Sutherland died in Ottawa a few years ago, and he has also a brother, Arthur, whose location is unknown. The following despatch has reached the Examiner with the details of the murder:—

Buffalo, Aug. 5.—Special. — Alexander R Sutherland, a labourer who lived with his wife and daughter and their boarders at 1383 Niagara street, was shot at 4 o'clock this morning by an unseen assailant. He died at the Emergency Hospital an hour later from a bullet wound through his chest above the heart.

As to who killed him the police are at a loss. Whether he was shot while in bed and asleep or while going downstairs from his bedroom to repel the burglar who had entered the house has not been learned yet.

The latter seems more likely. Any suspicion of suicide is discounted by the fact that no revolver was found on the premises and none was kept there as far as can be learned.

Sutherland's last words were: "I don't know who shot me. Seems as if I dreamed I was shot."

Mrs. Annie Sutherland, the wife, says that $33 and a gold watch was stolen from a trunk in her room over night. She did not see nor hear the burglar but the watch and money are gone.

Burglar is Suspected

From this and Sutherland's statement that he did not know who shot him the police for the time being are working upon the theory that Sutherland heard someone moving about in the house, hastily arose and went to investigate and was shot while half awake by an alarmed burglar. Meanwhile, although holding to this theory, all the detectives available are searching the premises for a revolver or other indication that the theory is wrong.

In the Sutherland household last night were Sutherland, who was about 45 years old. His wife, two or three years his junior, their daughter, Lillian, 17 years old, and three young men boarders. These latter are Timothy Collins, Fred J Fisher and William J Wilson.

All five were at Police Headquarters this morning making statements as to what they know about the tragedy.

The three boarders occupied separate rooms upstairs. Sullivan occupied another room, in the middle of the house. His wife and daughter slept together in a bedroom down stairs off the dining room. They had their door bolted and the door from the dining room to the front hallway was blocked by a chair leaning under the knob. The front hallway door was closed but unlocked. This is customary for the convenience of the boarders.

All of the household retired last night between 10 and 12 o'clock.

At Foot of Stairs

A few minutes before 4 o'clock this morning Mrs. Sutherland heard a noise in the front hallway as if someone had fallen downstairs. She went to the hall to see what was the trouble, and found her husband lying at the foot of the stairs grasping his breast and breathing heavily.

"What's the matter, Alec?" she cried in alarm.

"I'm hurt," he murmured, and then apparently became unconscious.

Hastily awakening her daughter, Mrs. Sutherland sent her for help. She aroused Ben Lang, a grocer at the next corner down the street. He telephoned for an ambulance and ran to the Sutherland house. Patrolman McKenzie of the West Delavan Avenue Station, who was a few hundred feet away, saw Lang running and followed to see what was doing. They arrived at the house at nearly the same time. Lang helped place the wounded man on a couch, while the policeman commenced help. Lang says that Sutherland did not know who shot him.

LATER. — A despatch from Buffalo this afternoon says: — Mrs. Alexander Sutherland, whose husband was shot and fatally injured early yesterday morning at their home on Niagara street, to-day admitted that she had shot her husband. Mrs. Sutherland claims that there had been many family quarrels, that her husband had been very jealous, and that she had finally determined to commit suicide. Going to her husband's room, she started to inform him of her purpose, and in the scuffle which ensued she accidentally shot him. Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland originally came from Peterborough, Canada.

Edinburgh Street Landlord Did Not Like His Tenant's Conduct

Tried to Eject Him Because His Month Was Up And The Family Was a Source of Annoyance To The Neighbourhood.

COURT UPHOLDS TENANT

City Clerk Armstrong was on the bench at Police Court this morning. The one case he was called upon to hear was a charge of assault laid by Mr. Jas. Gates against his landlord, both of whom reside in Edinburgh street. According to the defendant's statements, his tenants were not at all desirable. At times, he said, they quarrelled amongst themselves, used language that was, to say the least, profane, and were a source of annoyance to the neighbours. The last straw was on the night of the Quaker Oats Co.'s picnic. Witness said Mrs. Gates was heard crying for help, and tried to throw a lighted lamp at her husband. Defendant, at the request of neighbours, decided to get rid of his tenants.

The plaintiff claimed that on Tuesday evening about 6.45 o'clock the defendant and his wife came across the street, and the former stated that he demanded possession of the house. Mr. Gates maintains that his month was not up until to-day, while the landlord said their month was up on Monday of this week. The plaintiff stated that everything but several stoves, blinds, etc., had been moved from the house, and they would have entirely vacated shortly after 7 o'clock. Gates said his landlord told him he had to go at once. He acted upon his word and caught the plaintiff by the collar and tried to eject him. There was a scramble in which no damage worth mentioning was done, but Gates is said to have used a surplus of strong language.

In considering the evidence, Mr. Armstrong said the defendant should not have tried to forcibly eject his tenant; as the law provided for that.

Mr. McWilliams, who appeared for the defendant, said that the trouble was due to Gates' nasty language when he was ordered to leave the house. A nominal fine of $1 and costs was imposed, Mr. Armstrong stating that if landlords were allowed to act in the manner described it would lead to many breaches of the peace.

SCOTTISH BOWLER GOES THROUGH CITY

Played With Old Country Curlers Here Two Years Ago.

Many in Peterborough, and particularly the curlers who played against the famous British Curlers who were in Canada a couple of years ago, will remember the tall individual, Dr. Kirk, who hailed from Scotland. Last evening the genial doctor passed through Peterborough from Montreal and his intentions are to go to the Pacific Coast. He appeared on the platform at the railway station while the train waited, in the hope that he might run across some acquaintances and met Mr. Walter Stecker, who recognized his face at once. Dr. Kirk was sorry he could not remain longer in the city.

ATTENDED SOCIAL AT ZION

Salvation Army Band Proved a Great Drawing Card.

The Salvation Army Band took part last night in a garden party at Zion, in aid of the church there. About eighteen of the musicians were in the party, and besides providing a fine programme they were treated well by the committee on arrangements.

The band delighted the large number who were present and the delightful weather contributed in no small degree to the success of the affair.

Vacation Souvenirs

You will, doubtless, have some of your friends home on their vacation from other parts of the world. Mother may have a son home, father's daughter may come too, or you may have a sister or brother. No matter who, he or she will appreciate some little souvenir of the "Old Town": a Pin, Spoon, Watch, almost anything. Our Assortment is of the finest.

THE BID FOR VOTES.

Our tender-hearted evening contemporary thinks it is called upon to break a lance in the interests of the working man. It berates the Examiner because we ventured to advise the unemployed to go west and settle upon the land and, in time with thrift and industry to become employers of labour themselves. In its anxiety to get votes the Review weeps crocodile tears with great facility. It calls the Examiner's advice an insult, although it is not, nor was intended to be, anything of the kind. The Examiner's advice was tendered to the unemployed generally, but specially included those who were out of work but were not passionately anxious to find it, preferring hungry idleness to hard work and good fare. Amongst the unemployed there are many who are honestly eager for work, but unfortunately unable to procure it. There are many others who are idle apparently from choice, and not willing to take honest employment. We have had to do with many of this sort of individual. The Examiner with a solicitude for the interests of the working man, not confined like the spurious interest of our contemporary, to biding for votes, but practically exhibited, has the past season conducted an employment bureau on a modest scale, with a view of bringing men who wanted farm work in touch with farmers who wanted help. It has repeatedly happened that men without work and in need of food and clothing, would call to inquire. Their names were taken and they were directed to farmers who needed hands, or told to come to the Examiner office at a certain date to personally meet farmers. Scores of men who really wanted work, got good situations through this medium and farmers got the hands they needed. But in very numerous cases the applicants for places never called upon the farmers and never turned up at the appointed time. They doubtless discovered that work on a farm meant work and difficulty of access to the beer mug; they preferred idleness with semi-starvation to honest toil. It was to such as these, especially, that the Examiner pointed out the way to prosperity by indicating the advantages of the West. There are two classes of the unemployed—those who want work and those who pretend to want it but fight shy of it when a chance is presented. With the former everybody has sympathy, the latter are undeserving of sympathy. Such persons may easily be "insulted" by a tender of advice which, if followed brings danger of getting work. The Review's bid for votes is too palpable to leave it any credit for its pretended solicitude for the unemployed.

CANADA A NATION.

To-day, on the other hand, the monument erected to Wolfe and Montcalm symbolizes the conversion of the Canadas into a consolidated and self-sufficing nation, who asks nothing but friendship of her southern neighbour, and whose surviving tie to Britain is one of sentiment alone. Extraordinary, also, has been the growth since 1860 of the provinces composing the Canadian Dominion in population and in wealth. The inhabitants are now computed at about six millions—about as many as England contained when Quebec was surrendered. In 1905-6 the foreign trade of the Dominion had reached a volume which would have seemed entirely incredible forty-eight years ago, for the total exports exceeded $246,000,000, and the imports $294,000,000. At the same date the deposits in banks reached $531,000,000, and the deposits in savings banks $87,000,000.

The total mileage of Canadian railways, in June, 1905, was upward of twenty thousand miles, and it has since been increasing rapidly. We add that the yearly value of the Canadian fisheries is now not far from $25,000,000 and that in 1906 the national revenue exceeded $80,000,000. In a word, the British North America whose unification is celebrated to-day, is aptly called a "Dominion," for in the number of its citizens, in the plentitude of its financial resources and in the high level of its civilization it outshines many a European monarchy.—New York Sun.

The Sun is and has been for years intensely Anglo-phobic, and anti-Canadian. That it is forced by the logic of fact to thus pay tribute to the resources and hope of Canada, is a matter of important significance. Uncle Sam is sending a commission to Canada to learn how to do banking. Our Yankee cousins may be able to give us points and beat us at the money-making game, but we can teach them how to take care of it.

SWEAT SHOPS STILL EXIST.

A Toronto despatch of Saturday last says:

Ministers and labour men met at the Labour Temple last night and talked over the evils of the sweat shop system in Toronto, and after the discussion the clergy remarked that it was "an eye-opener" to them.

W. F. Bush, of the Garment Workers' Union, James Watt, of the Journeymen Tailors' Union, and other union men told of finding six or seven people huddled up in one little room working until 11 p. m., using the same room for eating, cooking and sleeping; of rooms where there was but one lavatory for both sexes; of the low wages paid for contract work and piecework, and of the employment of boys and girls under the lawful age of 14.

It was stated that men on piecework, who formerly made $50 per week by dint of long and hard labour, could now make only $15, the employers having reduced the rate when they found that the men were making so much money.

A low grade of foreigners who lived under miserable conditions were blamed for reducing the price of cloakmaking work, and efforts are being made to organize this class of workers and improve their mode of life.

It is not surprising that "sweat shop" conditions exist in Ontario, seeing that the factory inspectors have no control over private dwellings where manufacturing is carried on, and that there is little or no machinery for preventing the employment of children under age.

This is one of the matters to which the attention of the present Ontario government has been repeatedly called by report of special committee on child labour and otherwise, but it has thus far been impossible to get action taken.

Private dwellings, in view of our large foreign population, are naturally, where sweat shops should be looked for, and all such places should be placed under the supervision of the factory inspectors.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The British Indomitable is maintaining an average speed of 26 knots in her return voyage across the Atlantic. When, remarks the Buffalo Express, we consider that our best battleships are content with about 18, we begin to feel that our naval constructors have been asleep.

The quarterly bulletin of the New York State Commissioner of Labour states that for the first three months of this year, of 387,450 members of labour unions reporting, 35.7 per cent were idle on the last working day of March, and 26.3 per cent. were continuously idle during the three months. In 1906 the percentage of idle was 9.9.

Bearing upon the question which confronts the whole world more urgently than any other, the relations of Canada and the United States afford an impressive illustration of the peaceful neighbourliness possible to nations. Europe doubtless recognizes more profoundly than do the people of the Americas the significance of the astounding circumstances that the longest frontier in the world is dotted with no more portentous evidences of international suspicion and jealousy than custom houses.—Providence (U. S.) Journal.

The general elections are on in Saskatchewan, and Mr. Haultain, the leader of the Conservative Opposition, enters the contest without a policy. He is inviting the Dutch to capture Holland, by advocating investigation to ascertain the feasibility of the Hudson Bay Railway. And this, after the Liberal Government of the Dominion has provided for its construction, and after a Liberal member of the Saskatchewan Legislature has anticipated Mr. Haultain by moving a resolution urging upon the Dominion Government the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway. Borrowed garments are better anyway than going naked.

The Toronto Globe very properly remarks that "it is easy to attach too much importance to the failure of candidates from the Public Schools to pass the High School Entrance examination." And it is equally improper to represent their examination as "a detriment to the work of the Public School course below it." There is, says the Hamilton Times, a vast deal too much educational quackery these days. We never hope to see a time when there will not be unsuccessful pupils—not even under Whitney's triple-headed management. And we half suspect that if there be a fault in the Entrance examination, it is on the side of permitting the pupils to pass into the High Schools at too early an age.

Mrs. W. Barrett, 602 Moreau St., Montreal, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For years I was a great sufferer from female weakness, and despite every remedy given me by doctors for this trouble, I grew worse instead of better. I was fast falling in health, and I was completely discouraged.

"One day a friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and am thankful to say that it cured the female weakness, making me strong and well.

"Every woman who suffers from female troubles should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Wild Time In London.

London, Aug. 6.—After two days of comparative quiet the old town broke loose last night and in comic costume old boys and citizens paraded the streets in grotesque garb and mask. It was a wild night.

Yesterday the International London Old Boys Association met and elected officers as follows: Wm. Chittick, Winnipeg, president; vice-president, James Mustell, Buffalo; secretary, B. C. McCann, London; treasurer, Thos. Duff, Toronto.

The next reunion will be held in 1911.

Father Ill; Daughter Killed.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—While hurrying to Toronto to see her sick father, Dennis H. Lehane, 320 West Wellington street, who was stricken with paralysis on Tuesday, Miss Irene Lehane was struck and fatally injured by a breaking fender of the Muskoka Navigation Co.'s steamer Kenoyah at the Muskoka wharf last night.

Apple Shippers Meet.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Aug. 6.—The International Apple Shippers' Association met here yesterday in convention, prominent shippers of the United States and Canada being present.

The shippers say prospects for a big apple crop of fine quality are excellent this year.

Five Shot In Election Row.

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 6.—In a pistol fight at the Howard store at Layman, John Blanton was killed, Sherman Blanton was shot in the arm, Stockley Osborne was mortally wounded, Lee Russell was seriously wounded, and a young man whose name is not known was also shot. He ran into the timber and has not been found.

The trouble grew out of a school election.

Farm Hand's Forgeries.

Brockville, Aug. 6.—Dennis Pelow, a farm hand, residing near Gananoque, was lodged in jail here yesterday for trial on two charges of having forged an order for groceries on two occasions.

Died of Heart Failure.

Tilbury, Ont., Aug. 6.—Robert H. Mills, aged 55, a prominent farmer of Tilbury East, was found dead in an outbuilding yesterday morning.

THE GERMAN AIRSHIP IS DESTROYED

Count Zeppelin's Craft Burns on Eve of Big Celebration.

SEVERAL BYSTANDERS HURT

Inventor's Triumph Is Cut Short By Accident Which Ruins His Magnificent Invention—Daughter Sobs Like a Child When Told of Disaster—Benzine to Blame.

Stuttgart, Aug. 6.—During a storm yesterday the Zeppelin airship broke away from its moorings, took fire and disappeared in the air.

The airship exploded during a thunderstorm at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It had first burst into flames.

The latest report from Echterdingen says it is completely ruined.

The storm blew up unexpectedly. A fierce gust of wind tore the balloon from its anchorage and drove it in a southwesterly direction for 50 yards. Here the rear end of the great fabric dropped and smoke and flames burst out from one end to another. In a few seconds came an explosion and a great column of fire shot up into the air.

This was followed by the crashing down to the earth of the motors and frames that had been attached to the underside of the airship.

Several bystanders were knocked down.

The Zeppelin airship had just completed the most remarkable voyage in the history of aerial navigation.

The most intense disappointment reigned in Friedrichshafen, where a grand reception to the Count was being prepared. His daughter broke down and sobbed like a child when she heard of the accident. An overturned can of benzine caused the fire.

MEET AFTER YEARS.

Brothers Introduced to Each Other At Guelph Celebration.

Guelph, Aug. 6.—Two brothers were introduced on Tuesday to each other without knowing their relationship, and who only found out their identity on account of the coincidence of names, which they discussed.

They are James Dunn of Atlanta, Missouri, and John Dunn of the Customs Department, Berlin. James was walking up the street, when he met George Williams of this city, an old friend. Going into the Wellington Hotel they met Mayor Huber of Berlin, and John Dunn. Introductions all around followed, but it was not until after some conversation that the two brothers came to know each other.

Colonies and Drink.

London, Aug. 6.—The Church of England Temperance Society asked opinions on the drink question from some of the colonial bishops attending the Pan-Anglican Congress.

The Australian bishops think the licensing system defective and that there is much for Britain to learn from the Australian Commonwealth.

An unfavorable comparison with the Dominion of Canada was made by the Canadian bishops, who pointed out that the drink bill of Canada was only a quarter as much per head as what it was in Great Britain.

"Play the Game," Says Bobs.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Lord Roberts received civic address and shook hands with one hundred South African veterans at Rideau Hall yesterday afternoon.

Incidentally, he made the only speech delivered by him since his arrival in Canada.

He urged upon Canadians the necessity of teaching the youth of the land how to shoot and, in passing reference to athletics, told Canadians to "play the game."

Air Torpedoes Next.

Essex, Aug. 6.—Notwithstanding frequent denials the Krupp Works have apparently acquired the rights to the air torpedo invented by Col. Unge of the Swedish Army, under conditions giving the Swedish Government use of the device.

The particulars of the weapon are a great secret, but it is understood that the Krupps paid a great sum for the invention after prolonged tests.

Reports say it can be used on land as well as at sea.

Military Day At Guelph.

Guelph, Aug. 6.—Yesterday was military day of the Guelph old home week, and from the point of attendance and the number of attractions it was the biggest of the week.

The day started with a grand civic reception to Rear Admiral Kingsmill. Mayor Newstead presented the visitor with the freedom of the city, while the chairman of the reception committee, Ald. Kennedy, presented him with an illuminated address.

Petition Grows.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—Signatures to the church union petition circulated by Rev. W. H. Stacey now number between 30,000 and 40,000, of which 20,000 were secured in Toronto. When the 50,000 mark is reached the petition will be presented to the governing bodies of all Protestant churches, including Anglicans and Baptists, who have hitherto held aloof from the movement.

Gone.

St. Catharines, Aug. 6.—It is reported that Louis Colles, head waiter of the Paris Kandy Kitchen, left town early Tuesday with $200, representing proceeds of the civic holiday trade. He headed for the Falls.

Won't Tell His Name.

Merrickville, Ont., Aug. 6.—A young man about 25 years of age, apparently an Italian, undertook to get off a freight train near the station yesterday morning. Both legs are off, besides other injuries to head and body. He cannot live and refuses to give his name.

STORM SWEEPS ONTARIO.

Many Points In Province Feel Disastrous Effects.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—Reports of Tuesday's storms throughout the Province show that rain and hail caused much damage to several points. Lightning also started several fires.

At Lindsay the destruction of the barn, crop and four horses belonging to Silas Calvert of Reabon, is reported. W. F. Starr of Valentia lost barns, crop and implements by fire. The same loss occurred to Wellington Switzer of Cameron.

At Omemee, the family of Owen Johnson barely escaped with their lives in an electrical storm which destroyed their house.

At Belleville the worst storm in years was experienced. Much damage was done to standing grain and fruit trees. The home of George Roeborough was struck and serious damage done.

Numerous barns were demolished near Bradford, and around Mount Pleasant nearly every barn was unroofed by the gale. The schoolhouse at Fisher's Corners has been blown down, according to the latest reports, and a large quantity of grain stored in barns throughout the entire district is a total loss.

The storm at Elora utterly devastated a strip of country a few miles west of the town and literally threshed out the uncut oats, which will only be valuable as straw now. The root crops also suffered severely.

A terrific wind, rain and hail storm visited Orangeville, doing immense damage to farm buildings and the crops. Trees were blown over, wires broken and barns unroofed. David Hunter's barn, Garafraxa, was unroofed and partially demolished. Joseph Carrol's fine new bank barn was levelled to the ground. The wind blew a hurricane, and tore off a large section of the substantial roof of the cement works. Corn and grain were blown over and the latter partly threshed. The storm appears to have been confined to a small area. As far as can be ascertained, no serious accidents occurred, although many narrow escapes have been reported.

During the severe electric storm at Strathroy John Chapman, who lives on the thirteenth concession of Lobo, had his barns struck by lightning and the season's crops and all his implements destroyed. A horse, valued at $250, which was in the barn at the time, was struck and instantly killed. Mr. Chapman's loss will be about $1,500, with no insurance.

Blow May Cause Death.

Brantford, Aug. 6.—Edward Hudson, a cripple, was remanded yesterday morning on a charge of assaulting Fred Halberstadt, bartender at Spittal's Hotel. Hudson struck Halberstadt over the head with the iron knob of a heavy cane, inflicting a deep wound and cutting open two arteries. The injured man nearly expired from loss of blood, and is in a critical condition.

The quarrel took place over the price of a sandwich, for which the assailant did not want to pay.

Hudson is a cigarmaker of London.

Grafted With Pig's Skin.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 6.—Two months ago Eugene McAuliffe, the 14 year-old son of Jere McAuliffe, the actor, fell under a train and had his left leg horribly mangled. Death seemed inevitable, but the doctors operated, amputating the limb close to the trunk.

Tuesday a young pig was chloroformed and skin taken from it to cover a great raw wound on McAuliffe's body. The pigskin has completely taken hold and McAuliffe will recover.

Drives Nail Into Head.

Binghamton, N.Y., Aug. 6.—Fred C. Niles, a prominent prohibitionist of Chenango Bridge, attempted suicide with a hammer and nail.

Niles had been suffering from nervous trouble and was attended by Dr. Frederick Foraker of this city. The physician left the room for a few momonts, when Niles procured a hammer and a long nail, driving the steel in his brain with one blow of the hammer.

The physician removed the nail and Niles is still alive.

Railway Employe Killed.

Smith's Falls, Aug. 6.—A man named Dubois was fatally injured at Merrickville yesterday. He was employed on the C. P. R. construction and had boarded a freight train to go into the village to get the mail for the camp. In descending the ladder of the caboose he swung himself underneath and the wheels passed over him. Both legs were cut off and his body was horribly mangled. He died two hours later.

Suicide's Pistol Fired Bed.

Sydney, N.S., Aug. 6.—Ronald Gillis, aged twenty-five, and a tailor by trade, was found dead yesterday morning with two bullet wounds in his body and a revolver lying on the floor.

The bed was on fire.

In Cleveland.

Kingston, Aug. 6.—Rev. Mr. Nimmo, Anglican clergymen, who eloped with a fair parishioner a few days ago, is reported to be in Cleveland with his bride.

Lineman Killed At Goderich

Goderich, Aug. 6.—Wm. Henry of Stratford, aged 25, a lineman in the employ of the Bell Telephone Co., fell from the top of a telephone pole and was killed.

Lawyer Committed For Trial.

London, Aug. 6.—W. H. Bartram, was committed for trial at the September assizes charged with stealing $15,000.

Graft Charges At the Falls.

Niagara Falls, Aug. 6.—The city council will investigate charges of "graft" made by letter by J. J. Defoe. He claims that "one of the aldermen has and is receiving graft from sidewalks, sewers and all contracts let by the city and from citizens, and has also demanded heavy graft from manufacturers wishing to locate in the city, that he has driven said manufacturers away."

AN ORDINATION AND INDUCTION

Rev. W. D. MacKay, B.A., Now Pastor of Harriston Church—Formerly of Peterborough.

AN ABLE MAN SECURED

The "Tribune," of Harriston, Ont., contains the following account of the ordination and induction of Rev. W. D. MacKay, formerly the assistant pastor at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Peterborough.

Knox Church was crowded last Tuesday night, the occasion being the ordination and induction of their new minister, Rev. William D. MacKay, B.A. All the members of Saugeen Presbytery were present. Rev. Mr. Young, of Clifford, the moderator, presided, and carried the meeting along with his usual capability. After singing and other devotional exercises, Rev. Mr. Cooper, of Mount Forest, an able man, preached an impressive sermon. Following the singing of a hymn, Rev. Mr. Young, assisted by the members of the Presbytery, performed the beautiful ceremony of ordaining and inducting the young minister. Rev. T. D. McCullough, M.A., minister of Guthrie Church, Harriston, having been appointed by the Presbytery for the purpose, addressed the newly inducted minister in a few eloquent and appropriate words. Coming from the minister of the sister church, his address was very touching and shows that the utmost good feeling must exist between the two Presbyterian churches in Harriston. At this juncture Mr. Wm. Blackwood sang "Abide With Me" feelingly and in splendid voice. Rev. Mr. Patterson of Durham, addressed the congregation, and did his duty (well. Mr. James A. Macaulay, Treasurer of Knox Church, addressed a few words of welcome to the new minister and his bride, and then the congregation adjourned to the Sunday School room, where luncheon was served by the ladies and every person became acquainted with the minister and his young wife. One of the pathetic incidents was the reading to the people by Rev. Mr. Young of a card from the former minister, Rev. M. C. Cameron, B.D., who is recruiting his health at Clifton Springs, and who sent his best wishes for the prosperity of the congregation under their new pastorate. Beautiful flowers decorated the choristry and the dais of the church. Knox church people feel that they have made a distinct step forward. There is no doubt that they have secured an able young man who will earnestly strive to do the work of the Master.

SIZES OF DISTURBANCES ON THE SUN

Photographed by Rev. Dr. Marsh—Of Enormous Dimensions.

Rev. Dr. Marsh states that there are four distinct disturbances now taking place on the sun. The largest is 100,000 miles in length by 15,000 miles in breadth. The next largest is 30,000 miles in length by 15,000 miles in breadth. There are also two smaller disturbances, the four covering in all about two billion two hundred million square miles of the solar surface.

IS LOOKING FOR PRETTY WOMAN

Milwaukee Youth Mails a Letter to Find One—It Was Returned.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 6.—Assistant Postmaster John Ryan was stumped yesterday when a letter was mailed to him to be delivered to "Pretty One, Des Moines, Iowa."

It was from a young man signing himself Clarence Peabody and giving his address as Milwaukee.

"I am a young man of good habits and fairly well to do," wrote the young man. "I wish, however to get in correspondence with some good looking young lady in Des Moines and if you will hand the enclosed letter to one answering that description, I shall be a thousand times obliged to you."

Mr. Ryan scratched his head. "Does this man think we have but one pretty girl in Des Moines?" he asked. "If so, his ideas of this city are decidedly foggy."

Whereupon he enclosed the letter to "Pretty One" in another envelop and sent it back to Clarence.

The most cooling of hot weather beverages is iced "Salada" Tea. It is most delicious. 61

SYSTEM OF DRAINAGE IN OPS

Something New That Will Cost $30,000—Plans Now Complete.

Examiner Special

Omemee, Aug. 6.—Plans have been completed for the most extensive drainage system ever undertaken in this part of the province. It has been found necessary by the Council of Ops Township in order to drain low-lying farm lands in the valley of Stony Creek. One cut, of nearly 800 feet, at the outlet, has an average depth of nearly eight feet, and a bottom width of twelve feet. The total cost of the outlet cuttings run up to over $5,000. The scheme is calculated to give a good drainage outlet to 3,800 acres at a total cost of $30,000.

GRANDEUR OF LURID LIGHTNING VIEWED BY A DAUNTLESS FIVE FROM HEIGHTS OF EAGLE MOUNT Novel Nightly Journey of Stony Lake Quintette — See Islands And Waters of Kawarthadom Lit Up By Electricity.

OTHER NEWS FROM THE LAKE

Examiner Special

Stony Lake, Aug. 6.—There are those who come here to find rest and health, others for pleasure, a great many combine the two, a few seek excitement and of these latter must be numbered the five young men who journeyed to the summit of Eagle Mount during Tuesday night's terrific electrical storm to witness the display. It was not at all the wild adventure of the weak-minded, but rather an undertaking requiring much more than the ordinary bravery and courage. It was about 10.30 o'clock and while the great majority were huddled close in the shelter of cottage or hotel, the more timid shuddering as each flash, followed by the boom of the accompanying thunder burst forth, that the ascent of the mount was commenced. Encased in heavy oil jackets with a stout rope tied about their bodies to keep the party together and three electric spark lights to fill in the interim between flashes of lightning the quintette made the circuitous passage to the highest elevation. From there the magnificence of the view baffles description and must be seen to be realized. As flash followed flash illuminating the entire lake and islands though for an instant only, the onlookers became enchanted with the weird splendour, only to be rudely interrupted by a clap of thunder which seemed to shake the whole mountain. The party, after viewing the scene from all directions descended and reached their boats and boarding house in safety not seeming to feel the bumps and bruises of which they all had many and highly pleased with their experience.

For the next two weeks the Gordon Cottage will shelter a jolly party of Peterborough people. The following members came up on Tuesday and other are expected during the week: Mrs. Rae, the Misses Ethel and Mabel Rae, Miss Bertha Wareham, Messrs. W Martin and E Wilson.

Mr. Geo Lee, Toronto, came up on Tuesday evening and is a guest at Victoria House.

Misses Alda Hughes and M Garrow, Peterborough, are spending a few days at Victoria House.

Miss K Roberts who has been visiting at Wenonah and Pepacton for three weeks, returned to Toronto on Tuesday.

Mr. Keith Leeh came up on Monday to spend a month at Kenmore.

Mr. C Ackerman, Peterborough, joined his brother Mr. W C Ackerman and party at the Edwards Cottage, Juniper Island.

Mr. Jas. Bogue, Peterborough, came up on Monday to spend a couple of weeks at Victoria House.

Messrs. Caniff, Warnan and Caniff, scouts, sent out by the Eko Camp to reconnoitre arrived here on the launch "Eko" on Monday evening. The party are guests of Mr. Wilson for a few days and expect the full force to join them at Victoria House on Saturday.

Messrs. W Martin and E Wilson came up on Mr. Martin's launch on Monday.

Mr. Samuel Edwards, Peterborough, was among those who took the round trip on the Water Lily on Tuesday.

How the Big Ocean Liners Eat Up The Fuel — Some Interesting Figures.

TWENTY-FOUR FURNACES

Wonderment at the dimensions of the two great liners, Lusitania and Mauretania, has subsided. It is taken for granted that nothing is too great in size to fleet on the Atlantic and that the limitations of speed of the liner of the future easily may be that of the limited railway train.

But in the period of interest in these two great sister ships some of the most startling of facts concerning them were not accessible to the public. The stupendous figures concerning coal, steam and water consumed by one of these leviathans only recently are leaking out for the wonderment of the world. That such giant vessels could be propelled through the water at twenty-five miles an hour and more day after day hinted at an enormous consumption of coal. Here are some of the concrete figures.

In the bunkers of one of these vessels, 7,000 tons of coal are stored for the Atlantic trip. This means that 145 coal cars of 100,000 pounds capacity each would be required to load these bunkers to their capacity. This would require monster locomotives and the crew for five trains to deliver this one loading of coal at the docks.

How much of this coal is burned on the average trip is known only to a few privileged persons. But it is known that in round figures each vessel consumes 1,000 tons, or 2,000,000 pounds, of coal each twenty-four hours. In each ship are twenty-five boilers, each with its yawning fire-box underneath seething under forced draft. This means that into each of these furnaces 80,000 pounds of coal must be fed every twenty-four hours—the capacity, virtually, of the greatest coal car in railway service.

Each pound of coal should develop nine pounds of steam. This gives 1,800,000 pounds of steam which passes every twenty-four hours through the ship's turbines. This steam as generated and held for power stands at a pressure of 200 pounds to the square inch. At this pressure a pound of steam occupies about two cubic feet of boiler space, which indicates 1,680,000 cubic feet of steam through the engines every hour.

Six hundred and twenty-five thousand pounds of water a minute are necessary to slake the thirst of the great boilers. This is 450,000 tons of water in twenty-four hours, or 100,800,000 gallons a day. The average consumption of water in the cities is thirty-five gallons a day for each inhabitant, so that the needs of one of these passenger ships is equal to the needs of a city of almost 3,000,000 population.

In the furnaces twenty pounds of air are required to consume a pound of coal. Thus twenty tons of air must be driven through the grates of the furnaces every day. With the temperature at 100 degrees, this means that 26,100,000 cubic feet of air enters the furnaces every hour. A pipe ten feet square, supplying this amount of air would develop gale condition with wind blowing at fifty miles an hour.

Poultry Association To Decide Upon Their Exhibition

The August meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association will be held this evening at the usual place. All the members are urged to be present as this is one of the most important meetings of the year. Every director is wanted. It will be finally decided to-night on what date the winter show will be held and of what nature it will be. Some of the members are in favour of a local show, while others want it open to Ontario. This therefore will be another question to determine.

The meetings of the Association have, up to the present been well attended and much enthusiasm has been shown. The officers, however, want every member out to-night.

NOT A DULL MOMENT IN THE Y. M. C. A. BOYS CALENDAR

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Just a short note to let you know that a real live Y.M.C.A. camp is holding down Sandy Point in the most approved style.

The following fellows are up here enjoying themselves to the limit:—Ernest Dunlop, Will Jewell, Harold Brown and Clarence Edmunds, Port Hope, and Gordon Horsley, Percy Woodbridge, Wallie Armstrong and Geo. Martin of Peterborough, and last but by no means least, Tommy Arnott, the far-famed cook.

Well, we are certainly having a fine time, as one of the bunch remarked yesterday, "We've had about a year's fun already." Fishing is better this year than it has been for some time. Two of the boys were lucky yesterday, getting a couple of nice eight-pound lunge, one of which Tom served to us at tea.

"Wallie" and "Geordie" have set the style for the camp by calling on some of our neighbours, clad only in bathing suits.

It was the intention of the boys to have a big bonfire last night and have all the surrounding cottagers come down and spend the evening but unfortunately the weather interfered, and we were unable to carry out the programme. However, some of us went over to Mr. Fitzgerald's cottage and spent a most enjoyable evening in music and story telling.

There is not a single dull moment all day, rain or shine—always something doing. We have several musicians in the bunch. George particularly delights our ears with the beautiful strains of music he produces from the baby organ.

We certainly have a bunch of ladies' men up here. "Wallie" and "Geordie" in particular seem to seldom think of anything else but the various girls in the surrounding cottages.

Well, I guess this is pretty nearly enough for this time, so I will close now.

DINNER SET TO BE GIVEN AWAY

Donated by Hon. J. R. Stratton and Will Be Drawn For At Printers' Picnic.

The committee in charge of the Printers' Picnic received a pleasant surprise yesterday when they were presented with a dinner set consisting of ninety-seven pieces, by Hon. J. R. Stratton. They decided to give it away in a drawing contest. Every one who purchases a ticket for the picnic will secure a numbered slip, the duplicate of which will be placed in a locked box. At Idyl Wild it will be opened, and some person from the crowd will pick out one slip. The holder of its number will receive the handsome dinner set.

APPRECIATE SINGING OF THE BOY SOPRANO

Splendid Rendition of the "Holy City"—Pictures at the Crystal.

The singing of Percy Mulheron, the boy soprano, has been greatly appreciated by all those who have heard him this week at the Crystal. "The Holy City," always a popular sacred song, was sung in such a forceful yet pleasing soprano that he has won many friends.

The illustrations of the Holy City on the canvas were most appropriate. The pictures now being presented at the Crystal are new and well worth seeing.

NEW INSECT PLAYING HAVOC WITH THE PEAS

Crop Ruined in Some Counties—Worse Than Pea Weevil.

The pea crop promises to be an absolute failure in Halton County, as well as in York and Peel. A strange little green bug has got after the blossoms and stripped the vines of the flower. One field of twelve acres has been noticed entirely stripped of its blossoms. The new insect is far more destructive than the pea weevil because it does not even allow the peas to show themselves.

WAS STRUCK BY THE MIDNIGHT

General Opinion of the Cause of Wm. Prince's Death at Cavanville.

Since the death of William Prince, the young C. P. R. brakeman who lost his life near Cavanville, many surmises have been made of the accident which proved fatal to him. It is generally believed that he was struck by the pilot of the midnight express, as the marks were evident on the back of his legs. Otherwise but little is known. Conductor Ross, of the freight train, sent him back to place a light warning the express that a freight was ahead. The light was given by a fuses which is struck in the tie. It is rather incomprehensible that he should be struck while walking along the track.

OBITUARY.

MRS. THOMAS J. RITCHIE

The death of Christina Masterman occurred in Kansas City, Mo., on the fourth inst., after an illness extending over many months.

The deceased lady was the wife of the late Thomas J. Ritchie, formerly of this city, who predeceased her some four years ago. She leaves an aged mother to mourn her loss.

The remains, which are en route to this city, are expected to-night, the funeral taking place to-morrow at 2.30 p. m., from the residence of her mother-in-law, Mrs. John Ritchie, 600 Stewart street.

PARK STREET FIELD IS CLOSED

That Near Braund's Store Must Not be Used by Vehicles.

The driveway through the field bounded by Park and Rink streets and the C. P. R. track must not be used hereafter by vehicles. In the first place it was never intended for that purpose and is no shorter than around the road. Now a new cement sidewalk has been placed on Park street, and already several vehicles have passed over it, damaging the concrete. The authorities wish it understood that the practice must be stopped before it is necessary to make an example of those who persist in driving through that field.

He came in, in a hurry. He wanted a hand-tailored Semi-Ready Suit, and wanted it quick. He got it and went away, satisfied that he would be counted in with the best dressers—satisfied he got the best value for his money. He didn't have to wait a week or two to have it fitted, re-fitted and then finished. He was only a few minutes choosing the cloth; it was made up ready to be finished in a couple of hours; he was satisfied and had not the worry of wondering what it would make up like.

Are you a satisfied custom tailor man? If so, don't change. We want the man who is hard to suit—the most particular man.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM PASSES AWAY

Prominent Orangeman Dies at Age of 70 Years—To be Buried With Orange Honours.

AN EMPLOYEE OF THE CITY

With the death of Mr. John M. Cunningham last night there has passed beyond the great divide one of the most familiar figures of the past quarter of a century in Peterborough. The deceased, who just reached the alloted three score years and ten, was one of the most prominent members of the Orange Association in Peterborough, being an esteemed member of L.O.L. No. 80 for years.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, in the year 1838 he came to Canada eight years later and for 62 years was a loyal Canadian. His early years in the Dominion were spent in Perth, Eastern Ontario. Later he moved to Percy township, Northumberland County and a quarter of a century ago came to Peterborough where he has spent the remainder and declining years of his lengthy life. For 20 years he has been a faithful employee of the corporation of Peterborough and was always found to possess the characteristics of an honest man.

His death yesterday was due to stomach trouble after an illness of but three days. Surviving him are his wife, two brothers, Bolton, of Winnipeg, and James of Dakota; two sisters in Dakota; two daughters, Mrs. T Harrison and Mrs. Ed. Walton, Peterborough, and six sons, Joseph, of Collingwood; Wm. H., Bolton and John J., of Peterborough; Thos. E., of Orillia, and Robert A., of Hamilton.

Mr. Cunningham was a member of George street Methodist church, in politics he was a Conservative and was also a member of the Sons of Scotland.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery from the family residence, 274 McDonel street, and it will be held under the auspices of the Orange Association.

The Splendid New Catalogue Of A Bustling Business Firm

J. J. Turner & Sons Fortieth Catalogue—Description and Illustration of the Numerous and Varied Lines of Goods They Manufacture.

There has just been issued from the Examiner Printing Establishment for Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons one of the handsomest catalogue ever turned out in Peterborough or elsewhere Without going into technical details, it may be said that, as a work of the printer's art, it is in every way worthy of the producing establishment of which it is a fine specimen; and it is also worthy of the firm in whose interest it is printed, and a credit to the printer, the firm, and the city which counts Turner & Sons' large establishment among the most thriving and important of its industries, conducting its business on sound business principles and with an energy, promptitude and thoroughness of honest workmanship which is known and appreciated in every part of the country.

TURNER & SONS FACTORY BUILDINGS,
20,000 square feet of floor space. Claimed as the largest and best equipped factory of its kind in Canada.

The catalogue, upon whose beauty, neatness and comprehensiveness Turner & Sons are receiving numerous congratulations, consists of 118 pages, profusely and appropriately illustrated. The first illustration is a full page halftone group picture of the firm, father and four sons, followed by a full page halftone views of the office of the factory, which is described in the catalogue as the largest and best equipped of its kind in Canada; a corner of the show room, a corner of the tent and awning manufacturing department, the tent finishing department, the flag manufacturing department, the drying room of the oiled goods establishment, the blacksmith shop and the shipping department.

The manufacturing facilities of the firm are first-class, and this enables them to sustain the widespread reputation they have achieved for producing superior goods, as well as the prompt filling of emergency orders, many of these of large character having been filled and the completed order shipped with a promptitude quite astonishing.

The staple products of the firm, tents and awnings, receive special attention in the catalogue. The awnings made and described by text and illustration, comprise every variety for shops and residences, the former lettered in the factory. The tents manufactured and featured in the catalogue include tents of every size and for every conceivable purpose, and all appliances required in connection with their use, including camp furniture, etc., cots for hotels and hospitals, hammocks, lawn swings, etc., etc.

Turner & Sons make a specialty of the manufacture of flags and banners, a feature being lettered flags of mammoth size.

Safts of all kinds, horse covers and furniture covers, and a long list of varied sundries are also found to be dealt with in this complete catalogue.

All articles are accompanied by price lists, and every facility is afforded for the satisfactory placing of mail orders.

The catalogue is in every way complete, and a mine of information for those who wish to purchase any article manufactured by the firm in the line of sails, tents, awnings, flags, camping goods, canoes, boats, waterproof goods, coal bags, horse coverings and a large line of sundries.

DINNER SERVED TO 65 PERSONS AT JUBILEE POINT LAST SUNDAY

Jubilee Point, Aug. 6.—Fishing is getting better, the lunge are greedier than of late, and the catches are more numerous. Still fishing is good.

A delightful dance was held last Saturday night, at which some of the C.G.E. Anglers from their cottage were present. Everyone had a splendid time, and it is likely that they will be continued. A new upright piano has taken the place of the organ, and the change is thoroughly appreciated.

On Sunday Mrs. Gilman was called upon to provide dinner for sixty-five persons, a number much larger than usual. Besides the regular guests, many called with launches. Numbers proved no drawback, for a fine spread was prepared in Mrs. Gilman's finished style and everyone was thoroughly satisfied.

Saturday launch trips down the river are becoming quite popular.

Raised Curtains Of Local; Trouble Likely To Ensue

There is trouble in store for the young man who raised a curtain in the parlour car of the local while the train was standing at the station a few nights ago. He was walking along the platform and came to the car in question. Many of the windows were raised, and on some the blinds were down. He reached up and caught the curtain, released it and it rolled to the top. Those in charge of the train were very incensed, and one of them says he could recognize the young man that did it. Persons are allowed to walk along the platform, and they should not abuse this privilege.

Another matter that is to be stopped is the habit of riding on trains in the yard, particularly catching the local at the semaphore and riding down to the station.

WEDDING BELLS

ELLIOTT—SQUIRES

A pretty house wedding was celebrated yesterday at high noon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Squires, Norwood, when their daughter, Miss Fannie, was united in marriage to Mr. Coleman W. Elliott, son of Mrs. Samuel Elliott, also of Norwood. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. H. Adams, in the presence of only the relatives and immediate friends of interested parties. The bride and groom were unattended except by the little Miss Elliott, ring bearer, and niece of the groom. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Bert Squires. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott left on a month's honeymoon trip to Vancouver, Portland, O. and other United States cities. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm, four miles east of Norwood.

TURF CLUB'S RACES PROMISE TO BE GOOD

Everything in Readiness for the Beginning of the Meet on Civic Holiday.

The Turf Club has all preparations complete for the two day meet which will be held on Civic Holiday and Tuesday the day following. The fences have been repaired, the track is reported very fast, a fine entry list is already received and all that remains is a good crowd to complete the success. It is some time since real good races have been seen here and there should be bumper crowds on both days.

There is still another entry in for the Otonabee road race. It is George Fowler, 344 Smith street. He is a splendid runner and should finish well up in the five mile event next Monday. The course has not yet been decided upon.

PARK STREET LADIES' AID HAVE AN OUTING

An Afternoon at Chemong—Supper in Pic-nic Style.

The Ladies' Aid of Park street Baptist church spent a very pleasant afternoon on Tuesday at Chemong Park. Part of the crowd enjoyed themselves sight-seeing, while others took great pleasure bathing in the clear, blue waters of the lake. A bountiful supper in real picnic style was enjoyed by all and shortly afterwards the crowd left for home.

THISTLES AND DANDRUFF

An Interesting Parallel and a Valuable Deduction Therefrom

Cutting down thistles no more relieves the land of thistles than does scouring the scalp cure dandruff. In each case permanent relief can only come from eradicating permanently the cause. A germ that plows up the scalp in searching for the hair root where it saps the vitality, causes dandruff, falling hair, and baldness. If you kill that germ you'll have no dandruff, but a luxuriant suit of hair. Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation in the world that cures dandruff and falling hair by killing the germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1. DIED

WEBBER — At his residence, Charlotte Street, Peterborough, on Thursday August 6th, 1908, Giles Webber (born at Chawley, Devonshire, England, October 3rd, 1816), aged 91 years, 10 months and 3 days.

Funeral from 324 Charlotte Street, on Saturday afternoon next at 3 o'clock, to Little Lake Cemetery.

DEATH OF MR. GILES WEBBER AT THE AGE OF NINETY-TWO

One of the Oldest and Most Universally Respected Citizens of Peterborough—Sketch of a Well-Lived Life.

FUNERAL ON SATURDAY

This morning Mr. Giles Webber, one of the oldest, if not the oldest, residents of Peterborough, and without doubt one of the most respected and most worthy of respect, died at his residence, at the venerable age of 92 years—he would have been 92 years old on October 3rd next. His death was not unexpected. He had been laid aside from active life by the infirmities of old age for several months past, and had for some time been confined to his room, and of late to his bed. About a week ago somewhat alarming symptoms set in, and this morning he passed away so peacefully that it may be said he rather ceased living than died. The funeral will take place from the family residence, 324 Charlotte street, on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the remains of Mr. Webber will be placed beside those of his late partner in life, who was laid at rest on November 18, 1885.

When a man has reached the patriarchal age of four score and twelve years, and has left three generations of activity in human affairs behind him, his career, if he has used his opportunities wisely and fought the battle of life manfully, should contain many lessons worth heeding. Such lessons, the life in Canada of the late Mr. Giles Webber, 324 Charlotte street, yields in ample measure.

Mr. Giles Webber, the subject of this sketch, has been an honoured resident of Peterborough for the past fifty-seven years since his coming here in 1851. He first saw the light in the village of Chawleigh, Devonshire, England, the county of clotted crema, good cider and beautiful duchesses, on October 3rd, in the year of grace, 1816, the closing year of the war-ridden reign of George III., and one year after the smashing of Napoleon at Waterloo. Mr. Webber lived in the reigns of five British sovereigns—George III., George IV., William IV., Victoria, and Edward VII. He had the benefit of a good education, and up to within a few weeks of his death, had the neat, legible handwriting which marks Old Country people generally. He learned the trade of carpenter and joiner, and also understood cooperage. He was for some time with an uncle in London engaged in the cooperage business, and was there when Victoria was proclaimed Queen in 1837. He returned to Devonshire and married and when he had a family of four children, the prospects of their future brought up the idea of emigrating to Canada, then, as now, regarded as the promised land. This step was taken on the advice of his wife, and neither ever had cause to regret it. Mr. Webber and family, and the Kingdon family, relatives, formed a party of sixteen, who crossed the ocean in four weeks and four days—in May, 1851. They came by steamer from Quebec to Port Hope, and overland to Rice Lake, and then in Captain May's steamer as far as the Locks. They arrived on a Sunday morning and had to walk to the town. They formed a procession, and attired in their Sunday best, marched townward, meandering in and out among the stumps which, at that time, thickly studded the ground between the Locks and the town. As they arrived, the people were just coming from church, and, of course, the little Devonshire party was an object of great attention, and it was remarked that so neat, tidy and respectable a party of emigrants was never before seen entering the settlement.

When he first arrived in Peterborough Mr. Webber's experience hardly realized the roseate impressions he had formed in England. He had some difficulty in finding employment. His first occupation was at coopering, with Mr. Poole on George street, where he worked for 6s 3d.—75 cents—per day. Mr. Webber was later occupied at whip-sawing, that is, sawing timber by hand. Our older citizens will remember what the saw pit and whip-sawing meant. Mr. Webber was an adept at this, having done a good deal of it in the Old Country. He did whip-sawing for the late Elias Burnham, in connection with the building of the Burnham Block on George street, corner of Simcoe, for the late —— Snider, for the George street Methodist church, and at Nassau for the late Charles Perry, having helped to whip-saw the forty-one feet rafters for the mill at that place. He was employed in the mills after their completion, when they were managed by the late Nathaniel Shaw. During the time he was engaged there he was employed, during the foreman's temporary absence, in the construction of the house—by one Weir—now occupied by Mr. Harry Winch, on Crescent street.

He next became engaged with a man named Lawson, who conducted a factory for making "chain" pumps and fanning mills, in the second storey of the Commercial House, now standing at the corner of George and Brock streets. He became foreman. Finally Lawson decided to convert the factory into a tavern in opposition to the McGregor House on the west side of George street. To do this, the building was raised and a storey added beneath. Thus it came to pass that the balcony on the west side of the present Commercial House was at one time on the level of George street, which, at that period was much higher than at present. While Mr. Webber was employed as foreman for Lawson he earned the princely income of six and threepence per day.

Yet with this small income, by industry and hard work, he throve and prospered.

Early in his life in Peterborough he built his first residence, a double house on Bethune street, still standing, Nos. 371 and 373. His next door neighbour was Mr. Thos. White, father of the late Hon. Thos. White, and of Mr. Richard White, at present collector of Customs, Montreal.

When the Midland Railway came under the presidency of Hon. Geo. A. Cox, and the line was being extended up Bethune street, the question of the damage to Mr. Webber's property was settled by Mr. Cox becoming the purchaser of it for the sum of $1,500.

Mr. Webber erected, and for some time lived in the residence on the corner of Brock and Park streets. For four years he and Mrs. Webber lived on a farm in Smith belonging to their son, George, then becoming as he is now known to be, one of the best known, most successful and respected stock growers, dealers and farmers in the Midland district.

In 1881 Mr. Webber purchased the property on the corner of Charlotte and Reid streets, consisting of two houses—one of which is his present residence—for $2,100.

Twenty-five years ago, Mr. Webber, having, by industry and thrift, amassed a competence, retired from active interest in business affairs, and has since lived in the enjoyment of the means gained by honest industry and in the enjoyment of the honour and respect of the community in which he had lived an honest and honourable life for half a century.

Twenty-three years ago, Nov. 18th, 1885, death removed the partner of Mr. Webber's joys and sorrows, and it is to her faithful discharge of her duties as a helpmeet—as a thrifty, capable home-maker and home-keeper—that he ascribed a large share of the success he achieved in worldly matters.

Mr. Webber was, in politics, a Conservative of the constant type, without variableness or shadow of turning. In religion he was a Methodist, and of as constant fidelity to his church as to his political convictions. He was a member of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, and was a living contradiction of the saying—"the nearer the church, the further from God"—for, though the church building is just across the street from his residence, and he was up to within a few months of his death, as for the past quarter of a century, a regular attendant on its services, a liberal supporter of its interests, he was one of the most respected and valued of its members, an outstanding type of clean, consistent Christian being.

Mr. Webber was a fine type of the old school of sterling veterans who laid deep and strong the foundations of this city and county. Of sterling honesty and integrity in his active years of untiring industry, his life may well stand to both the immigrant of to-day, and also the young men of to-day as an example of what success can be accomplished and what good standing in society can be gained by industry in work, diligence and thrift in business, and honest and honourable dealings in all relations with one's fellow men.

Mr. Webber leaves behind as direct descendants one son, George Webber, North Monaghan, and one daughter, Mrs. William McClennan, for several years the head of his household and in the closing months of his life his faithful nurse. He also leaves behind him several grandchildren and great grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at and from the family residence, 324 Charlotte street on Saturday afternoon next at three o'clock.

RAILWAY MEN NOW OUT ON STRIKE

C. P. R. Mechanics Quit Work Yesterday Morning.

EXPECT BRIEF STRUGGLE

They Say Road Cannot Hold Out, But Officials Are Equally Confident of Running Repairs Department With Non-Union Hands—Chances of Moving Crop Are Seriously Imperilled.

Winnipeg, Aug. 6.—Over fifteen hundred C.P.R. mechanics quit work at local shops yesterday morning on the stroke of ten.

It was a determined crowd which left the gates. A few of the younger men tried to force an appearance of joviality, but the majority looked as if they fully realized the gravity of the step taken.

They did not smile, but there was grimness in their expression, which denoted resolution to stand by action they had taken.

At noon, Mr. McVety, secretary-treasurer of the Mechanics' Union, gave a brief statement of the point of view of the men, but said that he did not know what course of action would be taken next.

"The statement has been made by the officials of the company," said Mr. McVety, "that they are ready to handle the crop as soon as it starts to move. But this may be discounted considerably. During the winter months and part of the spring men were only allowed to work an average of 120 hours a month. Instead of making an attempt to get their power in good shape the company was starving men, in the hope that the move of April 1 for a reduction of wages and other changes would be effective.

"It must be remembered that the men are merely protecting concessions which were granted them in the past, and the company is really responsible for the strike. During the slack season they tried to abolish agreements drawn up during the past nine years. If they had been successful, it would merely be a question of time when the entire list of agreements would be wiped out."

Opinions are divided as to the outcome of the strike. It is claimed for the company that they have been quietly preparing in slack times past for such an emergency and that they have already listed large numbers of British skilled artisans, who for months past have been numbered among the unemployed here and in other big Canadian cities, but who will be taken on immediately and an attempt be made to keep the shops open.

On the other hand the men claim that with the tremendous grain movement in early prospect a complete tie-up in transportation is inevitable unless the shops are kept running to their fullest capacity and by experienced men.

They claim that they are in a good position for a prolonged fight if it comes to that, and look with equanimity on the next few months, when they can get all the work they want at good wages in the harvest fields.

Montreal, Aug. 6.—The events of yesterday in the C.P.R. strike were the expected walk out of 4,000 men from the Angus shops, the official announcement that the C.P.R. telegraph men have nothing to do with the strike and the alleged fact of the company's intention to fight the position of the men to the end.

It is understood that efforts are being made last night by the high officials to get into touch with large centres of labor, both in the States and Canada, with a view to picking up all the unemployed mechanics they can lay their hands on.

North Bay, Aug. 6.—Two hundred men quit work here and 100 at Chapleau.

The strikers anticipate an early settlement on account of the conditions prevailing, but Supt. Brady is of the opinion that no difficulty will be experienced in manning the shops with an efficient staff. The man question same one power department was never in a worse condition.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 6.—Two hundred men quit work at ten yesterday morning in the C. P. R. workshops. The carmen joined their companions yesterday morning and the shops are left in the hands of only a few.

There are about 100 now idle at McAdam and another gang loafing at Bay Shore yards and various other groups on strike between McAdam and Megantic.

Moosejaw, Sask., Aug. 6.—C. P. R. officials here claim the company is in good shape to keep the lines operating, saying the men have put in a lot of overtime lately and that the engines are all tuned up.

They claim the strike will not interfere with traffic and state that they will have a full staff of non-union men at work in a couple of days.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Ottawa is less affected by the C.P.R. strike than any other place of its size touched by C.P.R. The total number of strikers here is only 45.

TWO HOMES AT ONCE.

Bigamy Charge Brought Against W. H. McCullough of Hamilton.

Hamilton, Aug. 6.—William H. McCullough, a well-known member of the 91st Highlanders, is accused of having two wives and two homes, one at 63 Chatham street in the west end of the city and another on Sherman avenue, at the extreme east end of the city. By his first wife he has three children and by the second one. A warrant on a charge of bigamy has been issued for him, and he has fled. He has had wife No. 1 for 14 years and came here from St. Mary's five years ago, obtaining employment from the Simpson Brick Co. McCullough, it is said, was very attentive to his military duties, and was in the habit of going home with a girl named Rosie Porter after drill. Last March, according to the charge against him, he married his second wife under the name of Alexander McDonald. There is some mystery about how he kept two establishments going in the same city without discovery, but the thing leaked out while he was at Quebec with his regiment, and before he returned wife No. 1 had called on wife No. 2. McCullough came marching home with his regiment to find that his duplicity had been discovered. He was forgiven and taken back by his first wife, but failed to support her, and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

SHORTAGE INCREASES.

Deficit of Col. Leslie in Exhibition Accounts Said to Be $18,000.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—A report, which Special Auditors Barber and Vigeon are to make to Mayor Oliver this afternoon, will, so it is stated, show further apparent discrepancies in the Exhibition accounts, and, on apparently good authority, the information comes that the total deficit will run from $17,000 to $18,000.

A report of fresh, startling disclosures to be made by Messrs. Barber and Vigeon to the Mayor to-day was current in city hall corridors late yesterday afternoon, but little definite information was forthcoming.

As the land on the southeast corner of Yonge and Richmond streets, made over to the city by Mrs. Leslie as security, has an assessed value of $81,100, the city is in no apparent danger of any loss.

To Arrest Babe.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—Chief Justice Falconbridge yesterday granted an order for the arrest of Eva Ethel, the three-year-old child of John W. and Mary Whitfield.

The couple have separated, the wife taking the furniture of their home and the husband the child. On July 20 the wife went to the home of Mrs. Ryaburn, the husband's sister, who was keeping the child, and it is alleged kidnapped her. Henry Ibbetson, the wife's father, had posted a notice of the sale of his household effects and it was expected the child would be taken away. The sheriff of Brant County will execute the order. The child will be well taken care of until the law arranges for her permanent guardianship.

Captured At St. Thomas.

Brockville, Aug. 6.—The Brockville police yesterday learned of the arrest in St. Thomas of Allan Coates, very much wanted here on charges of theft, the most conspicuous of which was the stealing of ninety dollars from Neil B. Store a few weeks ago in broad day light.

He is also wanted as a crown witness in the theft of jewelry from his father's store. Coates jumped a subpoena, which necessitated a postponement of the trial before the county judge. He is being held in St. Thomas with three others on a charge of entering a sealed car.

Has Secured a Settlement.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Professor Adam Shortt, chairman of the Board of Conciliation to adjust a dispute between the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company of Sydney, N.S., and their employes, has secured a settlement of the differences. The number of men concerned in this dispute was 1,750.

Penetang Firemen Win.

Bracebridge, Aug. 6.—The championship of the Northern Volunteer Fireman's Association was won yesterday by Penetang, with Midland second and Bark's Falls third. Penetang's time was 51 2-5 seconds.

The Standard Ideal band of Port Hope won the band contest.

STEPS TAKEN TO CHECK DISEASE

Fernie and Cranbrook Are in Danger of Pestilence.

LOOTERS ROUGHLY HANDLED

Men Caught Rifling Trunks Are Flogged—Committees Are Hard At Work Enforcing Rules of Sanitation In Refugee Camps to Prevent Epidemic—Michel and Coal Creek Safe.

Fernie, B.C., Aug. 6.—Pestilence is now feared in Fernie and Cranbrook, for there is an entire lack of sufficient sanitation in both places.

Especially in Cranbrook is the situation very serious, for two thousand women and children refugees are crowded very closely, and the weather is exceedingly hot.

Two new cases of smallpox developed in Fernie Tuesday night. The greatest care is being taken to isolate them.

Passengers on all trains coming into Fernie are warned not to get off, but every train brings some people who wish to see the ruins.

Merchants are not wanted, for there will be nothing to do for weeks until the insurance is adjusted. Very little looting is going on, for there is hardly anything to loot, but several men have been caught rifling trunks. They were immediately stripped, lashed on their bare backs and compelled to leave town immediately. One Japanese was sentenced to six months in jail.

Women are carefully guarded, and a lynching would follow any attempt to molest them.

The first funerals were held Tuesday, when several unidentified bodies were placed in one grave. The remains of another victim were found at the outskirts of the town yesterday. The bones fell apart, but were gathered in a basket and carried to the cemetery.

Nelson, B. C., Aug. 6.—The prospects in Crow's Nest Pass are brightening a little, though much work remains to be done before a fresh start can be made at Fernie.

Contributions and offerings of assistance continue to come in from every quarter. The relief organization at Cranbrook, headed by Mayor Fink, is doing splendid systematic work, and all offers of help or enquiries should be directed there and not to Fernie. The sanitary and general hygienic conditions at Cranbrook have been organized by Dr. J. E. King, M.P.P., Dr. Green, Dr. Mercer and Dr. Connelly. Patrols of special constables are in charge of the camps, taking special care that the rules shall be exercised entirely. There is not one case of sickness amongst the refugees, and the patients who were taken down from the Fernie Hospital are having every possible attention in the St. Eugene Hospital in Cranbrook, in charge of the sisters of charity. Both tents, washing tents and lavatories are now in place for those in camp, the arrangements being under the direction of Dr. King, under whom two committees, one of ladies, and the other of men, are acting resolutely, since many of the campers are ignorant of the most ordinary rules of sanitation.

There are about 1,500 children, of from a day old to two years, and these are being fed with fresh new milk and other food to which many of them appear to have been utter strangers.

Many of them are now clothed comfortably and their parents are fully prepared with blankets and bedding in the tents, while those in the public buildings are provided with spring beds, and the little people are doing excellently.

Washington, Aug. 6.—A voluntary contribution of $1,000 has been made by the American National Red Cross for the sufferers from the forest fires now raging in British Columbia.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—The following wire was received late yesterday afternoon and indicates that the press reports of the destruction of Michel were, to say the least, exaggerated: Sir Henry Pellatt, Vice-President Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., Toronto, Ont.:

Michel and Coal Creek all right and very little probability of danger at either place, except in event of very heavy wind. No rain in sight.

THE BEST POSSESSION

That the head of the house can own is a good insurance policy on his own Life. It assures the protection of his wife and children in case of his sudden demise—and the healthiest of us never know when the end may come. We can afford families this protection by offering attractive terms in the Life Insurance at the lowest rates—such as are hardly felt by the thrifty.

Some one has said, "the true value of a life insurance policy must be gauged by the Security of the protection given; if it proves to be a good Investment, all the better when both are shown, there is nothing on earth to equal it." The security of the protection afforded by the Sun Life of Canada needs no payment and the profit paid—let the figures within tell their own forceful story.

Warkworth Wins Finals In Midland League Series

Warsaw Suffer Defeat by Score of 2-0 — Protest Likely to be Entered—Norwood Men on the Winners' Line-up.

SCORING IN LATTER HALF

Examiner Special

Norwood, Aug. 6.—The last struggle in the Midland Association Football League for the season of 1908 took place on Norwood battlegrounds last evening, between Warkworth and Warsaw. The result was that victory perched on the banners of the Warkworth eleven, who come up confident of netting the silverware presented by Hon. J. R. Stratton and emblematic of the league championship. The score at the finish stood 2—0, both goals being scored in the latter half.

It is the feeling here, and it seems right too, that the league this year is late in finishing. Whether this is due to the officials or to the locations of the clubs in the league, and the awkwardness experienced in getting them together, is not known.

The Warkworth team played Doherty and Cumming, of Norwood, who have played with Norwood in their several games, and before the match began a protest was entered by Warsaw against them. This will likely be filed to-day to the president of the league.

Warkworth brought up a big bunch of rooters and the way they used their lungs would put to shame any boiler factory on the continent. They even crowded on to the field and at times the Warkworth bunch had twenty men inside the playing limit.

The southerners played the better combination and were undoubtedly the better team. What difference there would have been had Doherty and Cumming not been on the line-up is, of course, not known.

Charlie Kelly, of Norwood, refereed this contest and it was affirmed by the losers that he neglected to give them free kicks when they deserved them.

GREAT GAME OF LACROSSE EXPECTED AT RIVERSIDE

The lacrosse match to-night between Lindsay and Peterborough promises to be a good one. The visiters are coming strong and expect to hold their own against the Peterborough braves whom Capt. Parnell has rounded into the best of condition. The game begins at Riverside as soon after six o'clock as possible, and every member of the Peterborough team is expected to be present sharp on time. The following are asked to be on hand at 6 o'clock:

Gilman, Dobbin, Dillon, Morgan, Barber, Doris, Ray Best, Galley, McCoy, Parnell, Seymour, McCabe, Judd, Holland, Crough, Galley, Ray and Long. George Lynch will referee the game and F Larone will be field captain.

MORE GAMES IN FROST TROPHY SERIES

Two Played Yesterday—An Exciting Finish in the Evening.

The games for the Frost trophy are still going merrily on, two or three being played each day. Yesterday afternoon the usual number was out and last night again the Brookside Green was the attraction for some 20 or more bowlers. In the afternoon Dr. Marshall's rink won from W M Laing's with 3 to the good and in the evening's J F A Fitzgerald had it over T Pratt by a single shot. The rinks and scores for the scheduled games were:—

CAN'T FORGET THEIR INDIAN IDOL

The I. C. A. C. Will Give Longboat a Reception in Toronto.

The Irish-Canadians will give a reception to Tom Longboat and Tom Flanagan upon their arrival from New York, which, it is expected, will be on Thursday or Friday night.

The reception will be purely a club affair and will probably take place in the Toronto Rowing Club's quarters. There will be a meeting of the Irish-Canadians at the Grand Central Hotel to make final arrangements. Every member of the club is expected to be on hand.

Longboat and Flanagan reached New York on Tuesday, having crossed the Atlantic on the Kron Prinz Wilhelm. Longboat freely praises Hayes for his great victory in the English Marathon.

The Indian has given up his notion to quit running and will be entered in all the big races hereabouts this fall. He will run in the Ward Marathon, which is to be held in October. His first race on his return will be at the Irish-Canadian games, where he will be entered in the five-mile. The games will be held on a Saturday night, at Hanlan's Oval, the probable date being Aug. 22. Claude Pearce, acting captain of the Irish-Canadians, says there is not a chance in the world of the Indian turning a professional.—Toronto News.

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF WARKWORTH'S VICTORY

Received From Referee Kelly of Norwood —Not Much Rough Play.

The following official notice has been received from the referee of the Warkworth-Warsaw game last night in Norwood:

The league football game played here to-day between Warkworth and Warsaw resulted in a score of 2 to 0 in favour of Warkworth, both goals being scored in the last half. Play was very close and the game fairly free from rough play.

Yours respectfully,
CHARLES J. KELLY.

MANY CRICKET MEN OUT TO PRACTISE

Preparing for Games With Toronto and Warkworth.

There was a splendid turnout of cricketers at the practise last night at the Oval. This is very encouraging. Many of the Club's members have improved wonderfully in their playing and increased practise will undoubtedly develop a team which should bring credit to the city.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J N. Barber.)

New York, Aug. 6.—The market opened irregular with industrials showing strength and some of the rails inclined to be weak, influenced by crop reports. The activity of the early trading was almost wholly in the industrial group. Toward noon the general market gained strength and the leading rails became more prominent in the trading. There was very heavy short covering all round and new buying orders appeared for the long account with the result that in the afternoon the trend was almost constantly upward. The equipment issues were in better demand than for some time. London sold about 20,000 shares.

Around the delivery hours prices were practically at the high mark of the day, although there seemed to be considerable stock for sale. Much of this selling is in the nature of profit-taking, and we would not be surprised to see some setback in the market occur on this account during the next day or two. The market will be all the better for a good setback, especially as it would afford an opportunity for commission houses to replace holdings that they have disposed of. The closing was firm with fireworks in Smelters which closed at new high figures for the year.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

The games here next Monday, (Civic Holiday) between the Petes and the St. Mary's of Toronto will be the best of the season. The visitors are probably the best amateur ball players in Toronto.

Mr. Louis Bolin and Mr. Joseph Retterman, Hazelhurst, Pa., are home on a vacation.

INDIAN RIVER FOLK FIND MANY HUCKLEBERRIES

Pickers Return With Large Quantities—Sunday Visitors.

Examiner Special

Indian River, Aug. 5.—The huckleberry season is nearly over and the people from here have had good luck. Mr. Richard Elmhirst and sons picked fifteen pails in one day at the Blue Mountains. Mr. James Leahy, Maurice and William O'Leary drove to the Blue Mountains on Monday last and began picking Tuesday morning. They secured a large quantity also. Mr. Leahy says he is fully convinced that everything is blue in that locality.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hatrick, of Louis, are spending a few weeks with friends in Douro.

Mr. O'Keefe, of Norwood, and his sister Lena, visited friends here on Sunday last.

Mr. Patrick Hefferman returned from Quebec, where he attended the big celebration.

Miss Maggie Hayes spent last Sunday with friends at Indian River.

Mr. Alex. Austin has almost completed the new frame barn of Mr. Joseph Condon.

Mr. Joseph Crowley and sisters spent last Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Cavanagh.

Miss Doris, of Keene, spent Sunday last the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Devlin.

Mr. O'Toole, of Peterborough, visited friends here on Sunday last.

NAVIGATION NOTES FROM OMEMEE

Omemee, Aug. 5.—The harvest is coming on very fast. Alsike clover is turning out well as is reported by the various threshers.

A number of young men of this vicinity are going away on the harvesters' excursion to the west.

There is a large number of holiday visitors here from Toronto, Rochester and Peterborough and other cities, all of whom are interested in our navigation scheme.

Mr. Frank Fairn, of the Trent Valley staff, was here on Friday last and expressed himself as much surprised at the beautiful river and valuable tributary to the Trent Canal, and the wonderful progress made by the Bob Hall crew, since starting on July 18th, and now has the river cleared within three miles of the village, sufficient to allow any steamer drawing five feet of water to come up, which will be a novel sight.

Every one will be benefitted. The farmers' lands will be drained into the channel, better fishing will result, sanitary conditions will be improved and we will be able to get our cement from Lakefield cheaper.

Capt. Kelly will have a scow load of tan bark delivered to the Omemee tannery in the near future.

Capt. Morin and his energetic and careful crew, including the staff engineers, had to sink the "scow with the crane and cookery to the water's edge in order to get under Cowan's Bridge, which is only sixteen and a half feet from the water.

Mr. Wm. Tully and friends from Peterborough visited this hamlet on Sunday last, describing the drive most charming from Peterborough and our village amongst the most picturesque.

Straight Front Corsets---Fat---And Heat.

The first two stretch wretched minutes into hours of misery for the modish fat woman in these days. Her daily programme is slow strangulation from 3 p. m. to bedtime.

But this (to others) comical anguish of the well-dressed fat woman in hot weather may be avoided. Let her reduce ten or fifteen pounds and she can wear her stylish garb with comfort at 99 in the shade.

All she needs to do is ask her druggist for 1-2 ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 4 3-4 ounces Syrup Simplex, take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime, and in a little while she should be losing from one-half to a pound of fat a day. At that rate she can soon get down into the comfort belt and do it without exertion, disturbance of her habits, or injury of any sort. For, understand, this is harmless home mixture that doesn't cause wrinkles, cost much, or require any assistance from exercising or starvation methods to help it get results.

HAIR SLAUGHTER; KILLED BY NEGLIGENCE

Hair must have nourishment or die. If it does not have proper nourishment it will lose its vitality, grow weak and become an easy prey to the ravages of the vicious and destructive germs of dandruff.

Parisian Sage is a hair nourisher; it is the result of sincere study and experiment by one of the world's leading scientists.

It should be used regularly as a hair dressing by everyone with healthy hair, because it never fails to prevent dandruff, falling hair, or any scalp disease.

But Parisian Sage is not only a preventive, it is a certain cure for dandruff; it stops itching of the scalp instantly; it makes hair grow thick and luxuriant. It is especially in demand by ladies, because it makes the hair beautiful, soft and fluffy. William Medlin, the druggist, sells it under a positive guarantee to do all that is claimed for it, or money back, 50 cents for a large bottle.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY HASTINGS CHURCH

Rev. J. G. Potter Officiates—25th Anniversary of Pastors, Induction.

A GRATIFYING ADVANCE

The Rev. J. G. Potter returned home yesterday from Hastings, where on Sunday and Monday the special exercises in connection with the jubilee of the Presbyterian church were held. On Sunday large congregations assembled, full of enthusiasm and thankfulness. The occasion marked the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the congregation, and the twenty-fifth anniversary of the pastor's induction and marriage. The congregation has steadily advanced in interest, and has shown great courage and liberality during the past years. In 1903, their place of worship was demolished by fire, but immediately they set to work and built their present commodious church. In the following year they erected a most comfortable and suitable manse for their minister. They have now completed a very large enclosure of sheds for horses and "rigs," so that in cold and inclement weather everything will be protected from storm. That the church and manse were occupied free of debt is very largely due to the very deep loyalty that exists to the minister, the Rev. D. A. Thompson, who for twenty-five years has been so devoted a minister.

On Monday evening a reception was given to Mr. and Mrs. Thompson on the church lawn. A very abundant supply of provisions was brought and the large assembly enjoyed the spread. The ladies had arranged for beautiful wedding cakes in view of the fact that it was the silver wedding of the minister and his wife. On assembling in the church at 8.30 o'clock, Mr. Wm. Oakman occupied the chair, and after music by the choir the chairman gave a brief survey of the first twenty-five years of the congregation's life, and Mr. Learmouth, in a very happy address, pointed out the most interesting facts in the other twenty-five years. Rev. Mr. Thompson followed with a racy talk about matters affecting the pastor's life, and this was listened to with the greatest interest.

An instrumental duet by Mr. Alex. and Miss Wilson, was rendered, after which the chairman called upon Mr. Wilson to present the congratulatory address to the Rev. D. A. Thompson.

On behalf of the congregation, Mr. Charles Fowlds presented Mr. Thompson with a handsome fur-lined coat, and on behalf of the ladies, Mr. Walter Fowlds presented Mrs. Thompson with a beautiful and valuable dinner set of china. Mr. Thompson made a suitable reply.

Then followed greetings from Rev. Messrs. A C Reeves, J F McFarland, Burns, Anglican; Barrett, Methodist McLennan, Potter and Mr. John McNeil, Keene. The addresses were brief and spirited, and the singing of the choir was exceptionally stirring. During the evening Mr. Pelton and Rev. Messrs. McLennan and Potter rendered solos. The happy event was brought to a close in excellent time, the minister, Rev. Mr. Thompson, pronouncing benediction.

The family had got up early to be prepared for threshing that day and the son was out at the barn playing with the fanning mill when the accident happened

A POULTRY SHOW FOR PETERBOROUGH

To be Held in January—Preparations Now Under Way

About thirty members of the Peterborough Poultry Association met last night in their hall, Simcoe street, and a large amount of business was transacted. The society decided to hold a winter show next January, the dates of which will be finally agreed upon at the September meeting. A committee was appointed to look after the provision of coops for the show. They will report at the next meeting.

Mr. Jas. Baptie, the president, will be recommended to the Ontario Government as a poultry judge from Peterborough County to attend any exhibition to which he may be directed.

Orpingtons, Minorcas and Hamburgs were exhibited and examined by the expert members of the association.

PHENOMENAL OAT CROP IN HARVEY

Straw Measures 6 Feet 2 Inches in Length There.

A correspondent to the Examiner, residing at Selwyn, tells the following about the oat crop in South Harvey:

We hear much of the great crops in the west and other places, but in South Harvey, while visiting Mr. Absoloom Hunt, on lot 12, concession 3, I was amazed to behold oat straw which measured 6 feet 2 inches. I am convinced that the west is not the only place where crops will grow well and where the land is luxuriant.

Our west is great and we are proud of it, but it is gratifying to know that Peterborough county is blessed with some of the best land in the whole Dominion.

Joseph Mantell Of Peterboro' In The City Of His Boyhood

98 Years of Age and at London Old Boys Reunion—Father of Mrs. J. C. Edwards, Charlotte Street.

PLENTY OF PLAIN FOOD

St. Thomas, Aug. 7. — Cheery, ninety-eight years old and smart as most men at 60, Mr. Joseph Mantell passed through here yesterday on his way to the London Old Boys' Reunion, which he sees no reason why he should not enjoy.

Mr. Mantell lives now at Peterborough, where he went after he left London, where he had resided since 1838. In those days of pioneering London was known as "The Forks," and a few stores and a few houses comprised the settlement, and there Joseph Mantell, then a young man, out from his native city of old London, started a business of shoemaking.

Because shoe-making methods have changed, one doesn't hear the veteran of his trade declaim against modern methods. On the contrary, he evinces the keenest interest in everything pertaining to the year of grace 1908, and his hearty laugh shows that though a century has almost passed over his head, he believes in living in the present.

"How have I managed to live so long?" he said. "Well, there are three things in the secret, and you can live as long if you follow them as I have. In the first place, I have always worked hard. I have never worried, and I have never eaten anything but plain food."

Is a Ready Wit

As if to illustrate his appreciation of a good joke, Mr. Mantell related an experience of a few days ago at Tilsonburg, where he has been visiting his sons, James and George, of the Tilson Mills. A minister of that town was introduced, and remarked that he understood Mr. Mantell was an old man. Mr. Mantell admitted he was.

"Do you know," said the minister, "I met an old lady in the country who celebrated her 101st birthday yesterday. You ought to go out and see her."

"That's very kind of you," answered the Peterborough man of 98, "but don't you think I ought to look for a girl a little younger?"

And as he told it he laughed at the thought of the minister's assurance that if he did find the third wife he would tie the knot for nothing.

Reads Well

Mr. Mantell may not be looking over the matrimonial ads., but it's not because he cannot see well enough, for he reads any print at night, and without glasses.

His memory is wonderful, even to remembering names of the shop keepers who were in business in London when he went there seventy years ago.

Among his reminiscences is his initiation into Masonry fifty years ago at Lambeth, five miles from London. Not one of those who were associated to sit in lodge with him then is living now. He is now a life member. All his contemporaries in London, too, are gone years ago, and London is not the London he knew.

But he still likes to go there and enjoy the new city that is built on the old—and to laugh with old men who were boys in his day. — Toronto Star.

MEMBERS OF SISTERHOOD OF ST. JOSEPH BEGIN RETREAT

The members of the Sisterhood of the Order of St. Joseph under the jurisdiction of the Novitiate of Mount St. Joseph, Peterborough, will begin their annual retreat here this evening. Those who will be in attendance include Sisters from Lindsay, Cobourg, Parry Sound, North Bay, Fort William, Port Arthur, as well as Peterborough. The retreat will be preached by a member of the Jesuit order, Rev. Father Donoher, of Chicago, and the services will close on Saturday, August 15, when several candidates will become professed members of this distinguished order. The ceremony of reception is a solemn and impressive one, and it is expected that many will be present.

OTONABEE ROAD RACE COURSE ENTIRELY IN THE TOWNSHIP

The course for the Otonabee road race on Civic Holiday has been decided on. It will begin at the two-mile post, about one hundred yards beyond the Locks Bridge. From there the course will be south on the River road for two and a half miles, and back again to the starting point. The road is a good one with no hills and only a few grades. The prizes are silver and bronze medals for first and second places. The race begins at 9 a.m. sharp and the entire list of entries will be published in tomorrow's Examiner. They will be required to be in the hands of the secretary not later than 12 o'clock noon, as the Examiner goes to press early. The race is open to residents of Peterborough county who have been residing in it for two months or more. No runner who has reached his eighteenth birthday will be awarded either of the prizes, whether he wins or not.

24th Field Battery To Go Kingston Camp On August 31st

Major T W H Young, O. C. of the above corps has received final notification that the battery will proceed to Kingston on the 31st inst., for the annual training. All members and intending members and those having horses are requested to call upon Major Young at his residence 305 Stewart street, for the purpose of signing the service roll. The advance party will also kindly report to Major Young for instructions. A preliminary drill will take place at the East City drill shed on Tuesday, the 11th inst., when a good attendance is required.

NEWS FOR SATURDAY'S ISSUE TO BE IN EARLY

To-morrow being Saturday the Evening Examiner goes to press at 1 o'clock, and a special request is made to those contributing personal items, church announcements, communications, or news items, to have them sent or telephoned to the office before the noon hour, or if possible, this evening or early to-morrow morning. Late items, which to many parties are important, are often crowded out just because the sender neglects to have them at the editorial office until it is too late to have them inserted. Stories of importance to the majority get the preference. All small items should, therefore, reach the office as early as possible.

OBITUARY.

MRS. WM QUACKENBUSH

Mrs. Wm. Quackenbush of Belmont dropped dead on Wednesday morning. Her sudden demise is said to be due to the bursting of a blood vessel in the head. She was a daughter of Mrs. James Stewart of Havelock. The funeral took place Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock to the Pine Grove cemetery, services being held in the Presbyterian church.

R. R. HALL'S HANDSOME PRINTERS' PIC-NIC PRIZES

As the Printers' Picnic on Civic Holiday, August 10—next Monday—will be one of the greatest events of its kind recorded, it will offer for competition in, at least, two of the events, two of the handsomest prizes for the sporting programme in connection with it. Mr. R. R. Hall, M. P., has presented a pair of beautiful prizes; one is a beautiful solid gold brooch, lily-of-the-valley design, set with pearls. This is the prize for the winner of the married women's race. The other is a pair of solid gold cuff links, dull gold burnish, the prize in the 100 yards dash. If the competitors in these two events see the prizes before the start, the struggles will be keen ones, for the prizes are not only beautiful to look at, but of intrinsic value. Mr. Hall's gifts are appreciated highly, but if he wants to keep on the sunny side of the printers he will have to refrain from asking them to set type from his manuscript.

STORY OF A BROOCH HIDDEN FOR 23 YEARS

Lost in Lane of Simcoe Street Residence Almost Quarter of Century Ago.

Yesterday whilst an old and highly respected resident of Simcoe street was superintending some work in a lane adjourning his property, he picked up a gold brooch with a garnet setting. It was subsequently discovered that the brooch was the property of the wife of one of our well known residents and had been lost for over twenty-three years. The brooch notwithstanding its long exposure to the weather and to the dangers of vehicular traffic through all these past years is in a good state of preservation and the lady was naturally delighted to regain the long lost and almost forgotten ornament.

QUERY FOR QUERY.

Our evening contemporary puts to the Globe what it calls a "test question" in regard to protection. It might answer a question or two itself. If, as it claims, a high tariff is necessary to the commercial and industrial rehabilitation of Canada, how happens it that the hardest knock of hard times comes to the most highly protected countries, Germany and the United States? It might also say what form of protection it favours—a Chinese wall tariff or "adequate protection" as set down in Mr. Borden's nebulous it-whereas but-nevertheless Halifax platform. If the Conservative party cannot decide among themselves as to what they want when in Opposition, how could they expect to come to an agreement in the misty event of their coming into power, with their contradictory tariff policies and the nest-of-traitors spirit in full play?

LICENSE LAW ADMINISTRATION

The Review ponderously asserts that the Whitney Government is "waking up" in the matter of license law enforcement, and asserts that there is wholesale breach of the liquor laws in Peterborough and that it "is not Inspector Stewart's fault." The inference is that the Government has been asleep, not only in the matter of the license law, but in regard to the enforcement of law, generally. Some towns recently visited show that there is almost unrestrained breach of the Saturday night and Sunday selling laws. The town of Welland is an example. One crossing the footpath on the bridge that divides the town, on his way to church Sunday mornings, need not be surprised if he is disgusted at meeting one or two drunken men. The Whitney Government will have difficulty in making any person believe that the license law is any better administered, if nearly as well, now as under the late Government. Neither is the license law administration or the administration of law in general as effective as it was under the late Government. Brag is a good dog, but Hold-fast is a better.

FOREST FIRES.

It is estimated that, for every dollars worth of lumber cut and marketed by the lumbermen in the Ottawa Valley, ten dollars worth is destroyed by forest fires. The sweep of fire in the Fernie district again calls attention to the deplorable waste by this medium of a national resource, whose rapid disappearance, even under legitimate commercial operations, which is taking place is a matter of grave national concern. Fire is the most destructive enemy of our forest growth. It would seem to be an impossible task to effectively protect our forests from fire; but it is pointed out by those who have made a study of the subject that very few forest fires result from natural and unpreventable causes like lightning, in comparison with those which have their origin in the action of man, in his criminal carelessness and indifference to the possible calamitous results of such carelessness. That forest fires or rather their occurrence are controllable, is shown by the actions of Dominion and Provincial Governments which have been effective in proportion to the thoroughness with which prevention and protection methods have been carried out. Much can be done to add to the effectiveness of the systems for the prevention of forest fires. There is encouragement in the fact that there is money in liberal expenditure to secure immunity from the ravages of fire. In 1903 the Province of Ontario spent $31,237 upon its fire service and that year the revenue from woods and forests amounted to $2,207,356, seven or eight thousand per cent. on the investment, that is, assuming that the revenue was the direct results of prevention expenditure. While, however, the revenue quoted above was largely composed of bonuses from timber limits, there is little doubt that the buyers were moved to pay larger bonuses on account of the increased immunity from fire due to the establishment and administration of a fire prevention service. No one will object to a vastly increased expenditure to insure the largest possible degree of protection to prevent the destruction of timber by fire, not only, provincially considered, one of our greatest sources of revenue, but our important commercial and industrial capital. If a city expends about a twentieth of its annual revenue for fire protection, a proportionate amount would not seem to be too much to devote to the great work of saving, as far as possible, our forest wealth from destruction by fire. While Governments can do much, much is left to the citizen. The camper who carelessly leaves his fire burning and the tourist who carelessly throws aside a lighted match are criminal factors in the production of destructive forest fires. On this point the Canadian Forestry Association says:

"No match, cigar end, or other burning object should ever be thrown down in the forest until totally extinguished. Camp fires should not be larger than is necessary, and should not be left, even for a short time until one is perfectly sure they are 'dead out.' Fires should not be built in dangerous places, such as among leaves, near rotten wood, or any place where they are likely to spread. Avoid building a fire against a large or a hollow log, for in such a place it is hard to know when the fire has been thoroughly extinguished. In windy weather a hole should be dug down to the mineral soil and the fire confined to this."

The adoption of this advice by those to whom it is addressed would remove one fruitful source of forest fires and obviate the danger of immense destruction of property and possibly of loss of life.

THE ROSS RIFLE ENDORSED.

The Ross Rifle, it seems is responsible for bull's eyes in more ways than one. It not only goes to the heart of the target but also wings the Conservative carpers who decried it as useless and sought to prevent Canadian soldiers from being armed with a weapon "made in Canada." Col. Sam Hughes stood almost alone among the Conservative in the honest and patriotic thing by standing by the Ross rifle which his qualifications as a military expert convinced him was good. The Ross rifle has been vindicated by a more practical authority, that of experience. The recent meeting at Bisley furnished strong approval of the Ross rifle. A British journal, The News of the World, in summing up the lessons of this great imperial military meet has the following to say:—

"Few Bisley meetings pass off without a rifle or bullet controversy, and the 1908 meeting is no exception. This year considerable interest has been aroused by the success which has been achieved with the Ross rifle which has been adopted by the Canadian Government. Only two or three marksmen appear to have brought the new rifle to Bisley, as the Canadian team still use the Lee-Enfield, but the winner of the Halford and the Edge competitions, Mr. F W Jones, used it and finished ahead of all the world's rifles. It is interesting to note that it has been decided by the Canadian Government that all the Canadian forces shall receive this rifle within a year, so that at the next Bisley meeting the Canadian men will bring the new arm, possibly to break all records. The new rifle has been a long time in coming forward to perfection, but it has now arrived at its final stage, and Sir Charles Ross, the Scots inventor, is a happy man to-day in having supplied at least one army with his fine weapon. At 1,000 yards the Ross requires over 40 degrees less elevation than the Lee-Enfield, and Sir Charles Ross himself has even reduced the elevation by 54 degrees; in other words, the rifle then used shot to 1,000 yards as the present .303 British shoots to 500 yards."

This vindicates the Militia Department of the Dominion in its policy and practice in regard to the Ross rifle and also Col. Sam Hughes' endorsation and defence of it and is a rebuff and reproof to the Little Canadians of the Conservative party who unpatriotically opposed the policy of Canada for the Canadians as implied in their opposition to the effort to arm the Canadian Militia with an effective rifle "made in Canada."

THE PEACE-MAKERS.

The seventeenth universal peace congress, which had its origin with the Society of Friends, whose high aim is the peace of the world, is now in progress in London. Delegates representing sixteen different countries and over one hundred different organizations are in attendance, and though the resolutions and recommendations passed by previous congresses have not had the effect of inducing any of the nations to beat spears into pruning hooks or swords into plowshares, they have undoubtedly helped to create an international body of opinion which must some day influence the policy of the great powers.

Since his coming to the throne King Edward's course has been right in line with the principles enunciated by these congresses. Thanks in some degree to his majesty's tact and diplomacy, the danger of conflicts between Great Britain and other nations has been greatly lessened through the conclusion of treaties, until the international horizon to-day has a more peaceful aspect than has been the case in many years. It was therefore quite in the nature of things that the address presented to the King by the delegates should have been of a congratulatory character. The King's reply was just such as was to have been expected from the peace-loving monarch that he is. In the course of his remarks he said:

"There is nothing from which I derive more sincere gratification than from the knowledge that my efforts in the cause of international peace and goodwill have not been without fruit, and a consciousness of the generous appreciation with which they have been received, both by my own people and by those of other countries."

Throughout the King's reply there was not a word about a big army and navy being the best guarantee of peace, or anything of that sort. His sentiments were what such a gathering would expect from such a King.—London Advertiser.

DON'TS FOR BATHERS.

Some "don'ts" for bathers: Don't go into the water at all if your heart is weak, or if of an apoplectic tendency; at one beach on the Jersey shore within the past week two bathers, who should never have dared the water were stricken immediately after "coming out." Don't go in too soon after eating, and don't launch yourself into the bosom of the broad Atlantic with a cargo of alcohol aboard.

Don't forget to wet your head first. Don't stay in too long, and don't forget this motto for bathers: "It's better to be sure than sorry"—and remember that it is others to whom the sorrow will come.—New York Sun.

EDITORIAL NOTES

That old-age pensions are not necessarily destructive to moral fibre is neatly shown by the Nation, which reminds us that their most bitter opponent, Lord Cromer, is "that distinguished old-age pensioner" whose share in the national pensions fund has been commuted for a quarter of a million dollars.

Lord Roberts has been telling us not to try to win unfairly. Considering that he has only been here three weeks, and has been mostly in bed or at state functions, "Bobs," the Montreal Herald suggests, acquaintance with the manly art of hockey as practised in Canada is amazing.

Bystander, Mr. Goldwin Smith, in the Weekly Sun, writes:

Some labour men decline, it seems, to take part in a tribute to Lord Roberts on the ground that they belong, not to the realm of war, but to that of humanity. But a stronger proof of humanity can hardly be given than was given by Lord Roberts in his treatment of the vanquished Boers. He recognized their high qualities. He said of them: "They are brave men, large-hearted, generous, and respect their enemies. We have never in the field met a braver enemy than the Boers." In an address to his troops he said: "We must be careful to avoid punishing the innocent for the guilty, and must remember, though misled and deluded, the Boers are in the main a brave and high-spirited people, and are actuated by feelings which are entitled to our respect." Supremely brave and high-spirited himself, he respected the same qualities in others, and did his best to soothe their feelings and reconcile them to submission.

TELLS ABOUT CHEESE CONDITIONS

Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie in Lindsay—Output Not Large.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, the Peterborough cheese buyer, was in town for a short time this morning.; In conversation with a Warder reporter he stated that the price paid for cheese on the Peterborough board yesterday, which was 12c, was comparatively not as good a price as that paid in Lindsay at the last sale. 11 7-8 cents was paid in town, but the difference in freight has to be reckoned with.

Mr. Gillespie said that Tuesday night's storm would prove of incalculable value to cheesemen and the outputs of the factories should pick up. The pasturage has been very dry lately, and the sales dropped off to a great extent. With the improved feed the make should be a great deal larger.

The shortage this year will be a great deal larger than last year, the Peterborough man vouched his opinion, and he stated that more cheese was not made because there was not enough cows, seemingly, in the country. Peterborough, he said will not be behind in their make this year, and Victoria will not be far behind the amount made last year.

At present the cheese is hardly up to the standard in quality owing to the hot weather. The price seems firm and looks as though it will continue to be high, to the Peterborough buyer.—Lindsay Warder.

Value Of Experimental Farms Throughout Canada

How They Assist the Farmers---Reports From All Over The Dominion---Experimental Research a Benefit ---Western Conditions.

The Census and Statistic Monthly, issued by the Dominion Government, referring to the Experimental Farm, says:—

The Dominion experimental farms were established by Act of Parliament in 1886, this being the first measure adopted by the Federal Government for the advancement of agriculture in Canada. The objects in view, as set forth in this Act, included experiments with different breeds of stock to determine their adaptability to Canadian conditions; inquiry into the scientific and economic questions involved in the production of butter and cheese; the testing of the merits of new varieties of wheat and other cereals, grasses, forage plants, fruits, vegetables, plants and trees; the analysis of fertilizers and the conduct of experiments to test their comparative value as applied to crops of different sorts; inquiry into the diseases to which cultivated plants and trees are subject, also into the ravages of destructive insects and the most useful remedies to be used in each case; ascertainment of the vitality and purity of agricultural seeds, and the conduct of other experiments and researches bearing upon the agricultural industry of Canada.

Twenty-one years have passed since these useful institutions were organized, and in the twenty-one annual reports and bulletins which have been published, the results of the work done have been given to the farmers of Canada. Seven of these farms have been established; five were provided for in the original Act, the central farm at Ottawa, and branch farms at Nappan, N.S., Brandon, Man., Indian Head, Sask., and Agassiz, B.C., while two others have recently been organized in Alberta, one at Lethbridge and the other at Lacombe. It is probable that others may soon be added to the number.

Investigation and experimental research have been carried out in connection with the different subjects prescribed in the Act, and the information gained has been widely distributed. At the same time an enormous correspondence has been carried on with farmers residing in all parts of Canada. There is thus a constant flow of information going to Canadian farmers in response to inquiries, and they are aided in the solution of such difficulties as present themselves in the progress of farm work.

The principles which underlie successful crop growing have been under continuous demonstration at the farms. These include maintenance of the fertility of the soil by the proper care and use of barnyard manure and the ploughing under of clover and other leguminous crops, the adoption of a judicious rotation, following the best methods of preparing the land, early sowing, choosing the best and most productive varieties, and the selection of plump and well ripened seed.

Through the agency of the experimental farms many varieties of grain have been brought to Canada for test from nearly all the grain growing countries of the world. Many new sorts have also been produced by cross-fertilising, thus combining the good qualities of different varieties with the object of obtaining greater productiveness, earliness in maturing and high quality. In connection with experiments with wheat, facilities have been provided for milling and baking tests, so that the value of the different sorts for bread-making may be actually determined. Much success has attended these experiments, and many valuable new sorts of grain have been produced. The best varieties obtainable have been propagated at the several farms, and co-operative tests have been arranged for with farmers in most parts of the Dominion who have been provided with material for the carrying on of this work. During the past ten years an average of more than 35,000 farmers have been engaged annually in this co-operative work, and thus many of the best varieties have been brought into more general cultivation, and the volume and quality of the crops favourably influenced.

Highly important results have been obtained in many divisions of this work. The experience gained by the feeding of cattle, sheep and swine, and in the testing of those breeds which produce the highest quality of beef, mutton and pork, has stimulated the stock industry. The business in eggs and dressed fowl for the table has been aided by the results obtained from experiments conducted in the poultry division. The instructive experiments carried on with many varieties of fruits have promoted fruit growing in many parts of the country. The information gained as to the best measures for the destruction of injurious insects and noxious weeds has been most helpful to farmers and fruit growers. The chemical problems which have been solved in the farm laboratories in reference to the nutritious constituents of farm crops, the composition of soils in different parts of the Dominion, and in many other lines of chemical research, have been most useful to the farming community.

The officers of the central and branch farms have also attended many meetings of farmers in the various provinces of the Dominion where opportunities have been afforded of bringing the details of operation more prominently before those for whose benefits this important work is being done.

The following notes relate to the conditions of crops on the several experimental farms at the end of June.

The varieties of winter wheat growing on the Central experimental farm at Ottawa, which have not suffered from winter-killing are maturing rapidly and give promise of a good crop. Spring wheat has suffered considerably from the hot dry weather which has prevailed during the latter part of the month. There has also been some injury to this crop from Hessian-fly and the American Frit-fly. Spring wheat here is likely to fall short of an average crop.

Early in the month the oats promised a fair yield, but the drought now prevailing has stunted the growth of the plants and they have headed with the straw about half grown. The varieties earliest sown are the most promising.

Barley has suffered less than oats, has headed well and promises a medium crop. Peas have made a good growth, the vines are well podded and the crop at present promises to be well up to the average. Indian corn, with frequent cultivation to preserve moisture, is growing rapidly. Field roots and potatoes are also growing well. The hay harvest is completed, and the average yield is 2 1-4 tons per acre.

Temperature, maximum, 79.6 degrees; minimum, 52.8; mean, 65.2 Total precipitation, 1.31 inches. Sunshine, total hours, 296.5, average per day, 9.88 hours.

The hay crop on the farm at Nappan, N.S., is good. All other crops are suffering from the continued drought.

At the Brandon farm the weather has been warm and favourable with abundance of moisture. All crops are making rapid progress and several varieties of early wheat are now in head. Hay harvest has begun; crop good.

Wheat, oats, barley and peas are all looking well at Indian Head farm, Sask. Wheat and barley are heading out, rainfall has been ample, and the growth very satisfactory.

Crops of all sorts have made remarkable growth at the Lethbridge farm in Alberta and are vigorous and thrifty. Winter wheat is making rapid development and will probably be harvested earlier than usual.

At the Lacombe farm, also in Alberta, the weather is fine and warm. Spring wheat and barley are heading out, and other crops except roots are doing well. Rainfall has been rather heavy, over eight inches during the month. Wild hay is likely to give a heavy crop.

The Agassiz farm in British Columbia reports weather favourable and condition of crops good. Haying is nearly finished, with a yield fairly heavy. Grain crops are growing well. Cherries, owing to rain, suffered badly from cracking. Apples pears and plums will probably give a medium crop.

Tried to Burn City.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 7.—Frank Williams, presumably insane, started late Wednesday night to burn Moncton. About 1 o'clock flames were seen in the builders' woodworking plant, and a man looking like Williams ran out on the approach of the watchman. Then a large barn near Humphrey's Mills was set on fire and totally destroyed. Next a big pile of Intercolonial ties was burned, and later a man forced an entrance into Humphrey's Mills. A police patrol was sent out and Williams arrested.

Fighting in Tabriz.

Tabria, Aug. 7.—There has now been thirty-five days fighting in the streets of Tabriz and the casualties, due chiefly to bombs, thrown from mortars and shrapnel, are estimated at 800.

Many of the finer residences of the city and hundreds of shops in the bazaars have been looted, the loss in this direction being placed at more than $1,000,000.

CONFLICT IS FEARED IN THE WEST

Winnipeg Strikers Promise Non-Union Men Warm Time.

SHOPS ARE WELL POLICED

Cordon of Police and High Fence Provided In Western City in Anticipation of Trouble—Incendiary Fire At North Bay Blamed On Strikers—Whyte Has Nothing to Say.

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—Although no active demonstration took place yesterday, the Canadian Pacific shops here took on the appearance of a beleaguered city, the newly-erected high gates being closed tight and the fences patroled by special police.

Beyond picketing there and at the terminals, the striking mechanics, who now number a little over 1,500 here, maintained a passive attitude, although preparations were said to be complete to give a warm reception to a carload of strike-breakers reported to be on the way up from Chicago.

Though not a wheel turned in the shops yesterday, it is understood the company is actively engaged in drafting non-union labor, and is preparing for a long siege.

Public opinion here all wants an early settlement, as the crop and entire business of the country depends on the transportation system operating smoothly during the next few months.

The Canadian west is also dangerously depleted of fuel and supplies must be speedily re-stocked or great distress is bound to ensue this coming winter.

It is evident that the C.P.R. was not altogether caught unawares. Last year the yards here were fenced, new buildings consolidated, and with promptly hanging gates and mounting extra police, they are apparently prepared to carry on work with imported labor.

Vancouver, Aug. 7.—William Whyte, general superintendent of the western division of the C.P.R., was seen on his arrival from the Yukon by steamer here yesterday. Regarding the strike, he said:

"It is not our place to talk or act in the matter. When the conciliation committee made its rulings, I telegraphed to Ottawa from Winnipeg and told them that, although their findings were not, from our point of view, a satisfactory settlement, we would agree to them."

Every precaution against interference has been taken by the railway, and a cook is installed in the shops. A number of strangers who arrived prior to the strike are said to be employed in the shops, and it is difficult to say how many are at work. Two repair men who quit Wednesday, are back inspecting car wheels.

Quebec, Aug. 7.—With the exception of a couple of non-union men, all the mechanics employed in the local shops of the C.P.R. have quit work. The local shop employed about forty-two men, but of this number only about ten belonged to the mechanics union. However, the majority of the non-unionists struck in sympathy with their confreres.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 7.—On the Atlantic division of the Canadian Pacific there is little doing during the summer months. The only business is local, and the mechanical departments may remain on strike for the next three months without any serious congestion or inconvenience resulting, but by the beginning of November, when winter port traffic commences, things become lively, many additional trains are put on, the sidings soon fill, and every station requires full crews. It is then that the position of the men will be strongest.

North Bay, Aug. 7.—Trouble is likely to ensue here if the trainmen are asked to take out locomotives not in proper repair, or if they consider cars not carefully inspected and cared for. At present there are no indications of the strike spreading.

C.P.R. officials here are positive that a fire which destroyed a coal warehouse early yesterday morning was incendiary and the work of strike sympathizers.

Four freight handlers were discharged yesterday for refusing to do work formerly performed by strikers.

Toronto, Aug. 7.—It was stated in the West Toronto yard yesterday that twelve men would start work in the roundhouse this morning—five boilermakers, and seven machinists. The same informant stated that twenty men would start at the West Toronto shops to-day and that another twenty would go out to Havelock on the 10 o'clock train last night. The places of the car cleaners at the Union Station were filled yesterday.

Kamloops, B.C., Aug. 7.—Wednesday night the conductor of a westbound freight refused to pull out the train until he had written authority to take out the train without an official inspection by repairers. He was given orders.

Jilted; Tries to Die.

Hamilton, Aug. 7.—Albert Lugsin, 23 years of age, employed at Hammond's livery stable, was found unconscious yesterday evening in a buggy in the stable. Beside him was a note stating that because his girl had gone back on him, he had taken twenty grains of morphine. He was hustled to the city hospital where a stomach pump was used on him. The doctors have little hope of his recovery.

Both Legs Cut Off.

London, Aug. 7.—William Mullins, a young man from Dorchester, fell from the steps of a Pere Marquette train last night while returning from the Irishmen's picnic at Port Stanley, and had both legs cut off below the knee, from the effects of which he later expired in Victoria Hospital.

Was Crazy With the Heat.

New York, Aug. 7.—Probably crazed by the heat of the last few days, Robert Turnbull, a prominent operator in suburban real estate, formerly a professional pugilist of some note, shot and killed himself.

STORY OF THE MURDER OF ALEXANDER SUTHERLAND AND THE CONFESSION OF HIS WIFE

Detectives Have Suspicions And By Close Questioning Induce Woman To Tell The Secret—Was About To End Her Own Life

BOTH WELL KNOWN HERE

In yesterday's issue of the Examiner the story of the murder of Alexander Sutherland, formerly of Peterborough was given. Many of the details of the crime were not given. The Examiner has since secured full particulars of the deed, the self-confessed perpetrator of which later turned out to be the wife of the dead man. At first, the guilty party was unknown to the police, and the story which follows tells of the suspicions of the detectives before the confession, as well as the subsequent details.

It is learned that Alexander Sutherland was in Peterborough no later than last year, when many citizens met him and talked over earlier days. The Buffalo Courier tells the following story of the murder:

The police expect to-day to place definite charges against a principal and an accomplice in the murder of Alexander R. Sutherland, who was shot and killed at his home, 1383 Niagara street, Buffalo, early yesterday morning. Sutherland's wife, daughter and three boarders are detained by the police. The man died in Emergency Hospital with the statement on his lips that he did not know who his assailant was; but detectives believe that from some notion of preserving inviolate the honour of his home and family, or some other reason, the dying man withheld the name of his slayer.

A 32-calibre revolver, with one chamber fired and still reeking with recent discharge; a gold watch, the property of the daughter of the dead man, and $17.50, believed to be part of $35 which his wife told detectives had been stolen, were found concealed beneath a dining table, a few feet from where the body of the murdered man was found by Detective Sergeant Burkhardt in the afternoon. An autopsy on the body of Sutherland, conducted by Deputy Medical Examiner Howland in the morning, revealed that a 32-calibre bullet had slain Sutherland. The missile was extracted and is now in the possession of Daniel V. Murphy, assistant district attorney.

Mrs. Baxter's Story

The story of Mrs. Esther Baxter of 1391 Niagara street, who heard the fatal shot fired and witnessed subsequent happenings, played an important part in the police investigation yesterday, and, it is believed, will play a still greater part in fixing the crime on the suspects.

She and her son, Edward Baxter, were awakened simultaneously. Then they heard a cry of "fire" raised. The woman heard Mrs. Anna Frances Sutherland cry, "Oh, my Alex. has been shot."

At that moment, while Mrs. Sutherland was crying, "The brute, the brute," Mrs. Baxter saw a man fully dressed, run from the house, and slam the door after him. He ran into the middle of the street, Mrs. Baxter says, and then back into the back yard. He then, according to Mrs. Baxter, re-entered the house, softly closing the door behind him. Through the window she noticed that he was one of the first at the side of Sutherland, and assisted to raise his head from the floor. A moment later, Mrs. Baxter says, the same man emerged again from the house, and ran across the street in the direction of Dr. Miles B. Cook's office, 1388 Niagara street.

Fisher Called Doctor

Dr. Cook heard the cry of "fire" raised and was awakened. He first looked out of his window and then ran downstairs in his pajamas. He had almost reached the front door, when someone knocked and told him that a man had been shot and he was wanted across the street. The message was delivered through the closed door, and the doctor could not distinguish the features of the man who had summoned him. He noted, however, that the person was fully dressed. A boarder, Frederick J. Fisher, told the police later in the day that it was he who had called the doctor. He acknowledged he had been fully dressed at the time, but said that after he had come to the foot of the stairs, where Sutherland was lying, he had returned to his room on the second floor and dressed. Every other person who left the house was but partially dressed, Mrs. Baxter says.

Mrs. Sutherland, her daughter, Lillian Sutherland, and the three boarders, Frederick J. Fisher, Timothy Collins and Wm. J. Wilson, all made statements to the police yesterday. None of them was permitted to return to their homes, and all are held as witnesses by the police. The woman and her daughter were separated. Mrs. Sutherland being given a cell at police headquarters in Pearl street and the daughter taken to the women's quarters in the William Street Station. The same procedure was followed with the men, Fisher being kept in a section of the Pearl Street prison apart from the other two men.

Found at Wife's Room Door

Alexander Sutherland, 45 years old, an employe of the Bond Radiator Company's shops in Rano street, was found lying at the foot of the front stairs with a ragged bullet wound in his left breast, at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. The spot where he was found is almost at the door of his wife's chamber. He slept in a room on the second floor, directly over the room occupied by his wife. His wife and daughter were the only persons who slept on the ground floor. Fred Fisher slept alone in a large double room at the head of the stairs opposite Sutherland's room. Collins slept in a back room and a bathroom separated his apartment from that of Wilson, the other boarder. The extension of a big bay window in his wife's room was directly under the window of Sutherland's room, which he always kept open, winter and summer.

To Dr. Cook, who was one of the first persons, outside of the inmates of the family, to reach his side, Sutherland declared he did not know who shot him.

Said he didn't Know

"I don't know how it happened," Sutherland told the physician. "I have not an enemy in the world. It all seems like a dream."

Dr. Hannett of the Riverside Hospital arrived shortly after and the injured man was ordered taken to Emergency Hospital, where he died three-quarters of an hour after his arrival. An autopsy developed the fact that the bullet entered the left breast and after penetrating the muscles of the heart, passed through the lung and lodged in the back. There were no powder marks on either the man's body or his night shirt. To detectives who questioned him prior to his death he reiterated his assertion that he did not know the identity of his assailant.

According to the story of Mrs. Sutherland, all the members of the family retired at 10 o'clock. She and the girl slept together, she told the police. She was awakened by the girl, Lillian Sutherland, 17 years old, who asked her if she had not heard a noise. This was about 3.30 o'clock, the woman told the police.

She told the girl to go to sleep again, as her father probably was moving around in his room. The girl says she fell asleep again, it seemed but about a few moments, when she was awakened by the cries of her mother. The girl says she heard the noise of a scuffle and a crash on the stairs. When she got out of bed she found her mother and Collins and Wilson, two of the roomers, grouped about her father's body. Fisher did not appear till a few minutes later.

A call for the police attracted Patrolman McKenzie and Sergt. Gruesa of the West Delavan Avenue Police station to the scene. When Sutherland was about to be removed to the hospital he asked that Wilson, one of the boarders, accompany him. He also told Wilson that he had $8 beneath his pillow. The money was found there by the police.

Burglar Theory First

The police immediately took charge of the house. Inspectors Martin and Taylor, Capt. Killeen, Detectives Kennedy, Barrett, Kenstick, Burkhardt, Grady, Laszewski, Flynn and Coughlin commenced a thorough search of the premises, on the assumption that a burglar had committed the crime, following the statement of Mrs. Sutherland that $33 and two gold watches were missing. It was not until the house had been searched three times that one of the watches the property of Lillian Sutherland, $17.50 in cash and the revolver were found. These were found all together hidden beneath a long mantling to strengthen the table in the dining room.

It has been the custom of the Sutherlands to keep their gas burning all night, according to Mrs. Baxter, but on the morning of the tragedy it was out. Mrs. Sutherland told the police that the front door was always kept open to accommodate the boarders.

Mrs. Sutherland is 43 years old, she says, and is a comely woman. Her husband was formerly a big, healthy man, but latterly has been crippled with rheumatism. The family moved to its present location from Salem, Mass., four years ago. They formerly lived in Peterborough, Ont. Sutherland was a Canadian.

Sutherland was known to his neighbours as a peaceful, industrious man, and was not known to have any enemies. He was not popular in the neighbourhood, however, from his expressed antipathy to all things American, and his liking for things English and Canadian.

According to the neighbours, the couple, who had been married 25 years, had lived always happily together. Little was known of Fred Fisher, except that he had boarded with the family for some time. Fisher is a lineman. Collins, another of the boarders, is a labourer in the employ of the water bureau, and Wilson is a barber.

Wife's Confession

A despatch to the Examiner last night states that Mrs. Annie Sutherland on Thursday made a confession in which she says that she killed her husband while struggling with him on the stairway of her house for possession of the revolver.

She claims that she intended to shoot herself and he tried to take the gun away from her and that while they were thus engaged it was discharged.

She has not admitted as yet that she shot him intentionally.

The police say that as Mrs. Sutherland's statement stands, Fisher is eliminated from having any connection with the shooting.

"I killed my husband. I did not intend to. I intended to kill myself, but he tried to take the revolver away from me and he was shot," is Mrs. Sutherland's statement as it was made to Chief of Detectives Taylor and reported to Superintendent Regan by him.

"We have had much trouble and I got despondent," she continued. "I have had to run the house, take in boarders and meet all the bills. It was too much for me.

"We owed two months rent, We owed the butcher and the grocer. It has been that way for a long time. My husband was jealous of me and abused me, calling me names and accusing me of being too friendly with the boarders. That was not true and it worried me. I made up my mind to end it all.

"About two weeks ago I went out and bought the revolver. I meant to kill myself with it. Two or three times I got it out, but was afraid to shoot myself. The night before last while in bed I thought it over and decided to shoot myself. I went upstairs to my husband's room, lit the gas and awoke him. I told him I was going to shoot myself. He got out of bed to stop me and I ran down stairs. He ran after me and caught me on the stairway near the bottom. The revolver is a self-cocking one. While we were fighting for it I shot him.

"Then I went and got my money and watch and hid them in the dining room. I hid the revolver with them. My husband made it hard for me to get along. He abused me continually and talked about me. I could not stand it any longer."

Attorney Notified

The foregoing is the statement in rough as it was taken from Mrs. Sutherland verbally. After she had told about the shooting, Assistant District Attorney Murphy was notified and he came to police headquarters about 10 o'clock this forenoon to assist Chief of Detectives Taylor in securing a formal statement. They were closeted with Mrs. Sutherland for upwards of two hours and questioned her closely, reducing the information gained from her to writing. She said that none of the boarders knew about the shooting, and that her daughter, Lillian, was asleep in their room when she went upstairs.

She would not say that she shot her husband intentionally, and stuck to the story that she intended to commit suicide when she went upstairs to arouse him. On this point, which is an unusual procedure for a suicide the woman was questioned closely. Her story varied as to details, but in the main it was the same, notwithstanding the questions with which she was plied.

Another unexplained incident is why Sutherland should have said he did not know who shot him, if his wife had shot him in a struggle for the gun. The police are trying to obtain information that will clear up these incongruous details.

Mrs. Sutherland is in bad physical condition and Police Surgeon Fowler was summoned to attend her.

Although the police accept Mrs. Sutherland's story that she shot her husband, for the very simple reason that it fastens the killing upon her by her own statement, they are not satisfied fully as to the truth of the balance of the confession, and aside from that she fired the shot, they doubt her story.

"We will keep right on working on the case," said Assistant District Attorney Murphy this afternoon.

THE GREY NUNS AND ZAM-BUK

Leading Institutions Use This Balm.

Most of the leading institutions throughout Canada have adopted Zam-Buk as a standard preparation without equal for skin diseases and injuries, burns, blood poison, etc.

From the St. Patrick's Asylum, Ottawa, comes the following appreciation of its merits:

"Gentlemen,—In the orphanage department of the asylum, we have found Zam-Buk very good for healing cuts, sores and skin injuries generally, and shall continue to use it for such.

Yours sincerely,
(Signed) GREY NUNS."

When a mother rubs on to the delicate skin of children a salve to heal some cut, bruise, burn, eruption or skin disease, she needs to be as careful as if she were giving the child an internal remedy. Zam-Buk balm is safe. Zam-Buk is pure—free from all animal fat and all mineral matter, and may be applied even to the skin of young babies.

Zam-Buk heals sores, cures eczema, skin eruptions, ulcers, ringworm, itch, barber's rash, blood poisoning, bad leg, salt rheum, abrasions, abscesses, cuts, burns, scalds, and all skin injuries and diseases. Of all stores and druggists at 50 cents, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Three boxes for $1.25.

MR. ALPHONSE LEMAY DIED IN SYRACUSE

A telegram has been received in the city stating that Mr. Alphonse LeMay, son of Mr. D. Lemay, and brother of Mrs. H. LeBrun, died in Syracuse, N.Y., yesterday. Mr. LeBrun's family are summering at "Bellechasse," Stony Lake, and the telegram has been forwarded. It is understood that interment will take place in Peterborough.

Empire Roup Cure quickly cures Roup, Colds, Canker and Diptheria. At all dealers in poultry supplies.

'PRENTICE BOYS WILL ATTEND CHURCH PARADE

The annual church parade of Jubilee Lodge No. 7, Prentice Boys, will be held on Sunday evening, August 9, to the Charlotte Street Methodist Church. The Orangemen and True Blues of the district are cordially invited to join with the Prentice Boys on this occasion. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. H. G. Henderson.

CIVIC HOLIDAY

Account of Civic Holiday return tickets will be issued at single fare to all stations in Canada also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Black Rock and Suspension Bridge, N. NO POLICE COURT DOINGS TO-DAY

Quietness Prevailing in the Administration of Justice Department.

The New York Sunday World recently had an illustration on its editorial page representing summer crimes. It was a gaunt wolf, evil-eyed, with dripping jaws and long, ugly fangs. The bones of its victims were scattered here and there. This may be a true symbol of conditions in some parts of the country and in the United States, but this district happily seems to be free from a rampage of that kind. No police court every other day and with but exceptions, trivial cases when there are any, is all that the court is called upon to hear.

WEDDING BELLS

MOESER—STANGER

A quiet wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of the bride's father, 311 Stewart street, the contracting parties being Miss Estelle Stanger, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanger, and Mr. Frederick J. Moeser, manager of the W. A. Wood Company, of Montreal. Rev. J. G. Potter was the officiating clergyman. The bride was becomingly attired in a dress of pale blue taffeta silk and was attended by her sister, Miss Hazel L. Stanger. The happy couple left on the evening train to Toronto, the bride being neatly dressed in a travelling suit of navy blue Rajah silk. They will take up their residence in Montreal.

TWO FINE DOGS ARE POISONED

Strychnine Picked up in East City Was the Agent of the Happy Hunting Grounds.

The dog poisoner has recently been at work in East City, and two valuable collie dogs have bit the dust. One belonged to Mr. Ed. Huff. It was a collie of quality, having a pedigree showing a high breeding and was registered as "Jack Kitchener." It was seven years old and a pet in the household. Money would scarcely have bought him. On Tuesday it got a dose of strychnine as its convulsions showed, and soon after died. About the same time Mr. D. Conroy lost a collie pup.

The poisoner surely does his work out of pure malice. There seems to be no discrimination, in fact, valuable dogs seem to be intentionally picked out.

PREPARING THE LINE FOR TRAFFIC

Belleville Division of G. T. R. is Being Extensively Improved.

A number of extra men have been put on the Peterborough-Belleville division of the G. T. R., repairing the roadbed. Particularly between Hastings and Stirling ballast is being placed. It is being drawn from Campbellford, from a gravel pit there. General Road Master Ribby and Divisional Road Master Mitchell were over the road on an inspection tour yesterday. It is understood that the G. T. R. Company expects a heavy traffic of grain and the line is being prepared for it.

ST. MARY'S DOWN FOR SURE

Considerable interest is being taken in the ball games that will be played on Monday. The morning game will commence at 10.30 o'clock and in the afternoon at three. The St. Mary's of Toronto who will be down to meet the Petes are fast and two fine games should result.

FOUR NOTED HORSES TO MEET

Extra Attraction at Driving Park on Monday for Purse of $100.

There is talk around the market of a big race on Monday at the Driving Park. It is an extra and for a purse of $100.00. The race is to settle a doubt existing in certain quarters about four or five horses. The entry list has a few notables. There is Tom Lee's black horse, Bill Stabler's Billy Morris and Will McIlmoyles'. All four are fast ones and a good green race is guaranteed.

IS LEAVING THE CITY TO RESIDE IN TORONTO

Friends of Mr. Dan. McMillan, conductor on the G. T. R. Toronto train, will learn with regret that he is about to move with his family to Toronto. For a time he taught the rules and regulations of the road, and has latterly taken the veteran Mr. Chas. Mitchell's place.

Mr. McMillan has resided at the corner of Brock and Park streets, and intends to move his effects from Peterborough next week.

WEDDING BELLS

HUNTER—FITZGERALD

A quiet wedding took place at the George Street Methodist Church parsonage, Peterborough, on Thursday evening of last week, when Miss Violet Charlotta, eldest daughter of Mr. Gerald Fitzgerald, was united in marriage to Mr. Allyn Hunter. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. R. Doxsee.—Lakefield News.

BANDIT PIG PLAYS PART OF HIGHWAYMAN

Some of the residents of Burleigh are considerably annoyed by a strange pig which frequents their premises, but they are not the only ones to suffer from the roving habits of the animal. One evening last week a party of young men were returning home when the pig met them on the road and refused to allow them to pass. It was only after a good deal of trouble and by recourse to fence rails as weapons that they proceeded on their way. Even then the animal followed them for the distance of half a mile, until by running their horses they managed to leave it behind.

LENDRUM'S

HOGS OVERCROWDED IN THE CAR

Two of Them Died—Car Had to be Opened and 25 Were Taken Out.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Nathan Stabler shipped a car load of hogs from Lakefield to Peterborough for the Matthews establishment. The car was one of the smallest and the pigs had to be crowded in. They were brought to the city and remained on the siding behind the diamond for an hour or more and from their sardine-like condition two of them died and Mr. Stabler coming along had to open the door and let 25 of them out. Had this not been done there would undoubtedly have been more killed.

STRANGE INSECT AMONG THE LATE PEAS

Making Inroads Into Crop in Cavan and South Monaghan.

Some insect has made an attack on the late peas and is destroying them very rapidly. It is of much the same appearance as the turnip louse and does its work in patches, but rapidly spreads. It is particularly bad in Monaghan and parts of Cavan. Being a new pest to this part farmers are at a loss to know what to do, but it is hoped that it will not ruin the whole late crop.—Millbrook Reporter.

TELEGRAPH MEN BECOME RESETLESS

Gigantic Strike of C. P. R. Telegraphers Is Rumored.

AWAIT BOARD'S DECISION

Operators Say They Will Go Out If Report of Conciliation Board Is Unsatisfactory When Presented Next Week—Preparations Being Made to Take Advantage of Wheat Rush From the West.

Toronto, Aug. 7.—There are persistent rumors here, traceable to the best of authorities, that within two weeks it is almost a certainty that the Canadian Pacific Railway telegraphers will threaten a strike just at the critical time for the gigantic task of transporting the western crops.

This is a feature of the situation of which the striking machinists and the other mechanics who walked out are well aware.

Responsible labor leaders of prominence speak of the situation in serious tones. One of them who holds a position of great responsibility says that the outlook is very black.

"Mr. Leonard, the C.P.R. general manager, has a reputation for maintaining any position he takes regardless of consequences," he said. "It is understood that his absence from the C.P.R. for nearly three years was caused on this account. Had Vice-President McNicoll not been absent in Europe things might have been different. But Mr. Leonard has committed the company and Vice-President McNicoll will have to stand by him."

From Canadian Pacific Railway telegraphers circles it is positively learned that preparations for a strike by them are being projected. Their struggle for better conditions have gone along on parallel lines to those of the mechanics. Their claims have been before a conciliation board, which is expected to report to the Government at Ottawa next week.

Whether from the personnel of a majority of the board or for some other reason they do not look for the report to be a unanimous one in their favor. The telegraph conciliation board is composed of Judge Fortin, chairman, C. J. Campbell, K.C., for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, and W. I. J. Lee, barrister, representing the telegraph operators.

Boy Adrift In Boat.

Toronto, Aug. 7.—John Shaw of St. Lawrence street, ten years old, started out on a voyage of discovery yesterday [illegible]h, but for the timely rescue of police boat, might have been attended with serious results for John.

He had got into a little cockleshell of a rowboat, and was engaged with a hook and line, when some of his companions let loose the boat.

He drifted on and on until the police boat saw him half way across the bay and went out to the rescue.

Tried to Murder Him.

Hamilton, Aug. 7.—The police have received word of a deliberate attempt to murder in a brickyard near Grimsby. An Austrian named Luka Passut lived there in a shanty. On Tuesday night he was awakened by a crowd breaking down the door, shouting, "We will kill him." Passut made his escape by forcing his way through the roof. Passut claims his assailants were all Hungarians and have objected to his working amongst them.

Bank Manager Kills Himself.

Port Elgin, Ont., Aug. 7.—After a trying illness of a year and a half from nervous prostration, A. H. Ridout, in a fit of insanity, took his life.

He had been connected with the Bank of Hamilton for 30 years, and for the past 17 years was manager of the bank here.

A prolonged stay in a sanitarium and a European trip last year served but to slightly stay the progress of the disease.

This Man Hangs.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—The death sentence recently passed on Willian Paul, a Kenora shantyman who murdered another lumber jack, was considered by the Cabinet Council and it was decided to allow the law to take its course.

Paul will pay the death penalty.

STEWART MUST SIGN.

Councillors Win Fight to Make Him Agree to Power Contract.

Hamilton, Aug. 7.—There was quite a bit of interest manifested in the proceedings at Osgoode Hall yesterday morning and the announcement that Mayor Stewart has been instructed to sign the power by-law was generally received with surprise. Chief Justice Falconbridge granted the mandamus against Mayor Stewart of Hamilton, ordering him to forthwith sign the by-law passed by the Hamilton City Council authorizing a contract for power with the Cataract Power Company over which there was such a protracted and bitter fight. Mayor Stewart appeared in person and explained to his lordship that the reason he hesitated was because he knew that five of the aldermen who voted for the by-law had distinctly pledged themselves to the people at the time of their election to support the proposition of the Hydro-Electric Commission and he considered he was justified in upholding the interests of the people who elected them by withholding his signature till compelled by legal process.

His Lordship, however, pointed out that he could not go into details regarding the matter, but must simply decide upon the facts before him. The Mayor could not avoid signing a by-law passed by a majority of the council.

FIRE LOSSES.

President Lindsay Gives Out Official Statement.

Fernie, B.C., Aug. 7.—Asked for a statement of fire losses, President Lindsay of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. gave out the following official report:

The fire area valley of the Elk River coal mining district in Kootenay, B.C., is approximately 30 miles long and two to ten miles broad.

Although the fire has been within two miles of Coal Creek, the town is safe, and although the fire was all around Michel, there is no apprehension now as to it. Hosmer has escaped with little loss on its mining side, but Fernie has been almost completely obliterated.

A large number of men have probably lost their lives in the woods. The bodies recovered so far number 16 and there will be more, but in the woods only.

There is no rain in sight and the fire continues slowly up the mountainside.

Lighthouse Keeper Suicides.

Halifax, Aug. 7.—John Bitzner, a private in the Royal Canadian Regiment, Wednesday night shot himself through the head with a rifle, the deed being prompted by despondency over imprisonment for violating the regulations. He will die.

Word has been received at North Sydney that the lighthouse-keeper, Rainvie, on Green Island, Straits of Belle Isle, has been found dead from a pistol wound. Rainvie had been drinking. The tragedy was discovered when the light was unlit for two nights.

Explorers Starve to Death.

Copenhagen, Aug. 7.—Mylius Erichsen, the Danish explorer, has met his death in the far north.

The exploring party has mapped out large tracts of unknown land and chartered the entire northeastern coast of Greenland. Erichsen and companions were on an ice floe when they were overtaken by the snowstorm. The floe drifted out to sea. The provisions of the explorers soon became exhausted and they drifted for some days, growing weaker and weaker.

Baldwin's Successful Flight.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Capt. Baldwin made another successful flight at Fort Myer in his new dirigible balloon. Making various revolutions with and against the wind, the airship was brought down within a hundred feet of the tent in which it is housed, eight minutes after leaving the ground.

Mr. Curtiss estimated that the average speed was 15 miles an hour, 20 miles going with the wind and 10 going against it.

Turkish Pasha Lynched.

Constantinople, Aug. 7.—Said Pasha, the grand vizier, and the newly formed ministry have resigned. The Sultan has accepted the resignations and has invited Jamalleddin Effendi, the Sheik-Ul-Islam, and Kiamil Pasha, to form a new cabinet.

The notorious Femi Pasha, former president of the Council of State, has been lynched at Yenishair, in the Villet of Brusa, Asia Minor.

Nineteen Fined.

Kingston, Aug. 7.—In the police court yesterday nineteen hotelmen pleaded guilty to selling liquor in prohibited hours and fines of $75 were imposed on nine and $50 on ten. Only one case is being heard, that of Proprietor Telfer of the British American Hotel. The owners of the steamers North King, Caspian and America were fined $100 each for selling without licenses.

Send-Off For Roberts.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Despite his refusal of a public welcome, Lord Roberts received unofficially last evening a very hearty send-off when he left for Quebec on a special C.P.R. train at 7.30.

"Bobs" made the trip from Rideau Hall to the station in a motor car, accompanied by his daughter, Lady Aileen Roberts. He was kept busy along the entire line acknowledging the cheers of the people and was visibly delighted.

VICTIM OF FRIENDS THE CAUSE

Col. Leslie Has Worthless Notes to Show For Shortage.

DEFICIT IS NEARLY $24,000

Ex-Treasurer of Toronto Exhibition Has Been Victimized By Borrowing Acquaintances Who Will Be Sued For Amount of Loans—Names Kept Secret—Must Pay Difference.

Toronto, Aug. 7.—The shortage in the Exhibition accounts, as exactly determined by the special auditors in their investigations up to last night, is $18,983. The figures are official, but there is admitted to be a possibility that the total may be augmented by the addition of $5,000, which amount is said to be also lacking, though Treasurer J. K. Leslie is quoted as saying that he is unable to understand the further deficit. This the fair management are stated to have discovered, although Messrs. Barber and Vibeon, who have not completed their work, have only reported results as above given. Should the deficit be so swelled, as it is claimed it will be, it will reach the total of about $24,000.

In any event the city will be fully secured, as arrangements have already been made by Col. Leslie for the payment to the city on Monday, of a sum covering the last dollar of shortage.

Col. Leslie has, so it is learned, declared most positively that the disappearance of the funds has not been the result of speculation, nor of any intent to profit personally, but that he has advanced large sums of money to friends on their cheques and I. O. U.'s, which promises to pay have proven to be worthless.

In proof that the treasurer has been very largely a victim of misplaced confidence, there are in the possession of the auditors a number of I. O. U.'s and other notes and cheques, in addition to those covering the amount of about $2,600 for six-for-a-dollar tickets.

However, there is a strong probability that proceedings will be taken against the persons whose names appear on the notes, but whose identities are being carefully hidden.

While the auditors are discreetly mum, it has been ascertained that their written report is shortly to be submitted.

Extreme Poverty.

Hamilton, Aug. 7.—A case of extreme poverty has come to light here. Joseph Simpson, his wife and seven children, the oldest of which is 17, were found to be living in a tumbledown stable on Morris Park street, near Vine. Simpson has been out of work for months and was ejected from his former house because he could not pay his rent. Subscriptions are being taken up to help the distressed family.

Refused to Renew License.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 7.—For forty years the Callendar Hotel has been on the market square under lease from the rectory.

Dean Farthing, the new rector, has refused to renew the license, and in July next the St. George's Hotel will cease to be a licensed place.

Chief Goes to New Zealand.

Thorold, Aug. 7.—Chief of Police William Shee, who resigned Monday night, complaining of his treatment at the hands of Mayor Williams, leaves on the 15th for New Zealand.

SUE FORMER MANAGER.

Sovereign Bank Claims $48,233 From D. M. Stewart and Others.

Montreal, Aug. 7.—An action for $48,233 was yesterday entered by the Sovereign Bank of Canada against Duncan M. Stewart, formerly general manager of the bank, and Geo. E. Willis, Charles E. Lanskail and D. H. Featherston.

FORMER MANAGER STEWART.

Featherston and Willis were officials at the head office of the bank at Toronto, and Charles E. Lanskail was the New York agent of the bank.

The action is said to be in connection with certain advances made by the defendants.

Destroyed By Lightning.

Belleville, Aug. 7.—Lightning struck a large barn on the Bay View Farm, near Deseronto, owned by the Rathbun Co., and it was destroyed by fire. The loss was 60 loads of hay.

James Moran, a farmer, who resides in Faraday, met with a severe loss on Tuesday morning about 3 o'clock, in a fierce electric storm his house and barn were destroyed.

During a severe storm the Union Cheese Factory at Fredericksburg, owned by Frederick Pierry, was struck by lightning and almost destroyed.

A LIFE ANNUITY TO THE WINNER

ORANGE MEAT is made from the whole wheat. This King of Cereals is used in the manufacture of ORANGE MEAT, instead of Corn, Rice, Barley, Oats, etc., because wheat contains properties that satisfy the needs of the human system that are not found in other cereals.

ORANGE MEAT has been determined by analysis to be FIFTY per cent. more valuable as a food than bread. Milk is a complete food. It is a flesh-former and heat-maker. ORANGE MEAT taken with milk every morning and evening forms a perfect and evenly-balanced food. Taken together they are easily digested and assimilated.

In the past considerable money has been spent in introducing and advertising ORANGE MEAT. Travellers have covered the whole of Canada from Halifax to Vancouver, at enormous outlay for salaries, travelling and other expenses.

The management have decided to introduce a new system. They are offering a series of CASH PRIZES to consumers.

All persons using ORANGE MEAT will enjoy a wholesome and perfect food, and, in addition, participate in a contest for a CASH PRIZE.

TO THE WINNER OF THE FIRST PRIZE, THE SUM OF FIFTY-TWO DOLLARS WILL BE PAID EVERY YEAR DURING HIS OR HER LIFE TIME. The manufacturers of ORANGE MEAT will purchase an annuity policy from one of the largest Life Insurance Companies in Canada, by which the Insurance Company will contract to pay (to the winner of this prize) the sum of FIFTY-TWO DOLLARS during each and every year of his or her life time.

A SECOND PRIZE OF ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS CASH WILL BE PAID, AND IN ADDITION:

TEN CASH PRIZES OF TWENTY DOLLARS EACH.

TEN CASH PRIZES OF TEN DOLLARS EACH.

TWENTY CASH PRIZES OF FIVE DOLLARS EACH.

ONE HUNDRED CASH PRIZES OF ONE DOLLAR EACH.

THE PARTY SENDING IN THE LARGEST NUMBER OF CARTON BOTTOMS ON OR BEFORE MAY 1st, 1909, WILL RECEIVE THE FIRST, OR GRAND PRIZE. THE SECOND IN ORDER WILL RECEIVE THE SECOND PRIZE, etc. Before above Prizes are distributed ten days will be allowed for parcels to reach ORANGE MEAT, Kingston, that are mailed on or before above date.

MONEY FOR ZEPPELIN.

Government Grant and Contributions Will Reimburse Inventor.

Friederichshafen, Aug. 7.—The King of Wurtemberg called on Count Zeppelin at his hotel here yesterday and conveyed to the aeronaut the personal regrets of Emperor William over the destruction Wednesday of the Count's airship at Echterdingen. The Emperor telegraphed: "I have heard with the deepest regret of the destruction of your balloon and I wish you to know of my cordial sympathy in your misfortune."

In addition to the Governmental grant of $125,000 to Count Zeppelin for the construction of another airship, it appears probable that the Count will be given even a greater sum for the construction of a new dirigible on the model of the one that was destroyed Wednesday, and for extensive experiments with new ideas. The national pride has made the work of Count Zeppelin its own and almost every city in the empire has opened public subscriptions to raise money for the Count.

Hotelkeepers Summoned.

Hamilton, Aug. 7.—As a result of the investigations of Government detectives, who have been working in the city for the past five weeks, summonses were issued by Magistrate Jelfs yesterday morning against 13 local hotelkeepers for alleged sale of liquor after hours.

Says He'd Rather Die.

Hamilton, Aug. 7.—M. J. O'Reilly informed Guiseppi Greco yesterday morning that his death sentence had been commuted. Greco took the good news quite calmly. He remarked that he would rather die than be kept in jail all his days.

Married 62 Years.

Cornwall, Aug. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Gonyai of the Nash Creek neighborhood, east of Morrisburg, recently celebrated the 62nd anniversary of their marriage. Mr. Gonyai, now in his 85th year, makes weekly trips to Morrisburg on foot.

Commuted Death Sentences.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Two more death sentences were commuted to life imprisonment by the Cabinet.

Greco, the Italian who stabbed a compatriot in Hamilton while quarreling, will not die, as it is believed it might have been tuberculosis which caused the death of the victim.

The other who is benefited is Rochette of Quebec, in whose case the evidence was circumstantial and inconclusive.

Marl Burner Cuts Throat.

Port Colborne, Aug. 7.—James Bell, head burner for the Canadian Portland Cement Company here, aged 55 years, was found early yesterday morning by a fellow workman lying in a pool of blood with his jugular vein completely severed.

He came from Marlbank a day or two ago, where he leaves a widow and children.

Forest Fires Down East.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 7.—After an interval of two weeks, forest fires have again sprung up along the New Brunswick-Maine border, near Calais, and are causing much uneasiness owing to scarcity of water. Gangs of men have been fighting the flames without much success since Friday, and are unable to obtain water.

Locals Defeated Lindsay In Second Game Of Series

First Lacrosse Game in Peterborough This Season---Final Score Was 9 to 1---Large Crowd Turned Out and Fairly Fast Game Was Witnessed---Turn the Tables On The Lindsayites.

Peterborough crossed sticks at the Riverside Park with Lindsay last evening in the first home game of the season in the Trent Valley League, winning handily by the score of nine goals to one. When the ball was faced at 6.45 o'clock, there was the encouraging attendance of nearly three hundred lovers of the old game who witnessed a clean and at times fast exhibition. About ten days ago Lindsay, on their own grounds managed to win out from the locals by the narrow margin of 1—0. The fans, therefore, were expecting a closer contest than that of last night, and although the score would indicate an easy walk over, the game was interesting at all stages. Plenty of combination work, in which short and long passes were neatly made, sharp checking and but little unnecessary slashing, kept the spectators on the qui vive. Seen from the grandstand it was the kind of lacrosse that appeals to the crowd, and clever plays brought forth the appreciation of the fans.

The Lindsay boys claim that they had not their best line up on and were handicapped to that extent. But even so, the locals were not called upon for their best efforts and if pressed harder would surely have been found to the good. Ed. Dillon, playing at cover point, strengthened the local defence and kept the boys well in refusing to let them be drawn down the field. On the other hand, Peterborough's home succeeded in luring the defence away from the nets and also managed to frequently avoid their checks. Thus in the matter of defence the locals played a superior game.

On the other hand, in attacking, they clearly had the better of the argument. The Lindsay home worked in some pretty pieces of combination, but too often a pass was wild, or caught poorly and when it was cleanly made Barber, Dillon, Ray or Crough were generally close by to spoil its looks, from a Lindsay viewpoint. Peterborough's home was working all the time. While there were a few misplays, still they were overlooked, after the neat, clean passes that came thick and fast almost all the time. Parnell, Seymour, McCoy and Judd played well together. The latter was very effective, passing and receiving neatly, and was always boring in. Walley Parnell played a clean game, and lent valuable assistance in practically all the onsets on Lindsay's goal. Galley McCoy played in old time form and started many a combination. Long and Seymour had their share in the work and Best, at centre, checked hard and easily had Reilly on the shelf. Ray, at third defence, came out frequently and helped the home. Looking over Peterborough's defence all of them were noticeable at times, Charlie Barber particularly so. Joe Gillman was new in his position, but handled himself well. In goal Dinny Dobbin was there in old time form, stopping many hot ones and now and then coming out for a little variety.

McVittie was Lindsay's best defence man. All the home played well, especially Primeau, Dobson and Dusty. Chapman and Chambers were also to the good, but the whole five of them did not have much chance close in on the flags.

In checking Peterborough was the more aggressive, while in shooting both teams were off colour.

George Lynch, as referee, gave complete satisfaction. The teams lined up as follows:

Lindsay	Peterborough
Goal.
Carruth	Dobbin
Point.
McVittie	Gillman
Cover point.
Cresswell	Dillon
First defence.
"Ben" Dusty	Barber
Second defence.
J. Duggan	Crough
Third defence.
Elliott	Ray
Centre.
Reilly	Best
Third home.
Chambers	McCoy
Second home.
Chapman	Seymour
First home.
N. Dusty	Long
Outside home.
Dobson	Parnell
Inside home.
Primeau	Judd

Time keepers—Chris. Graham and D. B. MacRae. Penalty time keeper—B. T. Huston.

Game by Quarters

Peterborough carried the ball in on the Lindsay nets, but it quickly returned. Dillon broke up a combination N. Dusty and Dobson were working. McVittie relieved the Lindsay citadel, and Peterborough coming back missed by a wild shot. Dusty and Dobson again bored in, but without result. The ball came out to McCoy, who passed to Best. The latter shot it over to Long, who found an unguarded spot and notched number one. Time—5 minutes.

Carruth stopped a hot one. Barber relieved and shortly after Best shot wild on the flags. Peterborough drew second blood in 5 minutes, Judd figuring prominently.

Ray repeated the trick in 1 1-2 minutes, after a nice dodging run.

Reilly got the ball out from the face off to Dusty almost every time. Parnell missed a chance to score. Dusty and Dobbin figured in a nice bit of work, but no more goals resulted in this quarter. Score—Peterborough 3; Lindsay 0.

Second Quarter

McCoy went in on the Lindsay flags, but Carruth got in the way. Best let go a hot one, but it was wide. Reilly went down the field with the ball and passed. Primeau made a poor shot. Best went off for five minutes. After seven minutes' Dobson, Reilly and Primeau bored in close with short passes and Reilly notched Lindsay's only goal.

The ball travelled up and down the field, but neither team seemed to be able to draw an unerring bead. Judd did the trick for the locals after four minutes' see-sawing.

Primeau and Ray locked in a friendly embrace, and were benched for five minutes. Things were humming around Lindsay's goal just about this time, and Peterborough missed many shots. The half found the score 4—1 against Mudville.

Third Quarter

In this quarter Peterborough got four straights. Lindsay went in on the local defence, but McCoy came down with the ball, passed to Long, to Parnell, Wally hit the goal post and could not better it. Seymour sent in a hot one from the side that connected safely. Time—5 minutes.

Barely a minute elapsed when another was notched up, resulting from a scrimmage in front of Lindsay's goal. Dobbin was called upon and did not fail. By a pretty piece of combination, Parnell, Seymour and Judd sailed right in on Carruth, Judd scoring Peterborough's sixth goal.

Ben Dusty missed a chance to score. After three minutes McCoy made a clean pass to Parnell, who put in an easy one.

Last Quarter

Only ten minutes were played in the last quarter. Lindsay was still fresh and aggressive. Dobbin stopped a dangerous one from Primeau's stick. Chapman and Reilly failed to score. Judd got the next on a long shot, and ended the scoring. During the last five minutes Carruth was kept busy. Dobson and Primeau got away from the bunch, but did not get far. The game was called with doings still around the Lindsay citadel.

The games were scored as follows:

First Quarter

Peterborough—5 minutes.
Peterborough—5 minutes.
Peterborough—1 1-2 minutes.

Second Quartec

Lindsay—7 minutes.
Peterborough—3 minutes.

Third Quarter

Peterborough—5 minutes.
Peterborough—1 minute.
Peterborough—1 minute.
Peterborough—3 minutes.

Last Quarter

Peterborough—5 minutes.

Notes

Good feeling was quite evident.

The way the ladies turned out was most encouraging. There are no more interested spectators than they.

The Dusty brothers, Len Dobson and Jack Primeau are all Peterborough boys. They shone for Lindsay.

The clean player gets in right with the grand stand. Unnecessary slashing is altogether uncalled for.

The game was a clean one. "Longboat" Riley got more than one reminder, and for a wonder "Slats" stayed with it. He was as fast as anyone on the field, and got more than his share of the bumps.

Primeau, Dobson and Dusty play fast lacrosse, but are not always sure.

Who said this is not a lacrosse town? Why the lovers of athletics are craving for a good team in this town, and it is to be hoped that in a few years a gradual revival will bring about that result.

THE CITY LEAGUE FINALS TO-MORROW

Lakeviews and Straths Meet on Riverside Park at 3 o'clock.

The final game of the City League Baseball will be played to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Riverside Park. The contestants are the Lakeviews and Strathconas and the championship of the league practically depends on the result. Should the Straths win they will have their clutches on the silverware and as the Lakeviews are playing great ball they will have their work cut out. The admission fee will be 10 cents.

The new physyical director of Central Y.M.C.A., Mr. McLeod was the first man thought of to fill the large place in Canadian athletics at Central, filled by Mr. J. H. Crocker. He was the unanimous choice of the boys themselves, who were overjoyed when it became nkown that he could come. James McLeod was born about thirty-two years ago at Hamilton. He began his athletic career in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. there and went through the Association. In 1901 he was called to Peterborough as physical director. After a year there he went to Brantford in the same capacity. He came to the Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto, in 1903 as assistant to the man he is now succeeding. His connection here was both pleasant and profitable, and during that time he made many friends in and about the Association. A year at the University of Toronto was Mr. McLeod's next step, part of his time being deoted to the managing of the All Saints' Athletic Club. His call to Havana, Cuba, came in 1905. On his acceptance, Mr. McLeod became the first Y.M.C.A. physical director sent out to engage in foreign work. Since then he has been at Havana, building up the Association there in a very successful manner. He assumed his new duties here this week. Mr. McLeod is an energetic and capable young man, well qualified for so important a place.—Toronto News.

How Long Do Dreams Last?

How long do dreams last? A German savant is investigating the matter. But there is scarcely a dolt who could not give him points and has not dreamed centuries in seconds. The dream, it may be stated, comes in the few seconds before the awakening and has no relation to time or space. This is clear enough to the man who has ever been placed under an anaesthetic for a short while and found time and space eliminated.

As an experiment this writer was placed under a whiff of chloroform by a doctor. Absolute unconsciousness supervened, then a return of consciousness, the questions of the universe, up through layers of consciousness, with always the feeling, "Now I have solved it," and the "No" and the "Yes" alternating through centuries of thought, and then the quizzical face of the doctor, remembered after a million years. "How long have you been under?" The experimenter struggled up and saw the doctor with his watch in hand. "Ten seconds," the doctor said, and the dreamer had been outside time for a time that has no measure.—London Chronicle.

A Great Artist Enraged.

Alma-Tadema has told a story of the fate of two unsuccessful pictures of his student days. One of them was returned unsold by the committee of the Brussels exhibition in 1850. The subject was a house on fire, with people rescuing the victims. The artist's fellow students were asked into Alma-Tadema's studio and were invited to jump through the canvas, the owner of it leading the way by leaping head first through the oily flames.

The other unsuccessful effort was a large sized square picture that came back again and again to its creator's easel until at last it was cut out of its frame and given to an old woman to use as a table cover.

The picture was praised by at least one person who appreciated its excellence, so Alma-Tadema used to declare, for the old woman was wont to remark that it was much better than those common oilcloth things that always let the water through, as the picture of Alma-Tadema's making was a good thick one, with plenty of paint on it.—Minneapolis Journal.

The Supposed Life on Mars.

Not only do the observations we have scanned lead us to the conclusion that Mars at this moment is inhabited, but they land us at the further one that these denizens are of an order whose acquaintance was worth the making. Whether we ever shall come to converse with them in any more instant way is a question upon which science at present has no data to decide. More important to us is the fact that they exist, made all the more interesting by their precedence of us in the path of evolution. Their presence certainly ousts us from any unique or self centered position in the solar system, but so with the world did the Copernican system the Ptolemaic, and the world survived this deposing change. So may man. To all who have a cosmolanetary breadth of view it cannot but be pregnant to contemplate extra mundane life and to realize that we have warrant for believing that such life now inhabits the planet Mars.—Professor Lowell in Century.

A Big Snowfall.

The heaviest fall of snow that ever took place in England occurred in 1615. The snow commenced falling on the 6th of January, 1615, and continued every day until the 12th of March following. It covered the earth to such a depth that passengers, both horse and foot, passed over gates, hedges and walls, which had been obliterated by the white sheet. On the 12th of March it began to decrease and so by little and little consumed and wasted away till the 28th of May.

A heavy fall occurred in Scotland in 1620, the snow falling thirteen days and nights with little or no intermission.

One of the heaviest falls on a single day occurred on the 21st of February, 1762, the snow in some places being from ten to twelve feet deep.

He Kept Count.

A famous animal trainer was talking to a reporter in New York. He said:

"The secret of animal training is gentleness. Nothing sudden or brusque must be done. An unexpected caress may anger an animal more than a kick in the ribs. Sudden, brusque, unexpected things never go, no matter how well they are meant. Once I was showing in Scotland. We trainers supped one night with a Scotch admirer. The old man was the soul of hospitality, but I admit I was rather startled when he leaned toward me and said:

"'Stick in, man Conklin, stick in. Yer frien' Coot's twa muffins ahead o' ye.'"

Translated.

"Habiliments For Infants" is a sign in a clothing store in Boston. A western visitor, seeing it, stopped in amazement.

"What does that mean?" he asked his better acquainted fellow westerner.

"That?" said the other. "Oh, that is Boston dialect for kids' duds."—Housewife.

He Knew.

It was afternoon, and there spoke the teacher of the village school:

"Now boys, the word 'stan' at the end of a word means 'place of.' Thus we have Afghanistan, the place of the Afghans; also Hindustan, the place of the Hindoos. Now, can any one give me another instance?"

"Yes, sir," said the smallest boy proudly, "I can—umbrellastan, the place for umbrellas!"

Since time is not a person we can overtake when he is gone, let us honor him with mirth and cheerfulness of heart while he is passing.—Goethe.

A Bibulous Lord Mayor.

Any one with a love of queer names should study the names of past lord mayors of London. Besides one or two that are merely uncommon and did not belong to men of any distinction, such as Sir Richard Spas, mayor in 482, there are some that deserve notice also for the sake of those who bore them. There was Sir John Brugges in 520, whose ancestor fought at Agincourt, when, curiously enough, the name had the more modern form of Brydges. There was Alderman Micajah Perry in 1730, who laid the first stone of the Mansion House, and Sir Benjamin Hamet, who was fined £1,000 in 1797 for refusing to act as mayor—positively a cheap way of getting out of it.

The most appropriately named lord mayor seems, however, to have been the cheerful Sir Robert Viner, who entertained Charles II. and drank the king's health so often as to become unduly merry. The king tactfully sought to retire, but Viner plucked him by the sleeve and vowed he should "stay and take the other bottle!" Charles II., never at a loss, complied, murmuring, "He that is drunk is as great as a king."—St. James' Gazette.

Awed by the Beau.

When Beau Brummel, the celebrated dandy, was, in consequence of his fallen fortunes, residing at Calais, he had occasion to visit Paris. Through the kindness of the consul at the former place he was enabled to accompany a king's messenger to the capital and thus travel free of expense. When the messenger returned, the consul was curious to know how he and his aristocratic companion had fraternized upon the road. "What kind of a traveling companion did you find Mr. Brummel?" asked he. "Oh, a very pleasant one, indeed, sir; very pleasant," replied the messenger. "Ah! And what did he say?" "Say, sir? Nothing! He slept the whole way." "Slept the whole way! Do you call that being pleasant? Perhaps he snored!" The messenger acknowledged that Brummel did so, but immediately, as if fearful of casting an improper reflection upon so great a personage, he added, with great gravity, "Yet I can assure you, sir, Mr. Brummel snored very much like a gentleman!"—Argonaut.

For Sandwiches.

Remember that just a little mustard and cress seed planted every week from now onward through the summer will provide you with material for dainty tea sandwiches for hot days. Mustard should be sown three days after cress.

THE WHISPER.

Of all the various modes of speech
Which polished art and nature teach
The whisper plays its part the best
With hints—which let you guess the rest.

That (rather Irish) wary ,"Whist!"
That (rather ancient) caution "Hist!"
The modern "Hush!" all warn you lest—
Well, whisper—you can guess the rest.

Folks say that it is very rude.
It is when generally viewed.
Still, when a man's a social pest
Just whisper—he will guess the rest.

Bores, tattlers, gossipers and such,
Who know, or think they do, too much—
If you would stop them I'd suggest
A whispered hint—they'll guess the rest.

—La Touche Hancock in New York Press.

Corrected.

A little girl in Rhode Island, the daughter of a clergyman, once sat at the table with a bishop who was visiting her father.

When they had finished she observed that he did not fold his napkin. Distressed, she said:

"We always fold our napkins here."

"Yes, my dear," said the bishop. "But that is because you use them again. In the case of a visitor you don't do that."

"Oh, yes, we do," said the little girl. —New York Life.

WITH A SURVEY PARTY IN THE CANADIAN NORTHWEST

F. M. Dela Fosse

My stay at the Creek was brought to an abrupt and welcome termination on the tenth day by the arrival of some half-breeds. I was fast asleep at the time, and was awakened by an ear-piercing yell from my slumbers. Starting up, my gaze encountered a dusky face, wreathed in smiles, peering in through the doorway of the tent. It took some little time to get my perceptive faculties in working order, but, this being accomplished, I inquired the nature of my visitor's business. He replied huskily that I had been "sent for." The appearance of his visage offered a double construction to his reply, but, preferring the mundane one, I got up and opened the door of the tent. An interesting sight met my gaze. Four of five half-breeds were busily engaged tethering their horses to carts, and a young lad of about fourteen years of age was frying some slices of pork over a fire. Blankets and camping paraphernalia were strewed over the ground. It was my first introduction to the dwellers of the plains, and they aroused my curiosity. Conversation was at first carried on under difficulties, owing to their using a patois which was about as intelligible to me as Greek to a South Sea Islander. After a time, however, they dropped into broken English, and things went along smoothly. They had brought a note from the chief, saying that the half-breeds would take me as far as the Forks, and that one of the men would meet me there with the ponies and carts to carry the goods on to the camp. There were several N.B.'s and P.S.'s to the note, cautioning me to keep alert, as he had doubts as to the honesty of the freighters. "Take an inventory of the goods," he wrote, "and hang on with your eye-teeth to everything. Give them four hundred of pork and four hundred of flour when they get you to the Forks, and if they try to soak you for more, tell them to go you know where. Hope you haven't been lonely."—F. J.

After breakfast, the inventory was taken, a proceeding evidently not to the liking of the gang, the goods were packed, and we started on our long trip over the prairie.

My Travelling Companions

Nothing worthy of special mention occurred during the entire five days' drive to the Forks. My companions were not inclined to be garrulous, but there was a sociable inquisitiveness about them all that had its disadvantages. Some of their habits were disgusting, their ablutions, particularly, were performed in a manner strongly resembling those of a cat. The young lad, too, was a thief, expert beyond his years. He was never happy unless he was rummaging amongst the baggage, but it was only when the goods reached our camp that the full extent of his delinquencies was revealed. The cook had lost his wife's photograph, Hookey a pair of boots, and Gill a couple of shirts. The worst loss of all, however, was that which had befallen myself on the road to the Forks, for the young lad had pilfered my one and only toothbrush. I came upon him one evening busily engaged in using it on his own ivories, on the banks of a small slough. He informed me, smilingly, that he had taken it just to see how it worked, and had intended putting it back when he had finished. "A good-natured man," it is said, "is another name for a fool." I smiled benignantly, and made him a present of the article. As we jogged along, day after day, under the cloudless sky, the half-breeds would keep up a regular sing-song of a strange and unmetrical French ditty, in which the word, "L'Amour" occurred pretty constantly. With this as a musical pabulum for the day, and the hawking and wheezing of Wells, who was dreadfully afflicted with asthma, as a soothing lullaby at nights my sufferings may be imagined.

Appearance of the Country

The country through which we passed, presented, if one might use a paradox, the same uniform variety of landscape throughout. The land was dotted all over with bones and skulls of defunct buffaloes. Sloughs of large and small dimensions, some clear as crystal, others of a thick, creamy consistency, were everywhere visible, their alkaline nature evidenced by the white deposits with which their banks were thickly coated. A peculiar bluish haze, stretching across the horizon, variegated at intervals with glimpses of lofty, chalk-like cliffs, rising above the level of the prairie, betokened where the mighty Saskatchewan was rolling in turbulence and power, to join its brother in the north. There were few birds, save isolated flocks of wild ducks and geese and occasional hawks and gulls. As we drew closer to the Great Sand Hills, a Sahara in miniature, tremendous, white cranes were to be seen, perched in solitude on the sand bars. Herds of antelopes were met with every day. The

The cart tracks, well worn into the ground, were simply pitted with gopher holes, and furrowed at right angles by innumerable buffalo tracks, but the sure-footed little ponies passed over every obstacle without mishap. But the desolation of it all! Not a habitation was to be seen in all the vast wilderness through which we passed. Although there were surveyors marking out every mile of the region, we only came across one human being in the entire journey, and he was a newcomer like myself and was searching for three oxen that had strayed from his camp. Two days after leaving him we came across the cattle on the trail, and Wells, looking on them as treasure-trove, added them to the cavalcade and took them along to the Forks.

The half-breeds, although their ideas in regard to the sacredness of property were distinctly unorthodox, were, in the main, quite religiously inclined. Every night before turning in, they would meet together and offer up their pater nosters and prayers, and their simple earnestness was really most impressive. Another thing that was impressive was the excellence of their marksmanship. They rarely missed anything they aimed at. Wells, in particular, was as near to being a dead shot as anyone can possibly hope to be in this world of clear aims but uncertain marksmanship. One day he shot a duck flying at full speed, clean through the head with a rifle bullet.

WORSE THAN ONIONS

Bad Breath From Indigestion Cannot be Overcome With Perfumes.

Nine-tenths of the offensive breath is a result of stomach trouble. It cannot be overcome by breath perfumes of any other palliative measures.

If you have a bad breath; if there is heartburn, flatulence and gulpings of undigested food; if the stomach burns or smarts; if there is sleepless ness, nervousness, headaches or any other symptoms of indigestion, use Mi-o-na stomach tablets and get well.

A 50 cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets lasts for a couple of weeks and will ward off a dozen mild attacks of indigestion, while its continued use will give an absolute and complete cure.

Wm. Midill has seen so many cures made by Mi-o-na stomach tablets that he gives a guarantee with every box to refund the money if it fails.

ROAD ROLLER STOPPED ON TRACK

Between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the street roller took a paralytic stroke on George street, near Brock street, while passing over the street railway tracks. Something went wrong with the piston, and the iron monster became inert mass, blocking car traffic for nearly an hour. All kinds of persuasion was used, but to no avail. Finally, about twenty-five men combined for a buck and slowly the machine was moved off the rails.

SUCCESSION DUTY RECEIPTS

Province of Ontario Collects $709,000—Agreement Among the Various Provinces.

EARLY ESTIMATE EXCEEDED

The receipts of the Province from succession duties have already exceeded the estimate of $600,000 for the year, made by Hon. Mr. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, in his last budget speech. Up to the end of July the Treasury had collected $683,000 from that source. Since that date a cheque for $106,000 has been received from the estate of the late Mr. N. Dyment of Barrie, bringing the total up to $789,000.

In the space of one week the department received $63,000 from the Pattee estate at Ottawa and $200,000 from the estate of the late Timothy Eaton in addition to the $105,000 already paid. The valuation of this estate has not yet been finally adjusted for purposes of taxation. Thus the Province may collect further payments or may, in case the estimate is reduced, remit some of the money already paid.

The Province of Saskatchewan has passed an Order-in-Council to enter into a reciprocal arrangement with Ontario regarding succession duties and the local Government will also pass an order to complete the transaction. This means that each of the provinces will collect the tax on the portions of estates located within their boundaries, making an allowance should the rate charged by one exceed that charged by the other. Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and British Columbia have already entered into similar arrangements with Ontario.

INCURABLE HEART TROUBLE

LOOKED FOR DEATH IN A SHORT TIME.

Entirely Cured by "Fruit-a-tives."

"Gentlemen,—The days of miracles are not all past and I feel that my complete recovery, from what seemed inevitable death, is practically a miracle. I suffered from severe Indigestion and Dyspepsia for nearly two years. I could not take food without fearful distress and I became almost a skeleton as the result of the suffering. I could not do any work and became so run down and weak that I could hardly walk. I was attended by two experienced doctors. They both pronounced my case heart failure and incurable, and I looked forward for death in a short time. I not only had the doctors but after they gave me up I tried many remedies and treatments but got no better.

At this time my son asked me to try "Fruit-a-tives," and from the outset of taking these wonderful tablets I was better and gradually this medicine completely cured me. I took a large number of boxes, perhaps a dozen, and now I am entirely cured and I have gained over thirty pounds in weight.

I am now so well that I have sold my farm and bought 200 acres more land. I make this statement voluntarily for the sake of humanity, and I am convinced that "Fruit-a-tives" is a wonderful remedy that will cure stomach trouble where doctors and everything else fail."

(Sgd) Henry Speers, J.P.

The doctors were all wrong. Mr. Speers had what we call "irritated heart." Indigestion and dyspepsia completely upset the stomach. Poisonous gases were formed which swelled the walls of the stomach and pressed against the heart.

"Fruit-a-tives" immediately strengthened the stomach, insured sound digestion and regulated the bowels. There were no poisons—no noxious gases remained in the system, and the heart was no longer irritated. Then the pain and fluttering stopped.

"Fruit-a-tives" is put up in two sizes 25c and 50c. If your dealer has not both, write Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Of all those present only Cherry Malotte divined even vaguely the real reason which prompted the man to do this. It was not "gameness" nor altogether a brutish stubbornness which would not let him quit. It was something deeper. He was desolate, and his heart was gone. Helen was lost to him—worse yet, was unworthy—and she was all he cared for. What did he want of the Midas, with its lawsuits, its intrigues and its trickery? He was sick of it all, of the whole game, and wanted to get away. If he won, very well. If he lost, the land of the aurora would know him no more.

When he put his proposition the Bronco Kid dropped his eyes as though debating. The girl saw that he studied the cards in his box intently and that his fingers caressed the top one ever so softly during the instant the eyes of the rest were on Glenister. The dealer looked up at last, and Cherry saw the gleam of triumph in his eye. He could not mask it from her, though his answering words were hesitating. She knew by the look that Glenister was a pauper.

"Come on," insisted Roy hoarsely; "turn the cards."

"You're on!"

The girl felt that she was fainting. She wanted to scream. The triumph of this moment stifled her—or was it triumph, after all? She heard the breath of the little man behind her rattle as though he were being throttled and saw the lookout pass a shaking hand to his chin, then wet his parched lips. She saw the man she had helped to ruin bend forward, his lean face strained and hard, an odd look of pain and weariness in his eyes. She never forgot that look. The crowd was frozen in various attitudes of eagerness, although it had not yet recovered from the suspense of the last great wager. It knew the Midas and what it meant. Here lay half of it, hidden beneath a tawdry square of pasteboard. With maddening deliberation the Kid dealt the top card. Beneath it was the trey of spades. Glenister said no word nor made a move. Some one coughed, and it sounded like a gunshot. Slowly the dealer's fingers retraced their way. He hesitated purposely and leered at the girl, then the three spot disappeared and beneath it lay the ace as the king had lain on that other wager. It spelled utter ruin to Glenister. He raised his eyes blindly, and then the deathlike silence of the room was shattered by a sudden crash. Cherry Malotte had closed her check rack violently, at the same instant crying shrill and clear:

"That bet is off! The cases are wrong!"

Glenister half rose, overturning his chair; the Kid lunged forward across the table, and his wonderful hands, tense and talon-like, thrust themselves forward as though reaching for the riches she had snatched away. They worked and writhed and trembled as though in dumb fury, the nails sinking into the oilcloth table cover. His face grew livid and cruel, while his eyes blazed at her till she shrank from him affrightedly, bracing herself away from the table with rigid arms.

Reason came slowly back to Glenister and understanding with it. He seemed to awake from a nightmare. He could read all too plainly the gambler's look of baffled hate as the man sprawled on the table, his arms spread wide, his eyes glaring at the cowering woman, who shrank before him like a rabbit before a snake. She tried to speak, but choked. Then the dealer came to himself and cried harshly through his teeth one word:

"Christ!"

He raised his fist and struck the table so violently that chips and coppers leaped and rolled, and Cherry closed her eyes to lose sight of his awful grimace. Glenister looked down on him and said:

"I think I understand, but the money was yours anyhow, so I don't mind." His meaning was plain. The Kid suddenly jerked open the drawer before him, but Glenister clinched his right hand and leaned forward. The miner could have killed him with a blow, for the gambler was seated and at his mercy. The Kid checked himself, while his face began to twitch as though the nerves underlying it had broken bondage and were dancing in a wild, ungovernable orgy.

"You have taught me a lesson," was all that Glenister said, and with that he pushed through the crowd and out into the cool night air. Overhead the arctic stars winked at him, and the sea smells struck him clean and fresh. As he went homeward he heard the distant full throated plaint of a wolf dog. It held the mystery and sadness of the north. He paused and, baring his thick, matted head, stood for a long time gathering himself together. Standing so, he made certain covenants with himself and vowed solemnly never to touch another card.

"That bet is off! The cases are wrong!"

At the same moment Cherry Malotte came hurrying to her cottage door, fleeing as though from pursuit or from some hateful, haunted spot. She paused before entering and flung her arms outward into the dark in a wide gesture of despair.

"Why did I do it? Oh, why did I do it? I can't understand myself."

CHAPTER XIV.

"MY dear Helen, don't you realize that my official position carries with it a certain social obligation which it is our duty to discharge?"

"I suppose so, Uncle Arthur; but I would much rather stay at home."

"Tut, tut! Go and have a good time."

"Dancing doesn't appeal to me any more. I left that sort of thing back home. Now, if you would only come along"—

"No; I'm too busy. I must work tonight, and I'm not in a mood for such things, anyhow."

"You're not well," his niece said. "I have noticed it for weeks. Is it hard work or are you truly ill? You're nervous; you don't eat; you're growing positively gaunt. Why, you're getting wrinkles like an old man!" She rose from her seat at the breakfast table and went to him, smoothing his silvered head with affection.

He took her cool hand and pressed it to his cheek, while the worry that haunted him habitually of late gave way to a smile.

"It's work, little girl—hard and thankless work, that's all. This country is intended for young men, and I'm too far along." His eyes grew grave again, and he squeezed her fingers nervously as though at the thought. "It's a terrible country this. I—I—wish we had never seen it."

"Don't say that," Helen cried spiritedly. "Why, it's glorious. Think of the honor. You're a United States judge and the first one to come here. You're making history; you're building a state; people will read about you." She stooped and kissed him, but he seemed to flinch beneath her caress.

"Of course I'll go if you think I'd better," she said, "though I'm not fond of Alaskan society. Some of the women are nice, but the others"— She shrugged her dainty shoulders. "They talk scandal all the time. One would think that a great, clean, fresh, vigorous country like this would broaden the women as it broadens the men—but it doesn't."

"I'll tell McNamara to call for you at 9 o'clock," said the judge as he arose. So, later in the day, she prepared her long unused finery to such good purpose that when her escort called for her that evening he believed her the loveliest of women.

Upon their arrival at the hotel he regarded her with a fresh access of pride, for the function proved to bear little resemblance to a mining camp party. The women wore handsome gowns, and every man was in evening dress. The wide hall ran the length of the hotel and was flanked with boxes, while its floor was like polished glass and its walls effectively decorated.

"Oh, how lovely!" exclaimed Helen as she first caught sight of it. "It's just like home."

"I've seen quick rising cities before," he said, "but nothing like this. Still, if these northerners can build a railroad in a month and a city in a summer why shouldn't they have symphony orchestras and Louis Quinze ballrooms?"

"I know you're a splendid dancer," she said.

"You shall be my judge and jury. I'll sign this card as often as I dare without the certainty of violence at the hands of these young men, and the rest of the time I'll smoke in the lobby. I don't care to dance with any one but you."

After the first waltz he left her surrounded by partners and made his way out of the ballroom. This was his first relaxation since landing in the north. It was well not to become a dull boy, he mused, and as he chewed his cigar he pictured, with an odd thrill, quite unusual with him, that slender, gray eyed girl, with her coiled mass of hair, her ivory shoulders and merry smile. He saw her float past to the measure of a two-step and caught himself resenting the thought of another man's enjoyment of the girl's charms even for an instant.

"Hold on, Alec," he muttered. "You're too old a bird to lose your head." However, he was waiting for her before the time for their next dance. She seemed to have lost a part of her gayety.

"What's the matter? Aren't you enjoying yourself?"

"Oh, yes," she returned brightly. "I'm having a delightful time."

When he came for his third dance she was more distrait than ever. As he led her to a seat they passed a group of women, among whom were Mrs. Champain and others whom he knew to be wives of men prominent in the town. He had seen some of them at tea in Judge Stillman's house and therefore was astonished when they returned his greeting, but ignored Helen. She shrank slightly, and he realized that there was something wrong. He could not guess what. Affairs of men he could cope with, but the subtleties of women were out of his realm.

"What ails those people? Have they offended you?"

"I don't know what it is. I have spoken to them, but they cut me."

"Cut you!" he exclaimed.

"Yes." Her voice trembled, but she held her head high. "It seems as though all the women in Nome were here and in league to ignore me. It dazes me. I do not understand."

"Has anybody said anything to you?" he inquired fiercely. "Any man, I mean?"

"No, no! The men are kind. It's the women."

"Come, we'll go home."

"Indeed, we will not," she said proudly. "I shall stay and face it out. I have done nothing to run away from, and I intend to find out what is the matter."

When he had surrendered her, at the beginning of the next dance, McNamara sought for some acquaintance whom he might question. Most of the men in Nome either hated or feared him, but he espied one that he thought suited his purpose and led him into a corner.

"I want you to answer a question. No beating about the bush. Understand? I'm blunt, and I want you to be."

"All right."

"Your wife has been entertained at Miss Chester's house. I've seen her there. Tonight she refuses to speak to the girl. She cut her dead, and I want to know what it's about."

"How should I know?"

"If you don't know, I'll ask you to find out."

The other shook his head amusedly, at which McNamara flared up.

"I say you will, and you'll make your wife apologize before she leaves this ball, too, or you'll answer to me, man to man. I won't stand to have a girl like Miss Chester cold decked by a bunch of mining camp swells, and that goes as it lies." In his excitement McNamara reverted to his western idiom.

The other did not reply at once, for it is embarrassing to deal with a person who disregards the conventions utterly, and at the same time has the inclination and force to compel obedience. The boss' reputation had gone abroad.

"Well—er—I know about it in a general way, but of course I don't go much on such things. You'd better let it drop."

"Go on."

"There has been a lot of talk among the ladies about—well, er—the fact is, it's that young Glenister. Mrs. Champlan had the next stateroom to them—er—him—I should say—on the way up from the States, and she saw things. Now, as far as I'm concerned, a girl can do as she pleases, but Mrs. Champlan has her own ideas of propriety. From what my wife could learn, there's some truth in the story, too, so you can't blame her."

With a word McNamara could have explained the gossip and made this man put his wife right, forcing through her an elucidation of the silly affair in such a way as to spare Helen's feelings and cover the busy tongued magpies with confusion. Yet he hesitated. It is a wise skipper who trims his sails to every breeze. He thanked his informant and left him. Entering the lobby, he saw the girl hurrying toward him.

"Take me away, quick! I want to go home."

"You've changed your mind?"

"Yes, let us go," she panted, and when they were outside she walked so rapidly that he had difficulty in keeping pace with her. She was silent, and he knew better than to question, but when they arrived at her house he entered, took off his overcoat and turned up the light in the tiny parlor. She flung her wraps over a chair, storming back and forth like a little fury. Her eyes were starry with tears of anger, her face was flushed, her hands worked nervously. He leaned against the mantel, watching her through his cigar smoke.

"You needn't tell me," he said at length. "I know all about it."

"I am glad you do. I never could repeat what they said. Oh, it was brutal!" Her voice caught, and she bit her lip. "What made me ask them? Why didn't I keep still? After you left I went to those women and faced them. Oh, but they were brutal! Yet, why should I care?" She stamped her slippered foot.

"I shall have to kill that man some day," he said, flecking his cigar ashes into the grate.

"What man?" She stood still and looked at him.

"Glenister, of course. If I had thought the story would ever reach you I'd have shut him up long ago."

"It didn't come from him," she cried, hot with indignation. "He's a gentleman. It's that cat, Mrs. Champlan."

He shrugged his shoulders the slightest bit, but it was eloquent, and she noted it. "Oh, I don't mean that he did it intentionally—he's too decent a chap for that—but anybody's tongue will wag to a beautiful girl! My lady Malotte is a jealous trick."

"Malotte! Who is she?" Helen questioned curiously.

He seemed surprised. "I thought every one knew who she is. It's just as well that you don't."

"I am sure Mr. Glenister would not talk of me." There was a pause. "Who is Miss Malotte?"

He studied for a moment, while she watched him. What a splendid figure he made in his evening clothes! The cosy room with its shaded lights enhanced his size and strength and rugged outlines. In his eyes was that admiration which women live for. He lifted his bold, handsome face and met her gaze.

"I had rather leave that for you to find out, for I'm not much at scandal. I have something more important to tell you. It's the most important thing I have ever said to you, Helen." It was the first time he had used that name, and she began to tremble, while her eyes sought the door in a panic. She had expected this moment, and yet was not ready.

"Not tonight. Don't say it now," she managed to articulate.

"Yes, this is a good time. If you can't answer, I'll come back tomorrow. I want you to be my wife. I want to give you everything the world offers, and I want to make you happy, girl. There'll be no gossip hereafter—I'll shield you from everything unpleasant, and if there is anything you want in life, I'll lay it at your feet. I can do it." He lifted his massive arms, and in the set of his strong, square face was the promise that she should have whatever she craved if mortal man could give it to her—love, protection, position, adoration.

She stammered uncertainly till the humiliation and chagrin she had suffered this night swept over her again. This town—this crude, half born mining camp—had turned against her, misjudged her cruelly. The women were envious, clacking scandal mongers, all of them, who would ostracize her and make her life in the northland a misery, make her an outcast with nothing to sustain her but her own solitary pride. She could picture her future clearly, pitilessly, and see herself standing alone, vilified, harassed in a thousand cutting ways, yet unable to run away or to explain. She would have to stay and face it, for her life was bound up here during the next few years or so, or as long as her uncle remained a judge. This man would free her. He loved her; he offered her everything. He was bigger than all the rest combined. They were his playthings, and they knew it. She was not sure that she loved him, but his magnetism was overpowering and her admiration intense. No other man she had ever known compared with him, except Glenister— Bah! The beast! He had insulted her at first; he wronged her now.

"Will you be my wife, Helen?" the man repeated softly.

She dropped her head, and he strode forward to take her in his arms, then stopped listening. Some one ran up on the porch and hammered loudly at the door. McNamara scowled, walked into the hall and flung the portal open, disclosing Stowe.

"Hello, McNamara! Been looking all over for you. There's the deuce to pay!" Helen sighed with relief and gathered up her cloak, while the hum of their voices reached her indistinctly. She was given plenty of time to regain her composure before they appeared. When they did, the politician spoke acidly:

"Malotte! Who is she?"

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

He was surprised at how the cures healed—"I took your New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been inflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the New Method Treatment for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish." W. NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, marked on the envelope 'Tender for Construction,' will be received at the office of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway at Ottawa, until twelve o'clock, noon, of Thursday, the 28th day of August, 1908, for the work required for the construction, in accordance with the plans, profiles and specifications of the Commissioners, of the following sections of the Transcontinental Railway, viz:—

District 'C'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, near Weymontachene, in the province of Quebec, at the north abutment of the Quebec bridge of Quebec, 196.83 miles west of Quebec (such point being on the boundary between Districts 'C' and 'D'), thence westerly for a distance of about 107 miles. Date of completion, 31st December, 1910.

District 'C'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, about 107 miles west of Weymontachene, in the Province of Quebec, thence westerly to the end of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company's contract, a distance of about 114.07 miles. Date of completion, 31st December, 1910.

Districts 'D' and 'E'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, being at the western end of Fauquier Bros.' Abitibi contract, in the Province of Ontario, in a westerly direction for a distance of about 150 miles. Date of completion, 31st December, 1910.

District 'F'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, about sixty miles west of the eastern boundary of District 'E', in the province of Ontario, easterly to the end of Fauquier Bros.' contract, north of Nepigon, a distance of about 160 miles. Date of completion, 31st December, 1910.

Districts 'E' and 'F'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, at the western end of Fauquier Bros.' contract north of Lake Nepigon, in the Province of Ontario, thence westerly to a point at or near Dog Lake, a distance of about 123 miles. Date of completion, 1st September, 1910.

District 'F'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, at or near Dog Lake, in the province of Ontario, to a point at or about mile 2.6 west of what is known as Minaki Crossing, by alternative routes as shown on the plans, a distance of about 23.76 miles by the northerly route, and 24.13 miles by the southerly route, the selection of the route to be at the option of the Commissioners. Date of completion, 1st December, 1909.

Plans, profiles and specifications may be seen at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Commissioners at Ottawa, and in the offices of the following District Engineers, viz.:—John Kennedy, Acting District Engineer, North Bay, Ont.; T. S. Armstrong, Nepigon, Ont., and S. R. Poulin, St. Boniface, Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners, and in accordance with the conditions contained therein. Separate tenders must be submitted for each section.

Tenderers shall not be in any way entitled to rely upon the classification, or any other information given by any officer on behalf of the Commissioners, before submitting any tender, but should make a careful examination of the plans, profiles, drawings, specifications, and read the forms of contract to be executed, and fully inform themselves as to the quantity and quality of the various materials, and character of work and plant required; and are understood to accept and agree to be bound by, the terms and conditions in the form of contract, specifications, etc., and to execute the form of tender.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, the signatures witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion of Canada, payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway as follows:—

On No. 1, District 'C'	...	$125,000
" 2, " 'C'	...	150,000
" 3, " 'D' & 'E'		150,000
" 4, " 'E'	...	150,000
" 5, " 'E' & 'F'		500,000
" 6, " 'F'	...	100,000

The person whose tender is accepted will be required within ten days after the date of the acceptance of the tender to deposit with the Commissioners; and, in any case of refusal or failure on the part of the person whose tender is accepted to comply with the above requirements, and to execute a contract with the Commissioners, and to furnish the additional approved security within ten days after the acceptance of the tender, the said cheque shall be forfeited to the Commissioners as liquidated damages for such refusal or failure, and all contract rights acquired by the acceptance of the tender shall be annulled. The cheques deposited by the persons whose tenders are accepted will be returned to the credit of the Receiver-General of Canada as part of the security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to the terms. Cheques deposited by tenderers whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The work in question is called to the following effect in the form of contract:—

"The mechanics, labourers, or other persons who perform labour for the purpose of the construction of the railway hereby contracted for, shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the district in which the work is performed, if there is no current rate in such district, then a fair and reasonable rate. It shall be determined by the Commissioners, whose decision shall be final."

"The agreement is subject to the Fair Wages Act now in force, or which may hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labour, which Act, or shall be, applicable thereto." The schedule of rates of wages determined upon by said Department will form part of the contract.

The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said works, as far as practicable, use only material, machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, provided the same can be obtained as cheaply, and upon such good terms in Canada as elsewhere having regard to quality and price.

The contractor shall conform to the regulations adopted by the Commissioners, and also to the laws and regulations respecting fires in the different provinces wherein the work is performed.

By order,

P. E. RYAN,
Secretary.

Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

WILL KEEP FLIES FROM CATTLE

A Mixture That Positively Gives Relief—Is Extensively Used.

IS VERY EASILY PREPARED

From The Canadian Dairyman.

A representative of The Dairyman and Farming World, while visiting recently in the vicinity of Hoard's Station, Menie and Campbellford, in Northumberland County, Ontario, found that a large proportion of the farmers were using a fly poison on their cattle and horses with excellent results. The mixture used is the Dr. Williams Fly and Insect Destroyer. It was first introduced into the section by Mr. Wm. Stewart, Jr., the well known breeder of Ayrshire cattle. Mr. Stewart was found cutting his hay crop but stopped long enough to chat with our representative on this subject. While he talked it was noticed that his horses, a light pair of drivers, never switched their tails, although the day was hot and they were standing in the sun. Mr. Stewart explained that he had sprayed them with this mixture, and then went on to describe how he first came to use it.

"While exhibiting at the Toronto Exhibition," said Mr. Stewart, "a salesman for this fly mixture asked me for permission to spray my cows as he noticed that I had them blanketed to protect them from the flies. I had tried all kinds of mixtures myself until I had given up all hope of finding any mixture that would be effective in keeping the flies off the stock and that would not have to be applied too often. At first I refused to allow him to spray my cattle but he was so persistent I finally gave him permission to spray my old bull. As soon as he did it I noticed that the flies left the animal and that the application seemed to give instant relief from the pests. I was so impressed with the results that I allowed the man to spray my cows also and I soon saw that they got the same relief. I took the blankets off every animal I had on exhibition and as long as I kept them sprayed they did not have any trouble with flies.

HOW APPLIED.

"The mixture is applied by a spraying machine that can be purchased for about 50 cents. The cows are sprayed once a day and it takes only two or three minutes to go over a whole herd. When the cows are in the stable you will never see a tail switch when we are milking and I am satisfied that they give much larger returns at the pail. At the Guelph College, where this mixture has been tried with success, Prof. Day reports that one gallon of it is sufficent to spray 350 cows. This means that the cost of applying the mixture is about one third of a cent a cow a day.

"I have been so impressed with the mixture that I now spray my horses with it and find that they obtain as much relief from its use as the cows do. The mixture browns the cows skin somewhat after it is applied, but as soon as their skin is washed this brown coating disappears. I told my neighbors about this mixture with the result that many of them are using it and they all seem to be as well pleased with it as I am. It is the best thing of the kind that I have ever used and if only for the comfort of the cows I think that every dairy farmer should use it or some other good mixture if they know of one."

Our representative visited the farms in the same section of Mr. Cleugh of Campbellford and Mr. Alex. Hume of Mennie. Mr. Cleugh stated that he considered that the money he had spent to purchase this fly mixture was one of the best investments he had ever made. "A lot of my neighbors have used it" he said, "and I am satisfied that it has saved both them and myself considerable money as our cows are giving more milk than they would have if we did not spray them with this mixture."

At Mr. Hume's farm our representative watched the spray being applied to his large herd of pure bred Ayrshire cows. It was noticed that as soon as the spray was applied, the flies commenced falling down the sides of the cattle until they fell on the ground dead. All the time the milking was in progress hardly a cow switched its tail. The mixture did not leave an unpleasant odor in the stable. During the day the two herd bulls, which were standing in the stable, did not have any trouble with the flies although the day was a warm one. Mr. Hume seemed to be as favorably impressed with this mixture as was Mr. Stewart.

It is not the custom of The Dairyman and Farming World to mention mixtures of this kind in our reading columns, especially when they are not advertised in our paper. In this case, however, we found that the farmers were deriving so much benefit from the use of this mixture that we decided to mention the circumstances for the benefit of our readers.

AVERAGE OF A WARSAW HERD

A Better Showing Than That of a Quebec Herd.

From The Canadian Dairyman.

At Ste. Emelie, Que., in June, 142 cows gave an average yield of 646 lbs. milk 3.8 test, 29.8 lb. fat. The best herd average was 831 lbs. milk 3.8 test, 24.3 lbs. fat. The highest yield of any one cow was 1030 lb. milk testing 3.5. The poorest herd was one of 13 cows that averaged only 392 lb. milk and 16 lb. fat. If the 13 cows in this herd had given only enough milk extra to bring them up to the average yield of all the 142 cows in the association they would have given enough milk in the month to make an extra 182 lbs. of cheese worth $30.00. That would not be much improvement to ask just to bring them up to the average, not the best herd; and if the cows are such that they cannot be made to yield an average quantity, should they be kept?

At Warsaw, Ont., in June, 118 cows gave an average yield of 929 lb. milk, 3.2 test, 29.9 lb. fat. The best herd average was 1048 lb. milk, 33.3 lb. fat from a herd of 26 cows. This association record is in rather sharp contrast to the one above, and indicates the great differences that exist between the results obtained in different sections of the country. Stated in another form, if the Ste. Emelie cows were as good milkers as those at Warsaw, they would have given an extra weight of 54,340 pounds during the month.—C. F. W.

LOOKS ARE DECEPTIVE

From The Canadian Dairyman.

In a great many things, looks, or the appearance of a thing counts for a very great deal. The surrounding and outside appearance of a cheese factory or creamery count for much. An untidy and slovenly appearance gives a different impression from that produced by neatness and good taste. So in a great many things, looks count for much, and the cheese and butter maker should see to it that the factories present a neat and attractive appearance, both inside and out.

One of the things in which looks don't count is in the milk cans, cream cans, milk pails, etc. A milk pail rinsed out in water after milking may look clean, while it may be far from being in that condition. There may be minute particles of dirt left in the seams of that pail, where innumerable bacteria will propagate, and be ready to operate on the fresh milk at the next milking time. So with milk and cream cans. At many cheese factories the sour whey is returned to the patron in the milk cans. Upon the whey being emptied, the can may be merely washed out with cold or luke-warm water, and may present a clean appearance, so far as looks go. But it is far from clean, and cannot be considered as clean until it is thoroughly washed with boiling hot water, and placed in the sunlight to dry. So with the factory utensils. Butter makers often make the mistake of thinking the churn clean, because it looks that way. But if left without a thorough cleaning and scalding after each churning bad flavors may develop and cause injury to the butter.

The patron supplying milk to a cheese factory or cream to a creamery, and both the cheese and butter maker cannot, therefore, depend upon looks alone. They must make sure that everything is clean. Half way washing will not do. Thorough washing and scalding are necessary in every case. It is the unseen things in dairying that do the most harm. These little infinitesimal things, they call bacteria, cannot be seen. If they could no one would have them lurking around in milk pails, milk cans, churns and vats to work their own sweet will. For this reason more than looks is required in cleaning all dairy utensils. A medium must be used that will reach these unseen things, and put them out of business, and that medium is plenty of scalding hot water. It will penetrate into all the cracks and crevices, and leave the utensils sweet and pure, as well as clean in appearance.

If everyone who handles milk in any way could be made to realize this, and to act upon it, what a revolution in the quality of our dairy products would be effected. Clean milk handled in clean utensils remains clean if properly kept, and assures cheese and butter of the highest quality being made. The dairyman must go deeper than mere looks. A box of butter may look good, and also a cheese, and looks count for a great deal, too, with these. But both may be far from being of prime quality. There must be something more than this, and that something can be attained by strict attention to cleanliness all along the line.

DO NOT BE HUMBUGGED.

More than ever, dishonorable and disreputable pharmaceutical concerns are flooding the market with cheap and worthless preparations designed to be imitations of DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY.

Some of these are even labelled "Extract of Wild Strawberry," "Wild Strawberry Compound," etc., in the hope that the public may be deceived and led to purchase them, thinking they are getting the genuine DR. FOWLER'S.

Are you willing to risk your health—perhaps your life, to these no name, no reputation, likely dangerous, so called Strawberry Extracts.

For sixty-three years DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY has been used in thousands of families for Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum and all Bowel Complaints.

Do not let the dishonest or unscrupulous dealer humbug you into accepting one of these cheap substitutes, to the detriment of your health and gain to his pocket.

Ask for DR. FOWLER'S and insist on being supplied with it. See that the name The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont., is on the wrapper. Price 35 cents.

COMMON DEFECTS IN BUTTER

New York Inspector Gives Valuable Information.

From The Canadian Dairyman.

The Dairy Division of Washington employs inspectors at large receiving centres to inspect butter and give advice to makers as to where improvements can be made. The work is giving satisfaction, and is proving of value to the trade. In a recent interview the inspector at New York city gave some information about the work that may be of value to Canadian butter makers. He said:

"I am seldom called to look at strictly fancy butter. The butter makers who nearly always make high quality and never get any kicks, don't have any need of my help, and consequently don't ask for it. Once in a while a single tub is marked in a shipment of these fine goods, and the buttermaker requests that I score the butter. This I am always willing to do, but my work is mainly to help the fellow who needs it. You will, therefore readily see that I am called to examine mostly creameries that have some faults.

"The defects that are most common at present are sour and summery flavors and curdy character. The extreme heat that has prevailed in many sections has made it difficult to keep down the temperature of the cream, and considerable of the butter gives evidence of over-ripened cream. This is the cause of much of the trouble, and will be during most of the summer. If it was merely a question of controlling the temperatures in the creamery, many of the butter makers would stay by their cream vats, but a great deal of the cream is shipped in too ripe, and it is impossible to fully overcome that difficulty.

"A great many of the creameries are pasteurizing at too high a temperature, and this produces a spongy, light-bodied butter, as well as an oily flavor, though I am inclined to think that the latter is mostly where the cream arrived quite sour. Occasionally I run across a creamery that is very heavily salted—so salty, in fact, that it tastes like brine when one bites into it. There is positively no excuse for this. If by accident too much salt got into the churn, it can be washed out and made usable, but in some cases it looks as if the excessive salt were put in deliberately."

be high enough for a standard of this kind."

SHORT WEIGHT GIVEN IN CHEESE

Nothing to be Gained by Dealings That Are Not Straightforward.

From The Canadian Dairyman.

There are always more or less complaints from shippers of short weight cheese. These may be due to one cause and another, for which the factorymen are not always to blame. Mistakes may occur in balancing the scale, or stenciling the weights on the cheese, which may work to the advantage of the factoryman, and sometimes not. Cheese shipped green will lose greatly in weight before reaching the old land.

This season these complaints have been more serious, and it may be possible that some factories are not doing the fair thing in the matter of weights. The Montreal Trade Bulletin of last week publishes a letter from a Bristol importing firm, in which some Canadian makers are blamed for systematically perpetrating fraud in weighing cheese, or in masking the weights on the boxes. This firm cites a case where a cheese marked 82 lbs., only weighed 70 lbs., or a loss of ten pounds or more to the buyer. The Trade Bulletin also cites several cases of shortage in weight. In one lot of 32 boxes there was a loss of 110 lbs. In another lot of 14 boxes, 7 boxes lost 1 lb. each, one box 11 lbs, and 6 boxes holding out O. K. Another lot of 29 boxes showed a loss of 131 lbs.

Cheese will shrink some in the shipping but when it comes to losses like those quoted the natural shrinkage in cheese will not account for them. Factorymen or makers will gain nothing in the long run by endeavoring to give short weight. Straightforward dealing is the only safe course. Every factory should give good, honest weight in every box of cheese shipped. When cheese are shipped a week or two from the hoops some allowance should be made for shrinkage. In some places it is the rule to allow a pound a box of the actual weight. With well cured cheese it is hardly the fair thing for the buyer to demand this of the factories. If every factory had given fair and honest weight in the past, perhaps this practice would not have become the standing rule. But it is better to do this than to have reports coming from the trade in Great Britain that our makers are defrauding in the matter of weight.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans—

1—At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

2—If the father, (or mother, if the father is deceased,) of the homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

3—If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Six months' notice in writing should be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.

CANADIANS ARE NOT CHEESE EATERS

Home Market Receives Culled Cheese—Condition is Improving.

SHOULD GIVE IT ATTENTION

From The Canadian Dairyman.

Canadians are cheese-makers, not cheese-eaters. A very small percentage of the cheese we produce is consumed at home, though the amount is increasing each year. In any case the home consumption of cheese is away below what it should be, and what it might be, if more attention were given to catering to the home demand. Our dairymen have paid little or no attention to the home market. It has been largely used as the dumping ground for "culls." Upon the unsuspecting patron has been loaded the "rejected," and what he could or would not take has been palmed off on the storekeeper in neighboring towns and villages. With hundreds of factories producing occasional batches of "culls," and which were gotten rid of in this way, the supply of inferior stuff loaded on to the local market was by no means small. Conditions have, however, improved in recent years. Fewer "culls" are being made, and, consequently the local consumer is getting better cheese for his own use. In the large cities, such as Toronto and Montreal, where large quantities are consumed, the trade is looked after by jobbers, who buy the season's output of a factory or two. Often, too, cheese rejected by the exporter, will be bought by the jobber for local use at considerable reduction in price. Thus it is, in one way or another, the inferior stuff, that will not pass muster for the export trade, that finds its way to the local market.

Under these conditions, is it any wonder that Canadians are not large consumers of cheese? They do not know what first-class, well-cured cheese is. What they buy for cheese is often nothing more than old curd. It is dry, leathery, unpalatable, and what is worse, indigestible. There is nothing in it to attract or to create a desire for more. People buy it because they think cheese is required to complete the bill of fare, and not because it will contribute anything to the nutritive value of the meal. Even if a well cured cheese is found on the local market, it frequently has some foreign flavor, that has been accentuated in the curing, making it anything but inviting. The person buying such cheese for well-cured stock, is not impressed with its quality, and prefers the less cured article, in which bad flavors have not had a chance to develop. It is far from being what well-made, well cured, pure-flavored, finely-textured cheese ought to be. The average consumer, even in the larger centres like Toronto, does not know what a well cured, well-made cheese is like. Judging from the quality he has to choose from, he wonders how it is the Englishman has such a fondness for Canadian cheese. It is seldom that he comes across a cheese that will create a strong desire for more of the same kind. He complains to the grocer that the last cheese was not to his liking. The grocer has something else to offer. The consumer trys it, with no better success, other than that he has got something different, but no better, and so it goes. There is no uniformity in quality, foreign flavors of all kinds are met with, and, for the most part, the cheese is uncured and unpalatable.

There has been, as we have already stated, some improvement in recent years, and the local market is getting a better quality of cheese than it did ten years ago. This has not been because any special effort has been made to cater to this trade, but because the general quality of the product in the country has greatly improved. The work of the instructors is decreasing the number of "culls" and there are fewer cheese rejected by the buyers. And thus, it might be said, in spite of the dairymen, the Canadian consumer is getting a better quality of cheese. The effect has been to greatly increase the home consumption of cheese. Mr. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy Commissioner, in his evidence before the Agricultural Committee of the House of Commons recently, stated that the decrease in exports could be accounted for to a large extent by the increase in the local demand for cheese. If, therefore, so much can be accomplished by a general improvement in quality, what might not be done by giving some special attention to the needs of the home market. Ways and means of doing this will be discussed in later issues.

USE STRAINING BAG FOR FRUITS

Serviceable and Easily Made—Used During Preserving Season.

From The Canadian Dairyman.

To make a flannel straining bag, take a square piece of flannel, ¾ yd. square is a good size), fold it to make a three cornered bag, stitch one of the sides, cut the top square across, bind the opening with strong, broad tape, stitch on this binding four tapes with which to tie the bag to a frame.

To use this bag, tie it to a strong frame or to the backs of two kitchen chairs. If the chairs are used, place some heavy articles in them; or the bag may hang on a pole (a broom handle) which rests on the backs of the chairs. A high stool turned upside down makes a good support for the bag, then pour in the fruit juice which will pass through comparatively clear. Before it is used the bag should be washed and boiled in clear water.

The skirt is cut in eight gores, and can be made with inverted plaited or habit back.

Material required for medium size is 10 ½ yds 24, 8⅝ yds 32, or 6¼ yds 44 in wide.

The pattern is cut in sizes for 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, and 32 in waist measure, and will be mailed on receipt of 10 cents.

BOX-PLAITED HOUSE JACKET 5816.

Simple house jackets are always in demand for they fill a definite, practical need. This one is laid in becoming box plaits, and is attractive at the same time that it involves very little labor.

Material required for the medium size is 4¾ yds 27, 3¾ yds 32, or 2⅞ yds 44 in wide.

The pattern 5816 is cut for a 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 in bust and will be mailed on receipt of 10 cents.

GIRL'S DRESS, 5752.

Here is a dress that can be made either with the square Dutch neck, or high and finished, with a standing collar. There are tucks at the shoulders that give needed fullness and breadth.

Material required for medium size (10 years) is 4¾ yds 27, 3¾ yds 32, or 2⅞ yds 44 in wide with 2 yds of wide and 10 yds of narrow braid.

The pattern is cut in sizes of 6, 8, 10, and 12 years, and will be mailed on receipt of 10 cents.

THE MAKING OF CHEDDAR CHEESE

Without Loss of White Whey—How to Prevent It.

From The Canadian Dairyman.

Is it possible to make Cheddar cheese with no loss of white whey? How can it be prevented? These are questions asked and answered in a recent issue of the New York Produce Review and American Creamery. One of the answers, by William Winder, a Wisconsin cheese maker, is given below. We would be glad to have the experience of Canadian makers on the points discussed:

"In answer to the first part of this question, I would say, yes. How it may be done would require rather a lengthy paper. There are many conditions when it is an impossibility. The first requirement is a vat of sweet milk free from any bad odors or taints, a small quantity of good commercial starter—say ½ per cent.—added to the milk, and then set sufficiently sweet or rather with the right development of acid to insure a sufficient time for a good cook. Raise the temperature to the cooking point in 1 hour and 40 minutes or thereabouts. If the acid development is about right the curd should be ready to remove whey in 2¾ to 3 hours. A string of ⅛ inch on the hot iron, or about .18 per cent. acidity, will be plenty at this stage. Although not necessary, a curd sink and racks are a real benefit and help in securing desired result. With the above acidity quickly get the curd on the racks and keep loose and free from matting until the curd attains a crisp and quite dry feeling. A handful will require quite a little pressure to expel any moisture if the curd is in proper condition. This may require four or five times stirring through with short intervals for draining, but it is not a difficult matter if well cooked and the proper amount of acid at dipping. Pile curd 6 or 7 inches deep evenly over sink and when well matted—probably 20 minutes—cut into strips of 6 inches wide and turn, leaving an inch or more between each piece.

"In a short time, or as soon as the underside of curd has faced up so as to pick up all loose particles turn again. It may be left single or if real firm and dry two deep will be all right. Turn at intervals until ready to mill. Two deep will be sufficient. Mill with 1⅛ to 2 inches of acid on hot iron or about .75 per cent. acid. Keep well stirred and at a depth of 6 or 8 inches. If curd is rather too stiff and firm a trifle higher piling will not hurt, but is not usually necessary if conditions are favorable and the curd has been properly handled. A curd of this kind will get ready to salt quite quickly, and I have had them when no moisture would drip from vat or sink until salt was added.

"The finest cheese I ever made were made in the way I have just described. Perfect as to texture and closeness and ready for the market in the same length of time as curds worked in the more moist and more general style. These firm curds, of course, require lighter salting. I do not say that one can keep from having white whey day after day, as common conditions will not permit it. Under proper conditions it is not only possible, but the finest results can be obtained."

HOW TO PRESERVE EGGS

Four Methods of Storing Them For Home Use.

From The Canadian Dairyman.

Many people wish to preserve eggs for home consumption, so we give below a few methods which have proven sufficiently satisfactory to warrant their use: Eggs to be stored should come from hens that have no males running with them; should be perfectly fresh and clean, for filth of any kind adhering to the egg will prove the medium through which the other eggs will become tainted. A dry, moderately cool cellar is the best place to store them.

Water Glass—There is probably no method which is more simple and more effective in the preservation of eggs than by the use of water glass (sodium silicate). Take ten parts of water which has been previously boiled and add to it one pint of water glass. This may be placed in a jar or tub and the fresh eggs added from time to time, always being careful to have at least two inches of the solution over the eggs.

Lime Water.—Another good preservative may be made as follows: 3 gallons of water, 1 lb. of salt and 1¼ pints of finely slacked lime. Mix thoroughly and allow the solution to stand a day or two and then remove the liquid by dipping or by means of a siphon. The clear liquid is then put into the vessel in which the eggs are to be kept, and the eggs added from time to time.

Bran and Salt.—Either one of these methods is reliable, but it must always be remembered to have at least two inches of either the salt or bran above the top layer of eggs.

Cold Storage.—This is doubtless the best method of all where it is possible, but owing to the limited number of storage plants throughout the country it will be necessary in many cases to resort to one of the previously mentioned methods.

Mr. W. T. Comber, B.A., Wadham College, Oxford, and University College, Toronto, is prepared to receive into his house three or four boys between the ages of nine and thirteen, to educate with some other boys of the same age. Terms on application.

Mr. Comber is about to establish in Bobcaygeon a school for young boys. The new school building will be ready for occupation in September, 1903. Prospectuses will be issued in the course of the coming school year. 4ds-166

BROKEN IN HEALTH.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restored Strength After Medical Treatment Had Failed.

"I can truthfully say Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me what one of the best doctors in Halifax failed to do—restored my health." This strong statement is made by Mr. Wm. J. Weaver, 172 Argyle street, Halifax, Mr. Weaver adds:—"A few years ago I took employment in a large factory as fireman. I knew the work would be hard, and friends told me I would never stand it, but as I was a strong man, weighing 180 pounds, I laughed at the idea of not being able to do the work. Anyhow I started and found the job a hard one indeed. There were a number of firemen employed and men were taking and quitting the job every few days. I kept at the work for two years and during that time lost 50 pounds weight, and was a broken down man. I could not take my meals and often took my dinner back home with me without touching it. When I would be working on the night shift I could not sleep in the day time, and this added to my trouble. Finally I became a total wreck and had to quit the work. I could hardly drag myself about, and yet had become so nervous that I could not sit still and would walk about the house until I was ready to drop. The doctor came to see me every day, and changed the medicine time and again, but it did me no good. Finally he wanted me to go to the hospital, and at this stage a friend came to stay with me overnight. While he was reading the evening paper he came across the testimonial of a cure wrought by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He said, why don't you try them, nothing else is helping you and they may do you good." He went out and got me a box at once. When this was done I got a half dozen boxes, and before they were all gone I began to feel like a new man. I continued using the pills for a couple of months when I was again as well and as strong as ever I had been in my life, and I have not seen a sick day since. I feel confident there is no remedy in the world equal to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for building up a broken down and nervous system, and for such trouble I would strongly recommend them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure such cases as Mr. Weaver's because they make the rich, red blood that feeds the starved nerves and tones and strengthens every part of the body. That is why they cure anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, paralysis and other troubles due to bad blood and shattered nerves. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

THE REPAIRING OF FARM MACHINERY

A Kit of Tools Necessary for Small Repairs.

From The Canadian Dairyman.

Many of us do not realize the full value of making minor repairs to our machinery and implements upon the farm. By having to drive to town to get repairs, one loses much valuable time, besides paying the mechanic two or three prices for what he could just as well do himself. The time has arrived when small repairs must be made at home if one would reap the fullest returns from his labor.

Many of us have provided ourselves with the tools necessary for these repairs. Others year after year persist in borrowing such from a convenient neighbor or driving off to town to get the broken parts repaired, while in the meantime the crops are becoming overripe, or are being unduly exposed to the elements. Had provision been made for making repairs at home the work would have been greatly facilitated, besides making a direct saving of time and money.

It costs but little to install the few tools that will answer for ordinary purposes. With a hand-saw, a rip-saw, bits of various sizes, a brace, chisels, nails, and a selection of varying sizes of carriage bolts, it is wonderful the repairs that can be made on ordinary breaks.

If we have been caught this season without the necessary kit for making the repairs that were sorely needed and which cost us loss of time as well as our good hard money, let us provide for such emergencies in the future. There should be no excuse for any farmer driving off to town to have his hay rake repaired, a new stick put into his hay tedder, a pole spliced, or to get a bolt to take the place of one which was lost or broken. Be prepared for any contingencies of this nature and you will have no cause to regret it.

So far as lies within our power, we try to admit to the advertising columns of The Canadian Dairyman and Farming World the advertisements of those firms only that we know to be reliable. Our protective policy, which is calculated to safeguard the interests of our readers, is published on the first column of this page. Read this over carefully. When writing to advertisers, always mention that you saw their advertisement in The Canadian Dairyman and Farming World. Then you will reap the full benefit of our protective policy.

THE GATES OF HELL!

Written for The Examiner by R. Farthing, Park St., Peterboro'

A babel of sound. The rythmic clank of the car-wheels; the hollow echo of the bridges; the tumultuous roar of the rock-cuts, mingled with the scraping of fiddles, the asthmatic grunting of accordeons and the shrill wheezing of mouth-organs. The car was crowded. A veritable congress of nations. Dark skinned Italians, ear-ringed and mustachioed sat side by side with flaxen-haired Finns and Swedes. Swarthy Greeks, drank amicably out of the same whiskey bottle with greasy Russians. North and south, east and west, all were there, from the roving Englishman to the money-seeking Galician. For it was the close of the season. The railway, preparing for the freeze-up, was disgorging the surplus of its labour. From section and extra gang all were flocking to the towns.

Jack Mitchell, in his corner seat; with hat drawn over his eyes, feigned sleep, the better to ensure against interruption of his thoughts. The motley crowd, many of whom had toiled by his side through the sweltering heat of summer, instinctively forebore to approach him with proffered drink and ready joke. Lost in reverie, he was unconscious of the surrounding clamour save when perhaps a stray word rising above the din, would penetrate his absorption and divert his thoughts into new channels.

At the far end of the car, a party of Hungarians, were singing a plaintive air, to the accompaniment of two violins. The song was descriptive of two youthful lovers parted by adversity.

The words "doubra gutchina" reached his brain. Yes, he thought, she was a good sweetheart, and everything else was good. He mentally reviewed the past. He lived it again. Their first meeting, and the knowledge that he, John Mitchell, who had denied the very existence of love itself, leave alone such a fantasy as love at first sight, was led captive at a glance. The knowledge that she, betrayed shamelessly by her speaking eyes, was also in bondage, failed to comfort him at the time. In fact, it increased his half-felt alarm. No man who has lived solely to himself relishes at first the bitter sweet knowledge that henceforth he is but a part, a fraction of the glorious unity of two lives merged in one. The first movement is instinctively one of alarm. Afterwards he loves the chains of love for the sake of their confining power.

"Dorothy," it was a pretty name. "Dollie," he reflected, was silly, babyish, but "Dorothy" was the sure index to her own dark-eyed self. "Dorothy" Courtland, and soon to be "Dorothy Mitchell."

He recalled the evening when after being raised to the seventh heaven with her shyly uttered "Yes," she had cast him hence, by bidding him go.

"For you see, Jack," she had said, "the world at large, and even I, knows you only for an idler, a butterfly of wealth enjoying that which you have not created. Within my heart of hearts I know you are a true man, but prove it to the world."

"You love me!" he interjected.

A warm blush mantled in her cheeks.

"Yes," she said, "my answer could never be different, even if you were all that is bad. But what I am going to suggest. (Perhaps it is a mere girlish whim), is this, go into the world, a man with two strong hands, and work with them for twelve months. Earn your living for a year and then return to me. I cannot love you more, but my reverence and respect for you simply as a man will be increased." She continued, half laughingly, "I do not ask you to do this. I simply suggest. Convince me of your ability to wrest a living from the world with nothing but your hands."

Well, he had gone. (Nothing had seemed too much for him to perform and a thing like simply earning his bread for a season did not daunt him. He had drifted about here and there, keeping faithfully to his promise. It had been hard at first. His hands had bled and his back had nearly broken, but he had been repaid a hundred fold. Life now was a new delight every waking hour, and he secretly pitied his former bleached self, as he dyed his sun-browned, clear-eyed countenance in the dim window reflection.

The violins wailed on, the notes tripping in queer, casual-Oriental chromatics from the players' flying fingers.

Women, he thought, are of three kinds. Those who have souls, those who have devils, and those who have nothing but empty heads.

Dorothy, however, he decided, was of neither kind, she ranked even above the women with souls.

The air of the song suddenly changed to a lively Csardas measure. Ah! The fond lovers are united at last. The wedding dance, the feasting, the merry-making, all leaped hotly from the bows of the players, who with fiery eyes and bodies swaying in unison, threw themselves, hearts and souls into the wild spirit of the music.

Their joyous abandon quickened his pulses. The car seemed hot and stuffy. He rose. "Soon," he said to himself, "that dance will be more applicable than it is now. Dorothy is waiting at the end of the journey. The year will be finished, and then —"

Out on the platform, the fresh cool air swept refreshingly across his brow. The car rocked like a ship at sea. He swayed easily with it, drinking in the calm evening beauty of the flying landscape.

Suddenly a shrill whistle screamed from the engine. The brakes bit, and ground shrieking as they gripped the wheels. Then, with a hellish roar and crash the car lurched violently, swayed and rising bodily, seemed to dissolve with a crashing and rending of timber, into chaos. He was conscious of a violent concussion, of a sharp, sudden pain, piercing like a fiery sword, then all faded away swiftly in the merciful darkness of unconsciousness.

When at length in slow recurring waves of feeling his senses at last returned, he was lying fast pinned beneath the wreckage. He turned his head with difficulty, and wondered vaguely what had happened. He heard the roar of escaping steam, and above it, permeating it, was a shrill confused sound, rising and falling in irregular waves. With a creeping of his skin he listened to it, realizing that he heard the groans and cries of human beings in agony.

His head was throbbing, and a warm stream of blood trickled sluggishly over his face.

He heard the excited cries of the train crew; the weeping of the uninjured, mingled with the noise of crashing axes.

A whiff of smoke swirled over his face. He turned his head and peered into the tangle of brake beams and timbers ahead of him. His face paled and stiffened. The wreck was on fire.

He tried to see what was being done. All that was visible to him was the occasional hurried passage of some excited official. He shouted with all the strength he was capable of. Again and again he raised his voice despairingly. Would no-one heed? He looked in the direction of the fire. It was nearer, immediately near. Red tongues of flame were lapping the woodwork not a dozen feet away. Already he could feel the heat and the smoke drifted over him in steadily increasing waves of suffocating blackness.

He shouted again. A girl, passing hurriedly by, her hands full of stripe torn from her clothing, on her way to where the injured were being placed, heard. Something familiar in that shout for help caught her ear. Dropping her impromptu bandages she approached in the direction of the voice and peered, crouching, beneath the wreckage.

"Jack!" she gasped.

"Dorothy."

At a glance she grasped the situation. She arose hurriedly.

"Do not leave me" he entreated, but she was gone.

Presently she returned, a can of water in her hands.

"It will be all right" she said cheerily. "They are coming with the axes and lifting jacks".

She held the water to his lips reaching a slim arm in to him. He drank greedily.

"That's good," he exclaimed.

The minutes passed slowly, each one an eternity. The fire began to speak. At first in faint crackle, it now roared. The heat was overpowering. The iron rods, twisted into fantastic shapes, that held him prisoner, grew warm, then hot. The girl was in an agony. She bit her lip till the blood ran, but her sobs overpowered her.

"You must be brave, little girl," he said quietly.

"Oh Jack," she wailed "what can I do. How can I help. Ah, it is my fault," she continued wildly, "If I had not sent you away, proudly and desiring to glory in your manliness, you would not be here now."

"Hush!" he said, falling naturally into the role of comforter. "Tell me how did you come to be here on the same train. Your presence surprised me. Quite a delightful surprise, I assure you," he concluded, forcing a matter of fact tone into his voice.

"I wanted to surprise you" her mind readily diverted from the approaching terror of the fire. "I have been keeping in touch with all your movements, and I meant to greet you at the end of your journey"

"But this is the middle of it" he joked hiding his anguish. "But now that you have accounted satisfactorily for your presence, will it please your highness to bring me some more water."

She startled up readily enough, but then, something in his white set face told her this purpose.

"No," she said, "I will not leave you."

His hand relaxed over the revolver that he had stealthily drawn.

Ah, I was right," she shrieked, her eye catching the faint glimmer of the clumsily concealed weapon, "and you would send me away! Oh Jack, Jack!"

He soothed her as one might soothe a frightened child, grasping her hand and patting it.

She lay, wild eyed, panting upon the earth.

His soul was smouldering.

She was praying, wild, broken, incoherent words wrung in sobs and gasps from her agony.

He lay quietly, still grasping her hand, his flesh blistering and shrinking in the intense heat.

He could bear it no longer. He raised the revolver. Her eye caught the faint gleam of the barrel reflecting the ruddy glare of the fire. "No" she cried. "Not that, dear God, not that." Then remembering the torture that was rapidly approaching. "You will let me go with you. I could not bear to be left alone.

He nodded grimly, writhing in agony as he lay. Great waves of heated air, as from a furnace passed over them, leaving them gasping and choking. He could not delay much longer. He cocked the trigger. The faint click caught her ears. She writhed and moaned in her despair.

A quick scuffle of feet behind them. A horrified exclamation.

"My God! Hold on there. Quick! Axes, Jacks, water."

A bucketful of water skilfully thrown, saturated his clothing, imparting a delicious feeling of coolness. The pistol fell limply from his hand.

The men without worked as if possessed.

It was a race with Death and they meant to be victors.

As they toiled they hoarsely shouted rough words of encouragement. Dorothy had fainted and had been gently dragged from the way. At intervals more water was thrown over him.

At length the imprisoning beams were hewn through. The ironwork was lifted. Tenderly they extricated him. Once free, he stood, swaying as it drunk a bloodstained, smoke-begrimed figure, clothed in half-burnt rags.

"You were just in time" he said thickly, and then he fainted like a woman.

* * * *

"You are free from pain!" asked Dorothy some hours later, as she bent tenderly over him as he lay swathed in bandages.

"I am in Heaven!" he said weakly, looking into her eyes. "And you are the angel who brought me here. Ah, Dorothy, we escaped luckily. Unlike some of the others we have plucked happiness from the very gates of Hell, and what we have won so dearly —"

"We will prize it more highly," she softly concluded, kissing him.

TAXING OF THE LAND ONLY

A Fairer System and Farmers Prefer it To Old System.

From The Canadian Dairyman.

The present system of assessment is all wrong. I really fail to see where there is any fairness in the tax at all. I am about the largest taxpayer in this section simply because I have improved the buildings and brought them to the shape they are now in. It is all very fine to say why do I not leave the buildings as they were and not improve them. If a man's business grows he has to have more and better accommodation, taxes or no taxes.

My idea of taxes is that the land value only should be taxed, not the buildings. Then there would be more of a uniformity about the tax. For instance, my neighbor and I might have two farms and on each there is exactly the same sort of buildings, and the land is of the same value. We both are taxed exactly the same at that time. I go to work and pull down one of my old buildings and put up a more modern one as I require more room. The consequence is I am assessed up high for my improved barn, and yet my neighbor who has identically the same land as myself is let off simply because he is content to be behind the times and let things go, or in reality mostly because he is afraid of the tax.

It is high time it was altered and a more uniform method of taxation brought forward. There seems an undercurrent of feeling against it among the farmers generally. I should not be surprised if they begin to agitate pretty strongly for its removal.

Buffalo Police To Charge Sutherland's Slayer And Accomplice With Murder; Believe The Dying Man Withheld The Name

His Wife, Daughter, Frederick J. Fisher, a Boarder, And Two Other Boarders Detained By The Police—An "Inside Job," They Think.

VARYING STORIES TOLD

Buffalo, Aug. 8.—Despite the confession of Mrs. Anna Sutherland to the effect that Alexander Sutherland, the former Peterborough Canadian, received his death wound during a struggle with the woman in an endeavour to prevent her from committing suicide, the police late last night had not ceased their activities, and are working on the assumption that the case is one of premeditated murder. The police and Assistant District Attorney Daniel V. Murphy acknowledged last night that there were several discrepancies in the version of the tragedy told by Mrs. Sutherland and the story told by her daughter, Lillian Sutherland. It is also acknowledged that the State intends to make capital out of these differences, but their precise nature Mr. Murphy refused to reveal.

A charge of murder in the first degree was placed against Mrs. Sutherland last night, and the daughter, Lillian Sutherland, is held as a witness. It surety is made for the appearance of the three boarders as witnesses at the trial, all of them will be released to-day.

Woman Sought Revolver

The police yesterday discovered that Mrs. Sutherland had purchased the revolver a full week before the tragedy at the pawnshop of Amdur & Son, 95 Seneca street. When confronted by the salesman yesterday, Mrs. Sutherland acknowledged that he had sold the revolver to her; and she was positively identified by him as the woman to whom the sale was made.

Substantially Mrs. Sutherland's confession is to the effect that her husband was shot while trying to prevent her from ending her own life. Sutherland had been out of work for a long time, and even when he was working he did not contribute anything to the support of herself or the household, she said. She grew morbid when she contemplated several months' rent overdue, and a large unpaid bill at both the butcher's and grocer's. The climax to her troubles came when the man, always morose and lacking in that support and tenderness she expected from her husband, accused her of misconduct with the boarders.

Courage Failed her

The night before the fatal shooting the woman retired with her daughter at 10 o'clock, she said. When the girl was asleep she arose and dressed herself and drew the revolver from its place of concealment. She lacked the courage to end her life when the crucial moment came, she said, and for hours she paced the room in her little home, 1383 Niagara street, thinking over all the occurrences of the twenty-five years of her married life, back to the time when a girl 18 years old she pledged her faith to Sutherland. When the gray dawn broke, she

Many Improvements To Houedry Brothers Warehouse Are Now Being Completed

The old Bridge Works buildings facing Dalhousie street and the spur line of the C.P.R. are undergoing extensive improvements. Mr. Morice Houedry, the present owner of the property, has had a number of men at work for some time making preparations for the large harvest of peas he expects to be brought in by the farmers who obtained seed from him last spring. The northern part of the building, that nearest Sherbrooke street, has been rented by Mr. W. E. Genno, who is transforming it into a roller rink. A solid brick fire wall is being built between that section and the rest, which Mr Houedry is reserving for the handling of peas.

This large part is on the Dalhousie street side. New flooring is being laid where necessary, which will serve until next year, when the whole building will be floored. All the interior has been cleaned and whitewashed and is most presentable.

A Grain Chopper

Mr. Houedry has recently installed a grain chopper to be run by electricity. He expects to begin work with it next week. Electricians have almost completed the wiring of the building, incandescent lamps being used throughout. This is a decided improvement, as it will now be thoroughly lighted. The grain chopper is for the convenience of farmers and townspeople, and all kinds of grain will be handled. The building is now well lighted both night and day, is bright and clean, and well adapted for the purposes intended.

Mr. Houedry has also enlarged his offices, equipping a private office, and adding two new desks.

First new Peas

He states that only a medium crop of peas will be harvested this year. A little green bug has wrought considerable destruction. This week the first shipment of this year's peas was received. Messrs. R. Miller and J. Henderson of Otonabee together brought in some 400 bushels. The quality is very good. Mr. Houedry will be very busy from now on, as the shipments are expected to arrive steadily.

A new department of the seed business will be opened by the firm, whose main office is in France. Mr Houedry intends to handle all kinds of garden seeds. They will be sold to retailers, and the success of this part of the business in Europe justifies the expectations that it will be duplicated here, as the firm grows their own seeds, having specialists to look after their culture.

Large Prize List, Fast Races And Vaudeville Acts For The Peterborough Fair

The directors of the West Peterborough Industrial Exhibition are making arrangements for what promises to be one of the best fairs in this part of the country. One of the features will be the horse races which are being made specially attractive. The dates of the fair are September 17, 18 and 19, a little earlier than usual.

The exhibition building will likely be entirely occupied and there is every prospect of a good midway. The directors are doing their best to encourage the people of this county to take an interest in the exhibition and to manifest it by exhibiting their stock. The prizes for horses, cattle, swine, poultry, etc., are tempting and it is hoped that a larger number of entries than in former years will be received. The entry lists will be ready in a few days and those wishing to receive one can do so by writing to the Secretary, Mr. Hall.

In front of the grand stand each day a high-class vaudeville programme will be given. There will also be an evening performance when the grounds will be profusely lighted.

A SPLENDID CALENDAR OF EVENTS PREPARED FOR THE CIVIC HOLIDAY

Perhaps no holiday in the year is appreciated more by the people of Peterborough than is Civic Holiday. It comes at the time when the weather is hot and therefore gives a brief respite to the tired toilers of the factory, store and office. Peterborough folk on that day also are looked upon with envy by all others. They are the honoured few. The day is one of the best in the year's calendar and all that is necessary to make glad the hearts of the citizens on that occasion is the benevolent smile of that oft-repeated personage—the weather man.

Where shall I go? This is the question on the lips of everybody a week or more previous to the drawing of the morning of Civic holiday. On this occasion Peterboroughians will probably have some difficulty in deciding. Read these suggestions, make up your mind on one and forget the rest. If you are disappointed, treat the matter philosophically and be thankful for the outing wherever you go.

Printer's Excursion

The Printers of Peterborough will run an excursion to Idyl Wyld, per steamer Otonabee. Boat will leave Wolfe street wharf at 8.15, returning about 9.30. This will make an ideal outing and should be largely patronized.

Gores Landing and Rice Lake

The steamer Monarch will leave Wolfe street wharf at 10 a.m., for Gore's Landing and Idyl Wyld, returning at 8.30 p.m.

The Ball Games

For those who remain in the city no better place can be found than Riverside Park in the morning and afternoon. St. Marys of Toronto will be here to play the Petes. Best games of the season. Between times the Crystal, Bowling Alleys, Lawn Bowling Green, Golf Links and Jackson Park are among the favourites.

Stony Lake Regatta

Large crowds are preparing to go to Stony Lake to see the annual aquatic sports, a list of which appeared some time ago in the Examiner. Those who go by train will be accommodated by the fast and spacious steamers of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company. The morning boats will be at the lake at 11 o'clock. The steamer Water Lily will make a special trip, leaving the Wolfe street wharf at 8 o'clock and returning at 8 in the evening.

To Jubilee Point

The trip down the Otonabee of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and Catholic Order of Foresters will be another of the more prominent holiday events. The excursionists go by steamer Rainbow and palace barge to Jubilee and those who attend are assured of a pleasant day.

Otonabee Road Race

For the residents in the southern suburban districts, the 5 mile road race will be the feature. This will be run in Otonabee, beginning at 9 a.m. The entries and course are published elsewhere

At The Driving Park

The most exciting sport of the day will be the horse-races at the Driving Park. They begin on Monday afternoon and the Peterborough Turf Club assure all visitors that they will be entertained by some of the best races ever witnessed in Peterborough. When selecting your utopia for Monday keep an eye on the horse races.

A FORMER PETERBOROUGH GIRL IS KILLED AT MUSKOKA WHARF BY A FENDER FALLING FROM THE BOAT

Miss Nora Lehane, daughter of Dennis H Lehane, 320 Wellington street west, Toronto, and a cousin of Mr. Alfred H Lehane, 263 McDonel street, was fatally injured on Muskoka Wharf on Thursday night.

She was among the crowd awaiting the arrival of the Muskoka Navigation Company's steamer Kenojah. As the boat, bearing its happy crowd of pleasure-seekers, swept in against the wharf, one of the fenders broke away and fell with great force among the waiting people below. The heavy timber struck Miss Lehane on the head and arm, crushing the skull and fracturing the shoulder blade.

With all possible speed the injured girl was hurried to Victoria Hospital, Allandale, but, in spite of everything that could be done, she died at 1.10 this morning.

Miss Lehane, who is a stenographer for the Canada News Company, was spending her two weeks' holiday at Dorset, Muskoka, in company with a friend, Miss Lellis, of Toronto.

Her vacation was shortened by the news that her father, Dennis Lehane, who is cashier on the Canada Railway News Company, was stricken with paralysis on Tuesday, and in company with Miss Lellis she was hurrying home when the accident happened.

The gloom cast over the Lehane home by the sudden illness of the father was intensified by a wire from Mrs. Lellis, giving them the news of the daughter's death. The father is unaware of his additional affliction, being still unconscious from the effects of Tuesday's paralytic stroke. The Lehane family formerly lived in Peterborough.

Woman Said To Have Left Husband And Family—Passed Through City With The Other Man To Stony Lake.

THE EXPRESSMAN'S STORY

From the statements of one of the local expressmen, an eloping couple passed through Peterborough yesterday evening. They arrived on the 5.38 p.m. G.T.R. train from Port Hope, got off here and changed trains going on to Lakefield and probably Stony Lake. A gentleman coming in on the same train told the expressman to watch the party, as they were eloping. He also said the woman was married and had left her husband and family to be with this man. They did not keep together while at the station. Each bought their own tickets. The woman changed her hat and one or two other articles of her outer clothing and appeared very nervous. She watched the man from a window of the ladies' waiting room and finally joined him as the Lakefield train started to pull out.

ESCAPED ON A BOOM

Letter Received From Mrs. Peck At Fernie—Husband And Wife Separated—The Damage Done —Many Narrow Escapes.

SAVE THEIR CLOTHES ONLY

There was a letter received yesterday from Mrs. J H Peck, dated Fernie, Aug. 3, 1908, in which she stated that there were only 14 houses standing. The large Elk Lumber Company's mill was completely destroyed and all the lumber. Over 30 persons were either burned or killed, and 62 met death in a lumber camp. Mrs. Peck said it was a terrible sight to see the city in flames on every side and many lost their homes, clothing and money. They had a most anxious time for some hours as Mr. Peck could not get into communication with his wife until 7.30 in the evening and when he did manage to the had to go through the fire and cross the river on a boom. In the meantime the fire was so great that Mrs. Peck was only able to save their clothes and leave the house to save her life.

Some kind friends took them in and at Tuesday they left for their home in Vancouver, feeling very thankful that their lives had been preserved, and their suffering less than those of many others.

POST-REGATTA DANCE MONDAY AT THE PAVILION

After the presentation of prizes won at the regatta of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association on Monday next, there will be a dance in the pavilion.

All visitors from Peterborough will be interested in knowing that they can enjoy the hop till midnight and reach home by special boat—Stoney Lake—and train, the latter leaving Lakefield for the city at 1.50 a.m. This is a convenience which will be appreciated.

ALLEGED HOUSE-BREAKERS WERE AGAIN REMANDED

George Forbes and R. Peace, the two strangers that are being held on a charge of breaking into Mr. E. G. Patterson's residence last Saturday, were remanded this morning until Friday next. Forbes wanted some of the money which the police took from them, but Chief Ruzel could not hear him. The chief is evidently securing the country for some news about his prisoners.

Hiawatha Indian And His Faithful Trainer, Dick Baker, Home From Old London

Latter Tells of Their Sojourn in The Old World—The Canadian Athletes Were Favourites.

WEATHER TOO HOT FOR THE CANADIAN MARATHON RUNNERS

MR. "DICK" BAKER,
Who returned home this morning from London.

SIMPSON FOR THE HERALD

The five o'clock train, which passed through Peterborough this morning, brought with it Messrs. Fred Simpson and Dick Baker, who have just returned to Canada from the Olympic games. The Toronto athletes as well as Manager Crocker and Trainer Sherring were also on board.

Fred Simpson, the Hiawatha Indian, with the usual characteristics of his race had no sooner landed in Peterborough than he took the Hiawatha road for home to see his wife and children, after the eight weeks' absence across the Atlantic. Trainer Dick Baker states that Simpson is now feeling in the best of condition and that he walked to Hiawatha.

Mr. Baker, in speaking to the Examiner of the trip and the famous games, was very enthusiastic over them. He had a splendid time while abroad and while disappointed somewhat in the showing of the Canadians in the Marathon, was pleased to see the splendid showing Simpson made in the trials. He attributed the rather poor showing to the sultry weather on the day of the big race. Prior to it the Canadian Marathon men had been training in cool and rainy weather, and there is no doubt in his mind that Simpson would have been one, two or three. Out of the twelve Canadians eight finished, showing that Canada produces the finest class of runners in the world. Both Simpson and Baker received commemorative medals of the event, and these they prize very highly.

Speaking of Young, the Canadian cyclist, Mr. Baker spoke in glowing terms of his work in pacing the Englishmen to victory. Young intends to visit here again in a short time.

The thousands of English folk all along the Marathon course were all cheering for Canada. The Dominion athletes were, outside of those of the British Empire, the most popular, and they were given the times of their lives.

Simpson, his trainer states, will be entered in the Hamilton Herald and the Ward Marathon, and he believes the Indian has an excellent chance of winning both these events.

EIGHT RUNNERS SIGN FOR OTONABEE ROAD RACE CIVIC HOLIDAY

With eight entries for the Otonabee Athletic Club's road race, which will be held on Monday morning in the township to the south, there promises to be great excitement. The course will be that published in yesterday's Examiner. The starting point is at the two mile post beyond the Locks Bridge on the River Road, and the runners will take a southerly course for two and a half miles, then back again to the spot they left.

The prizes will be silver and bronze medals for the first and second man home. The starters will be Messrs. Jas. Rose and Sylvester Shaughnessy. Messrs. W K Huston and H McCaffrey will be judges at the halfway turn, and Messrs. Thos. Spears and Geo Rose judges of the course. The race begins at 9 a.m. The entries at 12 o'clock to-day were:

Jimmy O'Brien, Peterborough.
Albert Smoke, Chemong.
Geo. Fowler, Peterborough.
Archie Rose, Otonabee.
Everett Kidd, Otonabee.
Sidney Skidmore, Peterborough.
Jimmy McMartin, Otonabee.
Bertram Crose, Peterborough.

SASKATCHEWAN WHEAT OF SPLENDID QUALITY

Mr. Wm. Ayres has received, by mail, from his daughter, now visiting in the Northwest, three heads of wheat plucked a week ago at Nanton 40 miles south of Calgary. The heads are of fall wheat and six inches in length and though not quite ripe gives promise of a splendid yield. Miss Ayres also writes that at Gleichen, 30 or 40 miles east of Calgary, the oats are standing thick five feet high. Mr. Ayres received a letter from his son at Adams, Saskatchewan, where last year he homesteaded a quarter section. He has 18 1-2 acres in crop and similar land adjoining is worth $17 an acre. Not so bad for a farm which cost practically nothing—the Government fees and a small sum for improvements. These instances show that the west is the home for the young man who wants to make his way in the world.

STONY LAKE REGATTA

The Steamer Water Lily will run a special trip to Stony Lake on Monday, August 10th (Peterborough's Civic Holiday) leaving Wolfe Street Wharf at 8.00 sharp, returning at 8.00 p.m. Return Tickets 75c. Children 40c. 2d-6

WRITES TO CHIEF ROSZEL FOR HISTORY OF THE WOMAN

Chief Ruzel this morning received a communication from the Chief of Police Buffalo, enquiring about the character of Mrs. Alex. Sutherland, The latest development in the case is that the woman will be charged with murder in the first degree. Both she and her husband, whom she acknowledges she shot, were former residents of Peterborough, hence the reason of the Buffalo police endeavouring to obtain some knowledge of the couple before they went to the United States.

SPORTING EVENTS THAT WILL APPEAL TO MONDAY'S CROWD

Two sporting events of prominence will be held on Monday, Civic Holiday. They are the morning and afternoon baseball matches between the Petes and St. Mary's, of Toronto. The one at 10.30 a.m. and the latter at 3.00 p.m. The games will be held at Riverside Park.

There are also the horse races at the Driving Park. The Turf Club is holding a two days' meet on Monday and Tuesday, with a fast card on the first day and another good one on the second. A string of horses are here for each event, and some great sport is expected.

THE AUDITORIUM ROLLER WILL BE OPENED IN THE OLD BRIDGE WORKS BUILDING

The Auditorium is the name of the new roller rink which will be opened by Mr. W. E. Genno on or about September 1 in the northern end of the old Bridge Works building. The floor space for skating will be 75x150 feet, and a new floor of clear maple is being laid. The building is undergoing a thorough renovation, and Mr. Genno states that it will present a pleasing appearance when thrown open to the public.

A gentleman's smoking room, a skate room and a lady's room will be fitted up in an acceptable style. Six hundred pairs of Winslow's improved roller skates are being procured from Chicago. The wheels are of fibre, which provides against blackening the floor, an undesirable feature of the steel wheels. When one falls there is no danger of injuring clothes, as the floor will be practically free from dust.

The entrance will be on George street, north of Sherbrooke street. A walk will be constructed out to the street and lights placed all along it. The entrance at the street will be arched with the words "Auditorium Roller Rink," and rows of lights. The band will be engaged regularly, and Mr. Genno, who is an expert on the rollers, will give free lessons to those desiring to learn.

A gang of men will rush the work in order to complete it at least before Labour Day.

A WHARF-SIDE DANGER.

The sad death of Miss Lehane, a former Peterborough young lady, at a Muskoka wharf, as recorded in our news columns, is a lesson that might be applied on, especially, Stony Lake waters. At the wharves at Lakefield, McCracken's, Juniper Island, Julian's Landing and Burleigh there are covered by those awaiting incoming steamers. They crowd close to the steamer. The fender, suspended by a rope from the steamer's side, is pressed against the edge of the wharf and great leverage is exercised. If the rope breaks, the fender, generally a very heavy piece of timber, springs suddenly and violently shoreward, and, as in Miss Lehane's case, anyone within range is subjected to great danger of fatal injury. Most of the persons thus crowding a wharf have no business there, they are mere summer idlers, merely anxious to see who is on board and to greet those they know. This is a great temptation, but it should be remembered that there is danger. One remedy would be to rail off the wharf a safe distance from its edge, leaving, of course, space for the gangway. This might not effect a certain immunity from accident by a broken fender lashing, for there are some who would invade the danger zone, as is done every day in the city by persons who crawl under the gates at railway crossings and incur the risks these gates were intended to remove.

AERIAL NAVIGATION.

Germany has up-hill work in trying to compete with Great Britain in building naviws, that is aquatic navies, and has entered vigorously upon the enterprise of constructing an aerial navy, Count Zeppelen's air ship seems to have been a practical solution of the attempt to construct self-sustaining and steerable crafts, but the destruction of his airship by lightning gives a setback to the enterprise for the present. Navigation of the air may become a possibility for science has wrought more improbable things. It will be some time, however, before flying ships will constitute a serious menace to war operations. It is feared by some that if flying warships are made possible battleships at sea, fortresses on land and cities will be placed at the mercy of bombs and explosives dropped with deadly facility from mid-air. This might be done if airships would be permitted to operate without let or hindrance. But, to use the slang of the day, "the other fellow" would be doing something. It is, of course, impossible to make the skin of an airship as impervious to projectiles as the hull of a warship, with its denser sustaining medium of flotation, and it would seem easy to find the range of an airship and to smash it to smithereens. If, it is possible as we all know it is, to send a dirigible torpedo a mile or two under water against the flanks of a warship and disembowel its vast bulk, and put it out of commission forever, science or inventive genius will accomplish some sort of dirigible sky rocket which can play a similar game of smash with an airship. So far in war equipments, offensive and defensive, no evil has been devised that has not been met with an antidote.

No doubt the air ship is coming but it has not yet arrived. The chief place it has in affairs is to contribute to the accident columns of the newspapers. But half a century ago, a quarter of a century, five years ago the ocean cable, the telephone and wireless telegraphy were as much subjects of popular scepticism and problematical attainment as is the airship to-day. Yet these are all outlived surprises, as will be the airship ten years hence.

A GOOD RECORD.

The Liberal party has been in power for twelve years. It has been three times triumphantly returned at the polls. It has carried on enormous public works. In a period of unexampled progress and development. It has spent hundreds of millions of dollars in opening up and developing the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific. And yet in all that time and with all that vast expenditure of public money, not a single charge of wrong-doing against any member of the Government or of the Liberal party in the house has been preferred. Slander and scandal-mongering have filled the air and the columns of the Tory press, but when has anyone dared to charge a specific instance of wrong-doing? Search the records from the opening of the Liberal term in 1896 down to the close of the last session, and you cannot find a single case where a definite charge that could be met and investigated has been made by any member of the Opposition.—Halifax Chronicle.

THE PRINCE AND THE FRENCH TONGUE.

However republican modern France may be, the speech of the country is likely to be described for many a day as the language of courts. The country of Talleyrand has given the world the language of diplomacy and politeness. During the recent visit of the Prince of Wales at Quebec, several dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church remarked with satisfaction on His Royal Highness' ready use of the French tongue and his apparent enjoyment of conversation in that language. In this respect the Prince of Wales sets an example to many Canadians of British descent who, it seems, are too indifferent to become acquainted conversationally with any language but their own. The education of young Canadians is decidedly lacking in practical modern language instruction, as the High school graduate discovers, when he attempts to put his "exercises" into practice. If it were only for the pleasure of reading the works of some of our own poets in the original, it would be worth while for the modern citizen of this dual-tongued Dominion to learn the language of Frechaze.—Canadian Courier.

UNCLAIMED BALANCES.

A parliamentary paper recently issued at Ottawa, dealing with the unclaimed balances and unpaid drafts and bills of exchange in the chartered banks of Canada, is of peculiar interest. It shows that there are in this country, as in others, people who are careless about small things, and unmindful of the trouble they cause. A balance in the bank of a few cents causes as much bookkeeping as thousands of dollars, and when it is remembered that many of these small balances have been left for scores of years, an idea will be gained of the labour they have entailed. Some of them date back to the first half of the last century. For instance, the Bank of Montreal has held for seventy-eight years $5.05 for a Montrealer, who must have long since passed away. Some twenty-five years ago two Hamiltonians left one cent each in their respective accounts in the Bank of Hamilton, and ever since, the clerks in making up balance sheets, have been obliged to repeat these trifles, and clerks for years to come are likely to continue the work.

But these unclaimed balances are by no means all trifles. Six years ago a remittance in drafts amounting to $1,200 was sent from Scotland to the Bank of Nova Scotia for a lady of Kingston, Jamaica, to whose credit it is still lying, and, it would seem, is likely to lie. Another lady, who when last heard of resided in Michigan, might at any time since 1892 have drawn something like $2,000 from the Bank of Hamilton. But the fact that she cannot be traced is taken to mean that she is either dead, or, if living, does not consider the sum mentioned worth troubling herself about. A similar amount has lain for years in the Bank of British North America, to the credit of a clergyman, who certainly should be able to do good work with the money.

To publish all these unclaimed balances, year after year, necessitates the compiling and printing of a blue-book of some seven hundred closely printed pages. The custom of publishing it has long prevailed, and while the idea is a good one, the suggestion has been offered that were the smaller items omitted, and only those of, say, $25, and upwards included, the book would be reduced to a much smaller and more handy size, and there would be far better chance of the object sought being attained. The suggestion has force, for to make known to the world year after year that, for instance, a balance of three cents lies in one of the banks to the credit of John Smith, really seems farcial. To say nothing of the trouble the banks are put to in carrying these trifles, their omission would save considerable labour on the part of the departmental clerks at the capital, and mean a reduction in the printing bill.—London Advertiser.

NOVEL VISITING CARD

The Russians tell a story of the late Czar Alexander III. that upon the rare occasions when it was incumbent upon him to pay a call he would take a gold coin bearing his "image and superscription" and, twisting it between his thumb and finger, leave it in lieu of a card, the only man in Russia who had strength for the feat.

AN OUTSIDE VIEW OF CANADA.

Friendly and appreciative articles on Canada have appeared in American newspapers in recent years. There is an improvement in this respect all along the line. An article which appeared in the Cleveland Leader a few days ago compels attention because of its breadth, sympathy and insight, and deserves all the prominence which it receives in the current issue of Office and Field.

The writer of this article was musing over the Tercentenary celebration and his musings carried him far away from the superficial aspects of the celebration. It made him ponder over Canada, "a great empire within a greater, a virtual republic under a monarch's flag, a realm of immense open spaces and unmeasured natural resources, only beginning to find itself as a power in the world of industry and commerce, and a factor in the progress of mankind."

The language is not that of a boomster. Enthusiasts might take issue with the writer when he says that "the fertile land which is not too far north or too high above the sea to have fairly good climate may constitute a comparatively small part of British America, but it is sufficient for a great population, and the creation of great wealth." But it is just because the estimate is moderate that it is valuable. If "Every event," says the writer, "which centres the attention upon Canada turns a searchlight upon crude forces, vast spaces, huge stores of natural wealth—all that makes a young land worth the study of those who concern themselves with the larger movements of human progress."

In truth it is not necessary in talking of Canada to use superlatives. It is not necessary to make comparisons of the agricultural possibilities of Canada with those of the United States or of any other country. Vanity may feed on such comparisons, but that would be a poor use to make of the opportunities lying in our vast undeveloped estate. It has been said that the twentieth century belongs to Canada, but the phrase will have little meaning unless it means that Canada will profit by the experience of older nations, emulate their virtues and avoid their faults, and make some noteworthy achievement for the progress of civilization and the betterment of the lot of humanity.—Toronto Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Victoria, B. C., Colonist thus administers rebuke to its confreres on the Conservative side of the national family. "We stand for a rigorous investigation into the administration of public affairs, for the prompt disclosure of all that is wrong, for the pointing out of all errors of policy. But we hold that a constant attack upon the personal integrity of public men and the reiterated assertion that they are all alike corrupt and dishonest bring the country into contempt abroad and do incalculable mischief at home. They constitute a great national evil."

NEW WORLD'S RECORD MADE FOR 100 YARDS

Abergavenny, England, Aug. 8 (Special) — R. E. Walker, the South African sprinter who won the final of the 100-metres dash at the recent Olympic meet, yesterday broke the world's record for 100 yards. His time was 9 2-5 seconds, one-fifth of a second less than the record made by Dan J. Kelly, at Spokane, Wash., June 23, 1906.

WADDELL IS WORTH THE PRICE

There were various reports floating about last winter as to what St. Louis paid for the release of "Rube" Waddell, but whatever the amount was, Waddell has paid for himself several times over, for he has proved a tremendous drawing card for the Browns. In fact, the Browns drew 20,000 persons one day at Philadelphia when it was advertised that Waddell was to pitch while the next day there were only 3,000 on hand. In addition Waddell has pitched four games against his old club and won them all.

C. P. R. and Striking Machinists Settle Down to Long Fight.

FEW SKILLED APPLICANTS

Most of Those Applying For Jobs Are Englishmen Out of Work and Foreigners—Officials Say They Are Doing Well—Men Declare Their Ranks Are Increasing—Breakdowns At Toronto.

Winnipeg, Aug. 8.—The C.P.R. strike seems to have already taken on an appearance of settled monotony.

Neither at the strike headquarters nor at the offices of the company was there any excitement yesterday morning. There were a few men working around the shops and around the roundhouse there were enough men to get the locomotives out on time for the departing trains. In the coach yards the cleaners were hard at work and with the exception of the groups of pickets scattered around the company's premises there was nothing to indicate that a strike was in progress.

J. H. McVety stated yesterday that there had been no suggestion on the part of the men toward approaching the company with a proposal of settlement. Neither had there been any suggestion from the company that such a suggestion would be entertained. He said that the union had received no word of the coming of any strike breakers and he did not know whether the company was proposing to fill the places of the local men who went out.

Montreal, Aug. 8.—The strike situation yesterday remained without any developments of importance.

Bell Hardy claims on behalf of the men that so far the situation is most encouraging, the ranks of the strikers being constantly supplemented by others who are throwing down their tools from time to time.

On the other hand, the C.P.R. does not appear to be disturbed. As regards the Angus shops, the company state they have all the carpenters that they want, and the car building department is proceeding with its work as usual.

The C.P.R. have engaged a number of men and have the Angus shops working with a force of 150. It is said by the company that a thousand applied for jobs. There are 91 special constables around the works, and pickets at every gate, trying to dissuade men from working, but they do nothing more. The men taken on are mainly English mechanics out of work, and glad of any lucrative job.

Poles and Russians are offering themselves by hundreds, but are receiving no attention, as they are very largely unskilled labor.

In all there are now at the Angus shops some thirteen hundred men, but a great majority of them are laborers and are only partially employed, owing to lack of work caused by the strike of the skilled mechanics.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 8.—At a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council, a delegate from the Machinists Union, speaking of the C. P. R. strike, declared it was reported that Mr. Bury, of Winnipeg, had stated that he would kill the labor organizations inside of five years.

The council agreed to support the strikers in every way possible.

West Toronto, Aug. 8.—Ten or fifteen applicants for work at the C.P.R. shops were turned back by pickets yesterday morning.

Altogether there are now not more than 20 men in the shops including the yard employes, most of whom are Italians.

There are already 700 cars disabled in the local yards, and breakdowns are taking place all along the line. The broken cars are then switched on to the sidings and allowed to stay there.

Turkish Officials Jailed.

Constantinople, Aug. 8.—All the prominent officials of the Palace Camarilla who had not previously fled the city or been incarcerated, were yesterday arrested.

They include Bizot Pasha, the former Minister of War, and Raghib Pasha, one of the court chamberlains. Raghib was taken only after a stubborn resistance.

He had barricaded himself in his house and opened upon the police with a rifle from an upstairs window.

Warrant For Mother.

Brantford, Aug. 8.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Mrs. Whitfield, mother of 3-year-old girl Ethel, for whose arrest the high court issued an order this week.

The mother is charged with aiding the child to avoid being taken. Thus far Sheriff Watt and his officers have failed to secure any clue to the child's whereabouts. Mrs. Whitfield was here Wednesday, but has gone to the United States, it is alleged, with the child.

Union Label On Funeral.

Albany, N.Y., Aug. 8.—An unusual sight was witnessed here yesterday when during the progress of a funeral drivers on the carriages suddenly jumped from their seats and refused to proceed unless the driver of the hearse, whom they claimed was a non-union man, was replaced by a union driver.

The undertaker finally secured another hearse and union driver.

Skeleton In Sand Pits.

Brockville, Aug. 8.—The skeleton of a human being was discovered in a sand pile on the farm of Wm. Reed, near Prescott. There are no means of identification and the circumstances are involved in mystery.

Col. Leslie Now Must Face Charge of Taking $10,000.

WIFE PAYS OVER $25,000

Magistrate Denison Says City's Action In Seeking Restitution and Neglecting to Prosecute Is "Squeezing" and Illegal—Judge Winchester May Probe Entire Affairs of Exhibition.

Toronto, Aug. 8.—The arrest of Col. J. Knox Leslie, ex-treasurer of the Exhibition, charged with the theft of $10,000 from the funds of the Association created a fresh sensation in Toronto yesterday. His wife handed over to the city $25,000 in payment of the deficit, and Col. Leslie was released on $20,000 bail.

Only a few minutes before his arrest on the new count Col. Leslie had the earlier charge of misappropriating funds of another company dismissed in the police court.

Col. Leslie appeared in court yesterday morning before Magistrate Denison to face the charge of having misused $2,000 which he received from Chas. H. Dee for stock in a company. The accusation was one of false pretenses. The Crown Attorney asked leave to change it to one of theft.

EX-TREASURER LESLIE.

This the magistrate would not do, but dismissed the case, binding Col. Leslie in $200, however, to go before the grand jury.

Just as Col. Leslie was leaving the court he was arrested by Detective Kennedy on the second charge. An information was handed to the bench and the ex-treasurer again arraigned. He pleaded not guilty and was bound over to appear again.

The total amount of Col. Leslie's shortage, as far as has been learned, is $25,000.

The new turn of affairs has strengthened the Board of Control's views on the subject of asking Judge Winchester to investigate exhibition affairs in general, and it is now thought that the probing will begin early in the fall.

The Mayor is strongly opposed to prosecution of Col. Leslie, on the ground that what the city wants is restitution and not to exact the law's penalties, which might result in the city's failing to recover the amount of the shortage.

The information laid by Crown Attorney Corley charges the colonel with having, during 1907-8, stolen $10,000 from the Industrial Exhibition. The charge was read by the magistrate, and H. H. Dewart, K.C., counsel for Col. Leslie, registered a plea of not guilty. The Crown Attorney asked for a week's remand, and bail was fixed at $20,000.

Magistrate Denison's instigation of crown prosecution precipitated by his becoming aware that on the shortage being discovered last week Col. Leslie was kept under detective surveillance until security had been given. The magistrate was aroused because the police department had dropped the case after being called in, and attacked the Mayor's procedure in keeping Col. Leslie in charge while obtaining the money from Mrs. Leslie, by "squeezing the money out of the women by means of the law."

Director Robert Fleming thinks the former city auditors are to blame and should be sued.

The worthless cheques and I.O.U.'s which Col. Leslie claims represent loans indiscreetly made, do not exhibit any large, individual amounts, so it is stated, and, on good authority, it is learned that none bear the signatures of any member of the exhibition board or any official of greater or lesser degree connected with the association.

Canada As Treaty-Maker.

London, Aug. 8.—(C. A. P.)—In the Free Trade Congress the right of Canada to do as she pleases with respect to commercial relations with the mother country and foreign nations was urged with considerable emphasis by Alexander McFee of Montreal.

He complained that France had not ratified the recent treaty, although it had become law as far as Canada was concerned.

"Bobs" Sails.

Quebec, Aug. 8.—The steamer Empress of Britain, with Lord Roberts, Lord Strathcona and a large number of passengers, left port at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon for Liverpool, amidst the cheers and good wishes of a large crowd of English-speaking citizens, congregated on the pier.

Hadn't the Penny; Shoots Himself.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Gus Schoenbeck, foundry foreman, lost $750 at poker, and entering without a cent his home at 3,607 Robey street, met his seven-year-old daughter Mary.

"Papa, give me a penny for candy," said the little girl.

Schoenbeck stepped into an adjoining room, picked up a revolver and sent a bullet crashing into his body.

EIGHT ARE BURNED TO DEATH

Steamer Wrecked and Destroyed by Fire at Lake Winnipeg.

REST OF CREW MAROONED

Dominion Fish Company's Vessel Premier Goes Ashore in Storm On Desert Coast and Turns Turtle—Resulting Conflagration Claims Eight—Same Gale Thought to Have Destroyed Other Boats

Winnipeg, Aug. 8.—At least eight persons met a horrible death by burning on board the Dominion Fish Company's steamer Premier, some two hundred miles up Lake Winnipeg, early Thursday morning after the vessel had been driven on to treacherous reefs near Warren's Landing turned turtle and caught fire.

In addition grave anxiety exists for the fate of the crew and other passengers. The known dead are:

Madame Couture of St. Laurent, Man.

Miss Copaz, school teacher, Winnipeg.

W. W. Fryer, Jr., of Selkirk, son of a big local merchant.

W. Overton, Jr., son of manager of Dominion Fisheries Co., of Selkirk.

Palmer Jones, Jr., son of Captain Jones of Winnipeg, owner of company.

Cook and cook's mate, names unknown.

The disaster occurred at the far end of the lake in trackless wilds and a couple of hundred miles from any telegraphic communication, the first news being brought to Selkirk late last evening by the fishing tug Wolverine, which passed some of the wreck on the way south from Norway House.

From scant information to hand, it appears that the Premier, which is a large fishing steamer, chartered to carry two hundred passengers, besides freight, was caught in the heavy gales of Wednesday last and after vainly battling all day and half the night was finally driven on to the reef where she turned turtle in shallow water, catching fire and cremating at least eight persons.

In the same storm three fishing crafts were wrecked on Spider Island and fate of another fishing tug is unknown.

The ill-fated Premier was a sister ship to the Dominion Fish Company's vessel Princess, which was wrecked about the same time last year on Snake Island, some half dozen persons losing their lives.

Lake Winnipeg has a sinister reputation, and its shores are strewn with the bones of vessels caught on its inhospitable shores in gales which in summer tear up its shallow waters, no haven offering in all its length and breadth. After that tragedy, Commander Spain, held a Government enquiry which resulted in censure being passed on the crew for deserting passengers.

No word is obtainable as to the Premiers' crew, but it is supposed they escaped and are marooned on the bleak coast line.

Welcome to Fleet.

Auckland, Aug. 8.—Already the city of Auckland is ablaze with flags in honor of the fast approaching American fleet and interest in the visit of the warships is running high.

Parliament yesterday adjourned for a week in order to enable the members of the two Houses to devote themselves to the entertainment of the visitors. Only two members, both Maoris, objected to adjourning. They explained the Maoris were in no way enthusiastic over the much heralded arrival of the fleet, "because of the attitude of the Americans on the color question."

Detroit Divorce May Be Invalid.

Windsor, Aug. 8.—Provincial Detective Mahoney has been investigating a Detroit "quick" divorce suit and a charge of bigamy may be laid against a resident of Chatham and Wallaceburg. It is alleged that he secured a divorce from his wife in Detroit after swearing that he had been a resident of Detroit for a period of two years. The bill was filed on March 9 and a decree was granted on July 10. Two weeks ago he married another woman in Chatham.

18 Months For Stolen Wheel.

London, Aug. 8.—Herbert C. Woodman, an Englishman, was sentenced to eighteen months in the Central for stealing a bicycle.

Edward Fenn and John Dawes who drove a horse through a party of merry-makers were sent for trial at the September sessions, bail being fixed at $1,000 each.

John Bolton, of Crumlin, was badly injured in a runaway accident in the east end.

Wants Fastest Motor Boat.

Brockville, Aug. 8.—Offering $100,000 for a motor boat designed for racing purposes which will attain a speed of 50 miles an hour, A. R. Peacock, the Pittsburg millionaire and one of the chief factors of the United States Steel Corporation, has forged to the front as the greatest enthusiast of the day.

Mr. Peacock is now in the Thousand Islands and has $30,000 worth of motor craft.

Friedrichshafen, Aug. 8.—After a long talk with his chief engineer, Herr Buerr, Count Zeppelin has given orders that work on the construction of a new airship be begun. He has practically decided to build two at the same time, each on a different model. The new ships will show many changes suggested by a study of the accident of two days ago.

Private individuals already have placed the sum of $75,000 to the credit of Count Zeppelin for his new enterprise.

WEST LACKS MOISTURE.

Crop Reports Show That a Little Rain Would Be a Blessing.

Winnipeg, Aug. 8.—The crop report issued by the C.P.R. yesterday indicates that while the crop is making excellent progress, many districts are badly in need of rain.

The crop is maturing too rapidly to give a high grade. In many districts, too, hail is reported, though it does not appear that any of the areas damaged are extensive.

On the Brandon and Varcoe sections cutting will begin by the first of next week. Rain is needed for late grain. On the Emerson, Teulon, Minnedosa and Souris sections, conditions are favorable, except for shortage of rain.

On the last mountain section slight frosts are reported at Lemburg, while on the Arcola branch hail is reported from Arcola and Carlyle. At McLean on Moosejaw section and at Milestone, Macoun and Estevan on Estevan section considerable hail is reported, as is also the case at Filmore, Heward, Forget and Kisby on Moose Mountain section.

WARRANT FOR GIRL.

Miss Charest is Implicated In Montreal Scandal.

Montreal, Aug. 8.—Drastic action in regard to the Charest pay-roll stuffing scandal was decided upon at a special meeting of the Roads Committee yesterday afternoon. The meeting was private. Ald. O'Connell and other members held that if justice was to be done the committee should order the arrest of Charest's daughter, who posed as a Miss Robert when she was drawing wages for the bogus employes from the civic paymaster. The City Attorney was consulted, and he stated that there was enough evidence to warrant the arrest of Miss Charest. It was then decided that a warrant should be taken out for her without delay.

A second arrest was also decided upon, and a warrant will be taken out for Leopold Coppee, the civic employe who reported that Charest was stuffing the lists, on a charge of himself adding bogus names.

THAW'S MONEY GONE.

White's Slayer Will Go Into Bankruptcy Court.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Aug. 8.—Harry K. Thaw, when interviewed at the jail last night regarding bankruptcy proceedings instituted in Pittsburg, said that he had already spent $200,000, and that there are additional claims amounting to $200,000 more. His assets, he said, include $30,000 cash. Continuing, he said:

"It is absolutely necessary due to the heavy expense which I have been under during a period of over two years. Now I find additional bills and claims, many of them exaggerated. To pay these as they are presented would entail the result that I could not pay all; and some just creditors would suffer. It is to prevent exactly such injustice that the bankruptcy laws were created and I consider that by becoming bankrupt I insure justice to all."

Rushing G. T. P. Through.

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—Reports to Collingwood Schrieber, consulting Government engineer for the Grand Trunk Pacific line, show that the road will be finished into Edmonton by the middle of November.

By Christmas the rails will stretch from Winnipeg to a point 70 miles west of Edmonton, where a large bridge is now being built across the Pembina River.

In a week or two a train service will be started from Winnipeg to a point 50 or 60 miles west of Saskatoon.

May Have Been Murder.

Brockville, Aug. 8.—That Hugh Graham of Cainstown, ten miles west of here, who was found in the water in front of a boathouse at Alexandria Bay Monday morning, was the victim of foul play is the belief of many. A short time before his death Graham had in his possession $60 of his own earnings. No money was found upon his clothes after being taken from the water.

The condition of the body when taken from the water bears evidence that there was no life when it was immersed in the river. An inquest will be held.

Shoots Little Playmate.

West Toronto, Aug. 8.—While playing with an old muzzle-loading shotgun an eight-year-old boy named Fred Gracey, son of William Gracey, 201 Maria street, accidentally discharged the weapon and blew the scalp off his little playmate, Howard Sharpe, aged 9 years, son of Charles Sharpe, 199 Maria street, night guard at the Central Prison. The lad died within a few minutes. Young Gracey was taken into custody.

Accident On C. N. R.

Winnipeg, Aug. 8.—The Canadian Northern Railway Edmonton express which left Winnipeg on Wednesday evening was wrecked just west of Virden, Sask. The baggage and mail cars jumped the track and capsized in the ditch and the express messenger and J. A. Poole of Edmonton, mail clerk, were badly injured. The passengers escaped with nothing worse than a severe shaking up.

Freak Insurance Men Warned.

New York, Aug. 8.—According to Daniel T. Gordon, acting second deputy superintendent of the insurance department, if an agent of Lloyds of London solicits or accepts insurance against Bryan's election, failure of the sheath gown or like risks, the district attorney will prosecute the agent for violation of the New York insurance laws.

Civil Service Classification.

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—A deputation representing the Civil Service Association waited upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Sydney Fisher yesterday to ask for a uniform method of reclassifying the various departments of the public service under the terms of the new civil service act.

A CHOIR LEADER

Tells How Peruna Rid Him of All Catarrhal Troubles.

PE-RU-NA SCORES

Another Triumph in Canada.

"A Relief to Breathe Freely Once More."

MR. G. W. MARTIN, Hartford, Ont., choir leader at St. Paul's Episcopal church, writes:

"Peruna is a wonderful remedy for catarrhal troubles.

"I have been troubled with catarrh for a great many years, and always trying something for it, but was able only to secure temporary relief until I used Peruna.

"Only five bottles rid my system of all traces of catarrh, and I have not noticed the slightest trouble for several months.

"My head was stopped up, my breath offensive, and it is a relief to be able to breathe freely once more."

TRIALS OF CANADIAN RIVERMEN

Travel Unnecessarily Through Danger —One Just Saved From Jaws of Death Laments Loss of Peavey

HAIR-BREADTH ESCAPES

Great endurance is demanded of the riverman. It is characteristic of them says a writer in the Outing Magazine, that they accept whatever comes as a matter of course; or, perhaps more truly, it is their pride never to show emotion of any sort.

One man was dragged out by the collar from a very dangerous predicament between two parts of a breaking jam. To gain safety, his rescuer, burdened by the victim of the accident, had fairly to scale the breast of the falling logs. For ten seconds it looked like sure death to both, but by a combination of audacity and sheer luck they reached the bank.

Most persons would have paused for congratulations and to talk it over. Not they. The rescuer, still retaining his grip on the man's collar, twisted him round and delivered one good kick.

"There, take that!" said he; and the two fell to work without further comment.

One February, during a thaw, Jimmy Downings, a foreman, fell over a dam into the eddy below. He could not swim and owing to certain sets of current, growth of timber and lay of ice no one of his men could get to him.

The water was cold, and sucked with terrific force beneath a shelf of ice at the lower end. Sure death again. But Jimmy befriended by the gods, hit his knee against a single little ledge. Although half-drowned, he managed to cling there, and after a moment to drag himself out.

Jimmy coughed up a quart or so of water, shook himself and gazed back at the whirlpool whence he had been so miraculously extricated.

"Confound it all!" said he. "I lost my peavey."

A DRINK WITHOUT DANGER.

Ice water is responsible for many hot weather stomach troubles. Besides being unhealthy, it does not quench the thirst. To make ice water wholesome, add to each glassful three teaspoonsful of Sovereign Lime Juice, and sweeten to taste. This makes a cooling, refreshing drink that is decidedly beneficial.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

The questions on the Sunday School Lesson for Sunday, August 9th, are as follows:

(David and Goliath — I. Sam. xvii-38-49.

Golden Text — In the Lord put I my trust. Ps. xi:1.

This lesson does not lend itself easily to a verse by verse discussion, hence the following questions are based upon the lesson story and its suggestions.

Does the fate of a nation ever materially depend upon one man, according to the teaching of history? (This question is to be answered in writing by the members of the Club.)

Was David's conquest of Goliath natural or supernatural?

Could God just as easily have performed this feat with a man who had had no previous experience with a sling?

Did God have in view this event of the slaying of Goliath in David's previous training with the sling and stone?

Does God always arrange to give his children a suitable practise in training for the work which he has in store for them in the future?

Does God always provide a way by which every enemy or barrier to the accomplishment of our life's work, can be vanquished?

May a strong man, in the long run, who has espoused a cause opposed to God, sometimes be successful?

Napoleon said that Providence was always on the side of the heaviest battalions. Is this always or ever true?

What was David's view about God always being on the side of the heaviest battalions? See verses 45-47; Ps. xliv: 5-8; Ps. xxxiii: 16; Ecc. iv: 8, 9.

Can a weak man on God's side be defeated?

What are the forces with which God will conquer the world and overthrow sin? I. Cor. 1:17-29; Matt. xi: 25.

Why is it that science, literature, painting, music, eloquence and war cannot subdue the world and overthrow sin?

What is the greatest force in the world with which to overcome every evil influence?

Is it always wise or right to follow David's method of fighting, or that of any other good and successful man?

Is it ever right to discard scientific methods for simpler ones?

How may we be always sure as to the weapons we should use in overcoming enemies or difficulties?

Is any person ever vanquished who really fights in the name of God?

What are the greatest giants we have to fight who oppose our personal progress?

What are the greatest giants which oppose social progress?

What are the greatest giants in the way of winning the world for Christ?

Lesson for Sunday, Aug. 16th, 1908 —Saul tries to kill David. I. Sam. xviii: 6-16.

Date Of The Great Printers' Pic-nic Fast Approaching

The Programme of Sports and Prizes Unsurpassed—Umbrellas, Brooches And Other Handsome Articles Among Latter.

A BASEBALL MATCH, TOO

If printers held picnics every week life would be one continual round of pleasure for the fortunate few. For who ever heard tell of a picnic run by the Typos that failed to be a success? Echo answers "Success," and the man with the megaphone says, "Nobody." Civic Holiday, like Christmas, comes but once a year, but when it does come it leaves its impression for a twelvemonth, providing you take in the Printers' Picnic to Idyl Wild. No event in the whole social calendar can surpass it in particular. Like the apostles of old, it is among the chosen few. Everybody goes who has got the price, and many borrow, who haven't. They say that fences are for those who cannot fly, but in the case of the Printers' Picnic it's different. There is no obstruction to anybody. Runners may run who cannot run; canoeists may paddle who never saw a canoe, and baseball players will play ball who cannot play. The last remark, of course, refers particularly to the Review.

If the fact that the excursion on Monday is being run under the auspices of the Typos is not sufficient inducement to go, just run an eye down the subscribed list of prizes. Richard Hall & Son has offered a handsome $3 umbrella for one of the events. Harry Adams offers beautiful parasol for the young ladies' race. Here are two brilliant opportunities to lay up something for a rainy day. Then there are necklaces, knives, razors, cuff links, brooches, and cigars galore for somebody, not mentioning a ten dollar gold piece for the canoe race, and the $20 set of dishes which will make somebody's home happy.

Just you please listen to this advice: Take nobody's—unless it tells you to go down the winding Otonabee with the printers on Monday next.

The events and prizes are these:

Boys' race, under 15—
1, sweater, donated by Lang & Maher.

Illustrated Catalogue Of Peterborough Lock Company

One of the Completest and Most Comprehensive Issued—It Elicits the Congratulatory Comments of the Trade.

CREDIT TO THE COMPANY

The Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company, the Peterborough Examiner Printing Establishment, the City of Peterborough, cannot but be proud of the large, new, comprehensive, illustrated catalogue of goods manufactured by the company issuing it, and printed by the Examiner. It is without doubt one of the largest, one of the finest and most comprehensive hardware catalogues in print, the most conveniently arranged, and most valuable for its purposes ever printed in Canada. Its typography, printing, paper, binding and general good book work, it is a model.

This catalogue consists of 250 large quarto pages, including a complete alphabetical index of articles covered by it, substantially bound in crimson cloth and printed on good paper. It is most profusely illustrated by 1,200 clear line engravings from original drawings specially made for this edition. The type is clear and bold, the matter is well arranged and well displayed, the minutest particulars are clearly set forth, and the catalogue not only gives a graphic idea, in picture and text, of the multiplex products of the Peterborough Lock Works, but provides the trade with facilities for orders that cannot be improved upon. The catalogue is in every way complete and a decided credit to all concerned in its preparation and production. Mr. Fortye, the manager of the company has every reason to feel proud of his new catalogue, and it is a pleasure to him and the company to know that it is heartily received by the trade and intelligently appreciated, and that its distribution will tend to increase the demands for the excellent products of the factory and add to the good name which they enjoy among the trade from Halifax to Vancouver. Mr. Fortye has received congratulatory letters of acknowledgment of the receipt of the new catalogue from all parts of the country. A prominent hardware importing house in Montreal writes:

"We wish to congratulate you on your catalogue. It is certainly one of the most up-to-date, and we might add, it is one of the most conveniently arranged catalogues of builders' hardware we have ever received."

A Winnipeg firm says:

"We congratulate you on it (your catalogue). Its comprehensiveness, excellent arrangement and compactness cannot be surpassed."

From Halifax this comes:

"Your splendid catalogue received * * For illustrations, fullness of description and convenience in ordering it is among the very best."

From Vancouver:

"Catalogue received. Congratulations * * It covers the ground thoroughly and is a mine of information for dealers, and shows the range and excellence of your products."

From Quebec, Ottawa, Toronto and other places similar acknowledgments and commendations come.

Regatta And The Evening At-Home Now First In Hearts Of The Stony Lake Population

"Miss Fidgety" Admired by the Young Men—Private Regatta at Kiluna—Flag Pole and Flag For Juniper Island Park.

VISITORS AT THE LAKE

Examiner Special

Stony Lake, Aug. 8.—With several minor details to consider at a meeting of the committee to be held this afternoon, the final arrangements for the annual regatta will be complete. The efforts of the committee have been united and spirited and with fair weather the aquatic event of Monday next will be the best in the history of the Kawartha.

Many are looking forward with the pleasure of anticipation to the annual "At Home" of the association, which takes place on Monday evening. The personnel of the entertainment committee certainly suggests a delightfully pleasant event.

The motor boat "Miss Fidgety" came up on Tuesday, and is doing the lake at a twenty-two mile an clip.

It is only with a house party such as that at Kiluna that a private regatta or a masquerade dance can be held successfully. Both of these events were given by Hon. L. H. and Mrs. Grahame for their company of twenty-eight. In the ladies' single canoe and single skiff races Mrs. Grahame carried off the prizes, exhibiting great skill in the use of the paddle and oar. Among the guests are Mrs. B. Grahame, Mrs. and Miss Joy, Mrs. Ormsby, Mrs. Reid, Miss Grahame, Miss Schreiber, Miss M. Schreiber, Miss Amy Saunders, Miss O. Morson, Miss B. Morson, Messrs. Victor Moorehouse, Walter Moorehouse, J. Joy, E. Joy, Gordon Grahame, and Mack Mowat.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Darling, Peterborough, came up on Friday morning and are guests of Mrs. J. Hunter.

Miss Carrie White, Peterborough, is spending a holiday with Miss Marjorie Choate.

Mr. Bruce Gillespie, who has been spending a couple of weeks at Victoria House, went down to Peterborough on Thursday.

The usual camp fire song service will be held at Mr. Sherin's beautiful summer home "Kill-Kare," on Sunday evening next. A short address will be given by Rev. Mr. Bingham, and solos will be rendered by Miss Elsie Dixon Craig and Mr. Quarrington.

The erection of the new flag pole for Juniper Island Point took place on Friday afternoon. A handsome flag has been presented to the association by Hon. J. R. Stratton.

The following party is at Sandhaven, guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Goldsbock: Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Watt, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stone, Windsor; Miss Mollie Johnston, Montreal; Misses Hazel Carder, Tina Dodds and Winnifred Smith, Messrs. Malcolm McPherson, Walker Talmage, C. K. Dodds, Toronto; and Mr. Percy Kerr, New York.

Mr. Percy Watson, who has been spending a month at Sandhaven, returned to Toronto on Tuesday.

Misses Flora Beptie, Emma Vincent and Kathleen Vincent, Lakefield, are at Forest Nook.

Mr. H. B. Mulholland, Washington, D.C., is a guest at Syndicate.

Misses E. Gilbert and B. W. Rice are at Grassy Isle.

Mr. Arnold B. Henderson, Niagara Falls, N. Y., is visiting Mr. Nugent, at Moda Wambeck.

Mr. Richard Hall, Peterborough, is spending a few days at his cottage, Anchorage.

Mr. H. Lovekin, Peterborough, came up on Thursday to spend a couple of weeks at Victoria House.

"Dun Wurkin" is the cognomen of a large camp of Peterborough pleasure seekers. Among the party are Mrs. J. W. Moore, Mrs. M. A. Barrie, Misses Minnie, Mabyl and Gladys Moore, Messrs. A. E. Barrie, E. A. Moore, Howard Moore, Buster Moore, Gordon Moore, Peterborough; J. K. Donall, Toronto.

Mrs. Claude Fox, Toronto, is a guest at Strathormond-on-the-lake.

Among the party at Ishpening are Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Brundrette, Toronto; B. Beat and E. D. Layfield, Peterborough.

Misses Vera Hagerman and H. Wood Port Hope, are among the guests at Glenwood.

Misses Rose and Ada Moore, Lakefield; Beatrice Blewett and Mr. W. Blewett, Peterborough, are at Star cottage.

Mr. John J. Kinzer, Pittsburg, is a guest at Shadyside.

Messrs. A. B. Davies and R. A. Bond, Toronto, are at Mount Julian Hotel.

Mrs. Eugenie Erylls, Lakefield; Gladys and Pansy Fischer, Campbellford, are at Sea Breeze.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC REACHES WINNIPEG

How Construction Work is Being Rushed in the West—Five Miles of Railway Per Day.

Only a few days ago the Grand Trunk Pacific rails were laid to Winnipeg and now there is one continuous line of steel from Winnipeg six hundred miles west. At the rate of five miles a day it is being rushed towards Edmonton and if the bridge gangs can keep ahead of the track the work in that part of the country will soon be completed. Double shifts of men are kept on the track laying outfits at the western end of the line. It was an impressive sight to see the lines running to Winnipeg. There were one hundred and eighty men with the machine and ten cars of ties and four of rails were attached. The rails and ties are dumped off the cars into trams running alongside and in that way are taken to the front where they are placed in position. The tie buckers at the front handle ties at the rate of twenty a minute and put 8,000 of them in place in a day. Through the aid of the pneumatic lifter there are two 33-foot 80-pound rails put in place in a minute. Bridles are then put under the rails to maintain the gauge and the train passed on without a spike being driven in the track. As soon as the train passes over there is a large gang of men at the rear who straighten out the kinks and spike down to every alternate tie. Thus the outfit rushes ahead and with a gang of this size two and one-half miles are laid daily. There only remains now to be laid at the eastern end two or three miles through the heart of Winnipeg to connect with the magnificent union depot that is now being built for the reception of Canada's latest transcontinental railway, which is making a new record in the rate of building.

SECOND FLOOR

This month as all know is supposed to be one of the quiet months of the year—many of the city folks are away on their vacation or living at the watering places. There is a good excuse for August running low but there is no excuse for us carrying over a single Summer Garment in our Ready-to-wear Department or Shoes in our Shoe Section. This Mark Down means that they must be marked down to such prices as will be an extra incentive for the Peterborough women to invest in their needs now and save dollars.

To see the values on the second floor will be all that is necessary to prove our statements. Come.

THE NEW MINISTER AT ST. JOHN'S

Rev. J. William Foster Assumes Charge of Sunday Services To-morrow

The Rev. J. William Foster, D.D., who assumed charge of St. John's church last week, will officiate at all services to-morrow. At 8.30 a.m. there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion. At 11 o'clock Morning Prayer will be said, followed by a sermon on the epistle for the day, the eighth Sunday after Trinity. At 7 o'clock, Evensong, there will also be a sermon. Prayers will be said at Chemong Park in the pavilion at 4 p.m.

Rev. Dr. Foster is a scholarly and earnest preacher, with a pleasing personality, and all St. John's people should meet him. He has informed the Examiner that he may be found in the sacrity of the church each morning from 9.30 to 10.30, to meet socially all who desire to call, or to confer on spiritual matters. In cases of emergency he may be reached through the National Hotel.

RETURN OF PROSPERITY.

A Business System Which Feels the Pulse of Trade.

Stronger indications of the revival in business are coming in from every source. The big manufacturing houses have the best barometers. Their reports are true registers of trade conditions where facts and figures are compiled carefully and systematically. The President of the Slater Shoe Company gets monthly reports from all the largest Slater Shoe Stores in Canada. Not only in Montreal and Toronto, do the reports for April and May show a steady gain as compared with the sales of a year ago, but even in Winnipeg the Slater Shoe Store there shows a satisfactory increase in sales.

Mr. Slater has the reports from all the big stores laid on his desk, and they are carefully analyzed once each month.

In Montreal there are four Exclusive Slater shoe stores. In Toronto, most substantial gains have been made in the past two years, whilst in Ottawa, Hamilton, London, Quebec, St. John, and Halifax, the steady increase and the gains made even when compared with the sales of the years of plenty, indicate a healthy revival and an early return of prosperity.

Altogether there are nearly 400 Slater shoe stores and agencies in the Dominion of Canada alone, and no great business in Canada is in a better position to prove the condition of business.

What to do in August

Keep on Advertising

(With apologies to Mr. Longfellow.)

Between the dark and the daylight,
When the light is beginning to lower,
Comes a pause in the day's occupation
That is known as the Phonograph Hour.

I hear from the flats all around me
A medley strange, as I hark,
From Grieg's and from Vogner's best ones,
To "I'm Afraid to Go Home in the Dark."

I admit that it harrows my system
And lessens my measure of bliss—
I know he'd been less of a poet
If Longfellow'd been harried like this.

Indian River Monster 'Lunge Refuses To Be Captured

Has Strayed From Its Northern Haunts To Keene—Gets Away With Baits.

HOOKED BY A VISITOR

Examiner Special:

Keene, Aug. 8.—Local sportsmen believe that the man who captures the large maskinonge that has been breaking anglers' lines on the Indian River this summer will undoubtedly win the Examiner prize. This big fellow has been hooked four times, but has in every case got away with the bait. Twice he has broken baits for the Indians who were trawling up the river, and Mr. Harry MacLachlan lost an outfit by this monster a few days ago.

On Wednesday a party of six gentlemen from Belleville came to Keene for a few days' fishing. One of the party bought a new line and bait in the village before going out, and took particular pains to choose a very heavy outfit, to the great amusement of his friends, who chaffed him about his expectations, and declared his rigging much too heavy and large enough to hold a whale or sea serpent.

They had, however, not gone farther than Sandy's Landing, half a mile below Keene, and anchored to still fish, when this gentleman, winding in his trawling line, hooked the monster about twenty feet from the boat. The fish jumped clear of the water in an endeavour to shake the hook from his mouth, and was seen by the occupants of two other boats alongside, as well as by Mr. Harry MacLachlan and John MacLachlan, their guides. They all say that the 'lunge was the biggest they had ever seen, and both guides, who are experienced men, state that the fish must have easily weighed much over thirty pounds. Unable to shake the bait out, it took to deep water, and, to the amazement of the anglers, snapped the heavy line as though it had been a thread.

It is rather unusual for so very large a fish to be seen in the river at this season, as rarely are they caught in the river over 12 or 13 pounds. It must have strayed from the usual haunt of the large fish—off Sugar Island—where, for some unknown reason, there appears to be a much greater proportion of large 'lunge than anywhere else in the lake.

SUTHERLAND'S WIFE AND ACCOMPLICES TO BE CHARGED WITH MURDER

cording to her story, she mounted the stairs and entered his room. When she awakened him she told Sutherland she intended to end it all then and there. The man, with his brain still clouded by sleep, leaped from the bed and attempted to take the revolver away from her. Across the room the couple wrestled until the landing at the top of the stairs was reached. There they both fell and rolled to the bottom. Mrs. Sutherland's finger was on the trigger and in the fall the weapon was discharged. When she arose to her feet her husband had a bullet wound in his left breast and was gasping out his life on the carpet outside the door where a few moments before, Lillian, their daughter and only child, had been peacefully sleeping.

Police Doubt Story

The story in its entirety is not accepted by the police. It is assumed that had events been as described by the woman and had Sutherland received the fatal bullet while locked in a struggle with the woman, powder marks would have been present on either his shirt or about the wound. No powder marks were found on either, and the police believe that the hand that directed the bullet that snuffed out the life of Sutherland was a considerable distance from his body when the revolver was fired. The police are quite willing to believe the story of the intended suicide, and also believe that gave for the presence of her child beside the body of her slain father, a belated attempt would have been made by Mrs. Sutherland to end her own life. The story of her faint heart when the crucial moment came is also believed in part, but the detectives working on the case think there was something else, which so far is unexplained, that formed a part of the processes of the woman's mind and is material in completing the chain of evidence on which the charge of murder in the first degree is based.

Mrs. Sutherland admits concealing the weapon, the money and the watch under the dining table, where they were found by Detective Sergeant Herman Burkhardt late Tuesday afternoon. She declares that her action was the result of a dazed condition following the unexpected disaster to her husband.

Woman Collapses

Mrs. Sutherland collapsed after making a detailed confession to Inspector Taylor yesterday morning. Two hours were consumed by John Regen, stenographer to the Superintendent of Police, in taking the statement. Her body weakened by hard work, a ruptured vein in one of her limbs broke out afresh, and she was attended by Dr. Fowler, police surgeon. She was nervous during the entire ordeal, and frequently broke into tears. A second statement was obtained from her by Daniel V. Murphy, assistant district attorney, in the afternoon. The second statement was almost identical with the first, Mr. Murphy said last night.

Lillian Sutherland, the 17-year-old daughter, made a statement to Mr. Murphy and Inspector Taylor last night at the William Street Police Station. Some of the points in her story vary from those described by the mother, according to Mr. Murphy. The precise nature of these differences and what effect they have on the solution of the mystery is held secret.

The condition of the girl last night brought expressions of sympathy from even hardened police officers. She was in tears during almost the entire period when she was subjected to the inquisition of the police and the district attorney.

Girl's Pitiable Plight

Her father slain, by whose hand she declares she does not know, and her mother confronted with a charge of murder, is a burden which she, who never before in her life had had any trouble, finds hard to bear. At her home is a new piano, purchased for her by her dead father, and several rolls of new music. The piano was to have been paid for on the instalment plan. She, the only child, had always been an object of tender affection to her male parent, despite his usual moroseness.

Told by the police of the confession of her mother, the girl displayed at once an acute knowledge of the difficulty of her position. She reiterated the story she told in the first place, the same story as was told at the last moment of his life by her dead father, "I do not know." The police are not willing to concede that she knows more than she has told, but they say it is not inconsistent to assume as much. Meanwhile, her liberty is restrained behind prison bars, and she faces a prospect of being called into court as a witness against her mother. And if she had liberty, liberty would mean nothing to her for at home there is nothing but the relics of the tragedy that wrecked, and both of her natural protectors are away—one dead and the other, over whose head hangs the prospect of a battle with the State for her life.

Relatives in Canada

Mrs. Charles Henderson, of Lindsay, Ont., a sister of the murdered man, and Thomas Harvey, of Cobourg, Ont., Sutherland's brother-in-law, were in communication with Inspector Taylor yesterday over the disposal of the body. Harvey telegraphed that he wished the remains shipped at his expense to Cobourg for interment. He was referred to Deputy Medical Examiner Howland.

The house, No. 1383 Niagara street, where the tragedy occurred early Tuesday morning, is closed and under police guard. Twice before has it been the scene of fatalities. Eight years ago a saloonkeeper named Gromel hung himself to the rafters in the barn in the rear. He had been induced to sink his money in a venture in East Eagle street, which proved a failure. Some time previous to that, an eccentric starved himself to death in it, the police say.

COUGH REMEDY

This cough remedy has rarely been known to fail in giving relief: roast a lemon very carefully without burning it. When it is thoroughly hot cut it open at one end and squeeze into a cup containing three ounces of finely powdered sugar. Take a spoonful whenever the cough troubles. It is excellent and most agreeable to the taste.

Y. M. C. A. Camper Astonished By A Leap Year Proposal

Boys Are Having a Good Time at Sandy Point—Upsets Are Now Commonplace Occurrences—Will Attend Regatta.

ENTERTAIN COTTAGERS

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Here we are once more, large as life and twice as natural. The camp gets better every day.

We had a good laugh at the Port Hope bunch on Wednesday. An excursion came up from Brighton to South Beach, and our friends from the lake shore town were so afraid they would not get there in time to see the girls on the boat that they started out at nine o'clock in the morning for Young's Point, and waited until 2.30 for the steamer to arrive, while the rest of us stayed at camp, having a good time and also a good dinner, and still got down in time to see as much of the excursion as the others.

"Bunny" has broken the record for wet clothes, having had to make four entire changes yesterday.

Some of our boys went up the line yesterday morning and assisted Charlie Brown to raise a flag pole, which makes a very handsome addition to the already charming appearance of "Windsloide."

Four of the boys got excited yesterday afternoon and started out to race a motor boat with a canoe. But unfortunately their aspirations for speed were somewhatdam pened by an upset.

We had a big bon-fire last night and all the surrounding cottagers came over and spent a very pleasant evening with us.

"Miss" Hornsby received a leap year proposal the other day, but it was so sudden he had to beg for time to think it over and has promised to send in his answer in a few days.

As I write this I can hear Tom making a big pudding for dinner. Maybe we won't make short work of it.

We are looking forward very eagerly to the regatta Monday. Some of the boys are expecting friends up for the day and a general good time is being looked for.

Well, I guess this is pretty nearly enough for this time, so I will close now.

Yours, etc.,
CAMP JOLLIER.

Y. M. C. A. Camp, Sandy Point, Aug. 7th, 1908.

MIRACULOUS HEALING.

Kingston Girl Gets Up From Sick Bed Although Nearly Dead.

Kingston, Aug. 8.—According to the story of relatives, May Ghent, aged 20, was raised from a bed of sickness by the direct intervention of God.

Suffering great pain, she had been ill many weeks. Six doctors were called in, but all failed to do her good, and treatment in the general hospital had no good result.

She was unable to turn herself in bed, the doctors stating that she had pneumonia, appendicitis and drying up of the lungs.

She claims that while praying for healing she heard a voice from heaven saying, "Arise and come forth into my vineyard." She arose and shouted the praises of God and His power to heal.

Great crowds gather in the house to see her. She says she has not a pain or an ache.

THEY PROSECUTE PASTOR.

Two Charges Preferred Against Rev. G. W. Snell of Brockville.

Brockville, Aug. 8.—Rev. George W. Snell, Methodist minister of North Augusta, has been summoned to appear in police court here Monday on two separate charges resulting from an episode at a recent church picnic, the complainants being two of his congregation.

Rev. Mr. Snell, while on the grounds, had occasion to go to a refreshment counter, where he found two boxes of cigars on sale. These he seized and trampled upon. A bystander named Jos. Vout informed the clergyman it was a mean trick, whereupon he replied: "Anyone who would water milk would do the same."

Vout has taken out a summons for insulting language, and Ezra Dales, the man behind the counter, charged the minister with malicious damage to property.

Dead At 103.

Brockville, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Wm. Bennett is dead at her home in Oxford, Grenville County. She was 103 years old and died on the farm where she had lived since 1841, coming to this country from Ireland.

Mrs. Bennett was a cousin of the late Sir John Macdonald.

Fatal Mill Boiler Explosion.

Windsor, N.S., Aug. 8.—There was a fatal boiler explosion at the Parraboro Company's lumber mill at Newlake, in the Chester road district, yesterday morning. The engineer, Edward Keith, of Oxford, was instantly killed, and two other men injured.

Veteran Cuts Throat.

Brantford, Aug. 8.—James Richards, a veteran of the Indian mutiny, made an attempt to end his life here yesterday by cutting his throat with a razor. Richards has been despondent for some time on account of being without work. He was a painter by trade and resides with his family on Richardson street.

Marriage Recognized.

London, Aug. 8.—(C. A. P.)—The arches court has ordered Canon Thompson not to deny sacrament to Allan Bannister, who married his deceased wife's sister in Canada.

THE BAND'S REQUEST PROGRAMME

Will Play as Many Numbers as Possible Desired by the Citizens.

The weekly band concert of the 57th Regimental Band in Victoria Park this week will be marked by an innovation. It has been decided to have a "request" night, that is, the band will play a programme of numbers that have been asked for by the people of Peterborough. Citizens are asked to call up Mr. Gliddon at the Conservatory of Music and give him the names of numbers they would like to have the band play. The band has a splendid repertoire of standard classical and popular music and will be glad to play anything requested of them as far as the length of the programme will permit.

FIRST CONCERT OF THE SEASON

—The celebrated Soanes Family of eleven pieces will appear in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, on Monday evening next, August 17. The programme comprises comic songs, with banjo, solor, duets, trios, quartettes and orchestra, banjo and violin juggling. One of the greatest musical organizations of the age. Don't miss it. 5d8- 3423

THE 'PRENTICE BOYS CHURCH PARADE

Rev. Mr. Henderson Preached an Eloquent Sermon on Sunday Night.

The 'Prentice Boys, headed by the Peterborough Band, paraded to the Charlotte Street Methodist Church on Sunday evening and gave close attention to a special sermon preached by Rev. Mr. Henderson, whose remarks were closely followed.

On their return to the hall it was moved by Bro. A. H. Webb, seconded by Bro. S. Adlam, that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered the Rev. Mr. Henderson for his powerful and instructive address; also to the choir for the excellent singing, and to the officials for the use of the church.

The brethren were pleased to have an address from Bro W. M. Fitzgerald, of Toronto, Grand Secretary of the Orange Order, Ontario West, who expressed his pleasure at seeing such a large turnout of members, and also to listen to the discourse which the Rev. Mr. Henderson delivered. He said prospects never looked brighter for the order than at present. He congratulated the 'Prentice Boys in arranging so successful a parade and urged all to live up to the principles of the order.

The following are the committee who arranged the church parade: Bros. McCarter, S. Adlam, A. H. Webb, George Duncan.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION WHILE BLASTING A WELL IN DUMMER SERIOUSLY INJURES TWO MEN

Examiner Special

Norwood, August 11.—His left eye blown out, his thumb and finger off his left hand, and his right arm broken in three places is the unfortunate condition of Edward Holz, of this village, as the result of a dynamite explosion. The accident occurred this morning on the property of Mr. Nicholas Collins, 9th line of Dummer, where Mr. Holz, accompanied by William McDougall, were blasting for a well.

Only meagre details of the accident have yet reached Norwood, but it is likely the cause was a premature explosion. McDougall, who is but a young man of twenty, was seriously injured about the head. A hole was cut through his forehead and his face and head terribly mangled. The injured men were brought to the village by Mr. Baptie, and are now at Mr. Fred Roberts' residence and under the care of Dr. Wilson, of Norwood, and Dr. Holdcroft, of Havelock. The exact result of the explosion and the extent of the injuries are not yet known. Mr. Holz is a married man, but has no children. McDougall is unmarried.

Lassoing 'Lunge The Latest Method Of Trent Fishermen

Wild West Fashion Supersedes Others—How Toronto Clergyman Secured a 15-Pounder

A FISH STORY THAT IS TRUE

Fish must be very plentiful in the Trent, near Hastings, when, instead of the usual Izaak Walton method, they are captured in wild west fashion. While out for a healthful paddle a few days ago a reverend gentleman from Toronto, accompanied by a Peterborough friend, noticed a white object moving in the water, some distance from his canoe. Stealthily approaching he made out the form of a large 'lunge. The fish, on being alarmed, dived into the depths of the Trent, but rose again a short distance away. The reverend gentleman struck at it with his paddle and almost upset his craft. Hallooing to some cottagers for help he was soon being assisted by the occupants of a row-boat. They did not wish to strike at the fish for fear of scaring it away. A happy thought struck them. Making a lasso out of the row boat's hawser, the angler swung the rope in a few graceful loops and dexterously landed it partly in the water and partly on the fish. The astonished 'lunge plunged forward, only to fasten the tightening coil afound his gills. A tug of war ensued, but the fish lost and was soon floundering around in the row boat. A blow, aimed at it with the paddle, fell short and his insulted fishship sank his teeth into the paddle. A second tug of war resulted in the fish losing two fine rows of teeth. A second blow, no so aimless as the first, knocked all fight out of the finny monster. The 'lunge was a large one, tipping the scales to a little less than fifteen pounds. It must have been taking a snooze on the quiet surface of the placid Trent, and, after the first alarm, must have returned to learn the cause and remained a little too long.

People have heard of catching fish with rod and line or trawl, of netting them and of shooting them, but never yet of lassoing them. And it is sincerely hoped that the reverend gentleman will refrain from telling this fish story too often, lest his veracity might be questioned.

Presentation Of Purse By The Lakefield Foresters

Honour Their Chaplain, Rev. Father Phelan, of Young's Point—Address Accompanies Presentation

SERVICES APPRECIATED

Rev. Father Phelan, Young's Point, chaplain of Court St. Paul, Catholic Order of Foresters, No. 1535, Lakefield, was the object of a delightful surprise on Friday night. A number of the members of the Court drove up to the Point and presented their respected chaplain with an appreciative address in recognition of his services to the Court, which was accompanied with a substantial testimonial in the form of a well-filled purse. The sentimental and the substantial were provided respectively by Mr. Thomas E. Nolan, C.R., who read the address, and Mr. Patrick Burke, P.C.R., who presented the purse.

Addresses, confirmatory of the formal sentiments of the address, were given by Bros. Nolan, Labelle, Hayes, O'Leary, Blisterah, Burke, Sutcliffe, D. Mober and others.

Rev. Father Phelan in reply expressed his warm appreciation of the honour paid him, which was an act of gratuitous kindness, as he had only done his duty, which was at the same time a pleasure, in using his best efforts to promote the interests of the Court and its members. The Court was flourishing and now counted a membership of thirty, while St. Mary's Court at the Point boasted a membership of twenty-seven. The devotion of the members to their obligations had done much to promote the interests of Catholic Forestry in the vicinity.

The vestry brethren were very cordially welcomed and hospitably entertained by their chaplain.

Women Of Stirling Worked Hard To Stop The Big Fire

The town of Stirling narrowly escaped complete devastation by fire on Saturday night and Sunday morning, when its entire business section was ravaged to the extent of $100,000, according to estimates. The fire broke out at 11 p. m. on Saturday, caused by the explosion of a gasoline tank in the business section.

The town has only a hand pump and two-inch hose and this was of little help. Outside help was asked and Chief Howard with Firemen McBride and Hawes left this city and arrived at Stirling at 4.30 a. m., Sunday. Other cities could lend no assistance. The fire was subdued about seven o'clock. The local brigade evidently did good work. One of Stirling's citizens, who lost heavily by the fire, had no insurance on his property. He is said to have hated to "shell out" the money, so affected was he by his loss.

Chief Howard received the message from the Reeve of Sterling at 12.05 on Sunday morning. He called up Mayor Ross and Chairman Johnston to obtain their permission. The mayor would not give his assent until he had received word from the mayor of Sterling stating that the town would guarantee the expenses of the trip. Chief Howard says that one whole business block was devastated. When the local brigade got under way they certainly hustled. One of the buildings saved by their work was Adams's grocery store.

The citizens of Sterling were practically exhausted when the Peterborough men arrived, and the women had turned in to help working steadily as a bucket brigade.

FAST OTONABEE RUNNER HAS HIS COLLAR BONE BROKEN

To have a collar-bone broken on the day previous to a five-mile road race he was expected to win was the misfortune that befell Jimmy McMartin of Otonabee on Sunday. He was wheeling on the River road Otonabee, on Sunday, and while meeting a vehicle he fell of the bicycle into the ditch. His shoulder struck a stump by the roadside with the result that his shoulder blade was broken and he was unable to enter the race yesterday. He was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where Dr. McGrath is attending the injury.

MOTOR CYCLE RACE IS PROPOSED

Proposition to Secretary of the Fair to Hold One This Year.

The secretary of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition was in communication yesterday with a representative of a cycle club of Toronto in regard to having a motor cycle race at the fair. He states that they would have four entries and each machine was capable of covering over forty miles an hour. The event would certainly be a thriller and if arranged will certainly be a great drawing card.

CONTRACT FOR PLUMBING AT CHILDREN'S SHELTER

EXPANSION NOT EXTRAVAGANCE

The Conservatives in criticising the expenditure of the Dominion Government make charges of extravagance, forgetting that conditions have changed and that what would have been extravagance under later conditions is only legitimate expenditure indicative of the great growth of the country in every department. The expenditure has increased only in proportion of the expansion of the business transacted and to be transacted. There are two sides to every statement and the Conservative critics only present one side. Any man of business could be made to appear bankrupt if only the debit side were presented as a basis of statement. The credit side of the account may justly be presented. Let us examine it briefly.

In 1896 the total trade of the country was $239,025,000 and the revenue $36,618,590. The deficit was $330,551. In 1908, total trade was $650,793,000 and the revenue (?96,500,000, and there was a surplus of $19,000,000. One must judge by results. If it be extravagance to increase the trade of the country from $259,000,000 to $650,000,000 and show a surplus of $19,000,000, then what should be said of the Conservative Government which secured a trade of $239,000,000 and came out at the end of the year nearly half a million in debt. If extravagance beings results such as this, the people would be pleased to welcome more of it. The money of the people is well spent, if it encourages trade, and a government that can do this and show a large surplus, is a better government than one which failed to stimulate trade, and could not make both ends meet at the end of the year. The Conservatives managed to show after fifteen years of office a total trade with Great Britain of $98,935,040. The Liberals after twelve years of power can point with pride to the total trade with Great Britain of $208,745193,

Such was the business transacted in Canada in 1896, that the Railways of the country carried 25,300,331 tons of freight, but after twelve years of wise policy, and up-building of industries, the Liberal Government draws attention to a tonnage of 63,866,133 of freight carried for the year 1907.

The bank discounts (n 1897 were $226,960,482; in 1907 they amounted to $639,970,696, a three-fold increase in ten years. In 1897, after eighteen years of Conservative rule, bank deposits totalled $226,960,482, (n 1907 they were $589,459,889. The increase of popular prosperity is shown by the fact that the deposits in the Government Savings Banks in 1897 were $48,934,975, and ten years later $61,483,471. Bank capital in the same time from $61,701,137 to $93,137611, showing how the business of the country had expended.

The increased subsidies to the provinces show an increase of $2,250,000 since 1896, so much of an increase in the apparent annual expenditure. Another large and justifiable item of increase is the expenditure on the Grand Trunk Pacific. Not to speak of the great increase of the value in the land served by this railway, the crops—which have been made possible by its construction by opening up "new areas to settlement will in a very few years amount in value to a sum far in excess of the national expenditure on this line.

The Conservatives fail to offset their charges of extravagance by a statement of the fact that the increase in Dominion expenditure is only the normal and natural increase in a rapidly growing country. In the great west where there were isolated wastes in the days of the Conservative regime, there are now prosperous towns and cities, and the public demand post offices and other public buildings like drill halls and all things that settlement makes necessary, such as increased mail service, etc. There is always an increased margin of expenditure in a business growing year by eyar, and there must necessarily be a growing demand for expenditure in a rapidly growing country such as Canada is. Conservative critics should be fair and state the whole case before they plunge into indiscriminate condemnation.

AUSTRALIAN CHURCH UNION

While the Church union movement progresses in Canada, it also makes headway in Australia. It began there five years ago when the Presbyterians, the Congregationalists, the Methodists and the Baptists appointed committees in each State to work for a fusion of forces. In New South Wales, the Methodists and Presbyterians are about to agree. In Victoria, the Episcopalians and the Presbyterians draw together. In the latter instance the basis of agreement "consents to the historic Episcopate, recognizes the validity of Presbyterian orders, adopts the Nicene Creed for the united Church, allows the use of limited free prayer, and provides for a modified Presbyterian form of Church government."

Union seems bound to come in Australia. The question is, Will it include the Anglicans? The Presbyterians admit the validity of Anglican orders, and the doubt is as to whether the Anglicans will admit the validity of Presbyterian orders. The Presbyterians insist on a clear recognition of the "legitimateness of their claim to churchmanship." The recognition of Presbyterian orders involves a surrender of those features of the historic Episcopate which render it objectionable to Presbyterians.

An Australian writer, evidently a Presbyterian, says: "Every Church has its leading men. To give some of those leaders the title of bishop and invest them with the power of superintendence would not be a subversion of Presbyterian principles. But it by the historic Episcopate is understood some mysterious supernatural power with which the bishop is invested—well, Presbyterians can not away with it. But this conception of the bishop must surely be abandoned if the validity of Presbyterian orders is recognized."

Danton and the Organ Grinders.

Paris has more than once made war on organ grinders. There, as here, they have their enemies and also their champions. The war, however, is an old one, and politicians had time to attend to it even at the height of the revolution.

No less a man than Danton then took the part of the musicians.

"Citizens," he cried from the tribunal, "I hear that an attempt is being made to prevent the organ grinders of Barbary from playing their tunes as usual. Do you think, then, that the streets of Paris are too gay? Have the people of Paris too many songs on their lips? One after another our liberties are being wrested from us. Leave us at least the liberty of listening to the organs of Barbary, of hearing from them our favorite songs and refrains."

Danton was guillotined for reasons with which this speech had nothing to do, but the oration containing these sentiments was the last that he had the opportunity of delivering as a member of the convention.—Westminster Gazette.

Hotel Accommodations in India.

All over the world Indian hotels have a bad name to any one who has been used to a moderate degree of comfort and good feeding. They are for the most part a disgrace. Why people should have to pay from 10 rupees to 25 rupees a day in the cold season and from 7 rupees to 12 rupees a day in the hot season without receiving comfort and good feeding seems at first difficult to answer. As a rule, the feeding is most inferior, badly served up, tablecloths and napkins frequently dirty, not to speak of the knives, forks, spoons and tumblers. Bedrooms are badly looked after, and unless one has a very smart bearer it is difficult to receive proper attention. All this should not be for such prices as people pay. In many third rate boarding houses in England one could get presumably as good as what is got in some of the so called first class hotels in Calcutta. —India Public Health.

Knights of Pythias Officers.

Boston, Aug. 7.—Henry B. Brown of Cleburne, Texas, was elected supreme chancellor of the Order of the Knights of Pythias without opposition, to succeed Charles A. Barnes of Jacksonville, Ill., at yesterday's business session of the Supreme Lodge of the Order in this city. George H. Hanson of Calais, Me., was chosen supreme vice-chancellor on the fifth ballot.

THE STAR ON THE CROSS.

Plans For a Church That Were Revised by the Kaiser.

Emperor William is the busiest man in Germany. Temperamentally, I take it, President Roosevelt resembles him much, but the kaiser is the more versatile of the two. If there is anything going on in the empire that the kaiser does not find an opportunity to take a hack at it has escaped the notice of those who watch him closely. He revises all public findings, supervises all architecture, lectures everybody and is a general all around little father in every sense of the term.

When they want to illustrate his ceaseless activity as well as his restless power they tell the story of the star above the cross on the spire of the Emperor William Memorial church. This is the tale as it was told to me: Of course the kaiser insisted on revising the plans of the church. That is one of his fondest prerogatives—revising everything, and especially plans. The architect brought the plans to him, and the kaiser scratched out what he didn't like and made such additions as he fancied before he gave them the imperial O. K. The church was built. There was to be a big gilt cross on the spire, and it appeared in its proper place. But, much to the general astonishment, when the cross was put up a large, many pointed gold star was raised above it on a heavy rod. The Berliners could not understand the star. They inquired. The architect said the kaiser had added the star to the plans.

The plans were examined. Then it was found that in revising them the kaiser had let fall a drop of ink from his pen, which hit the paper just above the cross. The architect studied a long time over this blot of ink. His Teutonic mind grappled with the problem for weeks. There was no appeal. There could be no inquiries. He finally decided the blot of ink signified a star above the cross, and he put the star there, making it to correspond as nearly as possible with the outlines of the blot. The star is still there.—Samuel G. Blythe in Everybody's.

Chief Justices.

A chance to appoint the chief justice does not come often to a president. In point of fact, since the foundation of the government there have been only eight chief justices, and since 1801 there have been but five altogether. The list of chief justices of the supreme court is as follows:

John Jay, New York, Sept. 20, 1789.

John Rutledge, South Carolina, July 1, 1795.

Oliver Ellsworth, Connecticut, March 4, 1796.

John Marshall, Virginia, Jan. 31, 1801.

Roger B. Taney, Maryland, March 5, 1836.

Salmon P. Chase, Ohio, Dec. 6, 1864.

Morrison R. Waite, Ohio, Jan. 21, 1874.

Melville W. Fuller, Illinois, July 20, 1888.

From this list it will be seen that Chief Justice Fuller is exceeded in the length of his term only by famous John Marshall, who did so much to make our supreme court great, and by Roger B. Taney, the Maryland justice, whose tour of duty at the head of the court covered a stormy period of a quarter century just prior to the civil war.—Chicago Tribune.

Machine Made Window Glass.

Many glassmaking devices have been invented, but none of them hitherto has done satisfactory work in turning out glass for windows. It is announced now, however, that a Pennsylvania man has put into operation one that does faultless work. It makes a continuous sheet of glass forty-two inches wide at a linear speed of fifty-six inches a minute, requiring no assistance from blowers, gatherers and snappers. Cutters and a superintendent are the only men employed, and it is thought that automatic attachments will eventually do away with the cutters. The plant in which the machine has been installed requires the services of but three men and six boys to a machine and yet turns out more and better glass than thirty-nine men did working with the old cylinder process.—Pathfinder.

Labor Laws in New Zealand.

In New Zealand everybody is bound by law to take a weekly half holiday, and there must be no shirking the obligation. The Grand hotel, Auckland, was recently crowded with guests, and several waiters, instead of obeying the law and taking their prescribed weekly half holiday, remained at work on the promise of extra pay. But the authorities came to hear of it, and the proprietor of the hotel had to appear in court, where he was convicted and punished.

Volapuk.

Volapuk, the name made up for a "universal language," invented in 1879 by the Swabian clergyman Johann Martin Schleyer, comes from vol, reduced and altered from the English world, and puk, meaning speak, or speech.

Historic Tree.

One of the historic trees of the country is an apple tree that stands in Grace churchyard at Broadway and Tenth street, New York city. The old tree commemorates the memory of Mynheer Breyort, who drove the surveyors from his land with a dog and a stick, and so a curve was made in the street.

American Fleet Gets Splendid Welcome at Auckland.

Auckland, Aug. 11.—Cloudy weather greeted the landing of Admiral Spelry, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, and his officers to receive official welcome to Australian waters at the hands of Prime Minister Sir George Ward, for the Government. Grouped about the Prime Minister were the members of the Cabinet and various towns, boroughs and district representatives of the Dominion.

In his address Sir George eulogized President Roosevelt as representing the best traditions of the common blood of civilization. He then presented to Admiral Sperry for President Roosevelt a decorated gold and silver album, suitably inscribed. Admiral Sperry was given a beautifully illuminated address of welcome.

The Government gave a banquet to Rear Admiral Sperry and the officers of the fleet last night. There were 750 persons in attendance and the affair was carried out on a magnificent scale. The Prime Minister proposed a toast to King Edward and President Roosevelt, during the course of which he said: "Each is a born ruler, richly endowed with common sense and a great ardent lover of his country and people. Each is a peacemaker. We are proud of Admiral Sperry's visit and no fleet save a British one is so welcome."

Y. M. C. A. BOY'S RUN.

T. J. McAughey of Toronto Makes New York in Less Than 12 Days.

New York, Aug. 11.—In one hour less than 12 days, running most of the distance of over 700 miles, T. J. McAughey arrived in this city yesterday from Toronto, Ont., bearing a message from the mayor of that city to the mayor of New York City.

McAughey is assistant secretary of the West End branch of the Y. M. C. A. of Toronto, and he said the object of the run was to test speed and endurance.

He left Toronto July 27, and, omitting two Sundays, covered nearly 800 miles on foot, allowing for extra distances traveled by losing the road, in 11 days and 22 hours.

McAughey averaged 65 miles daily, starting out each morning at 5 o'clock, keeping on the road until late each night, and running two-thirds of the time.

RECEPTION TO MORRIS.

Young Marksman Warmly Welcomed at Home Town.

Bowmanville, Aug. 11.—One of the largest and most enthusiastic public receptions ever accorded a single individual was given to Sergt. F. H. Morris on his return from Bisley last night. Citizens turned out in thousands to greet him.

The town was decorated, profusedly, and all residences were illuminated.

Addresses were delivered by Mayor Spry and prominent citizens.

Rev. J. Garbutt was just about to speak when a fire alarm close by dispersed the crowd. The barns and stables of Dr. A. S. Tilley were completely burned with contents.

Inspector Makes Charges.

Toronto, Aug. 11.—The Board of Control will investigate the statements made by William Millichamp, who lately resigned his position as civic paving inspector, after nine years' service, because of the outcry against the manner in which the paving of Castle Frank avenue with bitulithic had been carried out.

In an open letter to the city engineer Mr. Millichamp asks an investigation by the county judge and asserts that in allowing defective paving to be laid he merely bowed to the order of G. G. Powell, civic roadways engineer.

New York, Aug. 11.—Thomas A. Edison yesterday had Henry A. Farman, the famous aviator, as a guest at his laboratory in Orange, N. J., for the purpose of showing him the flying machine which he has invented.

Mr. Edison explained fully the principles on which his invention is based, which are said to be those of the gyroscope or uplifting fan.

The foreign aeroplanist was greatly impressed. He declared they embodied far better ideas than the machine which he had brought from France for his exhibition in the United States.

Diarrhea

There is no need of anyone suffering long with this disease, for to effect a quick cure it is only necessary to take a few doses of

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy

In fact, in most cases one dose is sufficient. It never fails and can be relied upon in the most severe and dangerous cases. It is equally valuable for children and is the means of saving the lives of many children each year.

In the world's history no medicine has ever met with greater success.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Easier—Hogs Are Lower at the American Markets.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 11½c to 14c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10½c to 11c per pound.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

TORONTO JUNCTION, Aug. 10—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 64 carloads, composed of 1348 cattle, 213 sheep and lambs, 34 calves and 9 hogs.

Shippers.

Taken altogether, export cattle sold at lower quotations, altho there was one load of extra quality brought $5.50; the bulk of the best sold at $5.15 to $5.30; but there were several loads of lightweight cattle, weighing from 1150 to 1200 lbs., that were bought from $4.60 to $5 for export purposes. Export bulls sold from $3.75 to $4.50 per cwt.

Butchers.

Nearly all the wholesale butchers were represented on the market, but trade was reported as not being just as good as one week ago, and the reason given was that there was not quite as good a class of cattle on sale. There was little, if any, change in prices. The highest price given for the very best load was $4.75 per cwt.; loads of good, $4.40 to $4.60; medium, $4.10 to $4.30; common, $3.50 to $4; cows, $2.50 to $4.25; canners, $1.40 to $2.25.

Milkers and Springers.

There was a fair trade for good milkers and springers, as nearly all the buyers of these classes were on the market. Prices ranged from $29 to $60 each.

Veal Calves.

Receipts of veal calves were not large, and more would have sold. Prices ranged from $3 to $5.75 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Prices for both sheep and lambs were firmer. When asked the reason, one dealer, Mr. E. Puddy, stated that the lambs coming to this market generally killed out better, as they came, as a rule, from some of the best feeding districts in Western Ontario. Export sheep, $3.75 to $4.10; rams, $3 to $3.25; yearling ewes and wethers, $4.25; lambs, $5 to $5.25 per cwt.

Hogs.

Gunns, Limited, reported prices lower. Selects, fed and watered at the market, $6.65, and $6.40 f.o.b. cars at country points.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Aug. 10.—Cattle—Receipts, 4000 head; fairly active and steady to strong; prime steers, $6.25 to $6.75; shipping, $5.50 to $6; butchers, $4.50 to $5.40; heifers, $3.50 to $5.25; cows, $2 to $5; bulls, $3 to $4.75; stockers and feeders, $3.25 to $4.50; stock heifers, $3 to $3.25; fresh cows and springers, steady, $20 to $56.

Veals—Receipts, 1500 head; active and 25c lower; $5 to $7.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 16,000 head; slow and 5c to 10c lower; heavy and mixed, $6.75 to $6.90; Yorkers, $6.25 to $6.90; pigs, $4 to $6; roughs, $5.25 to $5.65; stags, $4 to $4.50; dairies, $6 to $6.60.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 7200 head; sheep strong; lambs, slow and 25c lower; lambs, $4.25 to $6.50; yearlings, $5 to $5.25; wethers, $4.75 to $5; cwes, $4.50 to $4.50; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.50.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10—Receipts, 2857; steers opened slow and 10c to 15c lower; closed more active with most of the loss regained; bulls and cows steady; steers, $4.25 to $6.20; oxen and stags, $3.25 to $4.50; bulls, $2.50 to $3.50; cows, $1.35 to $4.10.

Calves—Receipts, 4235; veals, 25c higher, buttermilks, grassers and western calves barely steady; common to choice veals sold at $5 to $6.25; choice selected lots at $6.25 to $6.50; one bunch, 98.6%, culls and throw-outs, $4 to $4.50; grassers and buttermilks, $3.25 to $4.12½; western calves at $4.25 to $4.50.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 21,984; sheep dull and 10c to 25c lower; lambs, 25c to 50c lower, quality considered; ordinary to prime sheep, $3 to $4.25, a few choice at $4.50; culls, $2; lambs, $4 to $6.50; two cars extra, $6.60.

Hogs—Receipts, 12,483; market 20c lower; prime New York hogs sold at $7 per cwt.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Cattle—Receipts, 19,000; market steady; steers, $4.75 to $7.90; cows, $2.40 to $5.35; heifers, $3 to $6; bulls, $2.75 to $5; calves, $5 to $7.50; stockers and feeders, $2.60 to $4.50.

Hogs—Receipts estimated at about 31,000; market 5c to 10c higher; choice heavy shipping, $6.70 to $6.80; butchers', $6.65 to $6.80; light mixed, $6.40 to $6.60; choice light, $6.65 to $6.75; packing, $6.30 to $6.65; rigs, $4.60 to $6.30; bulk of sales, $6.50 to $6.65.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 2500; market 10c to 15c lower; sheep, $3.50 to $4.80; lambs, $4.75 to $6.25; yearlings, $4.35 to $5.

Suicide In Jail.

Killarney, Man., Aug. 11.—Edward Scanlan, aged 35, on trial here for breaking windows, and suspected of more serious offences, suicided yesterday morning, in jail by strychnine.

He was for 12 years a resident here, conducting a dray and scavenger business. The trial began Thursday.

He was suspected of numerous arson cases.

Minister Apologizes.

Brockville, Aug. 11.—In the Police Court yesterday morning, Rev. G. W. Snell, Methodist minister at North Augusta, made an apology for malicious damage to property and using insulting language.

The case was dismissed on his paying costs of $21.

Allan Liner's Record.

London, Aug. 11.—(C. A. P.)—The Allan liner Hesperian crossed from Canada to the Clyde in 6 days and 8 hours, breaking all records.

TRIBESMEN HOLD SHAH.

He Is In Trouble If He Does Not Pay Wild Bodyguard.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 11.—Special despatches received here from Teheran give a tragic-comic description of the position of the Shah of Persia, who is virtually a prisoner in the hands of wild tribesmen summoned to Teheran to protect the throne against the revolutionaries, but who have become a greater menace to the monarch than his other foes.

The tribesmen are extravagant in their demands for money, which the Shah is unable to grant, and they threaten to destroy the palace and pillage Teheran.

Premier Scott In Court.

Regina, Sask., Aug. 11.—Premier Scott appeared in court yesterday morning on a libel charge that one Laird had received $5,000 on a waterworks contract, but did not state when or from whom. The magistrate adjourned court on technical grounds. The evidence taken was entirely as to publication of libel.

Schoolboys to Shoot.

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—A new feature of this year's D. R. A. meeting, which opens Aug. 31, is a school cadets' match, open to one team of eight pupils from any school having a recognized cadet corps.

Every competitor must be under 16 years of age.

Toronto, Aug. 11.—With a heart full of confidence Miss Kate McClellan accepted the promise of William Curtis, alias Derimo, to marry her and make her a happy woman. But later events have proved that Curtis was a married man, a base deceiver, and that while he was professing love for Miss McClellan, his own poor wife was sending him frantic appeals for little sums of money to keep her from starving. For his villainy Curtis was yesterday sentenced to a year in the Central.

Will Rebuild.

St. Catharines, Aug. 11.—That the Whitman-Barnes Manufacturing Co. will rebuild its Canadian plant in this city was the announcement made by Mayor Campbell last night. The City Council passed a bylaw exempting the company from taxation for ten years.

New Tennis Championship.

Montreal, Aug. 11.—Charles Sherwell of Montreal won the lawn tennis championship of Canada yesterday by defeating Capt. Faulkes of Ottawa, the former champion. Sherwell had an easy victory, winning in three straight sets, 6—4, 6—1 and 6—2.

THE BEST POSSESSION

That the head of the house can own is a good insurance policy on his own Life. It assures the protection of his wife and children in case of his sudden demise—and the healthiest of us never knows when the end may come. We can afford families this protection by offering attractive terms in the Life Insurance at the lowest rates—such as are hardly felt by the thrifty.

Some one has said, "the true value of a life insurance policy must be gauged by the Security of the protection given; if it proves to be a good investment, all the better when both are shown, there is nothing on earth to equal it." The security of the protection afforded by the Sun Life of Canada needs no payment and the profits paid—let the figures within tell their own forceful story.

"MISS FIDGETY" MADE IMPRESSION

Fast Motor Boat Created a Sensation at Stony Lake Regatta.

The motor boat, "Miss Fidgety," manufactured by the Schofield, Holden Company of Rochester, N.Y., and in charge of Mr. R. A. Shaw, attracted considerable attention at the Stony Lake regatta yesterday as it darted here and there around the course. Its marvellous speed, which enables it to outdistance without trouble any of the craft on the lake, and the ease with which it is operated opened the eyes of the spectators and "Miss Fidgety" was always in the limelight.

BOSTON'S BARBER REGULATIONS

Board of Health Orders Sterilization of All That Barbers Use on Customers

A special despatch from Boston, May 5, 1908, to the New York Sun, gives new regulations of the Boston Board of Health as to barber shops: "Mugs, shaving brushes and razors shall be sterilized after each separate use thereof. A separate, clean towel shall be used for each person. Material to stop the flow of blood shall be used only in powdered form, and applied on a towel. Powder puffs are prohibited." Wherever Newbro's "Herpicide" is used for face or scalp after shaving or hair cutting, there is no danger of infection, as it is antiseptic and kills the dandruff germ. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes—50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

All Excursion Records Were Beaten By Printers Outing

Boat Had a Capacity Crowd---The S. R. O. Signs Were Hung Out---Most Exciting Races, Great Ball Game. Tug-of-War, Canoe Races And Elysian Weather---A Delightful Sail Home In The Moonlight.

The Eighth Annual Picnic of the Peterborough Branch of the Typographical Union, speaking of it in all its dignity—in other words the Printers' Picnic—like many other events which happened yesterday has passed into history. Printers' ink is one of the primal forces that sway the destinies of man and the world he inhabits. It is recognized in business, in politics, in morals and practically in every phase of human life. Great, therefore, are the printers themselves, and reverting to yesterday's event the picnic was worthy of those who managed it and carried it to such a successful issue. Not for themselves be it marked, although Paxy and his fellow "Typos" seemed to have made good use of their time, but for their friends and those who wished to join with them in an enjoyable outing to one of the many beautiful resorts with which God has so bountifully blessed this Canada of ours.

The steamer Otonabee left the city at 8.30 a.m., with its full complement. Without the suggestion of a boast it was the largest picnic the Otonabee has yet carried.

That which comes closest to it was held exactly one year ago, when the printers took the same trip on Civic Holiday, 1907. The long 25 or 26 miles to Idyl Wyld was covered in good time, it being scarcely high noon when the boat was moored at its Rice Lake destination. Without going any further it must be said that the printers are truly grateful for the splendid weather which graced their annual outing. The breeze that blew down the lake from the west—a breeze that was cooled by the wide expanse of water and yet filtered by the sun's warm rays in those proportions which the average mortal dreams about when herd at work on week days—was in itself the chief delight of the day. Had it been otherwise the games and amusements would have lost much of their charm.

The Baseball Game.

A feature of the afternoon was the Examiner-Review baseball game. It went four innings and the Examiner nine lost. Lost, yes; but not in the sense of a defeat, but as a sacrifice.

The Review were all to the bad. Down they were going to oblivion like a ship with an immense leak below its water line. McCrae (the greatest D.U.B.) had pointedly hinted that unless it was a victory for his associates he would withdraw from athletics. Hence Paxy passed the word around and the Examiner though loth to do it, allowed Mac's bunch to score five runs, while the Examiner did not try to add to the three they had. It will, therefore, be glad tidings to the sporting world to learn that the Review will still be represented in baseball and hockey.

They got Sympathy

Such was the sacrifice. But sympathy also played its part. There on second base close beside Mac, who really did his best to show that he knew where short stop was, was George Lynch. The one-time manager of the Athletics wore a woebegone expression, in spite of his efforts to put a little life into the Review nine. He had been enticed to play with them under false pretences. Had he not been told that they knew a baseball from a ping pong ball? And like a true sport he responded to Mac's request to play second, but before the first innings had fairly started he soon discovered the qualities of the aggregation he had leagued with. Not wishing to have George's name tarnished on account of the Review bunch the sacrifice referred to was made.

It really was hard work. The Examiner batters had to shut their eyes when offering at O'Brien's delivery, otherwise it required but little effort to lose the leather pellet in the blue dome that overhung the island, lake and shore and the adjoining countryside.

The teams—
Examiner—
Crough p, Sherrard c, Henry 1b, Risbea 2b, Theobald ss, Paxman 3b, Bolwell lf, Shannon cf, Armstrong rf.
Review—
Haney c, O'Brien p, McGuire 1stb, Lynch 2b, MACRAE ss, Reid 3b, Kennedy cf, Pearson lf, Thompson rf.

Mr. Wm. O'Brien had the stature of Falkenberg, but his straight shoots were a cinch. In all due sense of justice to MacRae it should be said that he made a sensational catch of an infield fly. The sensation was that he managed to hold on to it. It was really unprecedented and unforeseen as far as Mac is concerned, but then, accidents do happen.

The pie-eating contest was another fun-producer. The way the boys tackled the huckleberry pies was by no means a la Seventh Avenue, but it was laughable.

Review Defeated

The tug-o'-war! It was a shame what Eddie Sherrard, Sammy Jamieson, et al did with the Review representatives. It is no exaggeration in stating that only Rice Lake stopped the Examiners when they got started. One would think they were interested in My Valet the way they pulled them over the turf. The Review didn't have a look in.

The Races

The following list of sporting events were run off—

Boys' race, under 15—
1st Cyril Sullivan; 2nd H Hicks.

Girls' race—
1, bead necklace.
2, bottle of perfume.
1 L Harran; 2 Gladys Healy.

Young girls' race—
1 Gladys Healy; 2 Jennie Fitzpatrick.

Married Men's race—
1 E Evans; 2 W Roberts.

Young Ladies' race—
1 V Legras; 2 B Crowe.

100 yards dash—
1 T Terrell; 2 R Evans.

Married Ladies race—
Mrs Meharry; 2 Mrs Tim.

Fat Man's race—

Bindery Girls' Race—
1 L Crowe; 2 Bessie Crowe.

Committee race; handicap—
Geo Paxman.

Single Canoe Race—
Maddon Howard.
Mr. Wright buoyed out the course.

Double Canoe Race—
Messrs Robinson and Cadogan.
Mr. John Camigo buoyed out the course

The merchants to whom the printers are indebted for the prizes are—Laing & Maber, J R Bell, R Hall & son, Higgins Hardware Co., Harry Adams, Alex Gibson, A H Stratton & Co., Sanderson & Co., Fred Clarke, N E McWilliams, R Wescott, J Tisdall, A Campbell, Merrill & Meredith; also Mr. Geo. Graham and Mr Chas. Nixon.

The canoe races for a ten and five dollar gold piece, respectively, given by Mr. J. H. Burnham were very interesting.

The Drawing for Dishes

Before the boat started on its return trip the drawing for the handsome 97-piece dinner set, donated by Hon. J. R. Stratton, was held. All the passengers were aboard when Mr. Fred Simpson of Hiawatha drew number 745 from a valise. Mr. W. J. Nelson, Bolivar street, had the corresponding coupon and is the lucky winner.

The moonlight was a special attraction on the way up the river. The revelations made by the searchlight of the Otonabee caused considerable amusement when darkness had settled down.

The members of the committee who worked with such success for the outing are Messrs. Paxman, Reid, Cairns, Thompson, Bartlett and Perry.

Notes

Jimmie Callaghan dared the dangers of umpiring the ball game. He escaped with his life, but it was a narrow one.

Messrs. Geo. Lynch, Godfrey Coughlin, Will Manzies and Harry Lacheur were posing for a picture in a canoe close to the shore. They started a game of leap frog in the boat, result was all leaped for shore. Their multicoloured silk half hose were dampened as a result.

Maddon Howard put up a great exhibition of fast paddling in the open canoe race.

Fred Simpson was a favourite with everybody. His better half was with him and certainly shared in the eulogies and words of praise that Fred received.

EAST END COTTAGERS TO HOLD BIG REGATTA NEXT MONDAY

Special Staff Correspondence.

Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, Aug. 10.—The annual regatta of the East End Cottagers Association will be held on the Crowe's Landing course on Monday, August 17, and from all indications will be a gigantic success. Norwood will celebrate its civic holiday upon that date, and as many of the cottagers in this vicinity hail from the East Peterborough capital there will be a large contingent from there, while the lower part of the lake will be well represented. Some valuable prizes are being offered, including three silver cups donated by Hon. J. R. Stratton, Mr. Jas. Thompson, M.P.P., and the Cottagers Association.

The annual meeting of the association and the election of officers will take place in the morning, and in the evening there will be a grand masquerade ball.

Messrs. Stanley Canniff, Bert Canniff, W. Hatton and Norman Brown have been guests at "Yarrow Brae."

Mrs. W. G. Morrow of New York is the guest of Mrs. H. LeBrun at "Belle Chasse."

Mr. and Mrs. Rapp of Cincinnati are guests at "Belvidere."

Miss Jessie Starr of Toronto is the guest of Miss Mary Gibson at "Glen Cairn."

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Yarnold and son John are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Craig at "Upsidon."

Mr. Alex Kempt of Norwood is spending his holidays at the lake.

A Peterborough party, which includes Miss Simpson and Mr. Ben Simpson, the Hamilton Tiger fullback, is occupying Mr. Grubbe's cottage at Bel's Creek.

Mr. Wallace Stroud of Ottawa is the guest of Mr. R. H. Jackson at Bel's Creek.

A party composed of Messrs. Harry Mann, Jack Lightfoot, Jas. Rogue and Stanley Pringle of Peterborough are camping on Loch's Island.

A baseball team is being organised at Crowe's Landing composed of the summer residents, and a challenge has been hurled at the heads of the Norwood team. The battle will likely take place next week.

Mr. Vernon Craig succeeded in landing three nice lunge on Thursday. The fishing in this vicinity is excellent.

The guests at Glenwood are having great luck with the rod and line. Mr Severs of Toronto and Mr. Walker of Cleveland are the two prize anglers, and the former has shipped several boxes of fish to Toronto.

Among those registered at Glenwood are Herb G. Baggs, Toronto; Miss Millie Thompson, Toronto; Wm. Parkinson, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Davison, Canesto, N.Y.; Mr and Mrs. E. B. Hamlin, Miss M. Hamlin, Mr. and Mrs. Swarts, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Buck, Mr. Talbot, Miss Mary Campbell, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Warnick, Hamilton.

Among the recent registrations at Belvidere are H. A. Semple, Mrs. J. Semple, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Gus A. Rapp, Cincinnati; W. J. Taylor, Toronto; G. E. Taylor, Peterborough. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Callendar and family, Perkersburg, W. Va.; R. W. Soper, Mrs. E. A. Soper, Port Perry; Miss E McCormick, Toronto; Gordon H. Parkhill, Buffalo.

MINSTREL SHOW AT THE LANDING; BUFFALO PEOPLE TAKE PART

Special Staff Correspondence.

Crowe's Landing, Aug 10th—A most successful concert was held here on Aug. 5th in the pavilion in aid of the pavilion fund. Splendid weather, a large crowd representative of the east end of the lake, and a clever programme were the elements that made the event one of the greatest successes ever held here. The piece de resistance of the programme was a minstrel show given by the young people from Mrs. Bliss' camp, nearly all of whom hail from Buffalo. Their performance was in every way most creditable, seeing that they only had a few days to prepare for the event. They distinguished themselves and delighted the audience with their clever work. The chorus numbers were rendered with precision and effect while the solos were given in a decidedly finished fashion. The members of the party are deserving of the greatest credit for the interest they have taken in the pavilion fund and for their enterprise in getting up such a programme for this occasion.

These who took part in the minstrels were Miss Gladys Dixon, Toronto; Miss Altman, Buffalo. N Y., Miss Parkhill, Miss Neil, Buffalo, Mr. E O Neil, Buffalo, introducer; Messrs. Roger Graves, Chas Ferris, Gordon Parkhill, Ray Neill, Paul Hauenstein, Henry Altman, jr, and Perry Alexander, all of Buffalo. N Y., Mr. W J Morrow, formerly of Peterborough, and now of New York City, acted as accompanist in her well known fashion and her sympathetic playing added much to the effect of the occasion.

The end men Messrs. Alexander and Hauenstein were decidedly funny and their jokes were clever and new. Much local colour was introduced much to the delight of the audience who were kept convulsed with merriment at the antics of bones and tambos.

The minstrels began their offering with a bidden chorus "My Old Kentucky Home" after which there were several spirited numbers by the chorus including, "Honey Boy", "Grand Old Flag," and "Harrigan," rendered with a vim and dash.

Mr Perry Alexander made a decided hit in the comic song, "Wal I awak" in which he succeeded in bringing out the full humour and had to respond to a spirited encore.

Miss Parkhill and Mr. Roger Graves were heard to advantage in the dual number "Won't you be my Honey?" and "Are you Sincere?" their voices blending nicely, while they made the most of the number.

Miss Dixon, of Toronto, who has a remarkably clear and sweet soprano gave a delightful rendering of the pretty song, "Every body's no Number Iund", with a humming chorus by the entire company that added to the effect. Miss Dixon's number was one of the most enjoyable of the evening.

Mr. Chas Ferris was warmly received in his end song "Sambo", his acrobatic dancing of the chorus bringing down the house.

Mr Paul Hauenstien's song "Much obliged to you" was another hit, and was very cleverly presented as was Mr. E. C. Neil's coon song number, "Somebody held" in which he worked in a number of parodies that were appreciated.

The programme was brought to a successful close with the chorus, "Good Night, Ladies."

The first part of the programme consisted of delightful piano solos by Miss Gould of Toronto and Miss Campbell and vocal solo, "Happy song" by Miss Bernadotte Hachett, of Peterborough, all of which artists executed themselves.

Mr. John Davidson of Sudbury, president of the East End Cottagers' Association, presided, and the proceeds amounted to $30.00.

At the conclusion of the programme a delightful dance was held, most of the young people remaining to trip the light fantastic.

ENJOYABLE DAY AT JUBILEE

C. O. F. and A. O. H. Had Large Crowd On Annual Pic-nic—An Energetic Committee.

SPLENDID LIST OF SPORTS

The annual picnic of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Catholic Order of Foresters was held yesterday to Jubilee Point by steamer Rainbow had a palace barge which left the street railway wharf at 8.30 o'clock. The boat performed its task in a most satisfactory manner. There were between 400 and 500 excursionists who were unanimous in their praises of the manner in which the committee carried out their arrangements.

During the afternoon the following races were run off—

100 yds race—1P Masterson; Gold Cuff Links.

Ladies race— Miss Mcentee; Gold Brooch.

Boys, under 16—1 Sullivan; 2 Deslie.

Men's race—1 Clancy; 2 P Masterson.

Girls' race under 16—1 Annie Kelley; 2 Miss Lavery.

Hop, step and jump—1P Masterson; 2 Heffernan.

Girls under 12—1Annie Kelley; 2 Miss Lavery.

Boys under 12—1 Sullivan; 2 J. Murty.

An exciting game of ball was played between the Foresters and the Hibernians, the latter winning out by 1-34. Rev. Father Kelley twirled in a clever manner for the Irishmen and Mr J Noyes for the Foresters.

Mr. Geo. Albearn was a capable umpire. Seven innings were played. At the end of the 5th it was a tie, and two more innings were required to break it. Rev. Father Kelley did the trick in a clever manner, showing a flash of his old time form.

The set of dishes presented by hon. J. R. Stratton was won by Mr. "Yebbie" Flaherty. Mr Jas Galvin, Stewart street and Mr. Chas. Murty Cedar street, were tied for the barrel of flour for the largest family. Each family had ten members. Mr. Burnham presented another barrel, each family getting one.

BIGGEST CROWD ON RECORD SAW ANNUAL REGATTA AT STONY LAKE YESTERDAY

Splendid Weather and Fine Races Were the Features—Sailing Races the Only Disappointment

SOME GREAT FINISHES MADE

Featured by splendid weather, a record crowd and well contested race s the annual regatta of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association held yesterday afternoon on the course off Juniper Island was the most successful in the history of this well known resort.. Probably there has never been such a gathering at Juniper as congregated there from all the Kawartha Lake points and from Peterborough yesterday. The islanders came in all kinds of crafts and the scene at the height of the regatta will not soon be forgotten. Launches of all types and power, the useful skiff, the dainty canoe, and the somewhat prosaic punt dotted the course from end to end, while the rocky shores of Juniper in the neighbourhood of the finishing point were crowded with a gaily dressed throng who watched the races with interest.

The Esturion brought a big crowd of people from Chemong Park and Sturgeon Point, and the visitors succeeded in carrying off the lion's share of the prizes, making a decidedly good showing.

The Stony Lake Navigation Company's steamers Stony Lake and Empress brought a big contingent of Peterborough people while the Water Lily which sailed direct from Peterborough via the canal was well patronized.

The weather was decidedly favourable for the occasion, although the yachtsmen whistled in vain for a breeze and the sailing races were little more than dritting matches. A slight breeze from the north west, which at times died down to a dead calm was all there was. , and the conditions suited the paddlers The ardour of the sun's rays was abated by clouds nearly all the afternoon making it much more comfortable for spectators than it would have been.

Most of the races had large fields of entries and there were some decidedly exciting finishes, every event being fought out bitterly. There was little delay in starting off the events and the lengthy programme was run through in good time and was over early.

There was little interest in the sailing races owing to the lack of wind. Only two started in the dinghy race; A A Hollingshead of Chemong and Hopkins of Sturgeon Point, and the former won without much difficulty after a long listless drift twice around the course. R V Fraser of Ottawa, won the open sailing event without trouble from R A Shaw, of Stony Lake. There were seven entries in the canoe sailing race and there was so little wind that six of the competitors agreed to drop out after they found themselves practically drifting and the seventh John Roxborough, Stony Lake sailed around the course alone. It is likely that the race will be sailed over again.

There was a difficulty over the men's single canoe race owing to the fact that some of the canoes were pronounced by the judges to be not ordinary hunting canoes. The result was that it was decided to make two races, one for ordinary and the other for racing canoes. The first class failed to fill and there were three entries in the racing class, which was won by Harry Simpson of Stony Lake, after a most exciting finish.

Following were the results—

Dinghy race—1 A A Hollingshead, Chemong; 2 Bruce Hopkins, Sturgeon Point.

Open Sailing—1R V Fraser, Stony Lake; 2 R A Shaw, Stony Lake.

Men's single canoe any style— 1 Harry Simpson, Stony Lake; 2 Fred Jopling, Bridgenorth; 3 A Nicholls, Bridgenorth.

Boys' Tandem canoe—1 Knowlson Brothers, Sturgeon Point; 2 Nicholls and Cullen, Bridgenorth; 3 Hatton and Stock, Stony Lake.

Ladies' single skiff race— 1 Miss Genevieve Sanderson, Stony Lake; 2 Miss P McCarthy, Stony Lake. Miss Dennie and Miss Eastwood of Chemong were disqualified on the ground that their coxswains assisted by paddling.

Ladies Tandem Canoe race—1 Miss Phyllis and Marion Dennie, Chemong, 2 Miss Dean and Miss Hill, Chemong; 3 Misses Margery and Marion Schreiber, Stony Lake; 4 Misses Amy Saunders and Margery Graham, Stony Lake.

Men's Tandem Canoe—1 C Warner and M Knowlson, Sturgeon Pt.; 2 O Gordon, Harry Simpson, Stony Lake; 3 F Jopling and A Nicholls, Bridgenorth. Rice Bros, Joy Bros. and Mowat and Moorehouse, all of Stony Lake also started.

Boys' single canoe—1 M. Knowlson, Sturgeon Point; 2 Rice, Stony Lake; 3 Harold Hill, Chemong; 4 W Nicholls, Bridgenorth.

Grab Race—1 A Cameron, Stony Lake; 2 Harold Hill, Chemong; 3 Harry Teskie, Stony Lake. E Ormsby, A M Mowat, E Joy, Chas Gordon, Bert Stock, Stony Lake; Graham Halpine, Chemong; W Nicholls, A Nicholls, Bridgenorth; W Knowlson, M Knowlson, Sturgeon Pt. also started.

Boys' Tandem Skiff—1 Actoo and Layfield, Stony Lake; 2 R Rice and O Giroux, Stony Lake; 3 H Stock and R Russell, Stony Lake; H Lees and Rogers, Stony Lake; S Hayes and H Hill of Chemong, also started.

Girls' single canoe—1 Miss Jean Hill Chemong; 2 Phyllis Deane, Chemong

Men's Tandem Skiff—1 and H Simpson, Lakefield; 2 Rice Bros., Stony Lake; 3 Hall and Eakins, Stony Lake(Camera) Bros., Hull Bros., and Mowat and Moorehouse also started.

Girls' Swimming Race— 1 Miss L. Bissett, Chemong; 2 Miss Lillian Dean, Chemong.

Boys' Swimming Race—1 D Gorman; 2 F Fraser; 3 H Kennedy.

Mixed Tandem—1 Mr Mowat and Miss Schreiber, Stony Lake; 2 Harry Simpson and Miss Adams, Stony Lake

Launch race—10 h.p. or under—1 A A Hollingshead's White Cap; 2, Henderson's "Kawatha". Mr. A L. Davis' boat "Nancy" was first to cross the line but was disqualified on account of having horse power exceeding the regulations.

Tilting—B Hopkins, Sturgeon Pt., won this event easily. He was paddled by Bruce Wilson of Sturgeon Pt. The other contestants were E Joy, D Joy, F Dela Fosse and A M Mowat.

Tug of War— A crew consisting of Hopkins, Simpson, Sylvester, and Wilson, Sturgeon Point defeated a Stony Lake four Mowat, Joy Graham and Moorehouse in the first round but were defeated by another crew from Sturgeon Point, Warner, Knowlson Bros and Trott.

Upset race—1 Harry Simpson; 2 Bert Stock.

FOWLER WINS THE OTONABEE ROAD RACE YESTERDAY

The Otonabee Road Race yesterday morning was a complete success. It was run under the auspices of the Otonabee Athletic Club and attracted considerable attention, not only from the residents along the route, but from may of the city sports. The race was won by George Fowler, of Peterborough, in 29.12; with Everett Kidd, of Otonabee, second.

Six runners toed the mark at the start and five finished. The course was from a point south of the Locks Bridge down through Otonabee and back. Sidney was the only starter who didn't finish. Jimmy McMartin was injured the day before the race, and Albert Smoke, the Indian from Chemong, arrived too late to start with the others, but later ran over the course and did it in26.30. Smoke is a promising runner and will be heard of in the Examiner Road Race this year. At the halfway turn the runners were in this order:

George Fowler.
Everett Kidd.
Bertram Cross.
Jimmy O'Brien.
Archie Rose.
Time—14.30.

The runners finished in the following order:

George Fowler
Everett Kidd.
Bertram Cross.
Jimmy O'Brien.
Archie Rose.
Time—29.12.

Starters—James Rose, George Gillespie.
Timer—Frank Wise.
Judge of course—Darrel Rose.

HIS LINE CAUGHT ON SNAG; KEENE FISHERMAN'S ESCAPE

Jas. Dixon, the veteran Keene fisherman, had a very narrow escape from drowning at Rice Lake yesterday afternoon, and only the timely assistance of a party of Peterborough people saved him from death. He was trawling about a mile outside of Rouch's Point, when his line became entangled in a snag. While endeadeavouring to release it he managed to upset his canoe, and found himself struggling in the water. Fortunately for him his cries for help were heard by the Peterborough people, who were camping at the Serpent Mound, and a number of boats hurried to the rescue. When they reached Mr. Dixon they found that he was almost exhausted, and it was with diofficulty that he was lifted into one of the skiffs, where he soon revived. He could not have maintained his hold on the canoe much longer.

DEATH CUTS SHORT A PLEASANT HOLIDAY

Miss Dixie Passes Away at Nicholls Hospital.

The holiday of Miss Annie L. Dixie, of New Orleans, Louisiana, was cut short by sickness. She came to South Beach, Clear Lake, to spend her vacation, but unfortunately she became ill with apoplexy and about three weeks ago was brought to the Nicholls Hospital here. This morning she passed away and her body left on the noon C. P. R. train, to betaken to Marble Head, the home of her brother, for burial.

The lacrosse team will practise tonight at Riverside Park, and every member is requested to be out as the team to go to Trenton will be picked.

SITUATION AMONG THE STRIKERS

Fourteen Hundred Cots Put in at Angus Shops.

ANOTHER 150 LEAVE WORK

Strikers' Ranks Are Swelled by Walkout of Cabinetmakers, Tinsmiths, Steamfitters and Painters — Men Rushed In at West Toronto—American Union Will Help—Strikers Go Harvesting.

Montreal, Aug. 11.—Interest in the C. P. R. strike was intensified yesterday when 150 more men left work at the Angus shops. The latest addition are cabinet makers, steam fitters, painters and tinsmiths, yet in spite of this the company's officials assert that they are suffering no inconvenience.

While the men were receiving this addition to their ranks, however, the company was making preparations to accommodate a big force of strikebreakers right on their own ground. Some fourteen hundred cots have been purchased and the tents will accommodate that number of men, so that the company seem determined to secure a staff and lodge them on its own grounds.

With regard to the statement that many of the strikers were going back to work, Bell Hardy declared that his advices from all along the line were to the effect that the men were suffering a few cases of defection, but the body was holding solidly together. He also denied emphatically the charge given out by the railway officials that the strike is one of the leaders against the company and not of the men. He points out that the decision to strike was reached after a vote taken by the men from all sections of the system.

He added: "In fact there was so brief a space between the issue of the arbitration commissions' award and the strike that it would have been impossible for the leaders to have influenced the men, even had they tried to do so. What action has been taken was taken by the men spontaneously on the clear cut issue."

At the offices of the C. P. R. the attitude of silence is being preserved throughout.

West Toronto, Aug. 11.—About 20 strike-breakers, nearly all laborers, were run into the C. P. R. yards at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. They came in a train from Toronto and were marshaled by Constable Wright, the C. P. R. detective of Owen Sound.

The C. P. R. constables on duty around the shops speak in the most amicable manner of the conduct of the pickets. "They offer no interference whatever and conduct themselves in a very orderly way. We have no complaint to make at all," said one of the constables.

Toronto, Aug. 11.—It is officially announced from strike sources that they are assisted by the American Federaton of Labor of support, financial and otherwise. Mr. James O'Connor of Washington, D. C., a prominent official of that organization, will arrive here this week to personally look over the situation.

Winnipeg, Aug. 11.—The harvest fields of the west offer good wages at the present time, and many of the strikers have obtain this class of employment. The strike pay has not commenced in the west.

Officials Subpoenaed.

Toronto, Aug. 11.—Mayor Oliver and the members of the Board of Control, Corporation Counsel Fullerton and City Solicitor Chisholm, President W. K. Geary and Manager J. O. Orr of the exhibition, and auditors Henry Barber and Henry Vigeon have been served with subpoenaes commanding their attendance as witnesses at the trial of Col. J. K. Leslie in the Police Court on Friday morning next.

The sum of $25,000 paid over by Mrs. Leslie last week to cover the shortage has been deposited in the bank to the credit of the Exhibition Association.

Had a Premonition.

Windsor, Aug. 11.—It is learned that, imperiled by a presentiment that some tragedy had occurred at home, William Overton, manager of the Dominion Fisheries Co., with headquarters at Winnipeg, cut short his visit to friends in this city and started home Friday afternoon. His son was one of the victims on the Premier, which was burned on Lake Winnipeg last week.

FOLLOWED HER MOTHER'S EXAMPLE.

AND KEPT DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY IN THE HOUSE.

Mrs. W. J. Wilson, Tessler, Sask. tells of her experience in the following words: "I wish to tell you of the good I have found in DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY. Last summer my little girl, aged two years, was taken ill with Summer Complaint, and as my mother always kept DR. FOWLER'S in the house, when I was a child, I seemed to follow her example, as I always have it also. I at once gave it to my baby as directed and she was at once relieved, and after a couple of doses were taken was completely cured."

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY imparts a healthy tone to all mucous surfaces, corrects and heals all forms of canker and counteracts all tendency to pain and inflammation, while it gives tone to the debilitated system when weakened by exhaustive discharges and fluxes of whatever nature, thus making it the best and safest remedy for Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Pain in the Stomach, Sea Sickness, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus and all Summer Complaints.

TRIUMPH IN HONOUR OF BOBBY KERR

Hamilton Enthusiastically Welcomes Champion Runner.

LONGBOAT WELL CHEERED

Beattie and Fletcher, Trapshooters, Are Participants In Gifts From City—Kerr's Purse Is Growing In Size—Winners Get Trays—Aldermen Are Unmercifully Roasted by the Crowds.

Hamilton, Aug. 11.—According to official count Hamilton has a population of 64,067, and there were only about 67 of them absent last evening when the reception took place to Bobby Kerr, winner of the 200 meter race at the Olympic games; Jack Caffery, the long distance runner, and George Beattie and M. E. Fletcher, the two trap shooters. They came up from Toronto on the Turbinia. The siren whistles of steamboats announced the arrival of the hero shortly before 8 o'clock and the bells and whistles continued with no let-up until nearly 10 o'clock. The reception was the most popular demonstration ever held in the city. From the steamboat wharf all along James and King streets to Victoria Park the streets were lined several rows deep. Many of the buildings were decorated, and there were fireworks and colored lights galore. The 13th band headed the procession, in which nearly everything on wheels in the city joined, filled with people eager to do the champion honor. Kerr occupied a chair on the top of a big float and was cheered to the echo. His father and mother and two sister rode near him in a hack. Caffery and the others also got a warm reception. At Victoria Park the crowd threatened to sweep the platform away. Mayor Stewart presented an illuminated address to Kerr on behalf of the city. R. Tasker Steele, the chairman of the Olympic committee, presided, and presented a silver salver to the champion on behalf of the city. Both he and the mayor referred to Kerr in the highest terms, laying stress on his clean life. Kerr was tendered an ovation. He replied with modesty, and when the demonstration was over hurried home to his family. The others were also presented with silver trays, and were warmly cheered. Tom Longboat was given the glad hand by the champion and was cheered almost as enthusiastically as Kerr himself. Billy Sherring and George Anderson, the trainers, also got their share. The money testimonial was not presented to Kerr last evening, but that will came later. The fund amounts to about $1,500, and it is expected that it will be greatly increased.

The only unpleasant feature about the whole show was the fact that the aldermen who rode in the procession were unmercifully roasted for their Cataract deal.

HONOR THEIR CHIEFTAIN.

Scots of Toronto Turn Out to Welcome Lord Lovat.

Toronto, Aug. 11.—Lord Lovat, hereditary chieftain of Clan Fraser, who has come over-seas to meet the Frasers of Canada, broke the record yesterday in the number of addresses presented in a given time to one visitor in Toronto.

The Gaelic Society was given precedence by Lord Lovat in his reply, after which the clan of the Frasers across the seas made their welcome; the Sons of Scotland, the Caledonian Society, the St. Andrew's Society, the Burns' Literary Society, the Highland and Lowland Society, the Daughters of Scotland, the Orkney and Shetland Society, the Caithness Society, the Thistle Club, and many other Scottish institutions.

A lunch by the Catholic Union was given at 1.30, when Archbishop McEvoy, Vicar-General McCann, Justice Anglin and W. A. Fraser, Georgetown, were among the guests. Dinner was also given at 7 at the St. Charles, and subsequently a reception was held.

During the day Lord Lovat, who is accompanied by Sir Keith Alexander Fraser, was shown a great part of the city. To-day he will proceed by motor car from Hamilton to Niagara, and he will sail to-morrow from New York by the Mauretania.

CARS IN COLLISION AT CHATHAM

Four Are Killed In Chatham Rear-End Smash-Up.

DOZEN OTHERS ARE HURT

Two Erie Beach Cars Crowded With Excursionists Crash Together as Result of Brakes Refusing to Work—Two of Injured May Die—The Company Blamed For Not Having Airbrakes.

Chatham, Aug. 11.—A rear-end collision yesterday morning on the trolley line leading to Erie Beach, a new summer resort, has caused four deaths, while two of the dozen injured are in a critical condition.

Two cars loaded with excursionists left the city shortly after 10 o'clock. One car had about a minute's lead. They were about half an hour late, and both were traveling at a high rate of speed.

When in front of the fair grounds, still within the city limits, the head car stopped to take on a passenger. The motorman on the rear car saw the one in front stop and tried to check the speed of his car, but was unable to do so. The brakes refused to work, and the car smashed headlong into the front car, which was standing still.

The cars were so crowded with people that they were standing on the steps and in the vestibules.

When the crash came the vestibule of the rear car was smashed and the whole end of the head car was smashed.

Doctors and ambulances were soon on the scene and the injured were taken to the hospital. This city was thrown into a turmoil of excitement.

Wm. Broomhead of Detroit, visiting here, was killed instantly, the top of the skull being crushed.

Wm. Donovan, a small boy, also met instant death, his head being crushed in.

Michael and John Pleasance, brothers, also died during the afternoon. The latter had one leg completely severed.

Among the less seriously injured are: Mr. Fields, badly bruised; Miss Henry, badly bruised; Carrie Snell, bruised and injured; Mrs. Dunkley, eye injured and bruised; Geo. Dunkley, Sr., hand badly crushed and sprained; Frederick Norwood, conductor on No. 14, his leg sprained and bruised; Mrs. James Smith, limbs badly contused; William Hume, wrist sprained; Richard Stein, clover, contusions of shoulder, hip and legs; Mrs. Stein, injury to eye; Mrs. Richard Pope and Mrs. Dix, seriously ill from nervous shock.

A coroner's jury was empanelled yesterday afternoon and after a short session adjourned to look over the wrecked cars and the scene of the disaster, and it is likely an enquiry will be instituted to learn why the wrecked cars were moved by the railway company before the jury viewed the scene.

The jury will make their findings on the body of Frank Donovan. This little lad's head was practically beaten into a pulp, and a large scar above the right ear allowed the scalp to hang over the face. The other dead are almost as badly mangled. The jury reassembled this morning at 10 o'clock and commenced to take evidence.

The allegation has been made in certain circles that the accident was the result of negligence on the part of the C. W. & L. E. Co. in not having car No. 8 equipped with air brakes.

ANOTHER ROYAL MEETING.

King Will Confer With Kaiser and Francis Joseph.

London, Aug. 11.—King Edward and his suite left London yesterday afternoon for Marienbad by way of Cronberg, where Emperor William is awaiting him.

His Majesty will meet the Emperor to-day and to-morrow he will see Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria at Ischl, after which he will continue to Marienbad, the King's favorite watering place.

That the visit to the two Emperors will not be wholly private in character is suggested by the fact that Sir Charles Hardinge, Permanent Under-Secretary to the Foreign Office, who always accompany the King on diplomatic missions, will be present on both occasions.

King Edward's aim, it is believed, is to endeavor to convince the German and Austrian Emperors that the British policy is not aimed at the isolation or injury of any other power.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Thomas Symington of Sarnia died suddenly.

Fred Milligan was drowned at Brantford.

Fred Mulligan of Scotland, Ont., was drowned at Mohawk Lake.

Canada's revenue for the first four months of the current fiscal year decreased $6,789,589.

Earl Dudley, Major-General Talbot and General Pole-Carew, with their wives, are at Winnipeg.

Robert Allan, aged 20, was drowned at Keewatin. He dived from a canoe and got caught in the weeds.

William Parker, aged 80 and a veteran of the Crimea, died homeless and friendless in the district jail at Port Arthur.

A survey party, consisting of 100 men, leave Winnipeg this week to locate the route of the proposed Hudson Bay railway.

Thinks He Should Have Hanged.

Montreal, Aug. 11.—L'Everment of Quebec has a very severe article condemning the Minister of Justice for commuting the sentence of death passed upon Omer Rochette, who poisoned his wife in the most cold-blooded manner.

The Quebec paper declares that there were no extenuating circumstances whatever, and insinuates that it was party politics which saved the murderer.

Sir Wilfrid Absent.

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not return to the capital last evening, as expected, but he will be here to-day for the Cabinet meeting.

The Ministers will then disperse for a fortnight's campaign in their constituencies.

Leg Broken and Didn't Know.

Toronto, Aug. 11.—William Dunbar, 20 Geoffrey street, was brought to the city last night and taken to the Western Hospital. His leg was broken four days ago in a lumber camp, but he had been treated for some other ailment.

Fatal Auto Accident.

San Francisco, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Anna Klemma was killed in an automobile accident, and her son Harry was slightly injured.

A Desperate Suicide.

Newburgh, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Chas. Rudman, a cigar manufacturer, aged 50, was found dead on the outskirts of the city yesterday with his throat cut. On Saturday Rudman wrote a letter to an employe, enclosed a check for $123 which he owed him, and told him that he was going to kill himself because his mother was critically ill. He left minute directions as to where the body would be found.

All day Sunday Rudman played cribbage with friends.

Two Die In Auto Wreck.

Painesville, Ohio, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Mary Rowden, 65 years of age, and Mrs. Rose Beckwith, 43 years of age, were instantly killed, and Fred Beckwith, 45 years of age, perhaps fatally injured, and Bessie Beckwith, 16 years, his daughter, badly bruised and burned by the explosion of a steam automobile.

THE EXAMINER'S SPORTING PAGE

PETERBOROS WON TWO FAST GAMES FROM TORONTO CITY LEAGUERS; BEAT ST. MARY'S

St. Mary's, leaders of the Senior League of Toronto, came down to the city yesterday to try conclusions with the Petes, winners of the Midland League, to get a taste of the baseball played in these parts. They were beaten in the morning game by 11 to 1 and in the afternoon were shut out by 4-0. The game in the afternoon was the best exhibition of ball played here for some time, the fielding being very snappy all through. The Petes played grand ball and used the willow to great advantage when hits meant runs. Edmunds sending in two men ahead of him on his home run in the morning.

The summary of the morning game follows:

Home run, Edmunds; two-base hit, Edmunds; struck out by Cahill 4, by Phaelan 1, by Hawkins 6; hits off Cahill 10, off Phaelan 2, off Hawkins 4; bases on balls, off Cahill 5, off Phaelan 1, off Hawkins 2; time, 1.45; umpire, Connors.

Batteries—St. Mary's, Cahill, Phaelan and Nye; Petes, Hawkins and Edmunds.

Afternoon Game

The afternoon game was a good exhibition of ball, both teams putting ginger into the game all the time. The Petes had the better of the game, bunching their hits in the sixth for two runs and also getting one in the third and one in the eighth. For the Saints, Englerd put up a good game, taking some very hard chances. Lackey got himself into trouble in the sixth by passing a man on the start and being touched up for three singles.

For the Petes, Clements pitched fine ball, and had the Saints at his mercy all the time. Edmunds behind the bat is improving at every game, his throwing to bases being one of the features of the game. He is also good with the willow, having a home run a two-bagger and a single in the two games.

The game by innings was as follows:—

First Innings—

St. Mary's—Maguire grounded to Lawson, Burn flied to Clements, and Baldwin was out, Edmunds to Lawson. No runs.

Petes—Burns struck out. Murphy was out, Lackey to Baldwin. O'Brien drew a base on balls but was caught stealing second. No runs.

Second Innings—

St. Mary's — Englerd hit safely. Phaelan was out, Edmunds to Lawson. Maugson was out, O'Brien to Lawson. Nye hit the ozone three. No runs.

Petes—Edmunds got a life on Phaelan's error. Anderson flied out to Mauseon. Hawkins drew a base on balls. Shea was hit by pitcher, filling the bases. Hawkins got too big a lead off second and forced Edmunds at the plate. Clements flied to Maguire. No runs.

Third Innings.

St. Mary's — Smith struck out. Lackey got a life on Anderson's error, but was caught stealing second, Clements to Anderson. Maguire flied to Lawson. No runs.

Petes—Lawson hit safely but was caught stealing second. Burns hit safely, stole second and scored on Murphy's sacrifice. O'Brien struck out. One run.

Fourth Innings—

Burn struck out. Baldwin hit safely but was caught stealing second. Englerd drew a base on balls but Phaelan flied out to Burns. No runs.

Petes—Englerd flied to Smith. Anderson was out, Englerd to Baldwin, and Hawkins was out in the same manner. No runs.

Fifth Innings.—

Mauseon out, Shea to Lawson. Maguire got a life on Shea's error and went around to third, but was caught napping, Edmunds to O'Brien. Smith went out, Clements to Lawson. No runs.

Petes—Shea drew a base on balls and stole second. Clements struck out. Lawson flied to Burn and Shea was caught at the plate on the throw. No runs.

Sixth Innings—

Maguire got a life on Shea's wide throw to Lawson and was advanced to second and third while Burn and Baldwin went out, Clements to Lawson. Englerd was out, Anderson to Lawson. No runs.

Petes—Murphy out, Maguire to Baldwin. O'Brien was safe on Maguire's error, and stole second. Edmunds drew a base on balls, but was caught stealing second. Anderson hit safely and O'Brien scored. Hawkins and Shea also hit safely and Anderson scored. Clements went out, Englerd to Baldwin. Two runs.

Seventh Innings—

Phaelan struck out. Mauseon flied to Clements and Maguire struck out. No runs.

Petes—Lawson struck out. Burns drew a base on balls, but Lackey caught him off first after a dozen throws. Murphy struck out. No runs.

Eighth Innings—

Smith out, Clements to Lawson. Lackey struck out and Maguire flied to Burns. No runs.

Petes—O'Brien drew a base on balls, stole second, went to third on Edmunds' sacrifice, and scored on Anderson's sacrifice. Hawkins was out, Lackey to Baldwin. One run.

Ninth Innings—

Burn flied to Shea. Baldwin got to third on Shea's error, but was caught at the plate by Clements. Englerd hit safely, but was caught trying to make it a two-bagger, Burns to Anderson. No runs.

Strathconas Are Champions Of Intermediate City League

Defeated Lakeviews on Saturday Afternoon And Win the Silverware—A Fairly Good Game—A Few Errors Too Many.

HELD ON RIVERSIDE PARK

In a game that was by no means the best exhibition of ball that has been seen in the City Intermediate League this year the Strathconas won the championship for 1908, by defeating the Lakeviews by the score of 16 to 9. It was played on Riverside Park, and a fairly large crowd was present to see it, all the other teams being interested. The Lakeviews opened up strong, getting two men over the home pan in the first innings, while the Strathconas scored only once. However, the latter came along strong in the second, bunched a couple of clear hits, were assisted by several errors and took the lead. This they strengthened in the fourth, shutting out the south enders until the fifth, but still maintaining their lead.

Mahoney was on the slab for the Lakeviews and deserved better support, especially from his infield. The outfielders were generally under the ball and missed nothing they tried for. Pentland, at third, spoiled his good fielding by a costly wild throw. Menzies, behind the bat, did good work and also at bat.

For the Strathconas system won the game. They know each other, have played together for more than one summer and McMillan, Kendry, Weatherstone, Curtis, Allison and Shaw know just about what to do every time. Hyslop at first gave them good support. Belleghem was touched freely enough, but fielded his position well and had the nicest hit of the day. Shaw probably played his best game of the season. He made a lovely running catch, scored five runs, had two hits and ran the bases in fast style. In this particular feature the Straths have it on most of the other teams. Practically all their men are effective base runners.

The Straths will therefore decorate their camp with the silver cup for a year anyway.

Ned Fitzpatrick umpired satisfactorily.

Notes

And Biz Chief Metheral says: "I told you so."

Menzies came in for some hard knocks. He was hit on the face with the ball, hit hard on the mask and injured his side in sliding to a base.

And "Petey" Weatherstone is still smiling.

CAFFERY RIGHT ABOUT SIMPSON

He Took the Hiawatha Road for Home As Soon As He Landed in Peterborough.

Sherring thinks Longboat may get into shape again to run more fine races, but personally he believes more in the other Indian, Fred Simpson of Peterborough.

He thinks even when Longboat is in shape again that Simpson can beat him. Simpson has filled out and is much bigger than he was last year, when he ran in the Thanksgiving Day race at Hamilton. He is 27 and is married, and has a couple of children.

Simpson at Home

He lives about 13 miles out of Peterborough, at Rice Lake, and Jack Caffrye says, "He has been the most homesick man of the whole crowd since he left Montreal. I bet he runs all the way home when he gets to Peterborough."

That seems to be a trick of Indians, for Longboat used to do the same thing.

Simpson himself was anxious to know if the Star would have another race this year. "I was sorry I could not come," he said, "but we could not get a fourth man for the team. If the next race would be for a good individual prize, as well as a team prize, I certainly will come, although I sometimes think that I ought to quit."

"Nonsense," said Caffery, "you are only just rounding into form."

Simpson is a farmer at home.

Sherring has a lot of stories to tell, and he believes Bobby Kerr would have won the hundred easily if he had not insisted on running so many other races before the Olympic one. "He was getting stale," said Sherring, "and he was attempting more than flesh and blood can stand."

Away in a corner he was telling of how Archibald lost the pole vault so that the latter could not hear him. He was in the best of condition. The pole vaulting preliminaries and finals were run off on the day of the Marathon.—Montreal Star.

Sporting Comment

Baseball has developed a new puzzle in mathematics. In Friday's game at the Polo Grounds Tenney of the Giants stole second and then stole back to first. No wonder the Cardinals were disgusted, umpire, scorer and fans nonplussed; it was a huge and fib tickling "horse." It made one plus one equal zero. Each was an actual steal, exposing the daring runner to the danger of being thrown out, yet the double risk was fruitless, the retrogressive relay cancelling its progressive predecessor.

STACKED HAY WITH A BIG FORK

Attached Pulleys to a Tree in the Field Simplifying the Operation.

A Smith farmer named Hannah, made use of a little common sense bordering on ingenuity recently in stacking hay. Ordinarily this is done by hand and is long and tedious work. However, he noticed a maple tree at one end of the field. He got the hay fork from his barn, arranged the tackle to the tree and stacked his hay with the fork. As a result the work was rapidly completed and without any toil.

THOSE WHO HAVE PASSED IN JUNIOR MATRICULATION

Twenty Candidates From Peterborough Are Successful—Many Attend University.

The following list contains the names of the two classes of candidates who wrote in the recent matriculation examinations in Peterborough first those who have written upon and fulfilled the requirements of the University of Toronto in a sufficient number of subjects for full matriculation; 2nd, those who have written upon one or more papers, and have fulfilled the requirements therein. It follows that all who made 33 per cent., the standard required by the university, upon the papers upon which they wrote are here reported.

The certificates containing the marks will be sent to the principals of the Collegiate Institutes and the inspectors in about a week. Candidates may apply to these officials, not to the department, for their reports in detail—

WEDDING BELLS

CRAIG—CAMERON

An event of much interest to this city was the marriage of Ross Brown Craig of Peterborough and Miss Ruby Cameron, second daughter of Mr Frank Burton, of Dundas, which took place on Monday evening, August 3, at 7.30 o'clock. The ceremony was quietly celebrated at St. Andrew's manse, Hamilton, by the Rev. Mr. Wilson. Both bride and groom were unattended. The bride wore a stylish travelling suit of brown panama cloth with white blouse and white lingerie hat.

After the ceremony the uncle of the bride, ex-Senator Burton, of New York, entertained the bridal party to an enjoyable champagne supper at the Waldorf Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Craig then left on a wedding trip to points west, and upon their return will reside in Dundas, and their many friends extend best wishes.—Dundas Banner.

Mr. Geo. V. Clemenli Carries Through Big Land Deal.

Word has been received from Jacksonville, Fla., from Mr. Geo. V. Clementi, formerly of Peterborough but now of Chicago, stating that he has concluded the purchase of 200,000 acres of land in that State for a wealthy Chicago syndicate. The letter stated that the next locality he would visit would be Mexico, where a similar deal would be negotiated. It is not so long ago since it was learned that he had acted in the purchase of mining property in the Western States.

THE CONCERTS LARGELY ATTENDED

Salvation Army Band Had a Successful Trip to Cobourg.

The Salvation Army Band certainly made another hit in Cobourg, on the occasion of their week end trip. Bandmaster Greene accompanied them and nearly all the musicians being present fresh laurels were won. They left Peterborough on Saturday afternoon and returned Monday evening. Saturday night and on Sunday they gave concerts, and on Monday played at the Arlington Hotel, where they received a splendid reception. The trip was enjoyed by the band and in every particular was a success.

ENNISMORE TOWNSHIP SUCCESSFUL STUDENTS

Five Out of Seven Candidates—Four With Honours—Pass the Normal School Entrance Examinations.

The Ennismore "High School," or Public School continuation classes of the Public School has achieved a notable success, one creditable to both the teacher and pupils. Among those who wrote in Peterborough at the Departmental Examinations for entrance to the Normal School and who succeeded, were several students of the above school. Seven wrote and five passed, four taking honours. These were J. English, C. Galvin, Helena Moloney, M. and M. F. Moloney. Michael Perdue was in the successful list of the passed. Congratulations are due and are heartily extended.

EXTENT OF BREAD MAKING BUSINESS IN PETERBORO

3,500 Loaves Not Enough to Supply Demand at Mann's.

As an instance of the growth of the bread-making business in Peterborough, it may be mentioned that Mann's bakery turned out 3,500 loaves on Saturday. This big batch was completely sold out before Monday—Civic Holiday. Their bakers, who had arranged to enjoy the holiday, had to be called in and turn out a special baking of 500 loaves more, which were all sold in their own retail store. This is the record of only one bakery in the city out of perhaps six or eight others, who are baking up to their full capacity.

CANADIANS EXPORT THEIR BEST CHEESE, KEEPING POORER GRADES FOR THEIR OWN USE

Mr. Ruddick, Canadian Dairy Commissioner, Says Home Trade Should be Larger—Grocers Buy Culled Cheese.

EXPERIMENTAL WORK

The ordinary householder would scarcely believe it if he were told that he did not know the taste of good cheese. The idea of Canadians whose fair country is competing in the cheese market with the old and long established dairying countries of Europe not enjoying the very best quality of the article which is making Canada famous seems almost preposterous. And yet in an interview with Mr. J. A. Ruddick, Chief Dairy Commissioner for Canada, he informed the Examiner that such was practically the case. Mr. Ruddick's visit here was to inspect the new cold storage building of Scott and Hogg in East City. He spoke of it as well adapted for the purposes intended, and equipped in a thoroughly modern manner.

Speaking of the dairy business, Mr. Ruddick stated that two-thirds of our dairy output is used in Canada. That includes mostly milk and butter. The best of our cheese is exported. Our grocers buy the culls, which, Mr. Ruddick says, are either inferior or green cheese.

Grocers to Blame

He seemed to blame the grocers. If they were particular in buying only first grade cheese the people would be educated into refusing inferior qualities. The difference between good cheese and bad is the same as in any other article. Canadians, Mr. Ruddick said, should have the best quality cheese as one means of building up a larger home trade.

Two men of the department are at Smith's Falls experimenting on the best methods of handling milk on the farm and the consequent effect on the quality of the cheese manufactured.

MINISTER OF RAILWAYS AND CANALS TO VISIT PETERBOROUGH

The Honourable George P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, will visit Peterborough on Thursday, August 20th. He will be accompanied by Mr. M. J. Butler, Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, and Chief Engineer. The purpose of the visit of these officials is to make a tour of inspection of the route of the Trent Canal from Hastings northward.

Their itinerary will therefore begin at Hastings, on August 20th, and Peterborough will be the termination of the first day's voyage. Hon. Mr. Graham will remain here over night and on Friday following will go as far as Fenelon Falls. On Saturday, Aug. 22nd, he and the Deputy Minister will visit the Balsam Lake and Lake Simcoe divisions.

Restaurant Keepers Charged With Selling Sunday Drinks

Chief Rossel and P. C. Meharry grew thirsty on Sunday afternoon, and set about to find some means of slaking the same, with the result that three restaurant keepers, John Fowler, George Thomas and C. Q. Woo appeared before Police Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning on a charge of selling lemon sour and other soft drinks on Sunday. The case is an unusual one and attracted considerable attention this morning, as it is a case in which not only restaurant keepers but the citizens generally are interested. The informations were laid under the old act. Mr. Gordon appeared for the first two defendants, while Mr. G. W. Hatton looked after the interests of Woo.

The magistrate reserved judgment in the case until Friday morning.

Chief Rossel testified that on Sunday afternoon last he was informed that the three defendants were selling on the Sabbath. In company with P. C. Meharry he had gone to Fowler's restaurant, and had asked for a glass of lemon sour with which they were served and for which he had paid ten cents. There were others there drinking, including two small boys, one of whom was nearly strangled by the gas in the ginger ale he was drinking. He had advised Mr. Fowler to stop selling on Sunday, as it was against the law.

To Mr. Gordon the chief said that the defendant was a restaurant keeper, who served meals on Sunday. Neither he nor P. C. Meharry had any ice cream there.

P. C. Meharry corroborated the evidence of the chief in every respect. He had had one glass of lemon sour in Fowler's restaurant but nothing else.

Chas. Daire testified that he was employed at Mr. Fowler's restaurant as a waiter. He remembered serving the chief and P. C. Meharry with two glasses of lemon sour on Sunday. They did not get anything else there and paid for the drink. He served nobody on Sunday who asked for ice cream or soft drinks.

Esther Mollett testified to having been in Thomas' restaurant on Sunday afternoon and having obtained one dish of ice cream, for which she had paid five cents. There was a young man there who also purchased ice cream.

In the other cases the counsel for the defendants admitted that soft drinks had been served to the chief and P. C. Meharry, but Mr. Gordon argued and quoted from several cases to the effect that it was within the rights of a licensed restaurant keeper to serve ice cream and other drinks on Sunday, that they were foods within the meaning of the act and that therefore there could be no conviction made.

Judgment will be given on Friday morning by the magistrate, and will be waited for with interest by the public.

LOCAL BOY WANTED IN LONDON

Account of Housebreaking and Burglary —Fled With Horse and Buggy.

London, Aug. 11—John Smith, a 18 year old lad from Peterborough, is said to have burglarised the Nelson House, Pottersburg, on Saturday night, taking two gold watches and $10 from boarders there. He also attempted to break into the house of Rev. Mr. McKay, Presbyterian minister, but was interrupted and fled. Earlier Saturday night, Smith had rented a horse and rig from Poorly livery, and it is thought that he made good his escape in this.

SERVICES AT ST. JOHN'S LAST SUNDAY

Monthly Corporate Communion of No. 6 Chapter, Brotherhood of St. Andrew

The early Communion service last Sunday at St. John's Church was attended by the members of No. 6 Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, being the occasion of their monthly corporate Communion. Matins and Evensong were well attended, many visitors finding their way to the church on the hill. The choristers led the service well in greatly numbers, service forms being used for the Te Deum at Matins and for the evening Canticles.

Mr. Jos. Halgeny sang well in the sacred solo, "The Way of the Cross," ably assisted by Master Frank Halgeny (violin) and Mr. R. J. Dovey (organ.)

The anthem, "Praise the Lord," was well rendered at Evensong, the unaccompanied quartette being a special feature.

Rev. Dr. Foster conducted all the services and preached scholarly and helpful sermons; in the morning from the Epistle for the day, and in the evening on the weaknesses of Solomon. Reviewing the early life of Solomon the preacher said that great talents entailed great responsibilities, and the failure of Solomon was marked by the New Testament writers in the fact that only twice is he mentioned, and then not in commendatory terms.

After giving out the notices, Dr. Foster announced that he would be in the Sacristy each morning—9.30 to 10.00—to take any parochial business and to meet members of the congregation. Noting that his way of conducting the services was not pleasing to Dr. G'Fosty preferred to conduct the services to the best of his judgment, according to the authority by which he was placed in charge of St. John's parish.

SIMPSON THE INDIAN TO BE HONOURED

Hiawatha Folk to Make Presentation to Him To-night.

There will be doings in Hiawatha to-night. Fred Simpson will be tendered an official welcome home from the Olympic games, and everybody in Hiawatha will be out to assist. Fred is in Peterborough to-day and knows nothing of the intentions of the Hiawatha folk, who will present him with a handsome locek. Chief Crowe will officiate. Dike Baker, the Indian's right hand man, went down this afternoon on invitation to see the fun.

PROOF OF PRACTICAL INTEREST.

The visit within a few days of Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, and his deputy, to this district, for the purpose of seeing for himself the route and attendant conditions of the Trent Canal, is a proof of his practical interest in the work and of his adherence to his policy of seeing and judging for himself. Of course, a Minister is not supposed to have expert or engineering knowledge, but Hon. Mr. Graham will be next to them when he has his efficient deputy at his elbow. By visiting and seeing with his own eyes the Trent Canal and its route, he will know what is going forward and will be in a much better position to defend in Parliament the expenditures necessary to complete the canal in conformity with the promise of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the policy of his Government. Mr. Graham is a pretty good talker, but he will talk all the better and to better purpose when he knows what he is talking about, in discussing ways and means for the completion of the Trent Canal.

SWIMMING FOR GIRLS.

The Ottawa City fathers have set apart the civic swimming baths one day in a week to permit of girls learning to swim. Though old bachelors and unsanctified cynics may claim that such a concession is unnecessary on the score that the gentle sex is light-headed enough to float without much teaching, yet, seriously, no more important or delightful accomplishment than swimming can be acquired or possessed by the summer girl. Though the average girl or woman can paddle her own canoe and get in the social swim without much assistance she needs learning the natatory art much more than other ducks, them of the aquatic nature and web feet. Girls are naturally bundles of nerves and in cases of accident develop panic or obstreperous helplessness. A knowledge of swimming gives confidence and tends to banish nervousness and thus in the event of accident they keep their pretty heads and can help themselves. So it comes to pass that a girl or girls who know how to swim may, in case of accident on the water, the upsetting or swamping of a canoe or skiff, save themselves or help to save others. Of course girls should learn to swim. The vast majority of the young persons at our aquatic summer resorts are girls. They have abundant opportunity to acquire the art of swimming and are constantly exposed to danger and accident in which a knowledge of swimming may easily contribute all the difference between life and death. Not only should girls know how to swim but all who frequent water, should possess some knowledge of water to some degree at least. The ability to take a few strokes, it no more than the length of the body may represent safety, by it attainment of some temporary support until assistance comes. It is inconceivable that many persons spend their time on or near the water without learning the healthful and life-saving art of swimming. No girl is properly fit for matrimony till she can bake an edible loaf of bread, and no girl is properly qualified to spend a fortnight at Stony Lake or Rice Lake till she can swim. There are grave-stones in the cemetery which might still have been in the quarry if the girls over whose bodies they stand had known how to swim.

LET LAURIER FINISH HIS WORK

(Montreal Herald.)

If an election is in store for us this autumn, it is already clear that the personality of the Prime Minister will be the dominating element in determining the result. Canada cannot afford to deprive herself of the advantage of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's services, and while this consideration will naturally be set aside by those who radically adhere to the opposing party, nevertheless it will almost certainly be adopted by the average man, and so by a decisive majority of the people. It is not by accident that personal pre-eminence is attained in a democratic community, nor is there ever much doubt about where the priority rests. The contest for high office is, in the last analysis, pretty much like any other form of human combat. The eyes of the spectator are fixed upon the leading contestants, for the all sufficient reason that the forces which are best directed are most likely to win. It is human instinct to recognize, to applaud, to reward, and to support, whatever champion in any form of combat shows himself indisputably the best. In France, the highest recent example of this was the career of Napoleon, which had carrying force enough to bring in the second Empire. In England, the monuments erected in every city in honour of the Duke of Wellington bear witness that worship of the highest excellence is not confined to France. In England, also, the amazing career of Mr. Gladstone gave unmistakable proof of the passionate desire of the people in an intelligent democracy to put its best at the head. In Germany, Bismarck was able, by dint of sheer fitness, to hold his place of power, despite innumerable intrigues fomented by persons of great but factitious influence. We in Canada would probably be unanimous in pointing to Sir John Macdonald as the one great example of supreme fitness for the great place he held. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has not been so sorely tried as Sir John Macdonald was, but no one seriously questions that, allowance made for the altered circumstances, his position as first citizen is as secure as that of Sir John Macdonald ever was. Certainly in the election of 1891, and probably in the election of 1887, the party Sir John led owed its majority almost altogether to the fact that he was leading. The country paid him the tribute of recognition; anyone who has any doubt of that ought to read again the story of what happened to his Cabinet after he was called away from it. There is hardly a doubt in the mind of any ordinary man, even of one whose party affiliations are strongly Conservative, that if we are to have an election now the country will give Sir Wilfrid Laurier the same sort of a diploma. People will not be satisfied with second best so long as best is available. People would not have George Brown, who was a foeman worthy of Sir John Macdonald's steel; people would not have Edward Blake, who nevertheless commanded by his magnificent talents the unbounded admiration of his followers, people will not now displace Sir Wilfrid Laurier as the spokesman of the nation, to put in his stead any one of those who might possibly be mentioned as an alternative.

The position is made all the more secure for Sir Wilfrid by the fact that he is right in the midst of the undertaking by virtue of which his administration will be distinguished in the future. Sir John Macdonald's great material achievement was the construction of the Canadian Pacific. He brought in the protection tariff, too, it is true, and he and his friends were given eighteen years of fair trial to show what they could do with it, but they failed to perform any wonders, and much of their work had to be undone. The steel highway across the continent remains, and will remain. So with Sir Wilfrid; he has lived through twelve years of administration, has faced the thousand and one problems that have to be disposed of as they arise, has seen strong men enter his Cabinet and pass out from it, has presided over the destinies of Canada in the era of its greatest prosperity, in the years when the long awaited forward impulse was felt at last from end to end of the Dominion; but the work by which he will be remembered, the work that was made possible by a happy concurrence of good times and good management, is the National Transcontinental Railway, now in course of construction. Sir Wilfrid has a right to ask to be allowed to finish that work; he has the right to demand that the Government be not turned over, in this critical stage of the enterprise, to those who represent one phase or another of interested opposition to that work. Let Sir Wilfrid finish his work. By the time it is done Canada may have recognized the presence of the one man of the morrow, who can start out, in his turn, upon the work of his time.

LENDRUM'S

DELIGHTFUL AT-HOME AT GLEN OAK COTTAGE

Many Ladies of the Lake Hospitably Entertained Yesterday Afternoon.

Examiner Special

On Tuesday Mrs. A. L. Davis was "at home" at her beautiful summer home, "Glen Oak," to the ladies of the lake, who were present by hundreds to enjoy her large and graceful hospitality, to which her spacious and well-appointed summer residence contributed so effectively. Mrs. Davis received on the wide verandah, and refreshments were served in the dining-room. All were delighted with the occasion. The reception, while founded on kindly social impulses, was chiefly to permit the ladies to meet the members of the Orpheus Quartette of Toronto, who are guests of Mrs. Davis for a few weeks. A splendid programme to be presented at "Glen Oak" by the quartette has been arranged for this (Wednesday) evening. The concert is given in aid of the pavilion pianoforte, and it is expected that there will be a very large attendance for so worthy an object. In addition to those who will be attracted by the musicale, many who have admired from the water the beautiful night view presented by "Glen Oak," with its brilliant dazzle of electric lights, will be pleased to study the beauties of the finest summer residence on Canadian inland waters at close range.

That tired feeling will disappear; your appetite will improve; your digestion will be perfect, if you will take Miller's Compound Iron Pills. Sold by J. D. Tully, druggist, Peterborough.

SOME GOOD FISHING AT GLENWOOD, STONY LAKE

Examiner Special

Glenwood, Stony Lake, Aug. 12.—Mr. Herb Baggs and Miss Mollie Thompson, of Toronto, brought in a twenty pound 'lunge this evening. Mr. Fred Ives, of Rochester, was with them, and the three of them certainly had a great time landing it. When they struck it they thought they had hit a rock. Miss Thompson had the line and dropped the stick, thinking they were fast on a rock, so they had to back up to the reefs. When she picked it up she found she had a fish on. The fish measured a little over three and a half feet.

"Lunge fishing is better around Glenwood than it has been for years, and the boys are bringing in from three to six every day. Mr. Art Severs and John Stinson both struck a 'lunge at the same time this morning, from the same boat. Severs landed his, but Stinson's broke his tackle and the fish got away.

The bass fishing is great, most of the boys getting their limit every day. We have shipped about ten large boxes to Buffalo, Toronto and Welland in the past two weeks. Business is very fine, with the outlook for a full house all the balance of the season.

NERVOUS DEBILITY

Thousands of young and middle aged men are annually swept to a premature grave through EARLY INDISCRETIONS, EXCESSES AND BLOOD DISEASES. If you have any of the following symptoms consult us before it is too late. Are you nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes, with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, bashful, dreams and losses, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks careworn expression, poor memory, lifeless, distrustful, lack energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, weak manhood, premature decay, bone pains, hair loose, sore throat etc.

BLOOD POISONS Blood Poisons are the most prevalent and most serious diseases. They sap the very life blood of the victim, and unless entirely eradicated from the system may affect the future generation. Beware of Mercury. It only suppresses the symptoms—OUR NEW METHOD cures them.

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT alone can cure you, and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches, and ulcers disappear, the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency vanish, the eye becomes bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical, and vital systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. Don't let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard earned dollars. We will cure you or no pay.

Marathon Race Was Run In The Sultriest Of Weather

Fred Simpson Tries to Explain the Nature of the Climate—He Was in the Best of Condition at the Start.

HEAT WAS OVERPOWERING

When the steamer Otonabee was steaming towards the dock at Idyl Wild on Monday with the Printers' picnic, Peterborough people had the first opportunity of seeing Mr. Fred Simpson after his return from London, England. He was standing on the wharf beside his wife, when a number of his admirers in the bow started up a cheer. Someone cried out, "Now, altogether, fellows, three cheers for Fred Simpson," and the whole boat joined in the hurrahs which were as warm as Fred ever received.

"What's the matter with Simpson? He's all right. Who said so? Everybody."

Fred acknowledged the welcome by a graceful bow, and soon he was shaking hands with his many admirers.

Seen afterwards by an Examiner representative in regard to his trip, he said it was the event of his life, and he expressed the gratitude he felt towards those who made it possible for him to share the honour of being an entry in the Marathon. He is looking his very best and has increased several pounds in weight since his finish in sixth place in the celebrated race. After a conversation on various topics, the reporter asked:—

"Well, what happened, anyway, Fred?"

Immediately the expression of his countenance changed as for the moment his memory flashed along that English road from Windsor Castle to the expectant thousands in the Stadium. It seemed a puzzled look of disappointment, and he voiced it after a moment's hesitation.

Never Felt Better

"I never felt better," he said, "than I did just before the start. I was in perfect condition and confident that I would make fast time."

He stopped with the same puzzled look appearing around his eyes.

"I really cannot tell you how the day affected me. After getting out a few miles I seemed to feel as if I were getting numb, and that feeling grew worse. I did not understand it then, but I think it was the weather—nothing else."

"Was it a day like this, Fred?" the reporter asked. A lovely breeze was blowing in from the lake, rustling among the leaves and invigorating everything that showed life.

"Oh! no," he replied, and continued to explain. The sun was shining as now, but not a breath of wind was stirring. It was a queer kind of heat, hardly like anything we have here, unless it would be a very sultry day when no one wants to work and you can feel the heat even when you breathe."

Fred could not make his description more explicit. He seemed to think the day was an unusual one, as it was the first of that kind he had experienced.

B. A. C. MEN WINNING FAME IN BASEBALL

Have Battery Playing With Grimsby Park Nine—The Good Work of Norman Jolliffe.

According to a despatch from Grimsby Park, the Toronto B. A. C. battery have been doing great work and are certainly upholding the honour of the club to which they belong. The battery is Messrs. Norman Jolliffe and M. J. Hutchinson. Last week the Park team with which they were playing, won two games out of three Grimsby town was trimmed by 12 runs to 11, and Niagara Falls, N. Y., by 6 to 5. The latter was a particularly exciting game. Jolliffe held the Falls team down to two scratch hits, and to cap the climax he scored the winning run on a daring steal from third to the plate. He struck out the side twice, and on every occasion the backstop, M. J. Hutchinson, had control of his curves. The B.A.C. ball players certainly acquitted themselves with credit to the parent body, and the Peterborough members of the order will certainly be pleased to learn of their winning renown among fast company. Several of the members of the Park team have previously played on Toronto and Chicago teams.

Ernest Jolliffe, another Toronto B. A. C. man, played right field in splendid fashion and was there with the willow every time.

TWO GREAT MONARCHS IN CONFERENCE

King Edward and German Kaiser Meet at Cronberg.

TALK EUROPEAN AFFAIRS

Attended by Representatives of Foreign Offices of Both Countries They Discuss Situation on the Cohtinent—King and Queen to Go to Germany Next Year — His Majesty Goes to Austria.

Cronberg, Aug. 12.—King Edward arrived here at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and was met at the station by Emperor William and his suite. The King and Emperor kissed each other on both cheeks, and embraced in the most cordial manner. After the monarchs had been introduced to each other's suites the King and the Emperor entered an open automobile and were driven to the Friedrichshof Castle, where they had a long talk before lunch.

Sir Charles Hardinge, representing the British Foreign Office; Baron von Jenisch, of the German Foreign Office, and Sir Frederick Lascelles, the British Ambassador to Germany, also had a long conversation together. The King and the Emperor continued their private talk after lunch.

The value of the meeting in the political sense is in the frank talking over of the European situation by King Edward and Emperor William and representatives of British and Foreign Offices.

It is said that it was agreed between the Emperor and the King that King Edward should pay a state visit to Berlin early in 1909, accompanied by Queen Alexandra.

Pete Did Him No Good.

Quebec, Aug. 12.—Augustus Jaillett, who had charge of the catering at the tented city during the recent festivities, has assigned with liabilities $4,966 and assets $3,125.

HOW TO CURE A HEADACHE

To attempt to cure a headache by taking a "headache powder," is like trying to stop a leak in the roof by putting a pan under the dripping water. Chronic headaches are caused by poisoned blood. The blood is poisoned by tissue waste, undigested food and other impurities remaining too long in the system. These poisons are not promptly eliminated because of sick liver, bowels, skin or kidneys.

If the bowels do not move regularly—if there is pain in the back showing kidney trouble—if the skin is sallow or disfigured with pimples—it shows clearly what is causing the headache.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure headaches because they cure the cause of headaches. "Fruit-a-tives" act directly on the three great eliminating organs—bowels, kidneys and skin. "Fruit-a-tives" keep the system free of poisons.

"Fruit-a-tives" come in two sizes—25c and 50c. If your dealer does not have them write to Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

High Priced Tenders For Power Lines Are Weeded Out.

Toronto, Aug. 12.—The Hydro-Electric Power Commission is still negotiating regarding the terms of the tenders for the construction of the Niagara transmission line. The matter was before the Cabinet Council yesterday, but nothing was announced regarding it.

Several of the checks sent as deposits with tenders have been returned, including all but half a dozen of those accompanying the lowest bids. In all nearly $500,000 was deposited with the tenders.

The negotiations pending are for the purpose of enabling the commission to proceed without delay on the construction of extension and branch lines, such as will evidently be needed as soon as the system develops a working capacity. The western district of the province, in the neighborhood of Windsor, has indicated the likelihood of a large consumption of 24-hour power, which would be profitable at that distance.

ENQUIRY UNDER WAY.

Body of Hugh Graham Is Exhumed to Probe Murder Theory.

Brockville, Aug. 12.—The body of Hugh Graham was exhumed yesterday from the family plot in the Cairntown, Leeds County, cemetery, at the request of Coroner Gray of Clayton, N. Y., who was accompanied by Dr. Lave, the coroner of the district, Dr. J. D. Cole of Alexandria Bay, N. Y., and Sheriff Bellenger of Watertown, N. Y.

Graham, a Canadian, employed at Alexandria Bay, N. Y., was found drowned there ten days ago. Stories began to circulate shortly afterwards hinting at foul play, from the fact that his money was missing. A post-mortem was held in the cemetery, but revealed nothing to warrant a suspicion of foul play, but it can be shown, it is said, that he was pushed off a coal dock.

Lineman Electrocuted.

Toronto, Aug. 12.—Duncan Lamond, an Electric Light Co. lineman, was killed by a live wire while at work on a pole at Dunn avenue and Queen street at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

Lamond was at the top of the pole leaning over the wires. One of the others called to him and receiving no answer, young Simpson went up the pole and found the man dead.

There were no marks on the body, but a slight burning on the hand.

Lamond was a Scotchman. He was 29 years old, and leaves a widow and two young children.

Cruelty to Cats.

Toronto, Aug. 12.—William Turner, 863 Lanadowne avenue, was charged in the Police Court yesterday with cruelty to cats. He is said to have snared them and beat them when they are hanging helpless in the air.

The cats "came into my premises despite my efforts to keep them out," said Turner, "and as they are trespassing I beat them and I think I have a right to." The case was adjourned till Friday in order that the owners of some of the injured cats can give evidence.

New Parliament Buildings.

Constantinople, Aug. 12.—The Sultan has made known his intention of defraying the entire cost of building a new House of Parliament, and has given orders that plans be prepared.

The general attitude of the Sultan toward the new order of things in Turkey is giving great satisfaction. His Majesty gradually is removing all fears of any attempt to return to the regime of personal rule.

Welland Man Disappears.

Toronto Boy Drowns.

Toronto, Aug. 12.—While walking on the top rail of a wooden footbridge across the Don at Cherry street yesterday afternoon, Albert Stevens, 9 years old, living with his parents at 1 Wascana avenue, fell into the Don and was drowned.

Willie Boyd, another lad, slightly older, was with him at the time. The two were "making dares." When young Stevens was just past the middle of the bridge he faltered and fell. He did not rise after striking the water.

A SERIOUS ILLNESS RELIEVED BY PE-RU-NA.

MRS. WILLIAM HENDERSON, Craik, N. W. T., Can., writes:

"I was troubled with very serious internal weakness, which exhausted me so that I feared I would lose my mind.

"I suffered agony with my back, the pain extending down my left leg. The pain was so severe that I would have welcomed death as a relief.

"Peruna cured me of this trouble,—no wonder I recommend it so highly.

"It will soon be two years since I found relief from the pain and not a sign of it has returned.

"I am glad that there is a way in which I can speak of this, as many a sufferer may read my testimonial, and not only read, but believe."

Had Given Up All Hope.

Mlle. Albina Chauvin, No. 59 Rue Agnes, St. Henri, Montreal, Canada, writes:

"I consider Peruna better than any other remedy, as it cured me when nothing else could.

"I suffered for years and years with heart trouble, headaches and weakness. I never expected to find anything to cure me.

"I tried Peruna and am entirely cured."

THE CANADA LIFE LOCALLY

Mr. S. G. Salls, cashier and district secretary, returned from his holidays in Eastern Ontario yesterday and is resuming his usual duties in the city office here. It is understood that, in addition to other work, he will now take full charge of the affairs of the office, including the advertising department, circulation of literature, etc.

In the meantime Mr. S. E. Salls will be able to give his time wholly to the field, and more particularly to the writing of new business. It is understood very much satisfaction exists among the policy-holders over recently matured policies, both life and endowment, and that in the recent quinquennial profits the quotation mentioned in the company's local advertisement in to-day's issue is quite in accordance with the well-known good results of the Canada Life.

The company's business office for the city, as well as the chief office for the district, is situated just at the head of the stairs at 435 George street, and is among the most cheerful and up-to-date offices in Peterborough.

Features Of Gasoline Engine Recently Patented By Local Man

Starts Easily and Runs Smoothly—Special Primary Cylinder a New Feature—Weighs Only Seventy-eight Pounds.

IN USE FOR THREE YEARS

The new style of gasoline engine which has been patented by Mr Thos. E. Moldon has many improvements which have been looked for by boat owners. It was built in 1905 by Mr. Moldon and Mr. H. T. Millard, who together have entire interest in the new invention. It was placed in their launch the "Uno" three years ago and has given excellent satisfaction since, requiring little or no attention and working smoothly and easily without the kicks which so often occur in the ordinary engine.

It is a two-cylinder, two-cycle, 3 1-2 horse-power gasoline engine, having two impulses with every revolution of the fly-wheel. Another feature is that it weighs only 78 pounds. A very strong point in its favour is that it is started easily, and in all its three years of service the engine has been the same in that respect.

However, the chief difference between the new engine and others is that there is no compression in the crank case, it being made in a primary cylinder for that purpose. This does away with loss of compression, resulting in other engines when the bearings of the crank shaft become worn.

The patent was secured on August 4 after a rather long delay. The first engine is still in use, and when others are manufactured a greater degree of efficiency is expected to be secured.

THE FUNERAL OF MRS. CHRISTINA M. RITCHIE

A mass of white lilies, roses, asters and sweet peas from western missions reached the city last week as fresh and fragrant as if plucked in the morning. The flowers told the story of a sad farewell to a lady who had expressed a wish to have her body lie beside that of her husband. Among the cards was one from Mrs. Masterman, mother of the deceased, and another from Miss Grace Cook, a niece.

Mrs. Christina Masterman Ritchie, widow of the late Thomas J. Ritchie, formerly of Peterborough, died in Kansas City last Tuesday. The funeral was private and took place on Friday afternoon from the home of her mother-in-law, No. 600 Stewart street, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt officiating. Interment took place in the family lot, in Little Lake cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Ryerson Ritchie of Boston came to attend the funeral.—Com.

OBITUARY.

REV HENRY McDOWELL

Rev. Henry McDowell passed away at seven o'clock Tuesday evening, in his eighty-first year. He was born in County Farmanagh, Ireland, and came to this country at the age of nine years. He entered the ministry in 1851 and was superannuated eighteen years ago. He leaves a widow and five children. Mrs. Lightfoot, Peterborough; Mrs. Whelan, Detroit, Mrs. Lock, Aurora; Mr. G. K. McDowell, Spokane, and Miss Lottie of Winnipeg. Interment took place to-day in Aurora cemetery.

CHIEF HOWARD REPORTS ON THE EXPEDITION TO STIRLING; COMMITTEE HOLDS MEETING

At a short session of the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council last night, there were present Mayor Rush; Chairman Ald. Johnston, Aldermen McIntyre, Buller and Turner.

The chairman reported that he and Ald. Turner had examined regarding the request for three hydrants on Elm street, and one on Downie street between London and Dublin streets

Ald. Buller moved seconded by Ald. McIntyre — That the Peterborough Water Commissioners be instructed to place two hydrants on the new main on Elm street, and one on Downie street, between Dublin and London streets, the hydrants to be placed as directed by the chairman.— Carried.

Ald. Buller moved seconded by Ald. Turner—That Ald. McIntyre and the chairman be requested to examine and report as to a request for lights at Knox Church.—Carried.

Ald. McIntyre moved seconded by Ald. Buller—That an expression of sympathy be sent to the reeve of Stirling on account of the loss the village sustained recently by the fire.—Carried.

Ald. Turner moved seconded by Ald. McIntyre—That the thanks of the council be extended to Mr. Wm. Dandy for giving his services gratuitously as engineer of the fire engine at the time of the fire at Stirling.—Carried.

Ald. Turner moved, seconded by Ald. Buller—That there be constructed a galvanized iron ventilator from the large dormitory in the fire hall up through the roof.—Carried.

Ald. Buller moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre,—That anything needed for the fire hall, costing over $10 be tendered on by the dealers.—Carried.

Chief Howard's Report

Peterborough, Aug. 11, 1908.

To the Chairman and Committee on Fire, Water and Light—

Gentlemen—I beg leave to submit report No. 3 of the Fire Department, as follows—

At 12.05 a.m., August 9th I received a long distance telephone message from Mr. W. R. Mather, Reeve of Stirling, Ontario, to the effect that the town of Stirling was in danger of being wiped out by fire and that an explosion had occurred that wrecked a number of buildings in the business portion of the town.

Mr. Mather, on behalf of his council, petitioned for assistance. I informed this gentleman that if I could procure the necessary authority, we would proceed at once.

I immediately summoned his worship Mayor Rush, and Ald. Johnston, chairman of your committee, Those gentlemen responded to the call with all possible haste, and gave me a written order to assist Stirling in so far as lay in our power, without crippling the service for Peterborough.

We took the steam fire engine and 1,000 feet of hose. I was accompanied by Ald. J W Johnston, two of your firemen, and six gentlemen, who very kindly volunteered their services. Thus leaving our own city well protected. Two men employed in Robinson's livery agreed to respond to any calls of fire during our absence.

We were unable to get a train until about 2.40 a.m. and by the time we arrived at the scene of the disaster the most of the danger was over. We were able however to save a large general store owned and occupied by Mr. Shaw, and also a block of buildings owned by Mr. Mather, the reeve. We pumped water for two and a half hours to cool off the ruins. We were given breakfast at the Stirling House after the fire was entirely under control, and returned to Peterborough, arriving at 12 noon, Aug 9th.

His Worship Mayor Rush, received a telegram from the Reeve of Stirling, to the effect that the Corporation of Stirling would bear all expenses in connection with the trip.

I also wish to mention that at the time this call was received, the Fire Department was without an engineer, and Mr William Dandy, of the firm of McColl Bros & Co., Toronto, very kindly volunteered to act as engineer, until such time as we could secure the services of another engineer. I may state that this gentleman is a first class engineer, with many years experience, and was for a considerable period, a member of the Examining Board of the Ontario Association of Stationary Engineers. Mr. Dandy would not accept remuneration for his services.

All of which is respectively submitted. I have the honour to be, Sirs,

Your Obedient Servant,
W A HOWARD,
Chief Fire Dept.

Presentation Of Flag And Flag Staff To The Stony Lake Cottagers' Association

Some Important Events Prior to Monday's Big Regatta---Changes Talked of by the Resort Population.

A CLUB HOUSE PROPOSED

Examiner Special

Stony Lake, Aug. 12. — Before the opening of the regatta on Monday last, Mr. H. Sutherland, who is director and secretary-treasurer of the Cottagers' Association, presented to the association a handsome flag staff, which was accepted and erected by the directors It stands conspicuously on the rock east of the Juniper Island store. Mr. Sutherland has been one of the most active of the cottagers in endeavouring to attract the attention of outsiders to the beauties of Stony Lake. He has travelled a great deal but expresses himself as particularly pleased with the Kawartha Lakes. He has erected a handsome cottage opposite Juniper Island on the southern point of Eagle Mount.

Mrs. J. R. Stratton presented the association with a beautiful flag, which was hoisted before the regatta commenced by Mrs. Stratton. Mr. Stratton, on behalf of Mrs. Stratton, referred to the occasion. He said that there took place within the Empire this year several important events. They had all read of the great display and ceremony connected with the Tercentenary of Quebec. They had all read and had observed the great interest manifested in the Olympic games in England, and now we were going to have the Stony Lake regatta. Each of these had created in its own way a great interest, and each was an important event. He had much pleasure, on behalf of Mrs. Stratton, and it gave her very much pleasure to have the honour of presenting to the association and of hoisting the first flag of the Empire with the coat-of-arms of the Dominion. He hoped the flag might float for many years over successful regattas at Stony Lake.

The president of the association, Mr. Acton, accepted the flag and flag staff from Mrs. Stratton and Mr Sutherland, on behalf of the association, in a few appropriate words. He said the association had been formed, and that this year's regatta would be directed from grounds belonging to the association. Many improvements would take place in the near future, and he hoped that each regatta would be as successful or even more so than to-day's seemed likely to be. He thanked Mrs. Stratton and Mr. Sutherland for their timely and appropriate gifts and accepted the same for the association. The flag pole came from the township of Dummer and is an excellent staff. The flag was made especially for Mrs. Stratton by Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons, of Peterborough.

He said that the association propose to enlarge the pavilion this autumn, to double its size, and that the regulations next year will be more strictly enforced. Some are talking of having the pavilion open only three times a week, two of these to be for dancing and one for entertainment purposes, leaving the other two evenings so that the homes of the cottagers would not be depleted of their young folks every evening of the week. It is thought that six nights a week are too many for the two and three-step. The extension of the pavilion will necessitate the removal of the ice-house, and it is thought that a much larger ice-house should be provided for the benefit of the cottagers. It is thought that a good profit might be made by the store by having the ice delivered to the cottagers at so much a season. It is also expected that a grand-stand will be erected so that the visitors to the regatta may more conveniently see the sports. The president of the association, Mr. Acton, in his remarks before the presentation of the prizes, intimated that only those wearing buttons or badges of the association on public evenings will be allowed the use of the pavilion. The cost of maintaining the grounds, carrying on the regatta and the improvements should be provided by those using conveniences, and he knew that the public would appreciate them when carried out.

Mr. Stratton thought that perhaps not sufficient attention was being given to rowing and boating, and he hoped the young ladies and gentlemen on the lakes would take a greater interest in the regatta during the coming years. The motor boats and other conveyances of this description were so much in use that paddling and rowing were being neglected. He thought that these latter tended to create level-headedness and proper balancing, and a great deal of muscular development was being omitted on account of the enjoyment of the yachts and sailing dinghys.

The new wharf to be erected will be a great convenience to the general public. It is to be erected this autumn, and the public will watch with interest the work to be done in this matter. It is said the bottom of the wharf is to be of hemlock to the low water mark, and from that to high water, of cement. When these improvements are all completed, Stony Lake will be even more attractive.

Mr. Harry Denne has purchased the cottage and island of Dr. Morrison The price paid is said to be in the neighbourhood of $1,200, Mr. Denne and family will be welcomed from Chemong to Stony Lake.

There was a large attendance from Chemong at the annual regatta. Sturgeon Point was also well represented. The majority of the prizes went to Chemong and Sturgeon Point.

The ladies of Stony Lake served tea to the visitors from outside places from 3 to 6 o'clock, and their efforts to welcome visitors seemed to be appreciated, and their kindness and hospitality were much enjoyed.

A clubhouse is being talked of, but whether it will be accomplished before another season is doubtful.

It is said that one of the canoe manufacturers at Lakefield is making arrangements to lease a portion of Juniper Island for a boathouse, where boats may be hired, repaired and painted. This will be a great convenience to the lake visitors.

The Juniper Island store was well patronized during the afternoon and evening. The employees were taxed to their uttermost. Never were there so many people on the island.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt preached an excellent sermon on Sunday morning at the pavilion. He was the guest of Hon. J. R. Stratton during his stay. In the evening he preached in the pavilion at Crowe's Landing and was the guest of Mr. Alex. Gibson.

"SCAT!" AND SO SCATTER NIGHT PROWLING CATS

How These Nocturnal Nuisances Murder Sleep---Murder Birds and Make Themselves a Perpetual Pest.

The following from the Ottawa Free Press, under the editorial heading "Scat!" refers to a condition also prevalent alas in Peterborough.

The city is overrun with cats.

Across every street the scurrying brutes may be seen at night. Each back fence is turned into a vaudeville auditorium where feline musical stunts are performed from 11 p.m. to 4 a.m.

Is the war of the police on the "yaller pup", responsible? Or have Ottawa's "summer jaunters" turned poor pussy out to pick up the bad habits of the streets? And what are the people to do? Should every cat be tagged by its owner with a brass label from the city hall at $1 per cat? Or should the stray pussies be gathered into a home for friendless cats? Or should the "scat" turn in and destroy the whole bunch?

The stay-at-homes this summer want to know. They are annoyed. Their rest is disturbed. Is it a case for the police or the humane society, or the undertaker?

This seems a small matter for the chief journal of the capital city, to endow with the prominence of a place among its heavy editorials. But it is something that represents a real evil. These miaouling murderers of sleep are almost the death of nervously constituted persons and invalids. The exhaustion and nerve-racking result of loss of sleep are harder than hard work. A tired mother, after a trying day, compounded of heat and the endless worries that household cares and the care of a family engender, or are accompanied with, make the reparative healing of sound sleep indispensable, gets her dear worried baby asleep at last. Then comes the howl of cats and the spell is broken. The baby wakes and adds its howl to the chorus and sleep is banished for another few hours.

Not only in this way are cats a confounded nuisance and more than that a positive evil and menace to rest and health, but they are a damage—with the emphasis on the first syllable—in an economic sense. The average vagrant cat is hardly ever known to catch a mouse, but the stalky, stealing, sneaking, slinking brutes can be seen any hours of the day lying in wait or pouncing upon our song birds, thus leaving a free course for the insect pests of our gardens and orchards, bears a direct relation to the destruction of bird life by cats—and boys.

Cats are also a foe to nice lawns and flower plots. One often sees in a city lawn in the morning, the turf clawed into ribbons and a yard or two square covered with fur, the results of some midnight feline encounter. If the fight to a finish takes place in a flower bed the finish applies to the flowers, not to the immortal cats, which are endowed with vitality and endurance in inverse ratio to their desirability as live stock. Scat!

North Bay Citizens Want Government to Step In.

BRITISH MACHINISTS COMING

Company Is Said to Be Importing Several Hundred Mechanics From Old Country—Constable Arrested For Disorderly Conduct — Fire In Ottawa Roundhouse—Regular "Cops" Talk Strike.

North Bay, Aug. 12.—An enthusiastic mass meeting of citizens was held last night. It was attended by more than one thousand persons.

General Chairman Rigby of the local committee outlined the causes leading up to the strike, stating that the men of the eastern division had waived their demand for a ten per cent. increase in wages and a nine-hour day to avoid trouble, asking that the conditions existing for several years remain in force.

The trend of the remarks was that the Government should step into the breach and bring the company and men together at once in an attempt to arrive at a speedy settlement, and so avoid a national calamity.

Eleven men imported by the C.P.R. as strike-breakers have deserted the company here, five being mechanics, four handy men, one boilermaker and one laborer. Two tramp machinists found sleeping in a box-car Monday night accepted employment as strike-breakers rather than face a charge of trespassing.

A C.P.R. special policeman, imported from Montreal, created a sensation by appearing on Main street in uniform, very drunk and boisterous, and defying arrest. He was placed in the cells.

Local merchants are offering a percentage of their cash sales to the strike fund.

It is reported that a party of engineering students from McGill College has been taken west by the C.P.R. to act as strike-breakers. The ranks of the strikers at North Bay are unbroken. All is quiet and orderly.

The report that guards armed with rifles patrol the North Bay yards is denied by officials, who claim that the guards are armed with wooden batons only, and these may have been mistaken for rifles at night.

The strike leaders claim that they are willing to meet the company halfway, but to accept the new schedule in its entirety means the abandonment of all they have worked for and accomplished to better their condition in recent years. No concessions are asked for, but simply an adherence to conditions existing prior to the strike.

Montreal, Aug. 12.—The C.P.R. has sized up the situation to mean a long fight, and so has made arrangements to bring several hundred English and Scotch mechanics to take the places of the men on strike. The company expects to have two or three hundred skilled men to distribute over the system in the course of ten days. They have not given out what boat the men will come on, but it is one sailing this week.

The men on strike are more confident than ever. They say that, while there are forty engines in the shops yet, the C.P.R. had to hire three from the New York Central to move the cars at the Glen yards. Another point of discontent is the constables. The regulars gets $45 per month and work day and night just now. The specials just engaged get $2 a day, and the regulars are talking of laying down their batons.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy left yesterday evening for St. Andrews.

The remaining employes in the painting and varnishing departments of the C.P.R. local shops went out yesterday morning, leaving the foreman, the only man in the shop. The electricians, numbering 80, may also go out.

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—A fire of mysterious origin occurred last evening at the C.P.R. round-house on Richmond road. It broke out in the machine shops, in which the local end of the strike is centered, and did some $1,000 damage.

Posse After Negro.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 12.—A posse of Portsmouth City and Norfolk County officers and fifty citizens are scouring the country near Portsmouth with bloodhounds for a negro who attacked Mrs. Catherine Powell, aged 78 years, in her home with a knife yesterday, and after overpowering the defenceless woman assaulted her, leaving her in a serious condition.

This is the second time in two weeks that the aged woman has been similarly assaulted by a negro.

Refused the Petition.

Windsor, Aug. 12.—The Minister of Justice has refused petitions for the liberation of the trio of brakemen doing nine months for stealing butter and eggs from a box-car. A petition signed by 300 names sent down in their behalf netted them nothing.

Salmon Pack Big.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 12.—The salmon pack is estimated at 269,000 cases. Puget Sound is credited with 130,000 cases, giving a total Pacific pack of 399,000 cases of salmon. The estimate is based on the belief among canners that the season is about over.

LINER RUNS ASHORE BELOW MONTREAL

Steamer Southwark Grounded at Bras Point.

PASSENGERS TRANSFERRED

Ottawa Is Near at Hand to Receive Those on Board—Bras Point Is In Sheltered Position and No Danger Is Feared—Tug Goes to Assist the Stranded Vessel and Will Arrive There To-night.

Montreal, Aug. 12.—The Dominion liner Southwark, bound from Montreal to Liverpool with passengers, is aground at Bras Point, on the outer edge of Forteau Bay, some distance west of the entrance to the Straits of Belle Isle, and not far from the Point Amour signal station.

The accident occurred Monday night during a dense fog. No details are yet available, nor will be for a day or two. The wrecking tug Lord Strathcona has been sent out from Quebec, and should be at Bras Point by to-night.

The spot is a protected one, and the passengers should be in no danger, but a despatch last night says the steamer Ottawa is taking them on board.

The Southwark sailed from Montreal on Saturday morning last, with a number of passengers of both classes, and also a large amount of general cargo for Liverpool. At Rimouski she took aboard the week-end British mails.

Dense fog has prevailed throughout the outer part of the gulf during the past few days, and it was probably this which threw the vessel out of her course. The point of the grounding is about 660 miles from Quebec, and the Southwark had evidently been proceeding somewhat slowly.

With the exception of the collier Portsmouth this is the first vessel to go aground in the St. Lawrence route this season.

The Southwark carries second-class and steerage passengers only. She is rated as a good ocean-going vessel. Capt. Williams is one of the oldest mariners in the employ of the line.

The passenger list includes Dr. Chas. O. Reilly, Miss Nimmo, Mrs. Davey, Miss Davey and Miss Hodgart of Toronto, and the following cabin passengers: Dr. W. F. Bentler, Mrs. Bentler, Miss E. D. Burney, Miss Esther Braley, Miss Lillian Carter, Mr. W. R. Crowfi, Miss Mary E. Chryst, Mr. H. W. Cannell, Miss Lucille Cantwell, Sydney N. Deane, Miss Desbrisay, Miss Doherty, Mrs. A. G. Dale, Mr. J. S. Duncan, Mr. Donald R. Forrest, Mr. Robert Fleckert, Mrs Fleckert, Dr. R. H. Horonto-Barr, Dr. H. Hess, Mrs. Hess, Mr. E. H. Harris, Mrs. Harris, Miss E. Harris, Master F. Harris, Mr. Theodore W. Koch, Mrs. Koch, Miss Elmer Lucas, Mrs. Lynch, Miss Lynch, Prof. E. W. McBride, Miss Mary C. McMorrow, Mr. Chas. Manning, Mrs. Manning, Miss Manning, Miss Ida E. Finger Nails Torn Out.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 12.—Police officials here have received news of the torturing of two local men, who were arrested recently in Mexico City, Mexico, on a charge of robbing a bank messenger. Two companions escaped, when the Pittsburgers were arrested and, refusing to betray their companions, the men allege that they were strapped to the bars of their cell while the officer with forceps tore the nails from their hands. Unable to bear the agony, the men gave up the names.

Three New Steamers on Route.

London, Aug. 12.—(C. A. P.)—For some time Canadian supporters of the Manchester liners have been urging the establishment of a weekly service. The Canadian Associated Press learns that it has been decided to augment the service by introducing into it three additional steamers.

Manchester fruit importers will make a determined bid to get a better hold of the Canadian apple trade.

Used Old Army Revolver.

St. Louis, Aug. 12.—Using an old-fashioned silver-mounted revolver with which he fought against the French at the battle of Sedan during the Franco-Prussian war, Ferdinand Conrad, 71 years of age, a resident of St. Louis for a quarter of a century, ended his life by shooting. Conrad was despondent because of his inability to get work.

THE EXAMINER'S SPORTING PAGE

JIM K WON THE 2:30 CLASS RACE; FREE-FOR-ALL WAS QUEEN'S BARON'S; SOME SPLENDID SPORT WAS SEEN

Two grand races featured the second day's racing of the Peterborough Turf Club at the Driving Park yesterday afternoon. (No more hardly fought races have been seen on the splendid track, and the Turf Club are to be congratulated upon the grand programme they provided. Unfortunately the crowd was not in proportion to the excellence of the programme. The sport was indeed worthy of a much larger attendance, and those who were not present are to be sympathised with.

The two events on the programme were the 2.30 class, for a purse of $100, which was won by Jim K., owned by Ketcheson, of Belleville, after a hard fought contest which was drawn out to five heats. Jim K had considerable opposition, chiefly from Black Prince, owned by Dr. Forest; of Port Hope. The black horse from the lake shore town won the first two heats, and looked good to win, but Jim K came strong on end and won the last three heats handily. The other entries were Prince Medium, owned by Armstrong, of Brighton; Lou Keswick, Ashmore, Lindsay; Billy C, Dr. Johnston, Port Hope; Doreen Wes, Fanning, Lindsay and Lulu Chimes, Thos. McIvor, Smith.

The big field was gotten away by Starter Martin Connors in good style in the first heat and some lively racing was seen. Black Prince went to the front at the start and held his place without difficulty, although Jim K was coming all the way, taking second place from Prince Medium. The others were pretty well bunched all the way. The time was the fastest of the heats.

The second heat was almost a repetition of the first. Black Prince shot into the lead on the start and stayed there, although he had to step all the way to keep Jim K in place.

Black Prince appeared to be tiring and in the third heat Jim K went in front and was not headed, although Black Prince made a stubborn fight. The Belleville horse proceeded to annex the big end of the purse by walking away with the next two heats in easy fashion. Black Prince was beaten by Billy C for third position in the last heat.

Following is the summary:

Jim K, owned by Ketcheson, of Belleville	3 2 1 1 1
Black Prince, owned by Dr. Forest, Port Hope	1 1 2 2 3
Prince Medium, owned by Armstrong, Brighton	3 4 3 3 2
Lou Keswick, owned by Ashmore, Lindsay	4 3 4 4 4
Billy C, owned by Dr. Johnston, Port Hope	6 6 5 5 d
Doreen Wes, owned by Fanning, Lindsay	5 7 dr

Time—2.27 1-4, 2.28 1-2, 2.29 1-4 2.30 2.34.

While it had not such a large number of entries the 2.18 class produced the best sport of the afternoon and two of the most exciting finishes that have ever been seen on the local track. There were three contestants, J. J. Cottingham's Harry Direct, J. Daly's Orillia Belle and Dr. Johnston's Queen's Baron. The local horse won in three straight heats, but was fighting all the way. The first heat was rather easy for Queen's Baron, but there was trouble brewing. In the second heat, as usual, Queen's Baron went out in front and remained there until the horses turned into the stretch. Then Orillia Belle and Harry Direct, who had been having a merry tilt at the rear, suddenly closed up on the leader and the three horses passed beneath the wire almost even with each other. Queen's Baron won by a nose from Harry Direct, and the latter beat Orillia Belle by the same margin.

The third heat was another splendid race in itself. As usual Queen's Baron cut loose from his rivals at the start and held his lead to the last quarter, when Harry Direct and Orillia Belle almost caught the flying leader, and once more the three horses finished almost in a line.

The summary follows:

Queen's Baron, owned by Dr. Johnston, Peterborough	1 1 1
Harry Direct, owned by J. J. Cottingham, Peterborough	2 2 2
Orillia Belle, owned by J. Daly, Orillia	3 3 3

Time—2.24 1-4, 2.23 3-4, 2.23 1-4.

SMOKE, FROM CHEMONG, A RUNNER WHO PROMISES TO MAKE GOOD

Albert Smoke, the youthful Indian runner from Chemong, who ran the Otonabee race course on Monday, almost three minutes faster than George Fowler, promises to be a shining light in the near future. It is not at all probable that the distance was five miles exactly, as his time of 28 30 would be phenomenal for a sixteen year old runner for such a distance. But nevertheless, he made good time and his work should be commended.

Smoke has joined the Otonabee Athletic Club, and will run under their colours for this season at least. Those who saw him perform on Monday raised enough money after the race to present him with a medal. He was brought down by Mr. Dan Whetung, Jr., and is a quiet Indian. Those who watched him run state that he covered the distance between the first and second mile post in a few seconds less than five minutes. He will run in the Examiner Road Race on Thanksgiving Day.

The Peterborough Cricket Club Plays Two Matches

Two Interesting Games in Which Local Club is Defeated—Torontos Were Here on Saturday.

AT WARKWORTH ON HOLIDAY

A team from the Toronto Cricket Club on Saturday last played the local club at the Nicholls Oval. The game was a most enjoyable one, resulting in a draw in favour of the T. C. C. Stumps had to be drawn rather early in order to enable the visitors to catch the Toronto train, and the consequence was that the game was unfinished, Peterborough being at the bat at call of time with two wickets to fall. The T. C. C. brought down a strong team, with the redoubtable W J Fleury as Captain, and with Ingles and Marsland two of the Warkworth team included in the eleven. Although the scoring was somewhat one-sided, the Peterborough team showed up well, and evidenced the fact that there is very much good material in the club and that enthusiasm for the game is undoubtedly growing. Ingles, Ramsay, Dartnell, Macallum, Marsland, MacDougall and James all made double figures for Toronto, whilst J Gibson for Peterborough played well for 18. Marshall, Ferguson and Coleman divided the bowling honours between them for the locals. Ingles proved an enigma to the home team who could do very little with him, and it was owing in great measure to his excellent command of the ball that such a poor showing was made by Peterborough at the bat. Subjoined is the score—

On Civic Holiday the Peterborough C. C. journeyed to Warkworth to play the return match with Warkworth C. C. and were defeated by an innings and 19 runs. They had again to meet the bowling of Ingles who had proved so destructive to their wickets on Saturday, and he again demonstrated his excellence as a bowler. Humphries however was almost equally deadly. The first named got six wickets and the other five in the first innings. In the second innings the Peterborough players did better scoring 60 runs, but the bowling of the same two bowlers worked havoc with everyone's batting averages. Although badly beaten, the home club is by no means despondent. It has had an uphill fight to get the game going in Peterborough and given a fair amount of encouragement, coupled with consistent practice and a determination to pull together, there is no doubt but that in a short time they will give a good account of themselves.

Reaston in the first innings for Peterborough batted capitally, scoring 21 in good style, but there was a lamentable falling off in the scoring of the balance of the team. The infielding also was not so good as against Toronto on Saturday. For Warkworth Thompson, Marsland and Ray Humphries batted extremely well, making 37, 21 and 26 respectively. The fielding of the Warkworth team also was snappy and clean, Marsland in particular, made a couple of very good catches at slip. Gibson for Peterborough made a splendid catch at long off, which deserves chronicling.

The following is the score—

Interest in the game in Warkworth is decidedly keen, the number of people who turned out to witness the game being very noticeable.

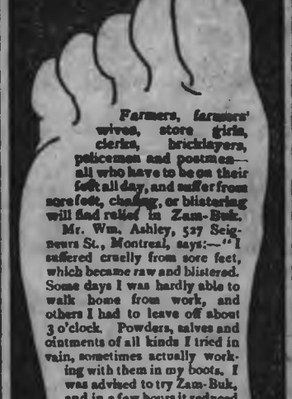
SORE, ACHING BLISTERED FEET



Farmers, farmers' wives, store girls, clerks, bricklayers, policemen and postmen—all who have to be on their feet all day, and suffer from sore feet, chafing, or blistering will find relief in Zam-Buk.

Mr. Wm. Ashley, 527 Seigneurs St., Montreal, says:—"I suffered cruelly from sore feet, which became raw and blistered. Some days I was hardly able to walk home from work, and others I had to leave off about 3 o'clock. Powders, salves and ointments of all kinds I tried in vain, sometimes actually working with them in my boots. I was advised to try Zam-Buk, and in a few hours it reduced the smarting and soreness. I kept on with it, putting a little on each night. In a few days the soreness was all gone.

Of all stores and medicine vendors at 50c. a box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Cures eczema, prairie itch, salt rheum, insect stings, sunburns, cuts, burns, and all skin injuries and diseases.

WAS THROWN FROM A WAGON

John Morrison Painfully Injured Near Springville Yesterday.

Mr. John Morrison, a well known resident of North Monaghan, who lives about two miles from Springville, was the victim of a painful accident yesterday. While driving in a waggon loaded with milk cans, in some manner he was jolted from the seat and fell heavily to the ground, receiving a bad shaking up and injuring his leg painfully. Mr. Morrison is well advanced in years and is feeling the effects of the accident considerably.

WEDDING BELLS

JAMIESON—WAINWRIGHT

Rev. J. G. Potter officiated at a pretty house wedding yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Wainwright, London street, when their daughter Miss Georgina was united in marriage to Mr. Arthur Edward Jamieson, of Niagara Falls, N. Y. The bride was dressed in her navy blue going away dress, trimmed with white. She and the groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Westbrook. The ring bearer was Master Lionel Davidson and the flower girl was little Miss Audrey Wainwright. The parlour was prettily decorated with arch of flowers, including golden glow and asters as well as beautiful vines. The wedding march was played by Miss Davidson. There was a handsome array of presents. Among them were a silver service presented by the bride's friends at Mr. Thos. Barrie's store, a silver tray from Mr. and Mrs Chas. Westbrook, and cheques from the mother of the bride and father of the groom.

The groom's gift to the groomsman was a gold ring, and to the bridesmaid a gold ring with pearls.

Mr. and Mrs. Jamieson left on the 4.38 C. P. R. train for Detroit and other western points. They will reside in Niagara Falls, N. Y.

DEARBORN—WOODS

THE EAST CITY RACEWAY PROBLEM

Companies Charged in Police Court This Morning on a Charge of Keeping a Nuisance.

A case in which the people of East City are much interested was opened at police court this morning when the Peterborough Hydraulic Power Co. and the Calcutt Brewing and Malting Co. were charged with allowing a nuisance in the form of stagnant water to remain on their premises after being notified to remedy the matter. There have been many complaints in regard to this old raceway and the authorities are asked that something be done.

Mr. E. A. Peck, who appeared on behalf of the Hydraulic Power Co., admitted there was stagnant water there and stated that his company was anxious to remedy the matter. The only difficulty was to find the best way of accomplishing this. To fill in the raceway would cost between $500 and $1,000. He asked that time be given the two companies to endeavour to decide upon some way of remedying the matter.

The magistrate enlarged the case for one week, advising the parties to get together and settle the matter.

DEATH RESULTED FROM ACCIDENT

Decision of Jury in the Case of the C. P. R. Brakeman.

The result of the inquest over the death of the C. P. R. brakesman, Wm. Prince, at Cavanville, by Dr. Montgomery, was that death occurred by accident and no blame attached to anyone. The probability was that he sat down on the track to rest and fell asleep.

PICTURE PRESENTED TO ST. PETER'S T.A.S.

It was learned from the T. A. S. rooms to-day that Mr. R. M. Roy had presented the society with a large picture, comprising eighteen smaller pictures, of scenes from the annual picnic held on July 1st. It is appropriately framed and will be a remembrance of the big event which proved so successful. It will be placed in one of the rooms which are nearly all decorated in a suitable manner.

EXPERIENCED MEN WANTED ON FARMS

A Slight Demand for Those Who Can Handle Farm Ploughing.

Speaking with Mr. Geo. A. Howson to-day the latter said that there is not a heavy demand for farm helpers at present. The farmers are practically through with the busiest part of the work but need experienced men for the fall ploughing and such work. There is a demand for these men, although it is not very pressing.

AN "EGGSTRAORDING" HEN NEAR TWEED

Lays an Egg 8 Inches in Circumference And Weighing 3½ Ounces.

Mr. John Gerow of Fuller, near Tweed, has a hen that laid a big egg measuring 8 inches in circumference one way and 6 1-4 inches the other way and weighing 3 1-2 ounces. This is a pretty fine egg, and, so far as we know, gives the little hen that laid it champion honours. If any one else has any big eggs, better bring them along to the editor's sanctum, as we are especially partial to such things, on the understanding, of course, that they are fresh. — Tweed News.

One of the members of the Examiner staff can beat this. His Langshans in the season he had them, laid eggs regularly four ounces in weight and over eight inches in circumference one way and seven the other. They were double-yolked, but the measurement and weight are authentic.

TWO ALLEGED HOUSEBREAKERS APPEAR IN THE COURT TO-DAY; JUDGMENT WAS RESERVED

Frank Percival alias Chas. Peace, and Forbes, the two men arrested on August 1st on a charge of burglarizing the residence of Mr. E. G. Patterson, appeared before Magistrate Dumble at Police Court this morning for trial. Forbes had elected to be tried summarily by the Magistrate, and Peace made the same election this morning. Crown Attorney R. S. Wood conducted the prosecution, and at the conclusion of the evidence the Magistrate reserved judgment for a week.

Mr. Patterson was the first witness. He testified that his family were spending the summer at Chemong and that the house was closed up. When passing the place on August 1st, witness had noticed that the front door was open, and on making an investigation, found the glass in the back door broken, and saw that the place had been ransacked. He identified the articles produced in court as belonging to him. They included a small clock, a watch, a purse containing a ten-dollar bill and some silver, a pair of gold-rimmed spectacles, a gold ring, a safety razor, a belt buckle, ties, handkerchiefs and other small articles.

Mr. W G Lech testified that Mrs. Lech had been asked to telephone for the police. He suggested that Mr. Ecclestone stand on one corner and watch two sides of the block, while he watched the other two sides. He had seen two men running across Reid street from the street north of St. Peter's Cathedral, with Mr. Ecclestone following them. He identified one of the prisoners, the older one, as one of these men. Witness had followed Peace as far as Brock street, where the prisoner turned west. He had seen the prisoner throw some articles into Rev. Mr. Pogue's yard. Peace went west to Donegal street, where he laid down. Witness watched him until P. C. Meagher arrived, when the prisoner was arrested. Witness went back to Mr. Pogue's yard and found a silver clock and belt buckle, which he turned over to P. C. Meagher. He recognized these articles as those produced in court.

Stanley Ecclestone testified that he was a cousin of Mr. Patterson's. On August 1st he had gone to the house to get the mail to take to Chemong. He had started to go upstairs, when he heard a noise and saw a man. He called out, but got no reply, and, concluding that something was wrong, had gone across to Mr. Lech's and asked that the police be telephoned for. He had watched the house and saw the two prisoners emerge from the front door, and had followed the younger man, who was afterwards caught by Mr. Walter Stocker and placed in the latter's rig and transferred to the police station. He recognized the two prisoners as the two he had seen coming out of Mr. Patterson's house.

Walter Stocker corroborated the evidence of the previous witness in regard to the arrest of Forbes and taking him to the police station in his waggon.

P. C. Adams testified to the searching of the prisoner, Forbes, and also to getting two chisels from the stableman of Bishop O'Connor's palace who said they had been thrown away by the two men as they were running through the premises.

Peace, the older of the prisoners, went into the box on his own behalf and swore that about the middle of July he had left Buffalo after being paid off by the boat people for whom he had been working, and went to Toronto, where he met an old shipmate who had been with him on salt water, and they got on a drunk together. He had remained with him until most of his money was gone, and came to Peterborough to look for work, reaching this city on August 1st, just at what hour he could not say, for he was drunk when he arrived here. The next thing he remembered was waking up in the police station.

"How I got there I don't know," remarked the prisoner. "I have always been a working man: never stole anything, nor never was in jail."

In cross-examination by Mr. Wood witness said his name was Frank Percival. The police had given him the name of Chas. Peace, which he had accepted, but Percival was his real name. He had refused to have his photograph taken because some prisoners at the jail had told him not to. To the Magistrate witness said that he had been employed on the steamer Thomas Perry, carrying coal from Buffalo to Detroit.

Sentence was reserved for a week, until something more could be learned of the men.

Work On Trent Canal At Trenton Progressing Favourably

Everything Moving Forward Most Systematically—How the Work Is Looked After by Messrs. Larkin & Sangster.

FINISH OF COFFER DAM

Trenton, Aug. 14th, Special — In the division to the G. T. R. tracks, the canal is completely dug up to depth of 10 feet, and the big steam shovel has started on a lower level. At the Southern end the material encountered is still very coarse gravel but towards the G.T.R. tracks the rock comes nearer the surface.

It is interesting to see the little engine run up the grades and on to the dump. They no sooner leave than a shunter on a side track runs up and the two carry the load up the grade, then the helper runs back to help the next train almost loaded. Everything is done like cock work. While the shovel is being moved the next train runs in and is ready to be loaded. The shovel then digs and the helpers lay the track up to the very shovel, and when it has dug all the earth in a certain radius, a sharp blast is heard and a lot of running and she moves ahead, while the loaded train moves out.

The second level being somewhat lower than the river, pumps have been installed and are constantly at work to keep it free from water.

At the next division, or dam No 2 the blasting out of the rock chamber was completed on Saturday, and is now filled with water but the immense mounds of rock give some idea of the work that has been done. The blasting gang and machinery have been moved up to Cove Lock No. 3, above Glen Miller Bridge. The energy is now centered towards the completion of the large coffer dam which is being built in the shape of a half moon and runs out more than half way across the river. Great care is taken in putting in the sheeting, which is tongued and grooved and fitted to the rock at the bottom of the river by divers. By the first week in September they are hoping to have the coffer dam sufficiently pumped out to be ready for the concrete. The reason given that the coffer dam is being built so large is that a power plant may be built simultaneously with the building of the dam.

At the next division still farther north, an immense amount of work is being done, requiring a large army of workers. The 1800 feet of concrete wall has been completed and is being rapidly covered by the dirt coming out of the canal.

This core wall is 4 ft. at base averaging 13 ft. high and 2 ft. across at top, requiring from 15 to 20 carloads of cement for this work alone. Two other walls still larger than the one completed, have been commenced, being 5 ft. at base, and requiring to be built in some places 18 ft. high. They will form the core of the bank on each side of the Canal in the neighborhood of Miller's Paper Mill.

The steam shovel is busy all the time, and the description of the first division would apply here. Besides the shovel there are three or four steam drills constantly at work blasting out rock and being taken away by derricks.

The roadway opposite dam No. 2 has been completed and is a fine piece of work, of good width and well grivelled, which will be a great improvement on the old road.

They are now busy at another piece of road about opposite the old Gordon grist mill, which is being graded up from 6 to 10 feet. A substantial concrete culvert has already been finished over the creek. Over 50 men and teams are at work at this piece of roadwork alone.

Considering that the contractors, Messrs. Larkin & Sangster, only commenced work about the middle of April, a large amount of work has been done, and everything moves forward most systematically.

CHILDREN PLAY WITH MATCHES AND SET THE BED CLOTHES AFIRE

The same old story of the child and the box of matches explains the origin of a fire that broke out at 11 o'clock this morning in the residence of Richard Haley, 114 Hilliard street. Children were playing with a box of matches in a bedroom when the bed clothes caught fire and there was soon a considerable blaze. Mrs. Haley, who was approaching the house at the time observed the smoke and gave the alarm.

The brigade had a long run but got there in time to put out the fire. As the house could not be reached by the hose, the chemicals were used to extinguish the blaze. Damage to the house and contents to the extent of about $25 was caused. The alarm was sent at 11.45 o'clock.

TO-DAY'S ELECTION.

To-day is the day of the Saskatchewan provincial general elections. Prophesying, especially in regard to the outcome of an election, is risky, but the indications are that the government will be sustained and strengthened. The contest has been brought on in advance of the regular parliamentary term, but the redistribution of constituencies makes the action not only defensible but unavoidable. The Whitney Government made a gerrymander an excuse for a general election, therefore a fair redistribution such as that made in Saskatchewan justifies the course taken. In his distribution scheme Premier Scott took the Opposition into consultation, and the sequel was that the redistribution measure resulted in a harmonious adoption of its provision, both sides of the House seeming to be satisfied with its fairness. The government accepted suggestions from the Opposition, and made corresponding changes. It has been noted that this course of action w in sharp contrast to that of the Whitney Governmetn in regard to its redistribution. The Conservative government of Ontario prefaced its action with loud boasts of the fairness with which it proposed to redistribute the constituencies, but ended by defying the Opposition, and by force of its pliant majority, perpetrating a most outrageous gerrymander. In the Saskatchewan election, Mr. Haultain, the leader of the Opposition, had a fair field and the government gave itself no favours with regard to manipulation of electoral districts. He has, however, no basis of large policy upon which to appeal to the people. His main contention is that the Hudson Bay Railway should be built by the provinces and not by the Dominion Government. This will not be a very attractive card to the westerners. They want the railway and they want it soon. They can easily foresee the delay that would ensue if the time were taken to get the provinces into line and to decide upon some concerted course of action. With little to appeal to the people upon, except a bid for office, it cannot be easily conceived that the Opposition has a chance of winning. The reasonable probability is that the government of Saskatchewan will be given another lease of power.

AN INDICATION OF PROGRESS

The pernicious pessimist who is crying hard times will have his equanimity disturbed by the published statement of the revenue of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the past year. It is hard to conceive that times are so bad when the revenue of a Canadian railway for a year amounts to over three score and ten millions. The income of the Canadian Pacific Railway last year was seventy-one million dollars, and exceeded by two millions that of all the railways of the Dominion seven years ago; it is five millions in excess of the receipts of the Dominion Government in 1903. This fact has more than one meaning. One is that a country which permits of a single railway making such earnings must be making great progress and enjoying a large degree of commercial, industrial, agricultural and general prosperity. This revenue was furnished by Canada, and shows that Canada was moving a little last year The measure of transportation, progress, prosperity and achievement is the measure of similar national conditions in these regards. When the Canadian Pacific was originated it was considered by many shrewd business men that it was premature, and would not secure the business that would justify its construction, and, lo, the result. The success and progress of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the large share it has had in developing the resources of Canada, constitute a precedent for the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific. This new railway will perform a service in national development and growth similar to that performed by the Canadian Pacific. The pessimist should find his occupation gone.

Canadians are proud of Canada. In the past ten or twelve years the country has been making a progress second to that of no other country whatever. Before that the older provinces were raising young men and educating them for export. They were going into the Western States where many of them were extremely successful in business, or in public life. But of late years it is not Chicago, St. Paul or Detroit, but Toronto, Winnipeg or Vancouver that draws the young fellow from the Ontario town or farm. At last we are raising young men for the home market.—Toronto Saturday Night.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A rain described as being "worth millions," has fallen in the Northwest. It is estimated to add two or three bushels per acre to the spring wheat crop and that it will save the oat crop.

A Michigan man who fled his native State to avoid taxes, and find the hard luck to die in Ontario, and incur our succession duties. What a foolish man! exclaims the Toronto Star. He might have known that death and taxes are doubly sure now that the law has linked them.

The Montreal Gazette laments the decline of the woollen industry. Canada cold country. People require lots woollen goods. England beats world in making them. Canadian tariff permits their importation. Canadian people buy cheaply. Are warmly clad. Which is better, warm-clad people or gold- glad manufacturers?—Montreal Herald.

A sample of the obstruction practised by the Conservative Opposition in the Dominion Parliament, and the time of Parliament wasted, consists in the fact that in the period from November 23rd to May 16th motions to go into supply were obstructed thirty-one times (on three occasions by Liberals who had reports to make, and on twenty-eight by Conservatives), and only four times did the House get into supply forthwith. During this period $23,000,000 of supply were passed, and fifty-seven bills, only one of them, the French treaty, being of first importance, the majority being private legislation.

TWELVE YEARS OF LAURIER.

Montreal Herald.

When the Laurier Cabinet took office in 1896, the finances of the Dominion were in a pretty bad condition. The country was not paying its running expenses. There had been deficits every year since 1894, running from $330,000 to $1,150,000. Beyond the running expenses, certain expenditures were always being made, had to be made, to keep the equipment of the Dominion something like what it ought to be. Many projects had to be put aside, but much money simply had to be spent, and was spent. To spend it we had to borrow it. We increased the debt every year, in those days, at the rate of three, four, five, six millions a year. The net debt increased over twenty millions in five years. That was the hole the Laurier Cabinet had to pull out of. Nothing is more certain than that, if they hadn't done so, they would have been condemned just as effectively as were their predecessors, who had made the difficulty.

They certainly did pull out of it. In their second year of office they began to have something left over after paying running expenses. Their first surplus was $1,722,000. From that they went on to greater things. The surplus became $4,800,000; then $8,000,000; then $14,000,000; then $115,000,000; then $16,000,000; and this last year it was $19,000,000. Does any business man need to be reminded of all that is involved in the difference between a deficit of four millions and a surplus of nineteen millions? Here is a simple indication of what it means, drawn from the public accounts return. In the period from 1886 to 1896, Parliament voted thirty-nine millions, all it could see its way to grant for necessary public works, charged up to capital account and representing assets of the country. To get that thirty-nine millions, thirty-five were added to the public debt. We were equipping the country as well as we dared, and borrowing thirty-five dollars out of every thirty-nine. In the period between 1896 and 1907, it wasn't thirty-nine millions we spent on these works, but eighty-nine millions. We got works started that could not be touched before (Montreal harbour was one of them). And how much did we borrow? Nothing. How much did we increase the debt? We reduced it by five millions. Does any business man need to be told the moral of that?

When the Laurier Cabinet began there was a total revenue of $36,618,590, of which $10,751,905 was required to pay the interest on the public debt. Practically thirty per cent of the revenue was mortgaged to the bondholder. After ten years the interest was still at about seven millions, but there were eighty millions to pay it out of. And yet there are critics of the Laurier Cabinet, friends of the old deficit makers, who cry out that the Laurier Cabinet has brought ruin on the finances. It is a very solemn humbug, but still humbug.

RIFLED OLD MAN'S POCKET DURING A DRIVE

Belmont Youth Stole $53.00—Pleaded Guilty to Charge.

Havelock, Aug. 13.—Special—Before Magistrate Mathison on Saturday last Wesley Aulthouse, of Belmont, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing $53 from Julian Acker, and he was sent to Peterborough, where he will receive sentence on Saturday. On Friday, Mr. Acker, who is a very old man, came here from Kenora, and Aulthouse drove him to the home of his son, Mr. Geo. Acker, Belmont. During the drive Aulthouse succeeded in extracting the money from the old gentleman's pockets.

YEARLY MILK TESTS MOST VALUABLE

The Thirty-Day Test Better Than the Seven.

We do not consider a seven-day test conclusive evidence of the producing capacity of a cow for the entire year, though it is good evidence of her capacity for six or eight months, and frequently indicates her capacity as a yearly producer. We never have had an A. R. O. cow that has not made yearly a large quantity of milk and butter.

Therefore we say without hesitation that 7-day tests are of great value, inasmuch as they designate our best producers, and also furnish evidence of the producing capacities of the Holstein cow.

But, while we think 7-day tests are valuable, we think 30-day tests are more valuable, and that yearly tests are more valuable than 30-day ones.

A yearly test of a cow under normal conditions as to the health, care and feed is infallible evidence of her producing capacity, but such a test under unnatural conditions, with too great a supply of medicine and stimulating food is indicative of her ruin for future use. Without doubt many of the great records that are made depend in large measure upon the long preparation, the peculiar skill of the feeder and the special food that is fed. We query whether the rules for the Advanced Registry should not be amended so as to require the supervisor to report the kind and the amount of food and drink that have been given to the cow during the time of each test, and also the weight and physical condition of the cow at the beginning of the test.—Burton W. Potter, Rutland, Mass.

IMPROVEMENTS TO THE NATIONAL

Painting Exterior and Interior—New Electric Sign.

Considerable improvements to the National Hotel have been begun and when finished the building should make a fine appearance. Painters are at work on the facade, which, with the rest of the exterior, will be painted a pretty cream colour, with bright red on the woodwork. The proprietor, Mr. Denison, will also have nearly all the interior re-papered and re-painted and the baths and lavatories will be improved and refitted.

An electric sign will be placed over the Charlotte street entrance, which will brighten up the facade at night. When completed the hotel should be as smart looking and as well equipped as any in this district.

THE OFFICERS FOR THEIR ANNUAL PIC-NIC

Court Chemong's Outing on Labour Day Being Arranged Early.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of Court Chemong, I. O. F., was held last night, when the committees were appointed to look after the annual picnic which is being held at Jubilee Point on Labour Day. The general committee is as follows: Chairman, George Metcalf; treasurer, W. G. McKee; secretary, J. W. Byers.

Races and Sports—Messrs. A. H. Webb, F. C. Rooke and A. Allison.

Dancing—Messrs. G. Metcalf and J. Brownlee.

An orchestra will be engaged for the day and there will be plenty of dancing at the grounds and on each trip.

MILK DETERIORATED AND SENDERS ARE FINED

Heavy Fines Paid by Stirling Patrons of Cheese Factories.

At Stirling, before Mr. M. Bird, J P., the other day, three cases of importance to cheese men were tried. One patron of Tweed factory, one of the Roslin factory and one of the Limerick cheese factory were charged with sending deteriorated milk to be made into cheese. In the latter case a settlement was made without a trial and a fine of $25 and costs imposed. In the other two cases the charges, after investigation, were proven, and a fine of $40 and costs in each case was imposed.

Magistrate Edmison on Tuesday fined a Peterborough county woman $5 and costs for a similar offence.

On recently handing a prominent local barrister this Company's Bonus Addition Certificate, the remark was made and when this is applied to the Canada Life it meant something as the holder of the Policy has policies in several companies.

"This is the best yet"

FIRST ARRESTS MADE.

Two Mounted Strikers Are Charged With Trespass and Intimidation.

Montreal, Aug. 14.—The chief incident in yesterday's strike proceedings was the arrest of Max Giroux, machinist, and Max Bouresky, a carpenter, both being strikers and charged, the first for loitering on the premises of the company, and the second for endeavoring to intimidate strike-breakers at Place Viger Station.

Winnipeg, Aug. 14.—It is estimated that ten per cent. of the C. P. R. strikers have gone to harvest fields.

The strikers were paid off and the total bill for wages amounts to $121,000.

With regard to the trouble between the C. N. R. and its employes, it is learned that prior to the present schedule coming into effect on May 1, the men were in the habit of getting an extra hour's pay a week, as they left work at 4 o'clock Saturday, but were paid until 5 p. m.

The extra hour has been cut out by the company, and some trouble has resulted. It is not expected that any serious results will follow negotiations, although the men consider the present time a favorable one to press for a settlement.

The Moosejaw local, on Wednesday evening had a number of windows broken, and passengers stated that between Brandon and Broadview stones and other missiles were hurled through windows.

It was learned yesterday morning that a fiendish attempt was made by some persons, as yet unknown, to wreck a C. P. R. excursion train running from Winnipeg Beach on Tuesday evening with several hundred passengers on board. Suspicion, of course, is directed towards strike sympathizers, but there is absolutely no evidence to connect anybody with it.

ROSE NEAR KINMOUNT.

With Churchill and Snow He Is Heading For Minden.

Lindsay, Aug. 14.—Chief of Police Vinning has received a wire from Inspector Duncan of Toronto, asking him to instruct the constables in the district to keep a sharp lookout for Rose, Churchill and Snow, three of the seven prisoners who escaped from Toronto jail July 17, and who are reported to have been seen in Kinmount on Tuesday night.

The trio evidently intended to make their way on foot to Minden, 12 miles away. Snow is stated to have been arrayed in feminine apparel.

No trace of George Walker, who escaped from the courtroom here by a diving leap from the window, has been found as yet.

Newspapermen at Brockville.

Brockville, Aug. 14.—On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week the daily newspaper section of the Canadian Press Association will hold a convention at Brockville, at which it is expected a representative of every daily newspaper in Ontario and many from Quebec and the northwest will be present. The program contains many interesting and important subjects for discussion.

On Tuesday afternoon the visitors will be entertained to a trip to Gananoque and return, and luncheon on the yacht Magedonna, by Mr. MacKenzie, the manager of the Dr. Williams' Medical Co.

Laurier to Tour.

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—The announcement was made yesterday that commencing about the middle of September Sir Wilfrid Laurier will address a series of meetings in Ontario covering a period of about three weeks.

The tour will commence about the middle of September, probably at Niagara Falls, and thereafter meetings will be held at central points in the province. Hon. Geo. P. Graham will accompany the Premier at several of the meetings.

Modus Vivendi Fixed.

London, Aug. 14.—(C. A. P.)—The Foreign Office in announcing last night the conclusion of a modus vivendi regarding the Newfoundland fisheries, says: "His Majesty's Government and the Government of the United States united concerning the notes recording this proposal and its acceptance as constituting in itself a satisfactory agreement for the season of 1908, without the necessity of a more formal agreement."

To See Western Mines.

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—Hon. Wm. Templeman and a member of the geological survey, left to-day for British Columbia, and will together visit the mining centres of the Pacific coast province so as to ascertain the condition of this industry and to obtain the views of mining men on all questions in which they are interested.

Canadian General Organizer.

Providence, R. I., Aug. 14.—At the Canada-American Association convention Dr. A. E. Brien, Manchester, N. H., was elected president and Joseph Francœur, Levis, Province of Quebec, general organizer.

The next biennial convention will be held in Montreal in 1910.

Ex-Mayor Ekers Named.

Montreal, Aug. 14.—Ex-Mayor Ekers was nominated by the Conservative convention in St. Lawrence division last evening. R. Stanley Bagg was another nominee and was defeated by the ex-mayor by four votes, after which the nomination was made unanimous.

Killed In Los Angeles.

Lindsay, Aug. 14.—A telegram has been received here announcing a trolley accident in Los Angeles, California, in which Mr. Samuel Irvine, a former well-known and highly-respected citizen of this town, had been killed.

The late Mr. Irvine was over 80 years of age, and was widely known and respected throughout the district.

Rain Saved Oats.

Winnipeg, Aug. 14.—Rains, worth millions of dollars to western farmers, fell during the last thirty-six hours through the greater part of southern and central Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and should prove a potent factor in saving the oat crop, which has been seriously affected by continuous droughts.

M'GUIGAN GETS A BIG CONTRACT

He Will Construct Hydro-Electric Transmission Lines.

TO BE ALL CANADIAN JOB

Out of 27 Competing Companies, English and American, Late Grand Trunk Superintendent Outbids Them All by a Half Million—His Figure For the Work Is $1,270,000—A Great Saving.

Toronto, Aug. 14.—At 6 o'clock last evening F. H. McGuigan signed an agreement with the Hydro-Electric Power Commission for the construction of transmission lines from Niagara to St. Thomas in the west and Toronto in the east, 283 miles in all, for $1,270,000.

The agreement was signed by the Hydro-Power Commission to accept the tender of the F. H. McGuigan Construction Co. The tender was actually the lowest presented, the difference between the figures and those of the highest sent in being $500,000. The tender was one of 27, there being one other bulk tender; 15 for the towers; five for cables, and five for the transmission line.

The tender is remarkable as being wholly Canadian, which, in the face of so many English and American tenders, is regarded as very creditable to native enterprise. The steel towers, numbering 3,176, will be supplied by the Canadian Bridge Co., Walkerville, and the Ontario Iron &

F. H. M'GUIGAN.
Successful Tenderer For the Power Transmission Line.

Steel Co., Welland. They will consume 6,554 tons of steel. The cables will be of aluminum wire, weighing 1,014,209 pounds. This will be supplied by the Northern Aluminum Co. of America, at Shawinigan Falls.

For double telephone lines over the right of way 140,000 pounds of wire will be required, and the guard lines and lightning protection will also take a large quantity of metal.

Separate tenders were sent in for the several portions of the work, but Mr. McGuigan's tender was lower than the lowest combination of any of these. His tender was therefore accepted on its merits.

A marked check for $35,000 accompanied the tender, and a bond for the execution of the work, amounting to $175,000, will be provided.

The work is to be completed within 15 months of the signing of the contract, so that the line will be ready to deliver power in December of next year.

Rowdies Are Arrested.

Hamilton, Aug. 14.—Detectives Greer and Miller created somewhat of a sensation at Burlington yesterday by arresting three well-known young men on the charge of vagrancy. They are: Colin Martin, F. de Long and J. Klainka. Many depredations were committed around the village and the people applied to the Attorney-General's Department.

University Appointments.

Toronto, Aug. 14.—The board of governors of Toronto University announces the appointment of W. F. Green, B.A., as demonstrator in mineralogy; T. H. Hogg, demonstrator in applied mechanics; and A. F. B. Clark, instructor in French.

Alderman In a Fight.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 14.—Ald. McMillan and ex-Ald. Clandening were the principals in a fistic encounter that took place in Fairview yesterday morning. A committee of the City Council had gone to inspect a street matter in dispute.

Charge Is Grand Larceny.

Welland, Aug. 14.—J. R. Mack has been arrested in New York, and will be brought back to Tonawanda, N.Y., charged with grand larceny. It is also claimed he passed a forged draft at Clifton Hotel, Niagara Falls.

Discovered Plot In Time.

Kingston, Aug. 14.—Penitentiary guards discovered in the nick of time that a number of convicts who worked in the kitchen were planning to get out of their cells, and had a couple of bars sawed through and bricks loosened ready to pull out. They also had skeleton keys.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Hogs Are Lower Again at Buffalo and Chicago.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—London cables for cattle are steady at 11¼c to 14c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10¼c to 10½c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market as reported by the railways, for Wednesday and Thursday, were 96 carloads, composed of 1248 cattle, 1934 hogs, 2155 sheep and lambs and 140 calves.

Exporters.

Few, if any, were on sale, unless it was a few light weights. Geo. Rowntree had 100 of extra choice cattle, 1425 lbs. each bought several weeks ago in the country. Had there been any cattle for export on sale to-day, they would probably have brought about the same prices as on Monday last.

Butchers.

A few prime picked lots of butchers sold at $4.60 to $4.80, which is a little higher than early in the week. Loads of good, $4 to $4.25; medium, $3.75 to $3.90; common, $3.50; cows, $2.50 to $4.40; canners, $1.50 to $2.00.

Stockers and Feeders.

Few stockers and feeders offered and few wanted. Stockers, 500 to 700 lbs., $2.90 to $3; feeders, 800 to 900 lbs., $3.25 to $3.75.

Milkers and Springers.

There was a good demand for good cows at steady prices, ranging from $30 to $60. The average price for the best cows would be about $55 each.

Veal Calves.

Receipts light, prices firm at $3 to $4 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts fair, prices firm at about steady quotations. Export ewes, $4 to $4.25 per cwt.; rams, $3 to $3.25 per cwt.; lambs, $5.50 to $6.25, with a few selected lots at $6.35.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris quoted prices unchanged at $6.65 for selects fed and watered, and lights at $6.40. Too many light and coarse hogs are being marketed.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Aug. 13.—Cattle—Receipts 100 head; steady; prime steers, $6.25 to $6.75.

Hit By Tree Branch.

St. Catharines, Aug. 14.—H. O. Miller, Winona, attended the Lincoln Farm Institute picnic at the experimental farm and while tying his horse in a grove at Victoria Hall lightning struck a tree, knocked a big branch from the top, which, in falling, struck Miller on the head. He is in a serious condition.

Secretary For New Commission.

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—It is understood that William Foran, now secretary of the civil service board of examiners, and chief clerk in the Secretary of State's Department, will be appointed secretary of the new civil service commission.

Stopped at Pistol Point.

Hamilton, Aug. 14.—Four wealthy tourists from Columbus, Ohio, who came here from Toronto Wednesday in a big touring car, ran into James Stevens' rig near Stoney Creek, smashing it up, and without stopping, headed for Niagara. Constable Springstead 'phoned to Winona and the men were held up at the point of a gun. They each paid a fine and left $200 for the owner of the rig.

Killed by Train.

Delhi, Ont., Aug. 14.—Charles McNamara, aged 23, a farmer, residing near Hawtry, was struck by the M. C. R. express shortly before noon yesterday and instantly killed.

He was standing at the crossing at Lasallete and had his horse tied across the street.

Seeing the flyer coming he attempted to cross the track to look after his horse.

Engineer Falls Out.

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 14.—With Engineer Charles Strang lying injured alongside the track and the fireman busy at the back of the tender the Grand Trunk flyer eastbound, ran four miles with no guiding hand on at the throttle and with the two hundred passengers in the coaches calmly gazing out the windows, ignorant of the fact that they were riding on a runaway train.

The engineer lost his balance in leaning from the window or gangway to look for a hot box.

Barn Is Total Loss.

Hamilton, Aug. 14.—The bran of James Muir, Binbrook, was struck by lightning and destroyed, with the season's crop. The building had been erected only a short time in the place of one that had been struck by lightning and burned. The insurance lapsed on July 25. In trying to fight the flames, Mrs. Muir almost lost her life.

Broke Sunday Laws.

Hamilton, Aug. 14.—The following were fined $20 each by the magistrate for violating the Lord's Day Act by playing cards: Morris and Jacob Cohen, Barnet Labowits and H Miller.

MADE PRESENTATION AT BENSFORT

Rev. Robt. Emberson and His Wife Returning Again to Japan.

A presentation to Mr. Robt. Emberson of Bensfort is taking place to-night in connection with a surprise party which will be held at the residence of his brother, Mr. John Emberson. Rev. Mr. Emberson has spent seven years as a missionary in Japan, and has been home on furlough during the past year. He is leaving Bensfort next week to continue his work, and his many Bensfort friends are taking this opportunity of expressing their feelings towards him. The party will be a surprise to the household, but those arranging it have everything prepared and a very pleasant time is anticipated. During the evening, Rev. Mr Emberson will be presented with a solid gold case watch accompanied by an address. The ladies will present Mrs. Emberson with an autograph quilt.

YOUR SKIN IN SUMMER

Facts for Our Women Folk!

When you find your skin rough, red and patchy, or dry, scaly and coarse, with sore and inflamed spots here and there, remember there is a reason. There are 3,800 pores on one square inch of that same skin of yours, and these contain seventy feet of tubing, all provided to clear away harmful and waste excretions, but which get out of order when the skin is unhealthy. The value of Zam-Buk lies in the fact that its healing essences and juices can be absorbed by these miniature "Skin Mouths."

Applied to a rough or inflamed patch, cut, bruise, heat sore, or chafed place, Zam-Buk first lubricates, cools and soothes the hot surface, then heals. This is why children like Zam-Buk. It stops pain so quickly. Applied to eczema, ulcers, and festering sores, Zam-Buk first kills the disease germs which cause suppuration and inflammation. Then it builds up fresh tissue.

In this way an eczema patch, ulcer, abscess, ringworm or open sore is removed completely by Zam-Buk, and a cut or burn healed.

For insect stings, sore feet, bruises, chafed places, for eczema, ulcerations, blood poison, chronic sores, and for piles Zam-Buk is without equal. Fifty cents a box at all stores and druggists, or from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Three boxes for dollar twenty-five. This offer is for family use.

CHEMONG PARK REGATTA ONE OF THE BEST IN HISTORY OF THE CHEMONG YACHT CLUB

Threatening Weather of the Morning Changes to an Afternoon of Brightest Sunshine---Races Were Never Better.

DANCE IN THE EVENING

Special Staff Correspondence.

Chemong aPrk, Aug. 14.—From the vantage point on the bluff overlooking picturesque Chemong Lake, hundreds of people watched with deep interest the splendid aquatic sports held yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Chemong Yacht Club

It was the "Chemong Regatta" day, and despite the rainy weather and the lowering clouds of the early morning, the event — the most important on the summer calendar at the Park, was a complete success. Possibly had the morning been more inviting, the attendance would have been much larger. The number from Stony Lake was somewhat of a disappointment, as the prospects were that a large representation would have been over. Sturgeon Point, however, could not have sent more than it did, unless another steamer had been chartered, for the excursionists, as one garrulous young lady from the Point remarked, "were packed in like sardines" on the Esturion. The Stony Lake Cottagers' Association had the Otonabee chartered for the occasion, but, it is understood, they suffered somewhat financially. From Stony Lake also came the Maida Vale, bearing a merry company of about thirty from "Kiluna," the cottage of the Hon Lawrence Grahame. Other launches, gasoline and steam, were there galore, and with the sun breaking out from behind the clouds about 2 o'clock, the Chemong regatta was made one of the best in the history of the yacht club.

The honours in the canoe and skiff races went to Chemong. Sturgeon Point was second. Stony Lake was represented by a number of paddlers from the Kiluna party, who were somewhat unfortunate in winning prizes, and yet they gamely stuck to the sports and entered their men in every possible race. They are good sports, and though they frequently met defeat, took things philosophically.

Chemong the Leader

Altogether there were sixteen events on the programme. Everyone was run off, and out of the entire number, twelve first prizes went to Chemong Park and Bridgenorth. Sturgeon Point took three firsts, and Stony Lake had to be content with but one first, which was captured by Mr. R. A. Shaw with "Miss Fidgety"—the speedy craft which attracts everybody's attention.

The sailing races were among the best of the day. The coveted prize, the Kawartha Cup, was won this year by Mr. Howard Hopwood. His dinghy crossed the line an easy winner. The cup remains at Chemong. The real race in this event was between B H Hopkins of Sturgeon and A A Hollingshead, the former nosing out across the tape by not more than a single yard. A A Hollingshead was an easy winner in the open sailing event, with Hopkins second.

The men's double canoe race made a sensational finish. It was nip and tuck all the way down the course between the Chemong and Sturgeon Point boys, but Jopling and Conway the former, emerged the winners by half a length.

Conway a Winner

The men's single canoe race, the premier event in every regatta, was won in splendid style by J. Conway of Chemong, who also won first in the men's tandem, second in the fours and second in the gunwale.

The last number on the programme to be run off was the open handicap race for power launches. The "Miss Fidgety" was an entry in this, and as everybody wanted to know just how fast she could travel, they were all greatly interested. The second fastest craft was the "Hartford," owned by C H Scott of Fenelon Falls, and in a six-mile race with 7 1-2 minutes' handicap, the "Hartford" lost by almost three minutes, or about ten minutes altogether. The last three miles of the course was left behind by the restless one from Stony Lake, manned by Mr. "Bob" Shaw, in nine minutes and 17 seconds. The average speed was about 20 miles an hour.

The busiest man at the regatta yesterday was Mr. W S Davidson, the secretary of the club. He announced the races, started many of them and answered the thousand and one questions of the contestants. The judges were Messrs. Peter Campbell, D. Hughes Charles and Dr. Young. Mr. E G Patterson assisted in the starting, and was also judge of the course. B T Huston was clerk of the course.

The ladies of Chemong had erected a large tent in the park, where they served tea to the lady visitors from Sturgeon Point and Stony Lake. Their hospitality was very much appreciated. In the evening the prizes were presented to the winners, and, as no regatta would be complete without the usual post-dance, one was held in the pavilion later in the evening. There youth and beauty met, and for several hours tripped the light fantastic.

Notes of the day

Keep off the course.

The "Rob Roy" was there, and Messrs. R M and Fred Roy secured pictures of most of the finishes.

The "life boat" was not needed during any part of the afternoon.

There were entries for every race on the programme.

The "Miss Fidgety" is rightly named. She doesn't like to stay very long in one place, especially when she is going.

Major Young very appropriately handled the big double-barrelled breech-loading shotgun that started off the racers. His work reminded him of Petewawa camp.

With a shotgun and revolver in the judges' boat, it was dangerous to protest.

Mine Host George Brown of the Park Hotel took splendid charge of the visitors.

The Chemong Yacht Club desires to thank the following for donating special prizes for the regatta: The Peterborough Canoe Co., the English Canoe Co., A. H. Stratton & Co., and Robt. Fair & Co.

A SAN FRANCISCO PHYSICIAN

Uses Herpicide Successfully in Treating Sycosis of the Beard

He says: "I recently treated a case of sycosis (similar to barber's itch) of the lower lip, with Newbro's Herpicide. There was an extensive loss of beard, with inflammation extending well down on the chin. The result of the application of Herpicide was mostg ratifying. The loss of beard ceased, and a new growth of hair is now taking place over the once inflamed area.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS IN PETERBOROUGH

Surprise for Former Local Man Absent For One Year.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

On my return to Peterborough, after a year's absence, nothing has impressed me so favourably in reference to your city, as the number of fine public buildings recently erected, or now in course of erection; such as King Edward Public School, the large Armouries, the stately and imposing Normal School, the commodious, well-arranged Collegiate Institute and the beautiful Roman Catholic Church. To these is soon to be added another in that tenders are being called for to erect in the south of the city St. James' Methodist Church, which, according to the plans and specifications, will be no discredit to the other buildings referred to or to your beautiful city. This project was of great interest to me during my pastorate here. Rev. Mr. Manning has proved himself the right man for the task, pushing forward the project with such zeal, persistency and wisdom that already its success is assured. To his credit be it said that such was his conviction of the need and importance of the undertaking, and his faith in its practicability that he refused inviting charges offered him, and without thought or livelihood of personal or family advantage or provision beforehand for his support set himself to this arduous task. Very many of your readers will be glad to learn that he has met with a most gratifying response on the south of the city. Any similar response from others interested and able to assist will place this year on Aylmer street south a beautiful and commodious church free of debt, with a wide field for usefulness,

Yours, etc.,

CONSIDERABLE YANKEE MONEY

Is Afloat in the City—Comes With the Visitors.

A local expressman remarked today that there was an unusually large amount of American money in the city. So frequently do you find an eagled quarter, half-dollar or dollar bill in your pocket that most people have probably noticed the increase. This is said to be due to the fact that the summer visitors seldom exchange their money when coming over for a holiday. They spend a large part of it in this neighbourhood, hence it continues to circulate. The expressmen and hotel men are among those who first receive the money. It is learned that American money is more readily taken here than is our money across the border.

An honest druggist will never recommend anything else as "just as good" when you ask for "Empire Poultry Duster" It has no equal.

Camp Jollier At Sandy Point Tells Of Latest Incidents

Examiner Special

Y.M.C.A. Camp, Sandy Point, Aug 12.—Our camp is involuntarily "at home" to-day on account of the rain. General regrets were passed around, more especially as most of the bunch had planned an excursion to Burleigh Falls, accompanied by their respective lady friends. However, time never hangs heavily on our hands here. Our numbers and merriment have been added to by the arrival of Charlie McGibbon of Port Hope, who came up in time to join us at Stony Lake regatta on Monday, and by Fred Hall of Peterborough, who arrived this morning. Archie Frowde, physical director, also spent regatta day with us. Monday, of course, was a great day with us. The whole camp turned out in full force and assisted, or otherwise, by the girls' brigade, wended our way by devious routes to Juniper Island, there to enjoy the race, and not forgetting the contents of Mr. Robinson's store. Everyone voted it the greatest day out.

Fishing, which had been very slack for some days, gained renewed popularity yesterday from the success of Will Jewell of Port Hope, who hooked three lunge during the day, only one of which, alas! found its way to the pot. One of the others was lost alongside the boat, and the remaining one, a fine eight-pounder was killed, but on being borrowed by two of the boys to weigh at the nearest cottage miraculously sank like a stone to the bottom of the lake on the return journey. Dark mystery surrounds the circumstances of the sad loss. To-morrow we expect a large crowd from Peterborough, given fine weather. Preparations will be made to entertain our visitors in our best style, and all look forward to an extra jolly time. Our time here is, unfortunately, getting short. For some, camp breaks up on Saturday, although a few think of staying over until Monday or Tuesday.

Tom Arnott has been busy and erected a landing stage for the camp. Two of the bunch also succeeded in capturing and bringing to camp a fine specimen of a puff adder forty inches long. That, I think, closes the letter for this time. All are feeling the benefit of camping out, and to-morrow we mean to show our friends the jolliest camp in Ontario. — Ever yours, Camp Jollier.

Regiment Goes To Kingston; Trip Through Thousand Isles

Into Camp on September 5th— Committee of Officers Returns After Making Arrangements.

LABOUR DAY EXCURSION

A committee of the officers of the 57th Regiment have returned from Kingston, where they were making arrangements for the annual trip of the regiment. It has been decided that the regiment will go to the Limestone City on September 5 and go into camp at Barriefield with the rest of the troops in Eastern Ontario to the number of about three thousand.

Arrangements were also made to take the regiment through the Thousand Islands as far as Alexandria Bay on the Monday following, which is Labour Day. The excursion steamer will go by way of the United States channel and return by the Canadian channel. The details of the trip will be decided upon at once and will be published.

WALTER JAYES HIT BY BALL; WAS UNCONSCIOUS FOR TEN HOURS

Mr. John Jayes, of the Munro House, has received a letter from his nephew, Walter Jayes, who has been playing for the Wilmington team in the North Carolina league in which he states that he is out of the game probably for the season as the result of injuries received in a recent game. While at bat he was struck on the back of the head by a pitched ball from pitcher Mayberry of the Wilson club and was unconscious for ten hours afterwards and spent a week in the hospital. On the advice of the doctors and the manager of the club he will remain out of the game for the rest of the season and he will likely visit Peterborough in a short time. He is at present leading the league with the stick, his average for the season being 326.

The Wilmington Despatch says — "Centre Fielder Jayes one of the cleverest and most popular members of the Wilmington Ball Team, who was struck on the head with a pitched ball, and painfully injured by Pitcher Mayberry, of the Wilson team about a week ago, was brought to the city last night from Wilson where he has been in a sanitarium since the accident. Pitcher Russey of the local team went to Wilson to accompany Mr. Jayes to Wilmington and the injured player stood the tiresome journey very well indeed.

The scores of friends of Mr Jayes in the city will be glad to learn that he is slowly but surely recovering from the effects of the terrible blow he received. He is still very weak, however, and will be confined at the cottage of the base ball team on Wrightsville Beach for several days before he will be able to leave his room.

Mr. Jayes by his clever and gentlemanly deportment both on and off the ball field has endeared himself to the Wilmington base ball public and all the fans will hope that he will soon be entirely well.

Peterborough Grocers Don't Like The Begging System

The Canadian Grocer says — The grocers of Peterborough are very much averse to the prevailing habit among Sunday schools, churches and other organizations of soliciting prizes for picnics. Almost every excursion leaving the city has previously arranged a programme of sports and many of the prizes for these are "begged" from the merchants. One grocer in referring to this matter stated that it was a nuisance which instead of being lessened or curtailed altogether was on the increase. It is only endured because of the fear of ending a number of customers. Once he begins to give he is always giving and thus the nuisance continues. Baseball and other sporting clubs want to be supported and during the summer months in particular, the generosity of the grocers is imposed upon. The evil, it was thought by the grocer, was one that ought not be be countenanced. Though in a few cases it may work out so as to put the grocer in a better light in the community it has become so common a thing that this scarcely applies. It is not good business, remarked the grocer, and he thoroughly believed that the grocers who refused politely, though firmly, to countenance such requests will be a good deal better off in the end.

G. T. R. Boarding Car Credit To The Company And Men

An Examiner reporter had the opportunity yesterday of passing through a boarding car of the Buildings and Bridges Department of the G. T. R. It was on a siding near the G. T. R. station, a number of the men being engaged in repair work at Nassau. The car is attractive in every particular. It is painted in blue on the outside and the inside is stained and varnished. It is divided into three commodious sections. The kitchen or pantry, the living room and the sleeping room. Everything is bright, clean and neat. Nothing untidy, nothing out of place. Everything seems to harmonize so that there is plenty of room and things are so arranged that it is no difficult matter to keep them in good order. If all the cars are like that which is now in the city they are a credit to the G. T. R. The men must be pleased with it as it immediately appeals to the stranger as an ideal car for living purposes.

SALOON LOOTED BY FARM HANDS

Hoodlum Harvesters Break Loose at Chalk River.

CARLOAD OF BEER STOLEN

Rowdy Farmhands Carry Away a Thousand Dollars' Worth of Liquors and Cigars — Mackie's Station Agent's Furniture Destroyed—North Bay Police Force and Citizens Arrested Several.

North Bay, Aug. 14.—Two excursion trains of harvesters from the Maritime Provinces were stalled in Chalk River for an hour yesterday in consequence of a slight freight wreck ahead.

During their stay in Chalk River, the hotel was looted, the proprietor carried outside and over $1,000 worth of liquors and cigars carried off on the excursion train. Even the cellar was ransacked, and a carload of beer in kegs stolen.

On the trains riotous scenes ensued. Water tanks were emptied and filled with beer. Fighting became general and one man had his nose split, and another received injuries.

One policeman is with each train, but no attention is paid to him.

At Mackie's Station the traveling hoodlums amused themselves by wrecking the furniture in the station agent's house, and by otherwise misbehaving.

At North Bay the police force and citizens were ready for the lawless horde which every year sweeps across the continent, leaving a trail of depredations, and the first sign of disorder resulted in arrests, which put a damper on the hooliganism.

ELECTIONS TO-DAY IN THE WEST

Saskatchewan Political Leaders Go to the Polls.

IT HAS BEEN HARD FOUGHT

Both Parties Are Claiming Victory After Strenuous Campaign Full of Bitter Attacks on Scott Government—Returns Will Be Slow In Coming In From the Outlying Districts to the North.

Regina, Sask., Aug. 14.—The day of election finds each party claiming that the end of the polling will see it victorious, and at headquarters here reports are entirely conflicting regarding the outcome.

The redistribution, the fact that there are forty-one seats instead of twenty-five, and the large number of voters added to the lists since the first provincial elections three years ago, all tend to obscure the election.

Athabasca constituency will return its verdict later, as this far north country is far too scattered to have been reached in the time, but of the forty seats remaining it is likely enough that eight or ten will not be able to furnish anything like complete returns until Saturday, and it is altogether possible that even the Government here will not know its fate to-night.

Some of the polls are far distant and returns must be made by runner or by water, while in at least half a dozen constituencies, reports are dependent on a single wire, so that a slight accident may delay returns. Earliest returns to come in will be from the four cities, with their counties and points along the main line of the C. P. R. and the Soo line, with other constituencies along the C.N.R. main line and various branches following at considerable intervals.

As the returns from the north come in it will be seen how far the contention of the Government party of making a clean sweep there is upheld.

Regarding the short and brief campaign, perhaps for strenuous effort, enthusiasm and bitter vituperation, it is unsurpassed in the history of Western Canada. After the fray is over the arena may be found strewn with some tattered reputations, for a great crop of slanders, counter slanders, libel suits and innuendoes have developed and the courts must be busy some weeks settling these affairs.

Both parties have worked hard up to the drop of the hat and though there has been no time for much personal canvassing, the respective leaders have fairly covered the ground and have performed prodigies of personal effort in the attempt to reach the electorate.

MILITIA OFFICER DIES.

Lieut.-Col. Henderson of 48th Highlanders Is Dead.

Toronto, Aug. 14.—As a result of uraemic poisoning aggravated by the ill effect of bad canned peas eaten at the Quebec celebration, Lieut.-Col. Wilbur Henderson died yesterday. He had been ill ever since his return from the Tercentenary.

Lieut.-Col Henderson was a native of Whitby, where his brother commands the 34th Ontario Regiment. Col. Henderson joined the 48th in 1891 at its formation; became regimental major Dec. 15, 1900, and brevet lieutenant-colonel Jan. 14, 1905. He was attached to a mounted infantry corps in the South African campaign. He had the officers' long service decoration and took a prominent part in regimental musketry instruction.

Col. Henderson had a position in the Inland Revenue Department. He was 55 years of age and leaves a widow, a son and a daughter.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon.

BROKE FIRE ENGINES.

Firemen of Sussex, N. B., Find Apparatus Tampered With Twice.

Sussex, N. B., Aug. 14.—When a serious fire broke out in the south end of the town yesterday morning, firemen who started out in response found that the engines and other apparatus had been tampered with.

Nuts were off the wheels and pipes disconnected.

This is the second time this week the firemen have found the engines in this condition.

The authorities have a good idea who the guilty parties are. The magistrate has fined Scott Act violators very heavily during the last few weeks, and it is believed this is the way some of the sympathizers of the liquor interests are getting even.

OFF FOR MARIENBAD

King Edward Concludes Visit to the Emperor of Austria.

Ischl, Austria, Aug. 14.—King Edward left yesterday for Marienbad, where he will take the waters. Emperor Francis Joseph, who displayed wonderful activity during King Edward's visit, was at the railway station to bid his royal visitor farewell.

The Emperor on Wednesday night entertained King Edward at a gala dinner, during the course of which toasts were exchanged expressive of the mutual pleasure of the visit, the King congratulating Emperor Francis Joseph on the celebration of his jubilee and both dwelling with satisfaction on the friendly relations existing between the two countries.

JAIL FOR STEALING PAPER.

Hamilton Men Goes Down For Week For One Cent Theft.

Hamilton, Aug. 14.—For the theft of property valued at a cent, George Harris, an engineer employed by Bowes, Jamieson & Co., was sent to jail for a week yesterday, without the option of a fine, despite the pleadings of Chief Smith and the crown attorney, who, when they recovered from their surprise, asked for a fine. Harris' young wife and two children were in court.

Harris stole a Toronto morning paper from a doorstep and was caught by a constable. Magistrate Jelfs said it was necessary to make an example of some one to stop petty theft.

Fireman Rescues Woman.

Toronto, Aug. 14.—In a fire yesterday at the Thistle Restaurant, Fireman George Henderson hearing that a woman was still in the building, crawled in and after a long search in the smoke-laden building carried out Mrs. Roach, a domestic. She was unconscious and would have died in a few minutes if she had not been rescued. In the dense smoke Mrs. Roach had tried to find her way out and had fallen down a flight of stairs.

Two Years For Small Theft.

Quebec, Aug. 14.—Two years in the penitentiary was the sentence imposed upon a young man named Denechaud at the Police Court yesterday morning for stealing $14 from the residence of Mr. Bouchard on Saturday last.

In Ottawa Next.

St. Thomas, Aug. 14.—At yesterday's session of the I. O. O. F. Ontario Grand Lodge the officers were all advanced a step.

Ottawa was chosen for the next convention.

Special Protection For Strike Breakers In Havelock Yard

According to the reports received from Havelock there is more feeling regarding the strike than has reached the city thus far. Between fifty and sixty men went out on strike together and it is being learned that their places are being filled by outsiders. It is known that four men (new comers) went down from Peterborough to work in the yards at Havelock a few days ago. A report from Havelock says that extra precautions have been taken to protect the strike-breakers and special constables or detectives are continually on the watch. One of the latter was struck on the eye with a stone a few days ago. It was probably thrown by one of the sympathizers. Practically the whole town is in sympathy with the strikers.

MR. REDMOND'S COMPLAINT OF CIVIC INEFFICIENCY

Claims He is Subject to Ill-treatment at the Hands of the Lawless and Can Obtain no Redress.

Mr. R. Redmond, 469 Donegal street, has serious complaints to make of the treatment, or rather neglect of attention to his just complaints, he receives and has received from the civic authorities, who according to his statement, refuse or neglect the protection due citizens, and especially ratepaying citizens. He asserts that yesterday, or within the last two days he has been greatly annoyed by the depredations of bad boys. They have stolen his apples and plums, pelted himself with mud, broken his windows and committed other annoying depredations. Mr. Redmond said he reported the matter to the police, but no attention was paid to his request. Mr. Telford, so he asserts, also has lodged three complaints before the police magistrate, but his complaints were ignored and he received no attention or satisfaction. Mr. Redmond says he has been forty years a resident and has been repeatedly subjected to ill treatment, without receiving the protection which he as a law-abiding citizen has a right to receive at the hands of the authorities, in whose hands are the machinery and power to protect citizens and assure the peaceable enjoyment of their homes and the fruits of their labours. The authorities cannot very well ignore these complaints. They are at least deserving of investigation. The conditions should be very serious when any citizen is placed beyond the pale of protection the law and its administration should afford.

MR. JAS. A. FIFE HERE ON A VISIT

Former Science Master Pleased With Edmonton and the West.

Mr. Jas. A. Fife, B.A., formerly Science Master at the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, but now of the Edmonton High School, is in the city to-day on a visit. He arrived from the West last night and is looking in splendid health. Mr. Fife speaks highly of the West, and particularly of Edmonton, which, as all the citizens believe, has a very bright future.

Speaking of the real estate conditions, he states that an erroneous idea exists in the east. Contrary to the general belief here real estate has not decreased in value and the prices that were asked last year are still unchanged.

Mr. Fife intends to visit relatives in Otonabee to-morrow after which he will return to the city for a short stay before leaving for the West. This afternoon he accompanied Mr. H R H Kenner on a visit to the new Collegiate Institute and the Normal School.

AUSTRALIA WELCOMING THE UNITED STATES FLEET

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—The Toronto World, in its to-day's issue, is evidently on the right track as to the unusual welcome extended to the United States by the Australasian States. An editorial by the Australasian States—an editorial, by the way, that is well worth reading. A letter recently received by me from a friend in Australia, dated as far back as the fifth day of June last, is well worth quoting from, as being from one on the spot, and who keeps well abreast of the times. Among other things, he writes: "Our Melbourne folks are preparing to welcome the fleet of the United States Navy, and though the visit is two and a half months away the plans for entertaining the visitors are well in hand, and many thousands of pounds are to be spent. Probably there is a political motive behind it, as the friendship of Uncle Sam in the Pacific may be worth something to Australia in the years to come."

Yours, etc.,

BELLEVILLE MAY HAVE ROAD RACE LABOUR DAY

Distance to be About 12 Miles—To be a Limited Event.

Belleville and Trenton lads are to have an opportunity to break into the Marathon game, according to plans at present on foot, and who knows but we may, before long, uncover some budding Longboat, who, in years to come, will make Belleville famous in the athletic world. Two gentlemen of this city, Ald. Deacon and his brother, Mr. F. S. Deacon, propose to give prizes for a road race to be held on Labour Day, which is the first Monday in September. The proposition is to have the race, which will be confined to residents of Trenton and Belleville, start in front of the post office at Trenton, and finish in front of the post office at Belleville. The distance—about twelve miles—will not be such a killing contest as some of the long distance races run in other places, but will be long enough to test the pluck, speed and stamina of the contestants. Further particulars will be given later, and in the meantime there will be plenty of time for all aspiring pedestrians to get into condition. Get into the game, boys.—Belleville Intelligencer.

Chinese Executions.

In Canton every two weeks there is a public execution of criminals in one of the market places.

Old Christmas.

When Gregory XIII. reformed the calendar in 1582 he omitted ten days, but when the new style was adopted in England in 1752 it was necessary to cut off eleven days, which brought Jan. 6 back to Dec. 25 of the previous year. So what we now call Jan. 6 in the old style would be Christmas day, or Dec. 25.

A Great Coaling Port.

Malta is one of the most important coaling ports in the Mediterranean, and consequently there are many firms there dealing in coal, of which there is at all times a large stock on hand.

Railway Supplies Are Many.

At a convention of railway storekeepers one of the statements made was that the storekeeper of the average big railway system carries 55,000 items of material in stock. Railway "scraps" are of sufficient importance as an economic factor to be divided into 133 classes in order that they may be sold most profitably.

The Nostrils.

The human nostrils, if large and free, indicate large lungs. A pinched and half closed nostril indicates small or weak lungs. These are general points of distinction, but, of course, subject to the usual individual exceptions.

Geography.

In 1806 geography was thought to be "indelicate" for girls, and they were seldom allowed to study it.

Forest Growth.

Too much forest growth has as deleterious an effect on climate as too little. Careful training and trained care are needed to keep the balance really beneficial to mankind.

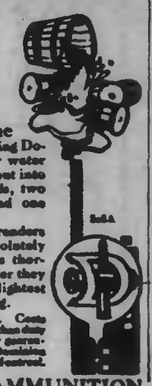
Damp Proof Shells



We treat all the paper we use in making Dominion shells in our water proof solution. We put into each shell three wads, two of ¼ inch felt and one grease proof.

This treatment renders Dominion shells absolutely damp proof. Unless thoroughly soaked in water they never give the slightest trouble from swelling.

For all makes of arms. Costs no third as much as other loads that claim drying preparation. Our guarantee goes with each box. Dominion Cartridge Co., Ltd., Montreal.

DOMINION AMMUNITION

Actor Wounded In Play.

Renfrew, Aug. 14.—Through the mistake of an errand boy in purchasing loaded cartridges for blank ones, George Hyett, an actor in Joseph Maclean's dramatic company, which is playing a week's engagement here, might have met with a serious accident at the performance on Wednesday night.

In the second act the revolver, a 38-calibre one, which had been loaded with the supposed blank cartridges, was fired off at him, the bullet striking him in the left leg near the hip.

Fortunately it proved only a flesh wound, and did not prevent his continuing the performance.

Queen Goes to England.

San Sebastian, Aug. 14.—King Alfonso and Queen Victoria left here yesterday on the south express. The Queen is going to the Isle of Wight to visit her mother, Princess Beatrice of Battenberg, but will stop over in Paris for a day incognito. King Alfonso will accompany the Queen as far as Bordeaux.

Treasurer Took Poison.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 14.—E. J. Lewis, treasurer of the Savings Life Insurance Co. of Peoria, committed suicide by taking poison in a saloon here.

HONOUR FOR INDIAN RUNNER

ALSO GIVEN AN ADDRESS

On Wednesday, evening, August 12th, a large and enthusiastic audience assembled in Hiawatha Hall to do honour to Mr. Fred Simpson, the famous Indian runner who represented Peterborough at the recent Olympic games in London, England. The evening's entertainment partook of the nature of a banquet to Mr. and Mrs. Simpson, followed by a programme of music, speeches and a presentation to Mr. Simpson of a beautiful marble clock as a slight token of appreciation on the part of Mr. Simpson's friends in Hiawatha and vicinity.

The chair was occupied by Rev. Geo. Dunkley, the missionary of Hiawatha Reserve.

The programme consisted of music, by the Indian choir, and speeches by Chief Alfred Crowe, Mr. Daniel Cowie and others. Miss Dunkley, of Picton, also rendered a well-chosen recitation. The principal item came early in the evening's programme, when Mr. Robert Cowie, in an excellent speech, introduced the guest of the evening with a few remarks. Mr. A. W. Dunkley, Classical Master of Hamilton Collegiate, then came forward, and after briefly pointing out the significance of Mr. Simpson's performance in England, read the following address:

Dear Mr. Simpson—We, a few of your friends assembled here desire to express our appreciation of the honour you have brought to us during the short time you have devoted your attention to athletics. We have followed your athletic career with much interest and we are proud of the success which has thus far attended your efforts.

By the recent Olympic games in London, Eng., you showed your superiority over many of the famous long distance runners of both the new and the old world. We are also very proud to say that your conduct in public and private life has always been a credit to yourself and your friends and an example to those with whom you have mingled.

We ask you to accept the accompanying clock as a memento of the high esteem in which you are held by your friends of Hiawatha and vicinity.

Committee Chief Alfred Crowe
Daml. Cowie
Robt Cowie
A W Dunkley

Mr. Simpson, on rising to reply, was greeted by the audience with "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." In a few words he expressed his thanks on behalf of himself and wife.

Mr. Baker, of Peterborough, who was present for the occasion, eulogized Mr. Simpson, both as a man and an athlete, testifying to the high regard in which Mr. Simpson was held by the members of the Olympic team, while representing Canada.

The evening's entertainment was brought to a close by the singing of the national anthem.

A LIQUOR CASE IN THE POLICE COURT

Local Hotel Keeper Charged With Supplying Liquor to Minor.

At Police Court this morning a local hotelkeeper was charged with selling liquor to Walter Mahaffy of Otonabee, a 17-year-old boy, contrary to the provisions of the Liquor License Act.

Mahaffy testified that he was in Peterborough July 13 and obtained four or five glasses of lager in the defendant's hotel. He would not tell which one of the bartenders had served him, but was certain that he got the liquor there, and was drunk afterwards.

To Mr. James Haverson of Toronto, who appeared for the defendant, the witness admitted he had been in jail for two months for stealing a bicycle and had been fined for the theft of a horse, while at the present time he is being held on a charge of stealing a bicycle.

For the defence, the bar-tenders of the hotel denied supplying Mahafty with any liquor.

Magistrate Dumble reserved judgment in the case.

A LOOK BEYOND THE FRONTIERS OF PRESENT KNOWLEDGE INTO THE DIM FUTURE OF THE YEARS TO COME

What Man Has Gained in the Fierce Struggle for Existence—Flying Machines Value as a War Scout.

RACING THUNDERSTORMS

By Hiram Maxim, Inventor.

When primitive man crept from his warren, threw the long tousled hair from off his eyes and stood in the sunlight, the world had a far different meaning for him than it has to-day for the civilized man, as he steps from his residence into the bustle and business of modern life.

Everything that moved the primitive man believed endowed with life. To him life and movement were synonymous, and all sounds were voices, whether of the wild beasts, the wind or the rush of waters.

By his needs he was compelled to grapple with the forces of his environment, whether of animal life or inanimate nature, and the history of man has been a history of subordination of all things to his use.

But man's upward march has been inconceivably slow and the time immeasurably long. It required eons for the dull brain and the unaccustomed hand to fashion the simple stone hatchet and knife and spear of flint or bone. He was a mighty architect who made the first shelter of logs and boughs, and he who first contrived a way to kindle fire by friction was a greater innovator than any inventor of the modern world. He who first hollowed a log with fire and made a boat accomplished a greater feat towards human advancement than the designer of the Dreadnought.

In the fierce struggle for existence man has won the mastery mainly because of his superior intelligence and skill in the subordination and utilization of means supplementing his own relatively small physical powers. Primitive man armed with his simple weapons and intelligence, in concerted action, soon made himself master of the animal creation.

Into The Future

Come with me and let us peer a little beyond the frontiers of present knowledge and stare into the future with a "wild surmise," forecasting what man shall do to stem the tide that is setting against him, while we believe he shall still conquer greater and greater favours at the hand of destiny as the world wears and wastes beneath his tread.

Achievement will not keep us waiting, for in this age of marvels, with which the inventor is constantly surprising us, it does not do to sleep too late in the morning, else when we awake we may find ourselves laggards in the abject rear.

Achievement now runs on so fast that it often outpaces the adjustment of our senses, and though we pinch ourselves to prove our wakefulness still the sense of dreaming intrudes on consciousness and harasses conviction.

Many of us in still full life are able to go back far enough in yesterday to view the present through the wide eye of wonder, while we are so fortified with expectation for the morrow that we look a second time to be assured whether or not that flock of clouds that skirts the sunset may be a fleet of airships climbing up the sky.

The Flying Machines

Although the value of the flying machine in future wars will be mainly as a scouting craft, still its importance for that service alone is hard to over-estimate, for the flying machine videttes will be at once the eyes and ears of the armies of the future, and they will have their use in naval warfare, too, for there will be the aerial torpedo scout on the lookout for the torpedoes and torpedo boats, which will signal the approach of danger.

Possibly, too, we shall have our torpedo hawk, taloned with dynamite, which will swoop down out of the sky in swift pursuit of the torpedo or torpedo boat and blow it up before it reaches its destination.

Although, as I have heretofore pointed out, flying machines could not be expected to successfully attack battleships, coast fortifications or large cities or to do much damage with high explosives, still they might attack torpedoes and small torpedo craft with aerial bombs planted and exploded beside them under water, and it is possible that they might be very mischievous indeed.

But the torpedo craft will have their quick firing sky guns then, with which coupled with the searchlight, they will sweep the heavens, and the attack will be dangerous work.

Aerial naval tactics will include the use of the thunder head to mask manoeuvres. When the cloud hung navies war and ride the storm to battle, then conjectures will attend the full of slaughtered combatants and wreckage from the sky, to know if it be Jove or man that thunders there.

Race Thunderstorms

Think of it! By and by we shall be able to cast the earth loose and round the ecliptic with the Pleiades, leave the earth road and our race with Jupiter on the cloud way, or go tobogganing down the sky slide.

It will be great sport to outrace and override the thunderstorm and there in the bright sunlight look down upon the rolling, seething mass of cloud spitting fire like an angry cat. We shall then seem to have Nature at a disadvantage.

The more highly scientific war engines becomes the more the game of war will be one that can be played only by the most scientific and enlightened nations. More and more will home and country be defended by machinery and less by blood. Fewer and fewer men will be obliged to engage in the trade of war, and more and more will be able to devote themselves to peaceful pursuits. Less and less will war be the arbiter of nations, for the difficulties and the expense will become so prohibitive that wars will no longer pay.

The aerial navy will be a great bulwark of peace, and a very great step toward the permanence of peace. The inventors of deadly war engines place in the hands of scientific and enlightened nations means of controlling wars.

Motorites Torpedo Boats

Within the next few years torpedo boats propelled by motorite, a fusl compound of nitro-glycerine and gun cotton, will be driven at a speed of fifty miles an hour in nearly submerged position, and will be able to rush in upon any battleship and sink it under full gun fire. Automobile torpedoes, driven by this same means, will have a speed fifty per cent. greater than present torpedoes and more than double their range, but other revolutionary methods will doubtless be invented to combat with these terrible wasps of the sea.

On land battalions will close in deadly combat over an intervening space of two miles, or more, and fight without sound or smoke. But when an enemy's position shall have been discovered, then smoke-producing bombs will be thrown to blind his eyes to the movements of the attack, and at night torch bombs will keep him exposed under their bright light. War will become more and more a matter of science and money, and the soldier will become less and less a warring factor, until the spirit of war wears out and men shall war no longer.

It has been truly said that the degree of civilization of a people may be estimated by the quantities of nitric and sulphuric acid consumed. But what are we to do when the great nitre beds of South America, the world's only supply, shall have been exhausted—and they are being rapidly depleted?

The problem of fixation of atmospheric nitrogen by the electric current has already been solved and it requires but little further development to meet all needs.

World's Future Power

Ammonia and all kinds of nitrates produced artificially, are among the immediate possibilities of the future. It requires but a sufficient quantity of cheap electrical energy to refertilize all our fields from the atmosphere. But heat and power we must have and in ever-increasing quantities.

Were every river and rivulet dammed to its source the fall to the sea would not produce power enough for man's future use. Whither, then, must he look? Will he devise some practical engine for the utilization of the solar rays? It is estimated that the amount of energy received by the earth from the sun is equal to that of a continuous Niagara 75,000 miles wide—wide enough to encircle the earth three times.

But the discovery of radiant matter "if it do not prove a "will o' the wisp" may yet lead us to the discovery of a means of tapping the mighty storehouse of eternal molecular energy.

The corpuscles of which molecules are composed are estimated to have a velocity of 100,000 miles a second half the speed of light. This means that in a pound of ponderable substance there is sufficient energy in action to equal that of a one-pound projectile hurled at a velocity of 100,000 miles a second. Such energy is perfectly inconceivable.

The energy of impact of such a one-pound projectile would be sufficient to melt and volatilize and expand to ultimate tenuity fifty tons of cast iron.

If a man discovers the key to unlock this storehouse of energy will be able to make a playhouse of the world and to reduce the cost of living so that labour will be at a premium as a source of amusement.

WITH A SURVEY PARTY IN THE CANADIAN NORTHWEST

F. M. Dela Fosse

When we were within easy distance of the Forks, we were caught in a heavy snowstorm (10th June). It was very severe while it lasted, and the wind was intensely cold. We kept on travelling, however, and by the time it had ended, had reached the summit of the steep hill immediately overlooking the valley of the Saskatchewan. It was really a beautiful sight. The snowstorm had cleared the air, and there was not a suspicion of haze in the atmosphere. Below, on either hand, as far as eye could see, the plain was alive with horses and cattle. In the further distance gleamed the wide waters of the Saskatchewan, their foaming breakers turned into prismatic hues by the action of the sunlight. At the southern end of the valley could be discerned four or five log shanties and a number of Indian teepees. It was with exultation, ill-concealed, that I learned from Wells that these habitations marked the end of our companionship, and that on the opposite side of the river, Jones' horses and carts would probably be in waiting for the conveyance of the goods to the camp. The descent into the valley was decidedly precipitous, but we got down safely, and arrived in a short time at the Forks. Wells' house was quite a pretentious looking abode, and possessed a fair-sized garden plot. There was also a large walled-in enclosure for his stock.

Arrival at the Forks

On our arrival, we were surrounded at once by about twenty Crees, male and female, robed in inexpressibly dirty blankets. They all wanted tobacco, but as my supply was distinctly limited, they were disappointed in their quest. They were very friendly, but took altogether too active an interest in my humble self and in the goods which were under my charge. One of the braves snatched my cap from my head and placed it on his own, grinning like a Cheshire cat, and a squaw thrust her little papoose into my arms and insisted on my dandling it. My awkwardness with the infant occasioned great hilarity. After the half-breeds had had a little bit of friendly palaver with them, we entered Wells' domicile. It was not so spacious as it looked from the outside, consisting, so far as one could judge, of a single room.

The Half-breed's House

Although the place was full of people, my attention was immediately drawn, on entering, to the appearance of Wells' wife. She was duskier than her spouse, stood about five feet ten inches in height, and was of enormous breadth and bulk. Outside of a side-show, one might hardly hope to see such a tremendous specimen of a female. Her face, surmounted by a forest of coal-black hair, presented the appearance of a map. It was full of hills and valleys, interspersed with tortuous water-courses, down which torrents of perspiration were flowing. Her hands and feet were monstrous. Her mouth was a cavern.

Responding to my greeting with a Hrobdingnagian grunt, she beckoned me to a seat near the door, and on this coign of vantage I sat and surveyed the inmates. On one side of the room, seated on a roughly-hewn bench of cottonwood, were three Cree Indians, and a surveyor, named Robertson, and opposite them, a snub-nosed, freckled-faced freighter, named McPherson; two or three Cree children were seated on the floor, and on the only bed in the room was stretched the figure of a half-breed, peacefully snoring. As my gaze wandered around the room, my attention was arrested by the unmistakable chuckle of a baby, seemingly emerging from the roof. I looked and there, half way up the wall, suspended on a nail in mid air, was an infant, beaming down at me from a basket, into which it had been strapped, and crowing away in the merriest manner imaginable. This, I learned, was the usual method adopted in the country by Crees and half-breeds alike, for disposing of their infants at inconvenient seasons of the day.

Indian Horse Thieves

While driving down the valley I had noticed that the horses were all hobbled with strips of buffalo hide, old shirts, or rope and learned that this was as a safeguard against the inroads of Bloods, Blackfeet and Piegans who had the disagreeable habit of sweeping down from their reserve at Fort Macleod and raiding the settlements. The Crees I was told would steal from each other but not from the Metis or the whites. Judging it better however, from what I had learned, to leave nothing to chance, I refused Wells' offer of a bed in the house and piling all my goods together threw a tarpaulin over them, and at nightfall crept under it and went to sleep. My warinss was rewarded. I was awakened in the dead of night by a rustle of tarpaulin and peering out saw the form of an Indian stealthily endeavouring to abstract a side of pork from the further end. With a whoop I jumped out. The Indian gave a yell of fright and made a bee line over the prairie. The pursuit was a short but fruitless one. The way he ran was strongly suggestive of the Gilliloo Bird, a legendary denizen of the backwoods, which when frightened "takes forty feet at a lep." The Indian vanished but there was no more interruption to my slumbers that night.

The following morning I crossed the river on the ferry but failed to find any sign of the arrival of the ponies and carts.

The Freighters

The day was not uneventful, however, for in the course of it some freighters with forty carts loaded down with beaver skins arrived at the river. They had come from Edmonton and were taking the skins to the Hudson Bay Company's headquarters at Winnipeg. The advent of the railway has in all probability entirely done away with this mode of travelling. But in those days the freighters played a most important part in the economic welfare of the country. The work was mostly performed by contractors, although occasionally a well-to-do storekeeper would own his own outfit. Hardly any of these outfits would muster less than thirty horses and carts. The distance from Edmonton to Winnipeg, roughly speaking, is a thousand miles, and the freight charged was twelve dollars a hundred weight. Two trips would be made in a season. When we consider the vast distances that had to be traversed, the loneliness of the journeys, and the primitive vehicles in which they were made, the wonder is that men were to be found willing to leave the comforts of civilization in order to undertake the task. A large number of the freighters were Scotch or the descendants of Scotchmen.

It was one of the most interesting of sights to see an "outfit" wending its way over the trail. The ponies perambulating in single file, mechanically followed the leader. The freighters, possible about eight in number walked alongside. The rate of progress was on the average of about fifteen miles per day. The men were in mortal terror of depredations by the Indians and invariably set a guard on watch every night against pilferers of goods or live stock.

"ONLY MEDICINE THAT DID ME ANY GOOD"

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured Backache After Doctors Failed Utterly.

"I have received most wonderful benefit from taking "Fruit-a-tives." I suffered for years from backaches and pain in the head and I consulted doctors and took every remedy obtainable without any relief. Then I began taking "Fruit-a-tives" and this was the only medicine that ever did me any real good. I took several boxes altogether, and now I am entirely well of all my dreadful headaches and backaches. I take "Fruit-a-tives" occasionally still, but I am quite cured of a trouble that was said to be incurable. I give this testimony voluntarily, in order that others who suffer as I suffered may try this wonderful medicine and be cured."

"I've been called to the mines, and I must go at once."

"You bet! It may be too late now. The news came an hour ago, but I couldn't find you," said Struve. "Your horse is saddled at the office. Better not wait to change your clothes."

"You say Voorhees has gone with twenty deputies, eh? That's good. You stay here and find out all you can."

"I telephoned out to the creek for the boys to arm themselves and throw out pickets. If you hurry, you can get there in time. It's only midnight now."

"What is the trouble?" Miss Chester inquired anxiously.

"There's a plot on to attack the mines tonight," answered the lawyer. "The other side are trying to seize them, and there's apt to be a fight."

"You mustn't go out there," she cried, aghast. "There will be bloodshed."

"That's just why I must go," said McNamara. "I'll come back in the morning, though, and I'd like to see you alone. Good night!" There was a strange, new light in his eyes as he left her. For one unversed in woman's ways he played the game surprisingly well, and as he hurried toward his office he smiled grimly into the darkness.

"She'll answer me tomorrow. Thank you, Mr. Glenister," he said to himself.

Helen questioned Struve at length, but gained nothing more than that secret service men had been at work for weeks and had today unearthed the fact that vigilantes had been formed. They had heard enough to make them think the mines would be jumped again tonight and so had given the alarm.

"Have you hired spies?" she asked incredulously.

"Sure. We had to. The other people shadowed us, and it's come to a point where it's life or death to one side or the other. I told McNamara we'd have bloodshed before we were through, when he first outlined the scheme—I mean when the trouble began."

She wrung her hands. "That's what uncle feared before we left Seattle. That's why I took the risks I did in bringing you those papers. I thought you got them in time to avoid all this."

Struve laughed a bit, eying her curiously.

"Does Uncle Arthur know about this?" she continued.

"No; we don't let him know anything more than necessary. He's not a strong man."

"Yes, yes. He's not well." Again the lawyer smiled. "Who is behind this vigilante movement?"

"We think it is Glenister and his New Mexican bandit partner. At least they got the crowd together." She was silent for a time.

"I suppose they really think they own those mines."

"Undoubtedly."

"But they don't, do they?" Somehow this question had recurred to her insistently of late, for things were constantly happening which showed there was more back of this great, fierce struggle than she knew. It was impossible that injustice had been done the mine owners, and yet scattered talk reached her which was puzzling. When she strove to follow it up, her acquaintances adroitly changed the subject. She was baffled on every side. The three local newspapers upheld the court. She read them carefully and was more at sea than ever. There was a disturbing undercurrent of alarm and unrest that caused her to feel insecure, as though standing on hollow ground.

"Yes, this whole disturbance is caused by those two. Only for them we'd be all right."

"Who is Miss Malotte?"

He answered promptly, "The handsomest woman in the north and the most dangerous."

"In what way? Who is she?"

"It's hard to say who or what she is. She's different from other women. She came to Dawson in the early days—just came—we didn't know how, whence or why, and we never found out. We woke up one morning, and there she was. By night we were all jealous, and in a week we were most of us driveling idiots. It might have been the mystery or perhaps the competition. That was the day when a dance hall girl could make a home stake in a winter or marry a millionaire in a month, but she never bothered. She toiled not, neither did she spin on the waxed floors, yet Solomon in all his glory would have looked like a tramp beside her."

"You say she is dangerous?"

"Well, there was a young nobleman, in the winter of '98, Dane, I think—fine family and all that—big yellow haired boy. He wanted to marry her, but a faro dealer shot him. Then there was Rock of the mounted police, the finest officer in the service. He was cashiered. She knew he was going to pot for her, but she didn't seem to care—and there were others. Yet, with it all, she is the most generous person and the most tender hearted. Why, she has fed every 'stew bum' on the Yukon, and there isn't a busted prospector in the country who wouldn't swear by her, for she has grubstaked dozens of them. I was horribly in love with her myself. Yes, she's dangerous all right—to everybody but Glenister."

"What do you mean."

"She had been across the Yukon to nurse a man with scurvy, and coming back she was caught in the spring breakup. I wasn't there, but it seems this Glenister got her ashore somehow when nobody else would tackle the job. They were carried five miles downstream in the ice pack before he succeeded."

"What happened then?"

"She fell in love with him, of course."

"And he worshiped her as madly as all the rest of you, I suppose," she said scornfully.

"That's the peculiar part. She hypnotised him at first, but he ran away, and I didn't hear of him again till I came to Nome. She followed him finally and last week evened up her score. She paid him back for saving her."

"I haven't heard about it."

He detailed the story of the gambling episode at the Northern saloon and concluded: "I'd like to have seen that turn, for they say the excitement was terrific. She was keeping cases and at the finish slammed her case keeper shut and declared the bet off because she had made a mistake. Of course they couldn't dispute her, and she stuck to it. One of the bystanders told me she lied, though."

"So, in addition to his other vices, Mr. Glenister is a reckless gambler, is he?" said Helen with heat. "I am proud to be indebted to such a character. Truly this country breeds wonderful species."

"There's where you're wrong," Struve chuckled. "He's never been known to bet before."

"Oh, I'm tired of these contradictions!" she cried angrily. "Saloons, gambling halls, scandals, adventuresses! Ugh! I hate it! I hate it! Why did I ever come here?"

"Those things are a part of every new country. They were about all we had till this year. But it is women like you that we fellows need, Miss Helen. You can help us a lot." She did not like the way he was looking at her and remembered that her uncle was upstairs and asleep.

"I must ask you to excuse me now, for it's late and I am very tired."

The clock showed half past 12, so, after letting him out, she extinguished the light and dragged herself wearily up to her room. She removed her outer garments and threw over her bare shoulders a negligee of many flounces and bewildering, clinging looseness. As she took down her heavy braids the story of Cherry Malotte returned to her tormentingly. So Glenister had saved her life also at the risk of his own. What a very gallant cavalier he was, to be sure! He should bear a coat of arms—a dragon, an armed knight and a fainting maiden. "I succor ladies in distress—handsome ones," should be the motto on his shield. "The handsomest woman in the north," Struve had said. She raised her eyes to the glass and made a mouth at the petulant, tired reflection there. She pictured Glenister leaping from floe to floe with the hungry river surging and snapping at his feet, while the cheers of the crowd on shore gave heart to the girl crouching out there. She could see him snatch her up and fight his way back to safety over the plunging ice cakes with death dragging at his heels. What a strong embrace he had! At this she blushed and realized with a shock that while she was mooning that very man might be fighting hand to hand in the darkness of a mountain gorge with the man she was going to marry.

A moment later some one mounted the front steps below and knocked sharply. Truly this was a night of alarms. Would people never cease coming? She was worn out, but at the thought of the tragedy abroad and the sick old man sleeping near by she lit a candle and slipped downstairs to avoid disturbing him. Doubtless it was some message from McNamara, she thought, as she unchained the door.

As she opened it she fell back amazed while it swung wide and the candle flame flickered and sputtered in the night air. Roy Glenister stood there, grim and determined, his soft, white [illegible] low, his trousers tucked into tan half boots, in his hand a Winchester rifle. Beneath his corduroy coat she saw a loose cartridge belt, yellow with shells, and the nickeled flash of a revolver. Without invitation he strode across the threshold, closing the door behind him.

"Miss Chester, you and the judge must dress quickly and come with me."

"I don't understand."

"The vigilantes are on their way here to hang him. Come with me to my house, where I can protect you."

She laid a trembling hand on her bosom, and the color died out of her face, then at a slight noise above they both looked up to see Judge Stillman leaning far over the banister. He had wrapped himself in a dressing gown and now gripped the rail convulsively, while his features were blanched to the color of putty and his eyes were wide with terror, though puffed and swollen from sleep. His lips moved in a vain endeavor to speak.

CHAPTER XV.

ON the morning after the episode in the Northern, Glenister awoke under a weight of discouragement and desolation. The past twenty-four hours with their manifold experiences seemed distant and unreal. At breakfast he was ashamed to tell Dextry of the gambling debauch, for he had dealt treacherously with the old man in risking half of the mine, even though they had checked the senseless, unreasoning lust for play that possessed him later. This lapse was the last stand of his old, untamed instincts. The embers of revolt in him were dead. He felt that he would never again lose mastery of himself, that his passions would never best him hereafter.

Dextry spoke. "We had a meeting of the 'Stranglers' last night." He always spoke of the vigilantes in that way, because of his early western training.

"What was done?"

"They decided to act quick and do any odd jobs of lynchin', claim jumpin' or such as needs doin'. There's a lot of law sharps and storekeepers in the bunch who figure McNamara's gang will wipe them off the map next."

"It was bound to come to this."

"They talked of ejectin' the receiver's men and puttin' all us fellers back on our mines."

"Good! How many can we count on to help us?"

"About sixty. We've kept the number down and only taken men with so much property that they'll have to keep their mouths shut."

"I wish we might engineer some kind of an encounter with the court crowd and create such an uproar that it would reach Washington. Everything else has failed, and our last chance seems to be for the government to step in—that is, unless Bill Wheaton can do something with the California courts."

"I don't count on him. McNamara don't care for California courts no more'n he would for a boy with a pea shooter—he's got too much pull at headquarters. If the 'Stranglers' don't do no good we'd better go in an' clean out the bunch like we was killin' snakes. If that fails I'm goin' out to the States an' be a doctor."

"A doctor! What for?"

"I read somewhere that in the United States every year there is 40,000,000 gallons of whisky used for medical purposes."

Glenister laughed. "Speaking of whisky, Dex, I notice that you've been drinking pretty hard of late—that is, hard for you."

The old man shook his head. "You're mistaken. It ain't hard for me."

"Well, hard or easy, you'd better cut it out."

It was some time later that one of the detectives employed by the Swedes met Glenister on Front street and by an almost imperceptible sign signified his desire to speak with him. When they were alone he said:

"You've been shadowed."

"I've known that for a long time."

"The district attorney has put on some new men. I've fixed the woman who rooms next to him, and through her I've got a line on some of them, but I haven't spotted them all. They're bad ones, 'up river' men mostly, remnants of Soapy Smith's Skagway gang. They won't stop at anything."

"Thank you. I'll keep my eyes open."

A few nights after Glenister had reason to recall the words of the sleuth and to realize that the game was growing close and desperate. To reach his cabin, which sat on the outskirts of the town, he ordinarily followed one of the plank walks which wound through the confusion of tents, warehouses and cottages lying back of the two principal streets along the water front. This part of the city was not laid out in rectangular blocks, for in the early rush the first comers had seized whatever pieces of ground they found vacant and erected thereon some kind of buildings to make good their titles. There resulted a formless jumble of huts, cabins and sheds, penetrated by no cross streets and quite unlighted. At night one leaving the illuminated portion of the town found this darkness intensified.

Glenister knew his course so well that he could have walked it blindfolded. Nearing a corner of the warehouse this evening he remembered that the planking at this point was torn up, so to avoid the mud he leaped lightly across. Simultaneously with his jump he detected a movement in the shadows that banked the wall at his elbow and saw the flaming spurt of a revolver shot. The man had crouched behind the building and was so close that it seemed impossible to miss. Glenister fell heavily upon his side, and the thought flashed over him, "McNamara's thugs have shot me."

His assailant leaped out from his hiding place and ran down the walk, the sound of his quick, soft footfalls thudding faintly out into the silence. The young man felt no pain, however, so scrambled to his feet, felt himself over with care and then swore roundly. He was untouched. The other had missed him cleanly. The report, coming while he was in the act of leaping, had startled him so that he had lost his balance, slipped upon the wet boards and fallen. His assailant was lost in the darkness before he could rise. Pursuit was out of the question, so he continued homeward, considerably shaken, and related the incident to Dextry.

"You think it was some of McNamara's work, eh?" Dextry inquired when he had finished.

"Of course. Didn't the detective warn me today?"

Dextry shook his head. "It don't seem like the game is that far along yet. The time is coming when we'll go to the mat with them people, but they've got the sign on us now, so what could they gain by putting you away? I don't believe it's them, but whoever it is you'd better be careful or you'll be got."

"Suppose we come home together after this," Roy suggested, and they arranged to do so, realizing that danger lurked in the dark corners and that it was in some such lonely spot that the deed would be tried again. They experienced no trouble for a time, though on nearing their cabin one night the younger man fancied that he saw a shadow glide away from its vicinity and out into the blackness of the tundra as though some one had stood at his very door waiting for him, then became frightened at the two figures approaching. Dextry had not observed it, however, and Glenister was not positive himself, but it served to give him the uncanny feeling that some determined, unscrupulous force was bent on his destruction. He determined to go nowhere unarmed.

A few evenings later he went home early and was busied in writing when Dextry came in about 10 o'clock. The old miner hung up his coat before speaking, lit a cigarette, inhaled deeply, then, amid mouthfuls of smoke, began:

"I had my own toes over the edge tonight. I was mistook for yen, which compliment I don't aim to have repeated."

Glenister questioned him eagerly.

"We're about the same height, an' these hats of ours are alike. Just as I came by that lumber pile down yonder a man hopped ont an' throwed a 'gat' under my nose. He was quicker than light and near blowed my skelp into the next block before he saw who I was. Then he dropped his weepon and said:

"'My mistake. Go on.' I accepted his apology."

"Could you see who he was?"

"Sure! Guess."

"I can't."

"It was Bronco Kid."

"Lord!" ejaculated Glenister. "Do you think he's after me?"

"He ain't after nobody else, an' take my word for it, it's got nothin' to do with McNamara nor that gamblin' row. He's too game for that. There's some other reason."

This was the first mention Dextry had made of the night at the Northern.

"I don't know why he should have it in for me. I never did him any favors," Glenister remarked cynically.

"Well, you watch out anyhow. I'd sooner face McNamara an' all the crooks he can hire than that gambler."

During the next few days Roy undertook to meet the proprietor of the Northern face to face, but the Kid had vanished completely from his haunts. He was not in his gambling hall at night nor on the street by day. The young man was still looking for him on the evening of the dance at the hotel when he chanced to meet one of the vigilantes, who inquired of him:

"Aren't you late for the meeting?"

"What meeting?"

After seeing that they were alone the other stated:

"There's an assembly tonight at 11 o'clock. Something important, I think. I supposed, of course, you knew about it."

"It's strange I wasn't notified," said Roy. "It's probably an oversight. I'll go along with you."

Together they crossed the river to the less frequented part of the town and knocked at the door of a large unlighted warehouse, flanked by a high board fence. The building faced the street, but was inclosed on the other three sides by this ten foot wall, inside of which were stored large quantities of coal and lumber. After some delay they were admitted and passing down through the dim lit, high banked lanes of merchandise came to the rear room, where they were admitted again. This compartment had been fitted up for the warm storage of perishable goods during the cold weather and, being without windows, made an ideal place for clandestine gatherings.

Glenister was astonished to find every man of the organization present, including Dextry, whom he supposed to have gone home an hour since. Evidently a discussion had been in progress, for a chairman was presiding, and the boxes, kegs and bales of goods had been shoved back against the walls for seats. On these were ranged the threescore men of the "Stranglers," their serious faces lighted imperfectly by scattered lanterns. A certain constraint seized them upon Glenister's entrance. The chairman was embarrassed. It was but momentary, however. Glenister himself felt that tragedy was in the air, for it showed in the men's attitude and spoke eloquently from their strained faces. He was about to question the man next to him when the presiding officer continued:

"We will assemble here quietly with our arms at 1 o'clock. And let me caution you again not to talk or do anything to scare the birds away."

POULTRY NEWS OF INTEREST

Chicks Being Rounded Out—The Food Should be Suitable for Strong Feather Growth.

PLAN FOR THE WINTER

From The Canadian Dairyman.

The early chicks are now being rounded off, and showing what they will be at maturity. It is important that the feed be suitable for a strong feather growth. No stage of a chick's life makes a greater demand on its vitality, and many promising chicks reach only a moderate size because they were unassisted in the feathering process. Had they had an abundance of the proper food, they would have at least stood a chance of making a larger development. Chicks with free range, can generally secure enough animal food in the shape of insects and bugs, to bring them successfully through this season.

It often happens that the garden or some adjacent crop comes within their range, and it is desired to keep them out of it for a while. The chicks are yarded up in close quarters and the bug crop is insufficient. At the same time the supply of green food soon becomes exhausted, or too foul for food. This is still another drawback. A wire netting fence around the garden is the best remedy. Then the birds can have their liberty. Failing this, it should be seen to that meat is given regularly in some form. A little beef scraps, from a poultry supply house is the cleanest way to feed meat in hot weather, and it will pay for the investment; but any meat that is convenient is better than nothing. Some who have bone mills can provide feed with it. Others can procure it fresh two or three times a week from their butcher. Others use the entire plucks of beef or hogs, first boiling, and then letting the birds pick the cooked meat off the nail that secures it to the wall within reach. Others again get the heads from slaughter houses and let the chicks pick them clean without cooking. But as stated before, any way that is handiest will answer the purpose.

For green foods, beets or mangels, tops and all, are good. The cabbage stalks from which the cabbage have been cut will answer. The birds will eat also a lot of the refuse from the house, such as potato or other vegetable peelings. If the chicks are being fed on the dry mash system, a little linseed meal mixed in at this time is also a help to feathering quickly and properly.

During August we are likely to have some hot weather occasionally, and the late chicks need shade to keep them from getting sunburned, a most undesirable thing, and a great hindrance to growth. The hot weather is a thirsty time, don't forget that, and if possible fill the water pans or fountains two or three times daily. Every little helps, and it's the little drawbacks that are oftenest neglected, and that have disastrous effects.

Don't let the vermin that multiplies so rapidly get ahead of you. Give the poultry house a coat of good hot whitewash made from fresh lime, and with some crude carbolic acid added. Apply it if possible with a spray, using all the force possible to get it into the cracks.

If you are contemplating keeping a larger number of layers than last season, during the coming winter, it is time to be planning extended winter quarters. Be prepared in good time and avoid over-crowding in the fall, which means uncomfortable heated nights and colds developed in the chilly mornings, leading to roup, the most dreaded enemy of the poultryman.

SENT TO THE ROCKIES FOR HEALTH, RETURNED HOME TO DIE

The following should inspire every one who is discouraged on account of continued ill health to give Psychine, THE GREATEST OF TONICS, a trial before giving up hope even though physician and friends think and say your case is hopeless. Mr. Alex McKay, of Sault Ste Marie, says:—"I was failing every day and had to quit work. I lost 46 lbs. in a short time and was advised to go to the Rockies or the Coast. I tried them both with considerable expense but I got worse instead of better. All hope seemed to leave me and I decided to come home to die. I tried Psychine and since starting its use I have gained from 119 to 141 pounds. I am now a well man and I cannot say too much in praise of Psychine. The strongest recommendation would be weak in view of the fact that I believe it has saved my life. It is without doubt the best remedy for run-down conditions and weak lungs. I sincerely hope that you will continue your good work of saving run-down people and consumptive from the grave."

Psychine improves the appetite and generally tones up the system. We would like every family to try it FREE (see coupon).

Lager Purity

To make a Beer like O'Keefe's Pilsener after the celebrated German Pilsen formula, purity is not only desirable, but absolutely necessary.

O'KEEFE'S PILSENER LAGER

is brewed only from the best barley malt, choicest hops, and absolutely chemically pure water. The water is filtered before brewing, and the beer filtered before bottling and afterwards pasteurized in the bottles. Mild and delightful, always pure and healthful.

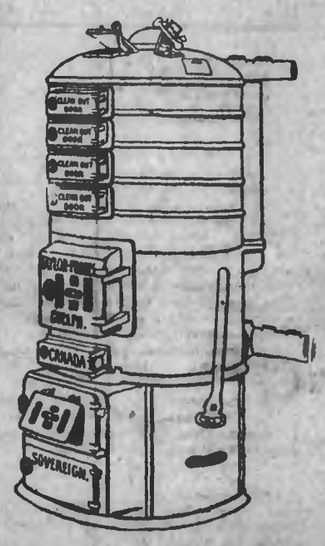
Are you going to burn
TOO MUCH COAL ?
again this winter



The "SOVEREIGN" is built in a variety of styles and sizes. The high cellar type has a sifting grate and five boiler sections. The low cellar type has a low base and four boiler sections. Every design has individual clean-out doors, clinker door, interior air vent (to insure uniformity of circulation), patent top damper, and a larger first section, which makes the "SOVEREIGN" responsive to every pound of coal burned and causes the hot water to circulate into the radiators as soon as the fire is well started.

THE ONE-THIRD LESS COAL
"SOVEREIGN" HOT WATER BOILER . . .

Put a "SOVEREIGN" in your house. No other boiler has the coal-saving improvement:—"The Larger First Section." Do not be persuaded that all hot water boilers are the same. The "SOVEREIGN" is different in the most vital part of boiler construction.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, marked on the envelope, 'Tender for Construction,' will be received at the office of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway, at Ottawa, until twelve o'clock noon of Thursday, the 20th day of August, 1908, for the work required for the construction, in accordance with the plans, profiles and specifications of the Commissioners, of the following sections of the Transcontinental Railway, viz:—

(1) District 'C'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners near Weymontachene, in the of the north abutment of the Quebec Province of Quebec, 126.22 miles west bridge (such point being on the boundary between Districts 'C' and 'D'), westerly for a distance of about 107 miles. Date of completion, 31st December, 1910.

(2) District 'C'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, about 107 miles west of Weymontachene, in the Province of Quebec westerly to the end of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company's contract, a distance of about 114.97 miles. Date of completion, 31st December, 1910.

(3) Districts 'D' and 'E'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, being at the western end of Fauquier Bros'. Abitibi contract in the Province of Ontario, in a westerly direction for a distance of about 104.34 miles. Date of completion, 31s December, 1910.

(4) District 'E'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, about sixty miles west of the easterly boundary of District 'E,' in the Province of Ontario, eastwardly to the end of Fauquier Bros.' contract, north of Lake Nepigon, a distance of about 10 miles. Date of completion, 31st Decem ber, 1910.

(5) Districts 'E' and 'F'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners, at the western end of Fauquier Bros.' contract north of Lake Nepigon, in the Province of Ontario westerly to a point at or near Dog Lake, a distance of about 136 miles. Date of completion, 1st September 1910.

(6) District 'F'—From a point designated on the plans of the Commissioners at or near Dog Lake, in the Province of Ontario, to a point at or about mile 2.6 west of what is known as Peninsula Crossing, by alternative routes as shown on the plans, a distance of about 23.76 miles by the northerly route, and 24.13 miles by the southerly route, the selection of the route to be at the option of the Commissioners. Date of completion, 1s September, 1908.

Plans, profiles and specifications may be seen at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Commissioners at Ottawa; also in the offices of the following District Engineers, viz.:—John Aylen, Acting District Engineer, North Bay, Ont.; T. S. Armstrong, Nepigon Ont.; and S. R. Poulin, St. Boniface Man.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made in duplicate, and on the printed forms supplied by the Commissioners

Tenderers shall not be in any way entitled to rely upon the classification or any other information given by any person on behalf of the Commissioners and before submitting any tender bidders should make a careful examination of the plans, profiles, drawings and specifications, and read the form to be executed, and fully inform themselves as to the quantity and quality of materials, and character of workmanship required; and are understood to accept and agree to be bound by the terms and conditions in the form of contract, specifications, etc., annexed to the form of tender.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank of the Dominion of Canada, payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway, as follows:—

For Sec. No. 1,	District 'C'	...	$150,000
" " 2,	" C"	...	150,000
" " 3,	" D' & E'	...	150,000
" " 4,	" E'	...	150,000
" " 5,	" E' & F'	...	300,000
" " 6,	" F'	...	150,000

Any person whose tender is accepted shall within ten days after the acceptance thereof furnish such additional approved security as may be required by the Commissioners; sign the contract, specifications, and other documents required to be signed by the said Commissioners; and, in any case of refusal or failure on the part of the party whose tender is accepted to complete and execute a contract with the said Commissioners, and to furnish the additional approved security within ten days after the acceptance of the tender, the said cheque shall be forfeited to the Commissioners as liquidated damages for such refusal or failure and all contract rights acquired by the acceptance of the tender shall be forfeited. The cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General of Canada as part of the security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms. Cheques deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

Attention is called to the following clauses in the form of contract:—

'All mechanics, labourers, or other persons who perform labour for the purposes of the construction of the works hereby contracted for, shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the district in which the work is being performed, if there is no current rate in such district, then a fair and reasonable rate, it shall be determined by the Commissioners, whose decision shall be final.'

'This agreement is subject to the regulations now in force, or which may at any time hereafter be in force during the construction of the works hereby contracted for, made under the authority of the Department of Labour and which are, or shall be, applicable to such works.' (The schedule of minimum wages determined upon by said Department will form part of the contract).

'The contractor shall in connection with the whole of the said works, as far as practicable, use only material machinery, plant, supplies and rolling stock manufactured or produced in Canada, provided the same can be obtained as cheaply, and upon such good terms, in Canada as elsewhere, having regard to quality and price.'

'The contractor shall conform to the fire regulations adopted by the Commissioners, and also to the laws and regulations respecting fires in the different provinces wherein the work is being performed.

By order,

P. B. RYAN,
Secretary.

Influence Of The Farmer On Prosperity Of Country

Is the Real Backbone of the Country—Industries Depend on the Condition of the Farmers—Crop Not up to Average.

THE MONEY-MAKERS

From The Canadian Dairyman.

A fine tribute to the influence of the farmers upon the prosperity of the country, has been drawn out by the recent set back upon the prosperity of the country, whereby several financial institutions have been experiencing hard times.

To relieve the depression, to whom do all eyes turn? Certainly not to the speculator, the boomster, or the gambler, nor yet to the manufactories and other industries, great as they are. All eyes turn to the farmer. Of late, all eyes have been turned in the direction of the coming crops. Probably with a view of "whistling to keep their courage up" as it were, or to inspire confidence, papers have been dealing out enthusiastic crop reports all summer. Even before the grain was in the ground in the North-West we read of fine reports of great crop promise, etc. Here in Ontario for some reason papers have been publishing crop reports that would seem rather over-drawn. But, probably all crops look alike to the inexperienced crop reporters that have been writing things up.

While there is no great shortage of crops throughout Ontario, yet on the whole crops must be considered rather below the average. Hay may be considered from one-half to two-thirds of a crop. On account of the scarcity of help much of it was cut very late. Fall wheat where grown has been a pretty good crop. The acreage has not been as large as in former years, as farmers recognize that they cannot compete with the North-west in growing wheat. Oats have been sown over a greater area than in former years, but as far as the writer has travelled they are a very indifferent crop. They came out in head when only eight or ten inches or a foot high. The rains have helped the growth lately, but when the straw is so short the yield is likely to be short too. The oats will probably be heavier per bushel than last year as the blight does not seem to have affected them.

Barley is also an indifferent crop from medium to poor. Owing to the peculiar state of the weather it did not do well in the earlier part of the season. Corn, of which an increased quantity is grown yearly, mostly for silos, will probably make up to a very good crop. Where it got an early start it is excellent, but there are many fields that had to be sown a second time. This was due either to poor seed or the unfavorable condition of the ground. The wet weather at planting time delayed planting on heavier land so that some crops got a late start. Since, we have had fine rains and very warm weather—ideal corn weather—so that the growth will be large and very rapid. The rains of late will be of more benefit to the corn and roots than to the grain crops.

However it is not on grain crops alone that many farmers depend for their revenue. They look to the dairy to supply much of it. The heavy rains recently which were both copious and long continued have thoroughly soaked the ground. While being bad for wheat, making it sprout in the stooks, it has been great for the pastures. Not only will the second crop of clover get a fine growth, but even the old pastures that were getting very dry have been freshened up and they have made a growth of late like that of spring. The cows instead of shrinking day by day have not only held their own but have increased in their milk supply. Even a pound or so of milk a day from all the cows in the dairy districts totals an immense amount. This year, we may look for a fairly large yield of milk. As the market has been kept fairly well cleaned up, fairly good prices will likely rule for all dairy produce. This means a great deal for the dairy farmer. He stands to make more out of a large flow of milk, with fair prices for his produce, when the same milk is made out of cheap food like grass and not out of the more expensive mill-feeds, than he would out of a smaller quantity of milk for which he might get a slightly better price, but would have to provide much more supplementary feed.

Cows will likely be in better condition through the latter part of the season and the fall because of the good pastures. Usually they have to rustle pretty much for themselves during August. The farmers are busy gathering the crops during this month and too often the cows are neglected and not fed supplementary feed. Now however, with pastures so good, even if the farmer is busy the cows can help themselves, and we may look for a favorable year for the dairy business from now on.

The revenue from hogs will not be so large this year. The comparatively low prices received for hogs and the high price which had to be paid for feed has discouraged many in the business. As we are now likely to have a shortage of feeding grains again it is just as well that hogs are not too numerous because hog feed is not likely to be very plentiful. Many would have to depend on mill feed, which is very indifferent and of uncertain quality. With the shortage of oats and barley, stock breeders will have to depend more on mill feed.

DANGEROUS OPIATES

Most of the liquid medicines advertised to cure stomach and bowel troubles and summer complaints contain opiates and are dangerous. When the mother gives Baby's Own Tablets to her little ones she has the guarantee of a government analyst that this medicine contains no opiate or narcotic. And she has the assurance that no other medicine will so speedily cure stomach and bowel troubles, if they come unexpectedly. Give the well child an occasional dose of these tablets and they will prevent sickness by clearing the stomach and bowels of offending matter. Mrs. Wilbert Bone, Carrville, Ont., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for stomach and bowel troubles and know of no other medicine so satisfactory." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

REOPENING OF THE KEENE PUBLIC SCHOOL

Examiner Special

Keene, Aug. 12.—Miss Norah Reason, Peterborough, is the guest of Mrs. John Dickson, Drummond's Station.

Mr. J. Ryan, Peterborough, spent Civic Holiday at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. Edward Foley.

Mr. Michael Hatrick, a former resident of Otonabee, now of Seattle, U. S. A., is revisiting Otonabee, after an absence of nineteen years.

Mr. Andrew Cameron, Peterborough, was in Otonabee on Tuesday on business.

Mr. John Campbell, Montreal, is the guest of Mr. James McNeil.

Miss Soucie, Toronto, is visiting friends at the "Island."

Keene Public School re-opens Monday, August 17th. Both the former teachers, Mr. S. Smithson and Miss Margaret Miller have been re-engaged for the coming term.

If the weather keeps dry most farmers in this vicinity should finish their harvest this week.

Miss Bessie Read, accompanied by her nieces, Misses Kathleen Powel and Nellie Read, returned Monday from visiting relatives in Brockville and Prescott.

Mr. Harry De Lany and party from from Cobourg, are at Mr. De Lany's cottage at Sea Breeze.

Miss Sarah Thompson, Belleville, is the guest of Mrs. R. H. Campbell.

Mr. Walter Wood, Peterborough, spent Civic Holiday in the village.

Miss Clara Roach, Peterborough, is spending her holidays in Keene.

Rev. Mr. Perrin, Wroxeter, preached in the Presbyterian Church last Sunday, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. D. D. McDonald.

An excursion will be run to Idyl Wyld, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Christian Endeavour Society, Thursday afternoon, August 13th.

A large number of young men from their own consciences and their God's farm labourers' excursion.

Mr. W. D. Campbell, Peterborough was the guest of Mr. James McNeil Monday.

Miss Kate Haslitt is the guest of Mrs. Walter Thompson.

Dr. and Mrs. V. H. McWilliams are spending the week in Toronto.

Rev. W. D. Harrison and Mrs. Harrison left Tuesday to spend their holidays in Prince Edward County.

Rev. Dr. Workman, Montreal, will conduct services at Bethel Church next Sunday, August 16th, and will preach in Keene Sunday evening, August 23rd. Mr. Dunkley, Classical Master Hamilton Collegiate Institute, will preach in Keene and Zion next Sunday and on the 23rd will conduct the regular service at Zion and Bethel, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. W. D. Harrison.

Miss Mary Kent is the guest of Miss Bella McFarlane.

A party of Peterborough people, consisting of Mrs. J. Mein, Miss Jessie Mein, and Messrs. W. J. Mein, Robt. Mein and John Mein, spent Civic Holiday with relatives in Otonabee.

The lawn social held under the auspices of the Zion Methodist Church on W. W. Dickson's lawn, was a great success.

The Peterborough Salvation Army Band rendered a fine programme of instrumental music, which was much appreciated.

The attendance was large and the receipts corresponded, being over $67.

A pleasant feature of the evening's entertainment was the presentation to Mr. Dickson of an oak writing desk, and to Mrs. Dickson of a beautiful fruit dish, set in a silver frame.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickson having been called to the front, the following address was read:

To Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Dickson:

The friends of Zion appointment on the Keene Circuit, have not been unmindful of the years of faithful service which you have rendered in various departments of church and Sunday school work. But more especially in connection with the musical part of the service.

So accustomed have we become to seeing your faces in the choir and having your voices leading in the service of praise that it is with great reluctance we consent to your withdrawing even for a time, from the responsibilities you have so ably borne in our choir work.

However, we confidently expect that they young people, who have had in addition to other advantages, the benefit of your training and faithful example, will acquit themselves so creditably that in due time they also will receive the commendation of their fellow-worshippers. this vicinity intend going west on the

As a congregation we were not willing that this evening should pass until we had expressed to you both our gratitude for your faithful service. We also desire you to accept these gifts that in the use of them you may be reminded from time to time of the warm place you hold in the esteem of your friends.

Signed on behalf of the congregations

REV. W. D. HARRISON,
Pastor.

Graystock, Aug. 5th, 1908.

Mr. Dickson, on behalf of himself and wife, made a very appropriate reply, expressing their appreciation of the manifested esteem and sympathy of their friends, and their full purpose to give all the assistance they can to the work of God while life and strength shall last.

CHANGES IN HAY WHILE CURING

Fermentation Caused by Bacterial Activity in the Interior of Mass of Hay.

From The Canadian Dairyman.

Hay as ordinarily cured and stored in the barn always undergoes a curing or sweating, which is a fermentation caused by bacterial activity in the interior of the mass of hay, and if moist enough a mold growth in the surface. The bacterial activity is caused by the increase in numbers of the germs present on the grass when cut in the field. Twenty-eight tests have been made of the numbers of bacteria contained on a gram of each sample of hay. The tests were made weekly from October 17 to May 21st, and from all parts of the hayloft, including timothy, redtop, rowen, semi-swale and swamp hay. The average number of bacteria per gram for all these tests was 15,800,000. In order to compare the number of organisms on hay and on grass from early spring to time of cutting, tests were made of the numbers on grass in the different stages of development.

The sources of grass were pasture land, semi-fertile fields, and very fertile fields and near buildings. Clover and rye were incidentally included. The average number of bacteria per gram for all samples was 15,000,000, a number nearly the same as that found in cured hay. In comparing the numbers of bacteria on hay and on grass, account must be taken of the amount of water lost in the drying and curing of hay. The amount of water dried out of hay was found to be about sixty-seven per cent., which is approximately two-thirds. A gram of hay is equivalent to three grams of grass, in respect to the numbers of bacteria. When corrections are made for this factor, it is found that cured hay has about one-third as many bacteria as grass in the field. Hay cured the best has the fewest bacteria. As the time in storage increases, the number of bacteria decreases. The varieties on the hay when stored largely disappear and only a few varieties grow and increase. In curing of hay in storage the miscellaneous acid bacteria double in numbers, while the liquefiers decrease about one-third. Only one sample of hay had Bacterium lactisacidi present, and this was considered to be a chance contamination. From the investigations the conclusion is drawn that hay is not a source of this organism.

The enormous numbers of bacteria per gram of hay, which is only one twenty-eight of an ounce, makes it the abundant source of bacteria that get into milk. The myriads of organisms free in the air myriads of organisms which settle in a few hours to be again raised into the air by walking over the floor or by winds and draughts of air. Large numbers of bacteria from hay and hay dust settle on the cow, which fill in among the hair, to be rattled down during milking into the milk pail.—Storrs Bulletin No. 51.

One Child Cured of Summer Complaint and Six Cured of Cramps by Half a Bottle of DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY.

Mrs. Wm. Flewelling, Arthur, Ont., says: "I find it much pleasure to recommend DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY as a grand cure for Summer Complaint. My little boy, one year old, was very bad with it, and a few doses cured him. I also used it on my other six children for cramps, and still have half the bottle left. I cannot praise it too much."

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY is the greatest of all cures for all bowel complaints such as Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Summer Complaint, etc.

Beware of imitations and substitutes sold by the unscrupulous dealer for the sake of greater profits. They are dangerous to your health.

It is manufactured by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. See that the name appears on the wrapper. Price 35 cents.

The Type of Perfection.

Perfection does not mean any extraordinary service. By perfect we mean that which has no flaws in it. In pianos, perfection is reached in the famous New Scale Williams Piano—the favorite in Canadian homes. 2

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans—

1—At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

2—If the father, (or mother, if the father is deceased,) of the homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

3—If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Six months' notice in writing should be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WES

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, the the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situated.

Homestead Duties—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans.—

1—At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

2—If the father, (or mother, if the father is deceased,) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such persons as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

3—If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent, or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Supplying Coal for the Dominion Buildings," will be received at this office until 4.30 P. M. on Monday, August 24, 1908 for the supply of Coal for the Public Buildings throughout the Dominion.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application at this office.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the order of the Honourable Minister of Public Works equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

That the head of the house can own is a good insurance policy on his own Life. It assures the protection of his wife and children in case of his sudden demise—and the healthiest of us never knows when the end may come. We can afford families this protection by offering attractive terms in the Life Insurance at the lowest rates—such as are hardly felt by the thrifty.

Some one has said, "the true value of a life insurance policy must be gauged by the Security of the protection given; if it proves to be a good investment, all the better when both are shown, there is nothing on earth to equal it." The security of the protection afforded by the Sun Life of Canada needs no payment and the profits paid—let the figures within tell their own forceful story.

The Brutal British Sport Known As "Otter Worrying"

Scathing Condemnation of Cruel Game Which is Described as Worse Than Bull Fighting—Men, Women and Dogs Worry the Beautiful Little Animal to Death.

A GRAPHIC ACCOUNT GIVEN

A recent issue of the over-seas edition of the London Daily Mail contains an interesting article on "Otter-Worrying," contributed by Col. W. L. B. Coulson. It is a sport which is apparently a favourite in England, but the author says that bull-fighting is not more cruel. The writer says, "as long as we continue to treat any animals as we do hares and otters, the less we say about British courage and superiority over the Spaniard the better."

The otter-worry is peculiarly odious and cruel because it is as a rule a very prolonged affair. Though the spear is, happily, done away with, poles remain, and prodding is freely indulged in. The plucky little creature is too often subjected to an amount of cowardly persecution, accompanied by an almost inconceivable lack of ordinary chivalry. Those engaged in the ghastly revel seem to become virtually maddened by it. Language fails to convey properly to the mind the awful inhumanity that far too often is present at the final scene.

How The "Fun" Started

The following graphic account, written by an eye-witness, may help to bring out the true nature of the inseparate cowardice and savagery that too often mark the end of the poor, intelligent, and, in many respects, useful otter:

"We had," writes this gentleman, "found an otter in the morning, and, it was supposed that it had taken refuge in the 'clutter' of rocks above the pool. Accordingly, men with long spiked poles, aided by terriers, are endeavouring to dislodge it. Suddenly another otter, much larger than the one we had been hunting, emerges from this retreat and dashes into the water. Instantly the pool is surrounded by excited hunters. A man stands at the adit-head, blocking the way of escape. The water is alive with swimming hounds, while others stand baying on the banks. I catch sight of a small dark face and large brown eyes, for one moment above the surface of the pool. Again and again at ever-shortening intervals I see that face appear and disappear. I can never forget it — that wild, scared face, and the terror of those hunted eyes! There is no possibility of escape. Hounds and 'sportsmen'—yes, and 'sportswomen,' too—surround the pool, and the only exit is effectually guarded.

The End of the Otter

"Only one thought possessed me—that of sickening compassion for this poor, beautiful, hunted creature. Men, and, good heavens! women, too, seem frenzied with the desire to kill. No thought of pity seems to dawn upon their minds. So at length, amid yelling men and baying hounds, the wretched 'beast of the chase' is forced, for dear life's sake, to try the desperate shift of taking to the land. Vain hope, indeed. Scarce twenty yards of flight, and hounds roll her over. What a lesson for the young! Thus is the rising generation taught to be gentle and compassionate, and to love 'all things, both great and small.'"

Women In The Game

Not very long ago a gamekeeper, a man not likely to be particularly squeamish in 'sport,' told me that he had left a worry in disgust owing to the disgraceful way in which an otter, a young one, had been treated. The little animal had taken refuge in a pool. The streams above and below were blocked with waders, ready with their poles to prevent its escape. The poor creature was then "tailed" by the master, tossed up and down the stream at the head of the pool seven or eight times, the hounds aided by the people—many of whom were, alas! women — bullying and worrying it. The master finally carried it some distance away, from the stream, and, amid yells and shouts of a multitude maddened by bloodlust, threw the defenceless little creature on the ground, to be finally worried by the pack.

Scenes of a similar character to the two described are not rare. They are perpetually occurring, yet the otter-worry is ranked as a legitimate recreation in this, our boasted and religious and civilized country! Old and young; men and women; girls and boys; ministers of religion, with their wives and children, join in these horrible orgies. Seldom do we hear from the pulpit any protest against acts of cowardice and cruelty that would shame savages. What humbugs we are! How inexpressibly sad is the contrast between our theories and our practices!

ALLEGED BLIND PIG RAIDED ON SUNDAY BY THE INSPECTOR; MANY BOTTLES OF LAGER FOUND

A raid made by License Inspector Stewart and P. C Meharry on Sunday morning last upon what is alleged to be a "blind pig" was the cause d'etre of a case which occupied Magistrate Dumble for the greater part of the afternoon. A North Monaghan man was charged with dealing in liquor without a license. The defendant keeps a small refreshment stand near the river and it was this place that was raided.

Mr. W. H. Moore, K. C., conducted the prosecution while Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the defendant. After a long session judgement was reserved until September 1.

The license inspector testified to having visited the premises of the defendant on Sunday morning in company with P. C. Meharry and finding there eight bottles of lager in pail packed with ice, twenty more bottles in a hole in the ground. The bottles were produced in court and the rail birds had some amusement when the inspector was ordered by the Magistrate to open one of the bottles for test purposes. Both the Magistrate and the Inspector tasted the contents and pronounced it lager. P. C. Meharry corroborated the evidence of the inspector in regard to the finding of liquor upon the premises of the defendant.

A driver of the Calcutt Brewing and Malting Company testified that he delivered ten cases of lager to the defendant on August 4th.

Mr. Jas. Drain, secretary of the same company was called and produced the sales ledger which showed that ten cases had been supplied the defendant on August 1st and a similar number on August 4th.

For the defence a young man testified that he had rented a boat from the defendant on August 3 and had on addition given him $1.40 asking him to get a case of lager for him and have it on ice for the following Sunday.

The defendant said that he regularly secured liquor for parties who were going down the river on Sunday and who paid him in advance to obtain the lager for them. When pressed by the prosecution to tell the names of the people who had used him as their agent to procure lager for them, the witness declined to give them but would be write them on paper so that the Magistrate could see them.

At the request of Mr. Gordon the case was laid over until September 1. The counsel for the defence had several brushes with the Magistrate and refused to allow one of the witnesses for the defence to sign his deposition until a change had been made in it. He argued that the case should be dismissed contending that a satisfactory explanation had been made of the procuring of so large a quantity of lager by the defendant.

NEGLECTED LITTLE ONES WHO NEED HOMES

A group of little children at the Shelter of the Children's Aid Society at Peterborough. The little girl at the extreme left, and the boy and girl standing behind her, have been fortunate enough to secure good homes recently with Christian families in the vicinity of the city. The other four little ones are still inmates of the Shelter, waiting to be placed likewise. Who amongst our readers can find a place in their homes for the other children?

DEMANDED TICKET FOR THE WEST OR BE PROVIDED FOR DURING THE COMING WINTER

Mr F W Miller Water Street, in his position of relief officer meets with all classes of people, but for "pure unadulterated nerve" a recent occurrence carries off the palm. A man and his wife called at Mr. Miller's store and informed him that he wanted to go out west. There was nothing unusual about that, but when he asked for two tickets at the city's expense, there was something glimmy about that. Mr. Miller did not tell the man what he thought of him but simply told him that his request was absurd.

"Well" the man replied, "you might as well send us out west as keep us all winter."

The impudence of this reply angered Mr. Miller. He told the fellow that the city did not provide for men in his position, nor did they intend to do so. A man should at least be able to keep a wife. The city would not encourage that sort of thing. The stranger after further impressioning was informed that if he wanted to go west and had no ticket the walking was very good. The advice was gratis and that was all Mr Miller could spare him. As a parting shot he added that he would be very much disappointed if he expected to be fed during the winter.

Not long ago the Relief Officer received a similar request. Evidently there are some people who took up ch' Mr. Miller as a Santa Claus.

New Machine 'Phones Soon To Be Installed In City Of Peterboro'

Desk Machines Will Prevail—Now Being Constructed in Toronto —Noises All Done Away With —A Great Convenience.

THE LATEST IMPROVEMENTS

The Machine Telephone Company experts in the near future to install the new 'phones in Peterborough, which operate with a lever instead of by the twisting apparatus on the front. The machines are now being constructed at the Toronto shops where some 65 men are rushing the work. As soon as completed, the present machines will be removed and the new ones installed. They are said to be much simpler and more rapid than the present ones. The mechanism works by the moving of the lever, but the noise in getting the number is practically all eliminated. Desk 'phones will be placed wherever possible.

Stoney Lake Navigation Company Claims $300 For Damages To Scow Near Young's Point on July 27th.

BARGE BROKEN IN COLLISION

An action for damages has been opened by the Stoney Lake Navigation Co. against the Otonabee Navigation Co. The amount of money involved is $300, which the former claim to be the extent of the damages.

On July 27 the steamer Otonabee went up the canal to the northern lakes, and above Young's Point ran into a large scow belonging to the Stoney Lake Navigation Co. The barge was damaged considerably, and as a result an action for $300 damages has been entered. Messrs. O'Connell & Gordon are solicitors for Mr. P P Young in the suit.

TEACHERS APPOINTED TO TEACH THE NEW SUBJECTS

At a meeting of the Board of Education last night four new teachers were appointed to teach Domestic Science, Manual Training, Art and Music.

Those chosen were as follows:

For Manual Training — Mr. A. W. Scarrow, of Owen Sound, at $1,200 per annum.

For Domestic Science — Miss E. Steinhoff, Stratford, at $900 per annum.

A popular idea used to prevail that all teas were pretty much alike, but "Salada" Tea is proving a pleasant surprise to thousands of particular tea-drinkers. Sold by grocers everywhere. 59

Consecration Of St. Martin's Cemetery In Ennismore

On Sunday last, His Lordship Bishop O'Connor solemnly consecrated the new cemetery, for St. Martin's congregation, Ennismore. The grounds were in excellent condition, dry, high and beautifully sloping towards the main entrance. The spot is a choice one, which, when planted with trees and otherwise decorated, will certainly be a credit to Ennismore parish. The large cedar cross in the centre, is the work of the Kelly Bros., Bridgenorth. The stonework of the vault was done by Messrs. Jas. Garvey and Herb. Hemmsay, of Ennismore, and is a very artistic and solid piece of work. The wood-work of the vault is by John Mahaney and is in keeping with the rest of the work.

The ground was surveyed and staked out by Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, of Peterborough. The plots are 18 feet by 18 feet, and will each contain twelve graves, with ample room in the centre for a monument. A road 14 feet wide runs around the whole cemetery, with a road 20 feet wide through the centre, and several cross roads 8 and 10 feet wide.

In front is a handsome iron fence, with a large gate in the centre.

The impudence of this reply angered Mr. Miller. He told the fellow that the city did not provide for men in his position, nor did they intend to do so. A man should at least be able to keep a wife. The city would not encourage that sort of thing. The stranger after further impressioning was informed that if he wanted to go west and had no ticket the walking was very good. The advice was gratis and that was all Mr Miller could spare him. As a parting shot he added that he would be very much disappointed if he expected to be fed during the winter.

Not long ago the Relief Officer received a similar request. Evidently there are some people who took up ch' Mr. Miller as a Santa Claus.

Careless Breakages Will Be Charged To The Students

A new rule will be in force in the chemical and physical labratories when the classes commence work in the new Collegiate Institute building. A recommendation from Mr. Kenner will likely be adopted. It is intended to teach the pupils to handle the instruments with care as they will be virtually their own property.

A fee of $1.00 will be charged each pupil who attend classes in the laboratories. They will receive that amount of test tubes, etc., which should last throughout the year. Each article broken, carelessly, will be charged against the particular pupil. At the end of the year each pupil will receive the dollar back minus the value of the broken instruments.

A distinction will be made between an accidental and a careless breakage.

FIRST GASOLINE LAUNCH IN PETERBORO'

Gasoline launches and automobiles are becoming very plentiful in Peterborough and Peterborough County. "As thick as hair on a dog's back" was the remark of one person in referring to the former. Yet the life of the gasoline launch so far as local waters are concerned has not been a lengthy one. The first was owned by Mr. F J R MacPherson, and it was here only seven years ago. Mr. MacPherson also owned the first automobile in Peterborough.

His launch was not an extra speedy one, travelling only about seven miles an hour, but at that it would trim many of the crafts that now sail the Otonabee and Stony Lake.

During the coming winter Mr. MacPherson intends to build a motor boat entirely from a specs considerable. He states that he will have the speediest boat that ever sailed the local waters. The engine will be of the 4-cylinder construction and the boat will be built in length and beam particularly for speed. The craft for which Mr. MacPherson has already the design, will run not less than 25 miles an hour.

Lindsay Hears That Mr. Patrick Clunan Is Drowned

Lindsay, Aug. 15. — Special. — A rumour was in circulation here yesterday to the effect that Patrick Clunan, formerly of this town, had met death by drowning. An endeavour was made to trace the origin of the report, but the attempt was unsuccessful.

Mr. Clunan was at one time in the hotel business in Lindsay, and also filled the position of night watchman. He afterwards removed to Peterborough, where he conducted the Queen's and Royal Hotels.

After leaving Peterborough, it is understood he went to Port Arthur with Mr. Austin Dunn, a former Peterborough man.

How the rumour originated concerning his death is a mystery, and his many friends are anxious to secure more information concerning it.

Mr. Clunan was an enthusiastic horseman and was a well-known figure at the different races held in Lindsay.

Policeman Saw Illumination And Sent In A Fire Alarm

While patrolling George street this morning at 1.30 o'clock P. C. Adams saw the illumination of a fire which proved to be at the residence of Mr. Jas. McGuire, Murray street. He sent in an alarm from box No. 23. The brigade responded quickly and were soon at the house.

The fire had broken out in the shed at the rear and was beginning to catch on to the house. The former was destroyed, but the main building suffered but little.

The origin of the fire is difficult to explain. The family were sleeping while the flames were making headway. Neighbours hurried to the rescue and but little damage was done the furniture.

MAHAFFY, SIXTEEN-YEAR OLD OTONABEE BOY, GETS THREE MONTHS FOR THEFT OF BICYCLE

Walter Mahaffy, a young Otonabee boy, whom, his mother states, will not be 17 years of age until December of this year, was sentenced to three months by Magistrate Dumble at Police Court yesterday afternoon on a charge of stealing a bicycle from W. Walker. Mahaffy pleaded guilty to the charge. He has already served two months in the local jail on a similar charge.

Frank Hamilton, who was also charged with stealing the wheel, was discharged, the magistrate considering that the evidence against him was not conclusive enough to warrant a conviction.

The boys elected to be tried summarily by the magistrate, and Mahaffy pleaded guilty, while Hamilton's plea was one of not guilty.

W. Walker was called and testified that he was an insurance agent. He was the owner of a bicycle which he had left on Hunter street, near the Bank of Commerce building, and which was stolen from there. He had missed it between 4 and 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. He saw it again about 6 o'clock. Witness identified the wheel produced as his and valued it at $35. When he saw it again the wheel was at Mr. Young's bicycle shop on George street.

J. W. Young was the next witness. He testified that he kept a bicycle shop at 432 George street and recognized the prisoners. Mahaffy, he stated was at his shop on Saturday morning and wanted witness to sell him a front wheel of a bicycle. In the afternoon Mahaffy returned, accompanied by Hamilton. The latter said he had a wheel to sell for $25, as he was going West. Witness had asked how much he paid for the wheel and Hamilton replied $45 cash to the Banks Sporting Goods Co. He had said the wheel was of Rambler make, with a coaster break. Hamilton afterwards said he would take $25 for it. He said he would send it over to the shop. The two went out and Mahaffy returned at 6 with a bicycle. While witness was looking at it, P C Meharry arrived and took Mahaffy away, while Mr. Walker, the owner of the wheel, was ordered to take it to the police station.

Hugh Cruikshanks testified that he worked at the G.T.R. freight sheds and knew Hamilton. He had seen him last Saturday about 5.30 at the freight sheds. Hamilton had tried to sell him a bicycle which he brought to the shed. He identified the wheel produced in court as that shown him by Hamilton. The latter wanted $20 for it.

Silas Jones testified that he was employed at the Queen's Hotel. Hamilton had attempted to sell him a wheel for $25 but he could not remember whether it was on Saturday or not. Hamilton had said he was going West, which was his reason for wanting to sell the wheel.

Hamilton went into the box on his own behalf. He swore he had met Mahaffy on Aylmer street on Saturday and the latter had asked him to sell his wheel for him. Mahaffy had said he was going away. He had asked Mahaffy if the wheel was his own and the latter had replied that it was, that he had bought it at Banks'. He admitted trying to sell it to the three previous witnesses. He admitted being convicted on a charge of forging a cheque, and of being let go on suspended sentence.

The magistrate remarked that the evidence was not conclusive that Hamilton knew the wheel was stolen. It was very hard to satisfy the minds of any who heard the evidence that he was innocent, but the Crown had not been able to prove that he had been a party to the crime. He hoped the warning would be sufficient to enable him to do what was right.

To Mahaffy the magistrate said he had deliberately stolen the wheel in order to turn it into money and had attempted to turn another youth into a cat's-paw for him in order that he might remain in the background himself. He thereupon sentenced Mahaffy to three months in jail.

THE QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL STAFF CHOSEN

The staff of the Queen Alexandra School has been appointed by the Board of Education. At this school the Normal School students will receive their training in teaching the various classes.

The staff is as follows:—Mr. Dunlop, Mr. Wilkey, and Misses Lochhead, Watt, Perrin, Carlisle, E. Morrow, M. Morrow, Warren, and Gillespie.

Formal Opening Will Be Held First Friday In October

The formal opening of the new Collegiate Institute building will not take place until probably the first Friday in October. Mr. Kenner suggested that it would be wise to let the school open on Sept. 1st and defer the formal opening. By October 2nd the classes should be well organized and everything running smoothly. The Minister of Education will then have returned from Europe and it may be possible to have him present at the opening. The Normal School will have opened and all the work in the Collegiate building will be complete.

The question will be further discussed at a meeting to be held in a few weeks.

Schools Re-Open On September 1st For "Golden Rule Days" Again

The public schools and Collegiate Institute will reopen on Tuesday, Sept. 1st, at 9 a. m.

This announcement from the Board of Education will probably strike a discordant note in the schoolboy's ensemble of pleasure, but it is inevitable. It will be a disappointment to the small boy and girl too, to start school on the first day of the month. They are always looking for a few days grace and expecting to have until after Labour Day. But the powers that be have decreed otherwise, so the pupils should make the best of it. They have had a long holiday and the time is close at hand when they must resume their studies.

Prominent Astronomer To Visit Astronomical Society

Professor W. R. Warner, F.R.A.S., of Cleveland, Ohio, a man of marked eminence, the consulting engineer of the continent, and the designer and maker of what are claimed to be the greatest telescopes in the world—those of the Yerkes and Lick Observatories—will visit Peterborough at no distant date. He is an intimate personal friend of Rev. Dr. Marsh, and at the latter's solicitation in the interests of Peterborough, he has consented to be entertained by the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada and deliver an address upon a subject whose title and date of delivery will be announced later. This visit is something which can be looked forward to with interest.

WILL DEVOTE HIMSELF TO WORK OF Y. M. C. A. IN FUTURE

Mr E. M. Best, of the Best Stove and Hardware Company, has decided to devote himself exclusively to Y. M. C. A. work, and with that end in view will leave next month for Springfield, Mass., where he will enter the International Y. M. C. A. training school to take the course there. Mr. Best's object is to take up the duties of secretary and he will fit himself for the work by attending the well known training institution.

Mr. W. D. Campbell, formerly of the Perkins-Ince Company, and a well known and energetic young Peterborough man, has taken an interest in the Best Stove and Hardware Company, and after September 1st will be found at the company's store where Mr. Best's interests will be looked after by his brother, Mr. R. P. Best. Mr. Campbell is very popular in the city and no doubt the best Stove Company will continue to flourish as it has done in the past.

Magistrate Hears Stories Of Assault Near Buckhorn

An Assyrian, named Abram Aboud with a fractured skull and blood-stained face and clothing, his alleged assailant James Baldwin and Constable Pearson, of Buckhorn, were a trio that called on County Magistrate Edmison last night, about five o'clock. The Assyrian claimed that he had been assaulted by Baldwin, who had used a club on him and had afterwards robbed him of $100. He was certainly a pitiable and startling sight to see.

Baldwin, in defence, admitted striking Aboud with a club, but claimed he had done so in self-defence. His story was to the effect that Aboud accosted him on the road and demanded with an open knife a dollar he owed him. He hadn't the dollar and to protect himself used the club. Which story is true is not known, but both men were remanded for a week. The Assyrian's wife came up from Norwood last night, and walked all the way to Lakefield, where she arrived about 2.30 o'clock and visited her friends. This morning Aboud secured bail. The case comes up next Friday.

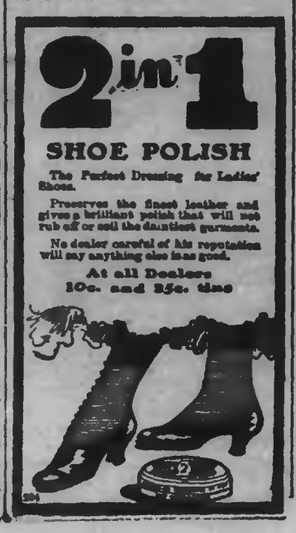
SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Prime Minister of Canada, is, in fact, as well as position, the most eminent man of the Dominion. The grandest era of national progress and development of nationhood is associated with his Premiership. To transcendant qualities of statesmanship, to an invincible patriotism, and unbounded faith in the resources and future of the country, he adds the practice of tireless devotion to his duties. He is the hardest worked public man in Canada. He is never completely out of harness, and his holidays are of a length which the bookkeeper of a corner grocery would scorn as inadequate to physical recuperation and mental relaxation. After more than a year's steady toil of ten hours a day, and the strain of his official responsibility during one of the longest and most trying parliamentary sessions in Canadian history, Sir Wilfrid has persuaded himself to take a week's respite from the many cares of office, which he will spend at his old home, Arthabaskaville. Even this holiday will not be a complete rest, for he will have to give several hours a day to his correspondence. The manner in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who is no longer a young man, has stood the strain which the exacting duties of his office—performed with conscientious thoroughness—has imposed upon his physical and mental powers, is a marvel. He is still fit in every way, and will be in fine fettle for his coming tour in Ontario, during which he will deliver addresses such as he only can give, at a series of meetings. Neither Sir Wilfrid nor his faithful followers need have any doubt as to the enthusiasm of his reception. His magnetic personality his dignified eloquence, the merit of his message, and the memory of his record of proud achievement as a constructive statesman, will all be elements contributing to a warm welcome wherever he appears. Sir Wilfrid comes to Ontario in splendid health, having evidently thriven on the contentions of the recent session. That he will be enthusiastically hailed everywhere as the great Liberal of leftain is beyond question. The details of his tour are being arranged by Mr. F. G. Inwood, the Liberal General Secretary, who is co-operating with the various Liberal organizations concerned. The tour will commence about the middle of September in Welland County, probably at Niagara Falls, and thereafter meetings will be held at central points in the Province, probably on alternate nights. Hon. George P. Graham will accompany the Premier at several of the meetings. Full details of the dates will be published in due course.

Latest returns and information show that this year Canada will have one of the most abundant harvests in the history of the country. A good harvest means other good things — good business, good temper, hopefulness.



PROTECTION OF CITIZENS.

In Ontario threatened with loss of her good name as a law-abiding country, where good laws are well administered? Of late there have been flagrant examples of indifference to duty on the part of the Attorney-General's Department of Ontario, and we need not go away from home to find instances of many minor breaches of the law committed apparently with impunity. In the residence sections of the city hoodlumism and disregard of the rights of property are, one might almost say, rampant. When gardens, orchards and poultry houses are robbed, and refrigerators placed on rear verandahs, rifled of their contents, the conditions become serious, especially as there does not seem to be any efficient means adopted to remedy these undesirable indications of the presence in the community of an annoying and active criminal element. The complaint of Mr. Redmond, of Donegal street, as printed in yesterday's issue, seems to put some share of the responsibility upon the indifference or inaction of the authorities. Reasonable neighbours of Mr. Redmond say that his statement of the annoyances and loss he has been forced to suffer is in every way justified by the facts. He is subjected, it seems, to persistent and organized annoyance. His movements are watched, and his leaving his residence is a signal for the raid of boys who steal and destroy his fruits and flowers, and commit other depredations. If, as he asserts, he can get no assistance from the police or authorities, the Police Commissioners are called upon to find out the reason. A police force is intended for the protection of the citizens and their property. If it fails to do this, it is not meeting the objects of its maintenance. In the business section of the city, where everybody is on the alert, from morning till midnight, there is less field for the operations of the lawless and the destruction of property. Especially in the summer when so many houses are shut there is need for particular vigilance in the outlying sections. Now, a policeman in the residential sections of the city is a rarity, where it should be a constant condition. With a police force of six it would appear easily possible to detail two of them at least, for patrol duty in the outskirts—if in plain clothes all the better. No doubt the lawless element counts upon the absence of danger of police interference with their operations. If there was danger of a policeman appearing upon the scene of some lawless actions this fact would act as a deterrent. The citizens have a right to the protection they pay for. We have a sufficient and sufficiently effective police force if their activities are properly distributed.

RECOIL OF THE ROSS RIFLE.

The Conservative Opposition, in their campaign against the Liberal Government, are not scrupulous as to means and methods. They reck little whether or not the course they pursue antagonizes public interests and the good name of the country—all's fish that comes to their net, or, rather, every form of ammunition is used, even if they have to use the Ross rifle to fire it. The Opposition's opposition to the Ross rifle seems to be based on the fact, and no other, that it has been adopted by the Liberal Government, although it is a Canadian rifle, designed and manufactured in Canada, and used by Canadian militiamen. The more the Opposition berates the Government over the head of the Ross rifle, and the more they disparage it, the stronger and more pointed becomes the testimony to its effectiveness as a marksfirder and all-round general utility arm. The Globe has the following article presenting testimony to its effectiveness, by the highest possible authority:

"It is highly creditable to Sir James Ross and the company he has organized, as well as to the Dominion at large, that the new rifle bearing his name has shown superior qualities at the Bisley contests. Every rifle now in use is the result of evolution, and has been developed, improved and perfected as practical use has shown the necessity of changes. The Ross rifle is the new weapon adopted by the Canadian Government for the militia, and it is, therefore, doubly a source of pride to the Dominion that it has made such an excellent showing in competition with the world's best arms in the hands of the world's best marksmen.

"The British newspapers report with surprise the very notable successes with the new Canadian Ross rifle and ammunition in the hands of a hitherto unknown marksman, Mr. F. W. Jones of the National Rifle Association of London. He carried off first in the "Edge" match for prizes aggregating £50, contributed by Major Edge. This is the stiffest of the long-distance matches, the contestants firing fifteen shots at 1,000 yards, and the same number at 1,100 yards. Mr. Jones scored 73 out of a possible 75 at each range, his total being six points above the best previous record. In the Halford memorial match he won first with fifteen "bulls," or a possible 75 points at 900 yards, and 72 points out of the same possible at 1,000 yards. In the Waldegrave match at 800 yards he won second with 98 points out of a possible 100. Quite the most important victory of the contest was the winning of the Hopton Challenge Cup, which is given for the highest aggregate score in six matches—the Edge, Halford Memorial, Waldegrave, Albert, Base, and Wimbledon. In these Mr. Jones made an aggregate of 726 points out of a possible 750, beating the best previous record by 20 points.

"The London newspapers, The Times, The Daily Express, the Daily Mail, The Chronicle, The Standard, The Daily News, all speak in enthusiastic terms of what they call the "victory for the Ross rifle from Canada," which "made an unexpected and altogether successful appearance," and excelled "all the field of the world's rifles," so that as the Morning Post says, "our own Lee-Enfield is apparently lagging behind in the great race of modern small arms," and The Times adds: "It is a pleasure to refer to a rifle that has been much in evidence and which can claim to have been designed, manufactured and used as a service weapon within the limits of the Empire." If the criticisms inspired either by competing manufacturers or by political animus may have tended to make Canadian volunteers mistrustful of this Canadian-made weapon they should be reassured by the very signal triumphs won by it at Bisley over the world's best rifles."

All this is very gratifying and conclusive as to the merits of Canada's national arm, and corroborative evidence is not wanting. In yesterday's despatches from Winnipeg is found the testimony of Sergt. Richardson of Victoria, B.C., on his way home from Bisley, where he used the Ross rifle in winning the Grand Aggregate event. He says the Ross rifle is the finest target weapon made, and predicts that the British army will eventually be armed with it, a prediction warranted by the complimentary opinions quoted in the above extract. Our Conservative critics are discovering a new defect in the Ross rifle—its recoil is too great—it "kicks."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A sample of obstruction practised by the Conservative Opposition in the Dominion Parliament, and the time of Parliament wasted, consists in the fact that in the period from November 23rd to May 16th, motions to go into supply were obstructed thirty-one times (on three occasions by Liberals who had reports to make, and on twenty-eight by Conservatives), and only four times did the House get into supply forthwith. During this period, $23,000,000 of supply were passed, and fifty-seven bills, only one of them, the French treaty, being of first importance, the majority being private legislation.

HOW TO GROW THE BEST ALFALFA

From The Canadian Dairyman.

Mr. William Stewart, Jr., of Menie, was one of the first farmers to commence alfalfa growing in his township, in Northumberland county, Ont. He has been growing it now for many years, and believes that it is one of the best crops that can be grown on any farm. At the time he commenced growing it this crop was not as well known as it is to-day, and consequently he made some mistakes that have since been made by many other farmers.

"At first," said Mr. Stewart, to a representative of The Dairyman and Farming World, who visited his place, "I used to crop it in the fall, but I found that this was a great mistake. By keeping the cows off it in the fall, the crop gets a splendid start, and the benefit of this start is apparent the following year. Some farmers tried to grow alfalfa with their corn, and with their clover. It is not a success when grown in this way, as it is a crop that should be grown by itself.

It is a mistake also to let alfalfa grow too long before harvesting. When this is done the crop gets coarse and the cattle do not like it. Many men who have not cut alfalfa at the right time, have become disgusted with it as a crop, when, had they cut it at the right time, they would have been delighted with it."

TRAINMEN PROTEST

They Complain to Ottawa Against C. P. R.'s Action.

ENGINEER WAS DISCHARGED

Men Claim That Dismissal Was Arbitrary and Wrongful and Trouble May Result—Telegraphers' Trouble to Be Decided on Next Week —More Montreal Mechanics Go Out and Join Strikers.

Toronto, Aug. 15.—Another international union has crossed swords with the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. It is the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers. The brotherhood has applied to the Dominion Government for an appointment of an arbitration board. The charge is made that an engine man on the Lake Superior branch has been wrongfully discharged on account of his activity as a trades unionist.

The finding of the arbitration board on the charge against the C. P. R. telegraphers that an operator was wrongfully discharged may be made public by the Ottawa authorities next week.

A red hot protest is to be sent to Ottawa by the C. P. R. strikers against the importing of alien strike-breakers by the company. The strike leaders state that it is useless to take police proceedings as the strike would be ancient history before any conviction took effect.

The strikers will make a vigorous effort to have the Dominion Government send an alien labor officer to the points where complaints are made, examine into the charges and if they are established have the alien strike-breakers deported at once.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—H. B. Spencer, superintendent of the Ottawa division of the C. P. R., states in connection with the strike, that the company has at the round-house all the men it wants. There is no great rush of work and no difficulties are being experienced.

All freight, passenger and special trains are being run on schedule time.

Montreal, Aug. 15.—The only new development in connection with the C. P. R. strike yesterday was that the moulders in the car wheel department of the Angus shops, to the number of about 75, joined the ranks of the strikers. The strikers received their pay for the month of July.

West Toronto, Aug. 15.—The official Winnipeg bulletin received by the striking C. P. R. mechanics at West Toronto yesterday indicates that the company is being much hampered by deterioration of rolling stock.

According to the pickets on the John street bridge there are only five men left in the company's round-house there. They had sixteen on Wednesday, but yesterday eight men left because the C. P. R. refused to board them, and three more left later. The coal chutes have not been repaired as yet, and the engines are still coaled up by hand.

The pickets in West Toronto assert that engines were taken off freight trains to take out the harvesters' excursions to the west from the Union Station yesterday, and that the freight was left standing in the yards. The last train of the afternoon did not get away from West Toronto until after 5 o'clock p. m.

Through the breaking down of an engine, the C. P. R. train from Parry Sound, due here at 10.55 last night was delayed several hours at Blackstone, in the Muskoka district, and did not reach Toronto until about 3 a. m. to-day.

Poisoned by Sardines.

Guelph, Aug. 15.—When Robert Brandon, an employe of the Sleeman Brewery, arrived home late Thursday night he found his wife, two children, and Mrs. Donald and little child of Toronto, visitors, all in a very serious condition and suffering great pain, from the effects of having eaten a quantity of canned sardines.

Shoes Cost Him His Life.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 15.—A young Englishman named E. Warrener was burned to death in a rooming-house fire on Westminster avenue. He stayed to put on his shoes and was caught by the flames.

His brother Bert collapsed in a chair and had to be carried out.

Organizer Arrested.

Regina, Aug. 15.—J. G. Macdonald, Conservative organizer, has been arrested on an information sworn to by Premier Scott, charging him with defamatory libel.

The Premier has also entered an action against the editor of The Moosejaw News for $10,000 damages for libel.

Fatal Balloon Accident.

London, Aug. 15.—Two persons were killed and six injured by the explosion of the envelope of the balloon owned by Capt. Lovelace of the New York Aero Club at the grounds of the Franco-British exhibition yesterday. Miss Hill, aged 17, secretary to Capt. Lovelace, was burned to a crisp.

May Get Him a Medal.

Kingston, Aug. 15.—Steps will be taken to have William Losee, baggage man of the steamer Kingston, who did heroic work in life saving at the accident at Charlotte, presented with a Canadian Humane Society medal.

Brute Is Sentenced.

St. Catharines, Aug. 15.—Jerry Doyle was convicted in the Police Court yesterday morning of indecent assault on Elizabeth Barker, aged 5 years, and was sentenced to two years in Kingston penitentiary.

Horse's Kick Kills Boy.

Brockville, Aug. 15.—Harold, aged 16, third son of Joseph Patterson of Oxford Mills, was engaged in cleaning a horse when it drove its foot into his abdomen, killing him.

Drowned In the West.

Cornwall, Aug. 15.—A message from Beausjour, Man., to relatives in the Township of Lancaster, announced the drowning of Edgar Morrison in Brokenhead river.

IRA D. SANKEY DEAD

Moody's Partner in Evangelistic Work Was 68 Years Old.

BLIND IN HIS LAST DAYS

Famous Singer-Evangelist Was Apostle of Power of Song and For Thirty Years He Stood at the Head of His Work—Was Author of Many of the Most Popular Hymns —Traveled In Holy Land.

New York, Aug. 15.—Ira D. Sankey, the evangelist, died at his home in Brooklyn Thursday night.

While Sankey had many successors in evangelistic hymnology, he was the pioneer.

Ira D. Sankey was a son of Hon. David Sankey. He was born in the village of Edinburgh in Western Pennsylvania, Aug. 28, 1840. When six years old he moved to Western Reserve Harbor, where his father engaged in a commission business. Later his father moved to a farm and the boy assisted in the work. Sankey, senior, was elected to the State Legislature during the thirteen years of his life as a farmer. During these years the boy met a Mr. Fraser, who aroused his first interest in a holy life.

IRA D. SANKEY,
The Great Singing-Evangelist.

In 1857 the family moved to Newcastle, where the father became president of the bank. Here Ira attended high school and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. Soon he was superintendent of the Sunday school and leader of the choir.

His voice attracted attention and before long the Sunday school was overcrowded with people who came to hear his singing.

In 1863 Mr. Sankey married a member of his choir, Miss Fanny V. Edwards, a daughter of Hon. John Edwards.

Later he became secretary and then president of the Newcastle Y.M.C.A., and by the sale of gospel hymns raised $40,000 for a new building.

In 1870 at a Y.M.C.A. convention in Indianapolis, Mr. Sankey met the late Dwight L. Moody, with whose name his own was to become immortally associated. Their names became famous throughout the world. No hall was large enough to cover the thousands who flocked to hear them.

Congregations since then throughout the civilized world have raised their voices in the words of Sankey's hymns.

Mr. Sankey's work was carried on for thirty years on both continents. In 1898 Mr. Sankey visited the Holy Land, singing at Cairo and Jerusalem. On his return the Spanish-American war was being waged, and he went to Tampa, Fla., to hold meetings in the camp there. In 1899 Mr. Moody died, and the singer-evangelist was left to conduct his future meetings alone. In 1903 he lost his eyesight, but for the last five years had not been idle, issuing new editions of his songs and solos and publishing the story of his Gospel hymns. The songs and solos have had an enormous circulation, over 50,000,000 copies having been published. The songs have also been translated into many languages. Mr. Sankey's works include The Gospel Choir, The Male Choir, The Christian Endeavor Hymn Book and My Life and Sacred Songs. Among the best-known hymns of his composition are "The Ninety and Nine" and "When the Mists Have Rolled Away."

Nothing In It.

Kingston, Aug. 15.—In an interview with The Daily Standard yesterday, Dr. Cartwright, Sir Richard's son, speaking for Sir Richard, says that there is nothing in the report that Sir Richard has been offered the Lieutenant-Governorship of Ontario, and that at any rate he would not accept it.

Thaw Will Be Free In a Month?

New York, Aug. 15.—It is believed that Thaw will be free in a month if he is permitted to go to Pittsburg on the bankruptcy case. He is not convicted of any crime which would force the officials to return him to New York.

Brantford Must Take Action.

Brantford, Aug. 15.—Ald. Andrews, chairman of the Power Commission, was notified yesterday by President Fryer of the Municipal Power Union, that Brantford must take action within ten days if it is to remain in the union.

Burned While Ironing.

Hamilton, Aug. 15.—Mrs. Ethel Ford, 93 North James street, is in the hospital suffering from severe burns sustained while she was ironing yesterday afternoon. Her dress caught fire.

Busy Burglars.

Ingersoll, Aug. 15.—The depredations this week of a bold gang of thieves have created much excitement. They have been operating almost nightly.

SCOTT VICTORIOUS

Liberal Government Upheld in Province of Saskatchewan.

MAJORITY WILL BE LARGE

Final Returns Are Expected to Give Twenty-Five Seats — Provincial Righter Snowed Under in Regina —Premier Gets Big Plurality at Swift Current — Hon. W. H. Motherwell Was Defeated.

Regina, Aug. 15.—So far as can be gathered at present Premier Scott's return to power, with a splendid majority behind him in the Legislature, is assured. When the returns are finally in it is anticipated that the Liberals will be found to have won at least 25 seats, leaving 15 for their opponents. The endorsement of Premier Scott's policy by giving him a majority of ten in the Legislature is regarded as as weeping victory. Liberals throughout Saskatchewan are delighted with the result of the election, coming, as it does, after a campaign in which the Premier's opponents used every means to discredit the policy which he has been responsible for.

The constituencies yet to be heard from are: Lloydminster, Milestone, Moosomin, Pelly, Prince Albert County, Redberry, Saltcoats, South Battleford.

THIRD TO GO.

Brampton Child Loses Life Where Brother Died Three Years Ago.

Brampton, Aug. 15.—Maggie Frame, 10 years of age, fell from the bridge crossing the river Credit at Cheltenham yesterday afternoon and was drowned.

Three years ago the child's brother was drowned at the same place.

Ten years earlier her father was killed on the G. T. R. with three companions. While going around a curve on a hand-car they were struck by an express train.

Thugs Posed as Policemen.

North Bay, Aug. 15.—Two young Englishmen, Ernest Deeley and Robert Chadell, who left New Liskeard on Thursday for the western harvest, were held up at the C. P. R. yards on Thursday night by local thugs, representing themselves as police officers and robbed of $20. The thugs were arrested and Wm. Bevair was given two years in the Central and William McHale two months in jail.

Presentation to Parmelee.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—W. G. Parmalee, for thirty-five years an official of the civil service, and Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce since the organization of the Department in 1893, until his superannuation last spring, was yesterday morning presented with a silver casket containing $500 in gold by the staff of the Department.

Says Judge Pretended Illness.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 15.—J. A. Aikman, counsel for C. B. Bratton, in jail on a charge of incendiarism, has issued a writ against Justice Martin of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, for £500 damages, alleging that the latter feigned illness in order that he might not be compelled to hear a habeas corpus application.

Grand Trunk Dividend.

Montreal, Aug. 15.—Accounts of the Grand Trunk for the half year ending June 30, show a surplus of £180,500, which, added to the balance from December, 1907, of £6,700, made a total amount of £187,200 available for a dividend, which will be declared only on the guaranteed stock according to a report here yesterday.

Deprived of Their Honors.

Montreal, Aug. 15.—Although riflemen from Quebec won the highest aggregate score for the P. Q. R. A. matches and the third place, they will be robbed of their badges and medals, owing to the fact that they are military men of long standing. They entered as civilians.

Stabbed His Uncle.

Mount Carmel, Pa., Aug. 15.—After a brief argument on the sidewalk in Market street here yesterday, Daniel Thompson, a young man, stabbed and killed his uncle.

Frost In the West.

Winnipeg, Aug. 15.—Full estimates of damage done by frosts on Wednesday night have not yet been received, but it is believed to be considerable, especially in north central Saskatchewan in the vicinity of Redberry and north to Prince Albert.

Signed Cataract Agreement.

Oakville, Aug. 14.—The commissioners and the Cataract Power Co. have signed the agreement, to light the town with a 24-hour system of electric light. The power will be turned on as soon as poles are erected and wires, etc., attached.

Floods In New Brunswick.

Hopewell Cape, N. B., Aug. 15.—Enormous damage has been done to the dykes in this county from the unusually high tides in the Bay of Fundy and Petitcodiac river. A large aboideau costing an immense sum of money has been carried away and a hundred acres of fine marsh and grass land submerged.

Dykes all along the river for a hundred miles have been carried away, and at Moncton, near the head of the Petitcodiac, all low lands are under water and a number of families in town forced to leave their homes.

To Free Hillhouse Brown.

Hamilton, Aug. 15.—Petitions are being circulated for the release of Hillhouse Brown, former manager of the east end branch of the Bank of Hamilton, who three years ago was sentenced to seven years for defalcations amounting to about $100,000. Since being incarcerated he has devoted himself to music and has become a skillful organist. It is said that the Bankers' Association will oppose the movement to secure the release.

HOMELESS CHILDREN AT THE SHELTER IN PETERBOROUGH WHO NEED A START IN LIFE

Story of How They Are Kept Comfortable Under the Care of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Until Taken Into Childless Homes.

FOUR BOYS NOW WAITING

The following article is reproduced from the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World, written by Miss Morse, editor of the Household Department:

In our April 8th issue we published a short article regarding the work being done by the Children's Aid Society in Ontario, with illustrations of Mr. J. J. Kelso, superintendent of the Society, who has done so much in looking after poor, neglected children. Through Mr. Kelso's untiring efforts, many neglected children have been placed in good Christian homes. The Children's Aid Society has branches at London, Guelph, Hamilton, Toronto and Peterborough. Recently it has been the good fortune of our household editor to visit the Shelter at Peterborough, where several of these children are kept, waiting to be placed in homes, either temporary or permanent. Such a revelation as this visit brought forth!

Roy, The Shelter Baby, One Year Old

Shelter at Peterborough, Ont.

The Shelter is a nice, large building facing the Otonabee river, on the outskirts of the city of Peterborough. The house is located on a high terrace directly overlooking the river. There are between three and four acres of ground connected with the Shelter, which are being thoroughly cultivated and worked in a creditable manner by Mr. Henry, who has charge of the Shelter. Mr. Henry is ably assisted in his work by his wife, who looks after the personal comfort of the little ones, and the general management of the house and its workings. The house is owned by the city of Peterborough, but is rented to the Children's Aid Society for the nominal sum of $1 a year for a period of 21 years, as a retaining fee only for the city.

A member of the head branch of the society in Toronto visits the Shelter in Peterborough, as well as all the others in the province, usually twice a year. She reports on the number of children found in the Shelter, and their general condition and gives suggestions for improvement in their care and comfort. The Shelters in the various parts of the province are usually supported by funds provided by a donation from the head branch of the Children's Aid Society, and by county and municipal grants. A great many private contributions are received through the year, which are more than welcomed by the management, who find that they could hardly make both ends meet, were it not for this assistance received from well wishing citizens and friends of the little ones.

"We have received about 260 children into the Shelter," said Mr. Henry to the representative of the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World," since I have been here, and Smiling Willie, Aged 4 Years.

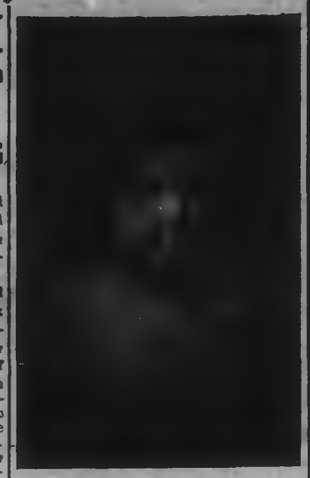
I came to the Shelter about ten years ago. All of these children have been placed in homes, some permanently and some only temporarily. We have now twelve bright, healthy active children here with us, all waiting for homes somewhere in this big world. Their ages range from the baby, who is about a year old, to a lad of about fifteen years. The baby came to us last April, and was about eight months old at that time. We obtained it from Belleville. We do not know much about it only that it is a healthy baby, and a particularly good one. Its parents were not very well to do, and not able to take care of it, so we were told, but that is about all the history it has to start its little life on.

"We have found homes for three of the little ones in the group picture shown on page 7 of this issue continued Mr. Henry. The little girl on the extreme left corner, Dorothy by name has found a good home in Norwood, Ontario. She was taken on trial by a lady of that town, who kept her three or four months and then decided to adopt Dorothy as her own. Dorothy came to us in February of last year, a disconsolate looking child. Her father had been killed by a train, and left his little six year old daughter to be looked after by her mother. For some reason the mother proved unequal to the occasion, as is usually the case with most of the parents of our children, and Dorothy was sent to us. She was a good child when with us. I am sure that she has found a good home and we feel equally sure that her new mother will never be sorry that she took Dorothy into her home.

"The little boy next to Dorothy in the group" said Mrs Henry, who was holding the "Shelter Baby" in her arms, "is Dorothy's brother Charlie. He has been fortunate also in finding a good home where we know he is very happy, at Gore's Landing. Charlie did not stay with us very long, and we did not like to see him go, as he was a bright interesting little fellow."

"One of the most unfortunate cases," continued Mrs. Henry, "was that of the little girl next to Charlie little Jennie. Jennie came to us in 1903. Her mother was dead, and her father could not or would not support his children, a very usual excuse Jennie's disposition was one that would not get along with everyone, and it was hard to find a place where she was liked, and where she liked to stay herself, as both sides of the



Harvey, Aged 3 Years

Nine Year Old Walter

story have to be considered when placing the children in homes. We have placed Jennie in several places during the time she has been with us, and at last we think we have found a good place for her, and hope that the people who took her will find her congenial to their natures and keep her. She is a deserving child and if rightly placed, will be a joy and blessing to the home where she remains."

When the children are left at the Shelter for good, their parents, or whoever has the charge of them when they are brought to the Shelter are obliged to sign papers relinquishing their hold on the children, from that time forth. This is practically giving away their children, as they have to sign away all rights in the children, and this gives them to the Children's Aid Society.

Waiting for Homes

The big boys' pictures that we publish on this page are all brothers and as bright boys in every way as one could wish to see. Their ages range from 3 to 6 and 9 years. All of these boys are waiting for homes, and whoever takes them or one of them will indeed have a treasure. They are good boys, not vicious or mischievous. Their mother left them at the Shelter one day last winter and signed over her three dear boys without the slightest compunction on her part, and went away, apparently free and contented.

It is the desire of The Canadian Dairyman and Farming World, to be the means, if at all possible, of placing these three boys in good Christian homes, where they will be brought up in the way they should go, given a good education, and taught to be men of sterling qualities. Are there not some child loving souls among our thousands of readers who will open their hearts and homes to one of these little ones? If so, we would be much pleased to have you communicate with our Household Editor, who will do everything possible to place you in closer touch with the three little brothers.

Since the above article was published in the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World, an application has been received from Middlesex County, for the adoption of "Harvey, aged three years" whose picture was given in connection with the article. This is an indication of the value of the publication referred to as a medium of publicity and of the interest the public take in the beneficial work of the Children's Aid Society.

Four New Studies Opened To Public School Pupils

Board of Education Secures Teachers for Domestic Science, Manual Training, Music and Art---Expenditure by Board is Small, Thanks to Connection With Normal School---Miss Helen Davies on the Staff.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held last night for the purpose of completing details regarding the teaching of Manual Training, Domestic Science, Art and Music. Mr. Robt Fair presided, with the following present: Messrs. Hill, Nelson, Dumble, Crane, Dr. Burnham and Dr. Morrison. Inspector Mowat was also present.

The principal business was the receiving of the reports of the Committee on Appointments. That regarding the Queen Alexandra School staff was read by Mr. Hill, as follows:

Your committee appointed to confer with the principal of the Normal School regarding the Queen Alexandra staff, beg leave to report:

1. That the appointment of Mr. Dunlop and Mr. Walkey has been approved.

2. That Misses Lockhead, (Watt, Perrin, Carlisle, E. Morrow and M. Morrow have been appointed as assistants on the staff.

3. That Miss Warner and Miss Gillespie be given charge of the Kindergarten class, as previously arranged by the Board.

The new members of the class, viz., Misses Lockhead, Watt and Carlisle all hold first class certificates, which meets the requirements of the Education Department.—Carried.

Special Teachers

The report dealing with the appointment of special teachers was as follows:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education.

Gentlemen.—Your committee appointed to confer with the Education Department regarding the engagement of special teachers, beg leave to report as follows:

1. The Education Department proposes the joint engagement of four teachers, viz., a teacher of Manual Training; a teacher of Domestic Science; a teacher of Art and a teacher of Music. The Department will require the services of these teachers at the Normal School for two-fifths of their time, leaving the remaining three-fifths at the disposal of the Board.

2. Your committee believes that the present is an opportune time to secure the services of a class of teachers that will do much to advance our schools. This Board has on several occasions favourably considered the introduction of Manual Training and Domestic Science into our schools, and only the lack of a suitable building has prevented the Board taking action in the matter in the past. The educative value and refining influence of music and art, (which includes all forms of drawing), are so manifest that your committee feels sure that these subjects, too, will meet with the favourable consideration of the Board.

The old Collegiate building is now available for Public School purposes and rooms can easily be fitted up in this building for the Manual Training and Domestic Science classes.

Your committee has carefully considered the question of expense and feels that the Board is being offered generous terms by the Education Department.

Department's Agreement

The Department agrees to contribute the following amounts:

A—Grants to Salaries

(a) Manual Training teacher, $550 per year.

(b) Domestic Science teaher, $4c00 per year.

(c) Art teacher, $550 per year.

(d) Music teacher, $550 per year.

B—Grants to Maintenance and Salary

(a) Manual Training, $350 per year and 10 per cent. on all salary over $600.

(b) Domestic Science, $200 per year and 20 per cent. on all salary over $500.

C—Grants to Equipments

(a) Twenty per cent. per year for five years on Manual Training equipment up to $500.

(b) Twenty per cent. per year for five years on Domestic Science equipment up to $300.

Regarding the equipment the Department pays the whole amount in five annual grants, as the cost will not exceed the above-mentioned amounts.

Not taking into consideration the grants towards equipment the Department will contribute annually towards the expense in connection with the special teachers, the sum of $2,740 leaving $1,060 to be defrayed by the Board. The Board, however, will be put to the expense of supplying the rooms, heating them, furnishing supplies and such like.

The Teachers

3. Your committee favours the joint engagement with the Department of four special teachers, and after consulting with the principal of the Normal School, together with our Public School Inspector, would recommend, subject to the approval of the Education Department, the engaging of the following applicants:

Mr. A. W. Scarrow, of Owen Sound, to be teacher of Manual Training at a yearly salary of $1,200.

Miss E. Steinhoff, of Stratford, to be teacher of Domestic Science, at a yearly salary of $900.

Miss Jessie C. McRae, of Belleville, to be teacher of Art, at a yearly salary of $1,000.

Miss Helen Davies, of Peterborough, to be teacher of Music, at a yearly salary of $700.

4. Your committee would further recommend that the Manual Training and Domestic Science classes for the present be formed from the first forms of the Collegiate Institute and the Entrance Classes in Public Schools.

Respectfully submitted,
W. H. HILL,
Chairman Committee on Appointments.

There was but little discussion, as the question had been thoroughly dealt with in committee.

Contract to Mann Co.

Dr. Morrison, chairman of the Collegiate Institute Building Committee, presented the following report, which was adopted:

"Your Collegiate Institute Building Committee beg leave to report that they asked for tenders for the tables and cupboards for the physical and chemical laboratories, cap and cloak horses required for the Collegiate Institute, and we beg to report that we accepted the tender of the Mann Lumber and Cheese Box Company, of $1,000. This sum is to include two key boards not mentioned in the specifications, with rubber figures.

"Your committee recommend that 500 chairs in sections of two be purchased from the American Seating Company at the price per sitting, to be delivered, f.o.b., Peterborough, duty paid.

"Your committee further recommend that screens be purchased for the four west windows in the basement, and that Mr. Duranceau be instructed to put in 1 1-2 inch hose for the stand pipe.

Contract Complete

Dr. Morrison stated that the Board was ready to take the contract off the contractor's hands, as the building was practically complete. It could be done in a week or ten days, when another meeting will be necessary. The two teaching flats are almost finished.

Trim the Trees

Messrs. Fair and Dumble were appointed to supervise the trimming of the shade trees around the old Collegiate Institute building. They have grown unshapely and ragged, and the caretaker of the Collegiate will be directed in the work of trimming them properly.

A committee was appointed to visit the old Collegiate building for the purpose of selecting the rooms which will be used for Domestic Science and Manual Training. Two rooms have already been chosen for two of the classes which were heretofore taught in the Central School. They are the kindergarten and primary classes.

This means that already four of the rooms of the old building will be used and others may be utilized later on when the necessity is presented.

An adjournment was made to await the call of the Board.

THE HISTORY OF THE STREET CAR

Wonderful Development of the Electric Car in Nineteen Years—First Street Car Run in Richmond, Va.

TO WHOM CREDIT IS DUE

Special Electric News Service.

Schenectady, N. Y., Aug. 15.—Only twenty years ago the slow moving horse-car lines carried the people of the larger cities, who, for manifold reasons, did not care to walk. For those who wished to ride where the horse-cars did not run large carryalls, drawn by tireless horses, served as a means of conveyance for a nominal fare.

Only twenty years have passed since the first electric car was pronounced a commercial success at Richmond, Va., but in this brief period the electric-car systems have been improved and developed until they practically reach the ends of the earth. The carry-all has been relegated to the scrapheap and the horse-car is a curiosity in one or two cities of the world.

The credit for building and operating the first street railway system in the world belongs to Frank J. Sprague, whose patents are now held by the General Electric Company, although a number of unsuccessful experiments in this line had been conducted by other men before the year 1888.

The electric railway motor was invented by Thomas Davenport, a Vermont blacksmith, in 1834, and four years later Robert Davidson, of Scotland, produced a small electric locomotive which moved at the astonishing speed of four miles per hour. Nine years later Prof. Moses G. Farmer, of Salem, Mass., produced a locomotive capable of carrying two passengers. In 1879 another machine was exhibited as a novelty, and the next year Thomas A. Edison constructed an electric locomotive pulling two cars and carrying several passengers. Edison's locomotive, however, was not practical for commercial use and he was too busy experimenting with the electric light to give the locomotive careful study. The summer of 1887 a party of experimenters tried out an electric car in the streets of New York amid the hoots and jeers of the people. This machine was also more or less of a failure.

Dr. Siemens, in 1879, exhibited in Berlin, Germany, a small electric locomotive. For some time he conducted experiments on an electric railway with indifferent success. Through all these years the electric car was little more than the cherished dream of the numerous electrical inventors. It remained for Sprague to give to the world the first electric street railway which was commercially possible.

Since that early morning twenty years ago, when the first electric car glided over the rails in the streets of Richmond, motors have been brought to such a point of perfection that electric cars are rapidly encroaching on the steam engine and threaten to take its place entirely in a few years.

The principles which Sprague used in the construction of the first car and power line are about the same as in actual use to-day. He invented the overhead trolley; his motors were geared to the car wheels, and his system of control was nearly the same as in the modern cars.

Miraculous, indeed, has been the growth of the street railway systems since 1888. To-day there are nearly 25,000 miles of street and electric railways in the United States, carrying more than five billions of people annually. From the tiny cars constructed according to Sprague's plans twenty years ago, the cars have grown to be models of comfort and convenience. Some of the best interurban lines boast of electric cars rivalling the beauties and comforts of the Pullmans. In the middle west some of the longest electric lines maintain sleeping, dining and even cold storage, freight, express, milk and mail cars.

The trolley has extended the boundary lines of cities and stretched the residential sections of the larger cities miles out into the country. With the electric cars to whisk them to and from their work in the cities the men and women can now live out where the air is good and where they can enjoy all the comforts of the country. As if in payment for removing the residential sections the trolley brings into the city daily thousands of country people who are only too eager to do their shopping and sight-seeing in "town." The trolley has been of material benefit to the farmer in marketing his crops and bringing his supplies and mail. It made possible the large summer resorts and parks which are a source of so much pleasure to old and young during the hot weather.

All are cordially invited. Singing begins at 8.15 o'clock.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

Saul tries to kill David. I. Sam. xviii :8-16.

Golden Text—The Lord God is a sun and shield. Ps. lxxxiv :11.

Verse 8—Are the sorrows of success greater, or less, than the sorrows of defeat?

Which enjoy the more happiness, men who become prominent, or those who remain in obscurity?

Does God mean everybody to be prosperous?

Does faithfulness to duty always imply popularity and success?

Verse 7—What accounts for the fact that David was more popular than Saul?

Why was Saul losing his popularity?

Verse 8—Can you blame Saul for being angry when the people praised David more than they did him?

Is it a good thing to praise to their faces, those who are praiseworthy?

Can you name a Bible character who rejoiced at the prosperity of another more than he did over his own?

Is it possible, and is it the duty, for everybody to rejoice when others prosper more than themselves?

Is it possible for a man to rejoice when for his badness, God is taking away his position and giving it to another?

Does God in these days take away the positions of unfaithful men and give them to others?

Verse 9—Is it ever right to set a watch upon the actions of others in the hope of catching them in wrongdoing?

May one be jealous of another and still be pure in heart, or does jealousy always imply sinfulness?

Verse 10—In what sense is God the father or author of evil spirits?

When a ship springs a leak and sinks, is that in any sense an act of God?

When a bad man loses his temper, and raves, has God got anything to do with it?

Is it one of the laws of God that those who give way to fierce jealousy go from bad to worse?

Verse 11—Will jealousy make a man hate his best friend?

Does the sin of jealousy make its subjects insane?

Verse 12—Is it generally so, that a man who has forsaken God, and is losing as a result, is envious of a man who is true to God and is winning?

Verse 13—What prompted Saul to make David a captain?

Did David in after life ever do a similar thing?

If a man gives way to a passion or wrong-doing of any kind, will there likely be any limit to the sins he will commit either to cover up his tracks, or accomplish his purpose?

Verses 14-16—Is it a rule that the good and the true are the admiration of God and of good men, while they provoke the hatred or jealousy of bad men? Give your reasons. (This question is to be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Lesson for Sunday, Aug. 23rd, 1908 —Friendship of David and Jonathan. I. Sam. xx.

THE REAL CAUSE

The Ancient Scalp-Fever Theory Exploded

At one time dandruff was attributed to the result of a feverish condition of the scalp, which threw off the dried cuticle in scales.

Prof. Unna, Hamburg, Germany, noted authority on skin diseases, explodes this theory and says dandruff is a germ disease.

This germ is really responsible for the dandruff and for so many bald heads. It can be cured if it is gone about in the right way. The right way, of course, and the only way, is to kill the germ.

Newbro's Herpicide does this, and permits the hair to grow luxuriantly, just as nature intended it should.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes—50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

USE THEM TOGETHER

Always add a little Sovereign Lime Juice to your favourite Sovereign Fruit Syrup when making fruit punch, or any other cooling drink. Sovereign Lime Juice develops the fruit flavour of the Syrup and adds its own distinctive deliciousness to the blend. Half a teaspoonful of Sovereign Lime Juice, and two teaspoonfuls of Sovereign Fruit Syrup to a glassful of water and ice, make a cooling, refreshing drink.

WEDDING BELLS

HICK—STONE

A very pretty quiet house wedding was celebrated at noon to-day, when Madeleine, eldest daughter of Mr. Giles Stone, 618 Bethune street, city, became the wife of Reginald F. Hick, of Toronto, son of Mr. F. S. Hick, of that city. The groom was attended by Mr. G. Dunsan, of Toronto, while the bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Frances. The ceremony took place in the spacious drawing room, which was artistically decorated for the occasion, under an arch of evergreens and asters.

The Rev. E. A. Langfeldt was the officiating clergyman.

The bride was given away by her father, Mr. Giles Stone, and as she descended the stairs Mrs. Thackeray played the Mendelssohn Wedding March.

The bride was attired in a rich gown of cream collanne over silk a la princesse and shirred bodice with bertha of Irish lace. The costume was completed by a veil of silk chiffon and orange blossoms.

Miss Stone carried a bouquet of white asters and ferns, and the bridesmaid, Miss Frances Stone, who was tastefully attired in a dress of cream nun's veiling and silk, carried a bouquet of pink asters and ferns.

Previous to their departure on the 4.38 train for points west luncheon was served and cordial congratulations extended to the principals in the pleasing function. The bride's going away costume was a pearl grey tailored suit with white hat and plumes to match.

The wedding gifts, both in number and quality, were worthy of the occasion.

Among the invited guests were included friends from Prince Albert, Sask.; Penoka, Sask.; Wichita, Kas., Hamilton and Toronto.

Peterborough Discussed As Probable Entry To Big Four

What an Ottawa Guesser Thinks—The Locals' Chances—Meeting To Be Called Soon.

PROSPECTS FOR OTTAWA

The following despatch comes from Ottawa: It is likely that at the annual meeting of the Interprovincial Football Union, which will be held shortly, the Peterborough Football Club will apply for admission.

Last year Peterborough would have liked to get into the Big Four, but the Ottawas, Argos, Tigers and Montreal had the union formed before the Ontario champs were alive to the situation. At the close of the season Peterborough challenged Montreal for the Canadian championship. They were forbidden to play against the Interprovincial champions, the C. A.A.U. having declared all the Big Four clubs professionals. Peterborough took the chance, nevertheless, and the Ontario Rugby Union declared them ineligible for further competition in that league. Peterborough played Montreal a game in the snow at the M.A.A.A. grounds and were badly beaten.

Were Assured of Entry

Peterborough, it is said, were assured that if they broke away from the Ontario Union they would be taken into the fold by the Interprovincial. This year they will strengthen up their team and will make a determined effort to get in. Peterborough's chances, however, are decidedly slim. Officers of the Ottawas say that the Interprovincial was all right as comprised last year. "Four clubs are about all we can stand for in the Interprovincial," said an officer of the Ottawas. "The season is short, and six games are enough for any team. Peterborough would not draw in the East after their sorry showing against the champions last autumn, and the expenses of the clubs are too heavy as they now are."

Meeting Called Soon

President Percy Molson will call the annual meeting of the Interprovincial within the next week or two. There was some talk of the Argos leaving the league and going back to the C.A.A.U., but the oarsmen, it is now said, have decided to stay. Ottawa's prospects for this season are very bright.

The truth of the matter is that Peterborough has no desire to enter the Big Four, and they will not apply for admission, so that there is no need of Ottawa worrying as to whether the locals will be admitted. Peterborough will probably request entrance to the intermediate series of the I.F.U.

PRESIDENT OF WARKWORTH CLUB AT MEETING OF ONE DECIDES A PROTEST IN HIS OWN FAVOUR

The funniest meeting ever held by the Midland Football League, or any other body for that matter, was held in the Y.M.C.A. last night when the protest of the Warsaw club against Warkworth was to have been taken up at a meeting of the executive. It was decided on Wednesday to hold a meteing last night to consider Warsaw's protest, which was on the grounds that Doherty and Cummings of the Warkworth team had previously played with the Norwood team.

Early yesterday morning it was found that President McIlroy, J E Sullivan and other executive members were unable to be present, and Mr. Ken. Kidd of the Warsaw club was informed of this fact, and also told there would be little chance of a meeting. Secretary F D Craig also called up President Mowat of the Warkworth club, and also the vice-president of the Midland League, and gave him the same information, but Mr. Mowat replied that he had made preparations to come and was coming anyway, and that the matter would have to be settled last night.

Come he did, too, and brought with him Mr. Herb S. Allan of Warkworth. Secretary Craig was the only other official present at the meeting, and suggested that in view of the absence of the president and executive members, and because Warsaw had been given to understand there would be no meeting, the matter be left over to a more representative meeting.

Mr. Mowat claimed the constitution of the league did not state what constituted a quorum, and thought that since it was not defined, that no matter how few came to a meeting, it would constitute enough to transact business.

Secretary Craig pointed out that Mr. Allan was not a member of the executive. He had been suggested as such, but no meeting of the league had been held and he had never been appointed. He again asked that the matter be left over.

The Warkworth president was determined to carry the thing through. He thought the secretary and himself were a proper quorum, and accordingly took the chair and explained the protest.

Secretary Craig pointed out that Warkworth had not made the necessary deposit of $5, to defend the protest whereupon the representatives shelled out the necessary "V" and the case went on.

The secretary announced that he was decidedly opposed to any such action and stated that without taking into account the merits of the protest at all, he would support Warsaw's contention and dead lock matter, rather than let it be forced through.

Mr. Mowat then claimed that as acting president he would have two votes in the case of a tie.

The secretary then left Mr. Mowat alone in his glory and the president of the Warkworth club acting as the whole Midland League executive calmly announced to himself and the secretary's retreating back that the league had decided that Warsaw's protest should be thrown out.

The whole thing is a farce and will surely not stand for a minute in the eyes of the Midland League executive. It is certainly the funniest proposition yet uncorked that the president of a club defending a protest should claim that because he is the only one that attends a meeting that he is entitled to act as the whole executive, and deal with the case accordingly. Mr. Mowat has got the Czar, "Boss" Sullivan of the A. A. A. W. and other autocrats beaten a thousand ways.

The last and cheapest excursion of the season will be run to Hastings per Steamer Otonabee on Aug. 24th. Adults 50c, Children 25c. Music for dancing provided.

SELLING CIGARETTES TO A MINOR

Local Man Charged With Supplying Tobacco to Walter Mahaffy.

At police court yesterday afternoon John Carr was charged with selling tobacco to Walter Mahaffy, the lad who was afterwards sentenced to three months in jail for stealing a bicycle.

Mr. E A Peck, who appeared for Mr. Carr, said defendant did not dispute the sale of tobacco to Mahaffy but questioned the age of Mahaffy.

Mrs. Mahaffy was called and swore her son would be 17 on Sept. 10 this year.

To Mr. Peck, witness swore that her son was born in 1891 in Ida, Cavan township.

Mr. Peck asked for an adjournment of a week to allow of exact information in regard to the boy's age being obtained, which was agreed upon by the magistrate.

OLD PETERBOROUGH BOY IS HOME

Mr. R. V. Winch of Vancouver Here on a Visit to His Parents.

Mr. R. V. Winch, of Vancouver, B. C., accompanied by his wife and daughter are in the city on a visit to Mr. Winch's parents Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Winch, Stewart street. They have just returned from a most enjoyable three months visit to the British Isles, and are on their way to their home in the west. Mr. Winch is an old Peterborough boy who has flourished in the country beyond the Rockies, speaks enthusiastically of the climate and the opportunities of British Columbia. He notices many changes in Peterborough and appreciates the fact that the city has gone ahead in his absence.

THE BLACK FLAG WAS FLYING

George Street Tailor Hung Out Some Mourning Cloth To-day.

An enterprising down town tailor this morning hung a few yards of black cloth from his upstairs window for shrinkage purposes, and in a few minutes was overwhelmed with inquires as to who was dead. Every second one that came along made it a point to inquire as to that particular point. One man inquired as to who was running the morgue upstairs but the tailor failed to get "huffed" over the matter and the black flag remained flying.

FOUR MORE DOGS POISONED LAST NIGHT

Four more dogs gone. They went somewhere last night by the poison route. Their lifeless carcasses have probably been placed under the turf by this time, but the poison is probably looking around for more victims.
